OBITUARY

BARTHOLOMEW CROWLEY.

As announced in yesterday's Review, the death occurred in Toronto on Thursday, of Mr. Bartholomew Crowley, who for many years was a well-known and respected resident of Otonabee, in which township he was born and brought up.

The late Mr. Crowley, who was 67 years of age, removed to Toronto 30 years ago, and has resided there ever since. He was a son of the late James Crowley, of Otonabee, and was unmarried. He is survived by two brothers, James, of 788 Water street, and David, who is a farmer in Otonabee.

Paralysis was the cause of death and the deceased had been ill for the past three or four months. The late Mr. Crowley was a Roman Catholic in religion.

The funeral will be held from the residence of Mr. James Crowley, 788 Water street. Interment will take place in St. Peter's cemetery. Complete arrangements regarding the funeral have not yet been made.

The Staff Was Entertained

The members of the staff of the Peterborough Hardware Company were entertained at dinner last evening by Mr. and Mrs. Manson Comstock, at their home, 209 Sherbrooke street. Afterwards the evening was spent in cards and various games. Mr. and Mrs. Comstock did everything in their power to entertain their guests, and it is unnecessary to add that their hospitality was greatly appreciated.

BOYCOTTING BY CHILDREN

The children of members of the United Irish League in the West of Ireland, who are carrying on anti-grazing campaigns, are rapidly becoming infected with a violent form of the boycotting fever, and are threatening to close up the national schools if the children of the hated occupants of grazing lands are permitted to attend the schools. As an earnest of their determination to do this, sixty pupils attending a national school near Boyle, County Roscommon, today, walked out in a body, because the teachers refused to dismiss four small sons and daughters of men who have been boycotted.

Sergt.-Major P. Alexander, of the 91st Canadian Highlanders, Hamilton, is dead.

Answered 315 Calls Last Year

Dan Spence Ambulance a Valuable Acquisition to the City—More Calls Than Any Previous Year

That the Dan Spence ambulance is indispensable in Peterborough and a valuable acquisition to the city is realized by the fact that during the past year it answered 315 calls. The assistance it renders in carrying the sick and injured cannot be over-estimated and at all times when the call is given it is only a few minutes until it is at the required spot. The ambulance answered a greater number of calls in 1907 than any previous year of its existence, thus proving its usefulness to the community.

LINDSAY HOTELS WERE INSPECTED

Provincial Officer orders Many Alterations.

One day last week Lindsay hotelmen received a visit from Provincial Inspector Morrison, of the License Department of the Ontario Government. He expressed himself, in convention with the chief constable, as satisfied at the way the local hotels were run, and saw nothing of moment for complaint. Certain hotels having jug and bottle departments with a pigeon hole arrangement, he has ordered to be altered, and in some cases alterations in regard to drinking compartments have to be made. Then, again, a lunch counter in one of the hotels, has to be partitioned off from the bar, and only one door is to be allowed in said lunch room, or as an alternative, the counter has to be done away with at once. In two cases he has ordered certain rooms to be refurnished, the present furniture not being considered suitable.

Rehearsal for Old Time Concert

Freeland is in charge and everything points towards the success of the coming entertainment.

To the Children of Canada Who Honour its Great Men

Here children, is your opportunity. You know how three hundred years ago next July, Samuel de Champlain, sailed up the St. Lawrence, anchored his ship below a beautiful wooded promontory, and founded the city of Quebec.

This was the beginning of our country's history. On those high lands where Champlain's men built their wooden shanties, Canada was born; and it was there in after years that Canada's heroes (French and British) did great deed; there when called upon for God and King and country, they laid down their lives.

It was on those heights, the Plains of Abraham and the field of St. Foye that the fate of a continent was determined. It was on the Plains of Abraham, in 1759, that the brave French soldiers, with their glittering bayonets, the English infantry, resolute and silent, and the Scottish Highlanders, sounding the pibroch, met in deadly and decisive conflict; when the noble Montcalm and the intrepid Wolfe were wounded unto death. Wolfe, saying as he heard the issue of the battle; "Now, God be praised, I will die in peace;" and Montcalm, as he gave his soul to God, that it consoled him to have been defeated by so brave an enemy.

And it was on the field of Ste. Foye in the following spring that Levis and Murray, brave and true men both, entered into that last close contest for the stronghold of Quebec, when Murray and his men were driven into retreat behind the ramparts and Quebec seemed likely to be recovered by the French, but suddenly the British fleet appeared; and, routing their vessels, left Levis in honorable defeat and Murray in possession.

Now, children of Montreal and of Canada, who love your country and would honor its great men, this is your opportunity. Next summer we are to celebrate the three hundred anniversary of the founding of Quebec, and the Governor-General is asking us if we will mark the occasion by setting aside those great battlefields forever as a National Park, sacred to the memories of our mighty dead, of Champlain, the founder of Canada, and of those others who in war or peace loved their country and their country's honor better than themselves. This park will be named after King Edward, and nothing mean or ugly will be allowed within it, no frowning jail or factory for making weapons of war, such as disfigure it today; but on that famous headland overlooking the river, there will stand a Figure of Peace, which, smiling down from the height to all who come, will say: "This is the birthplace of Canada, of Canada, the home of two races, who came here from the Old World to make the new, and once they fought upon these heights and counted not their lives dear unto them, and over one waved the ensign of Britain, and over the other floated the Fleur de Lis, the white banner of France. But out of these throes of war, a Peace, was born, and now the children of those races live together in one nation, and the torn and tattered ensigns under which their fathers fought are held in mutual honor, while over them both, as Canadians, there floats but one flag."

Children of Montreal and of Canada will you help us do this thing for the honor and love of your country, and for the praise of the brave men of old! Every boy or girl amongst you who can help, you can help by telling of this great national memorial and all that it means to us, you can help by giving a "silver bit" out of your own pocketbook, or you can write for a little collection book and get fifty people to give ten cents each, making for every boy or girl collector five dollars to bring in. And you and those who enter their names in these little books, will become members of the Quebec Battlefields Association and you will be written in your country's archives, in those chronicles that are kept in Ottawa, as those who helped to give it lustre and to make it great.

And we should like, if we may, to have your photographs that we may show them in our newspapers and so every one may see that the boys and girls of Canada are worthy of the name they bear, that to them their country is their house — that they are building it on sure foundations of sacrifice and duty, and that each of them has put in one little stone to make it more noble, strong and fair.

NOTE.—All who will help in this way are asked to send post cards giving their names and addresses to Mrs. R. W. Reford, Convener, Quebec Battlefields Association, P. O. Box 65, Station 'B.' Montreal. Collecting books will then be forwarded, with instructions as to the sending in of the money. Every one who fills a book will be given a certificate of merit to be framed and kept.

Advertising vs. Price-Cutting

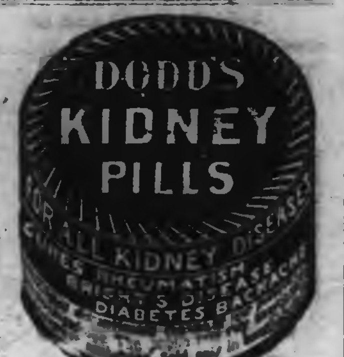
Competition is said to be the life of trade, and so it is. Competition in merchandise betters the merchandise and creates more users of it, which in turn creates a demand for more merchandise. The ramifications of competition extend away beyond the boundaries of mere business. They extend into every branch of human activity. Every active agent in every human activity is everlastingly striving to outdo other active agents in the same line. The small schoolboy who collects postage stamps strives to outwit the other boy in the acquisition of philatelic pleasures. Later on in life the same boy tries to outdo the same and other rivals in the production of photographs or the collection of post cards or any one or more of a hundred other things. And the name of this active boy (and his sister) is legion.

The changing fashions in clothing; the modern book and picture; the modern play; the modern sport; everything in short, that shows the slightest sign of continuous development is but an evidence and result of competition.

Competitive trade does not only mean rivalry in production or sale of commercial articles for consumption. Competition should include all the efforts of the merchant. Supposing you get a line of new goods shipped to your store and the chap around the corner gets some too. Don't start in cutting prices! Don't let the competition of the round-the-corner-man have that effect. Put all your combative faculties into the art of bringing your goods before the public.

Let your round-the-corner-friend and yourself remember that competition is customer-hunting which is the same thing as advertising, is the thing which will result in benefit to both of you. If you alone advertised it would not reach the eyes and ears of as large a body of prospective buyers as if both round-the-corner, and yourself advertised. The more the advertising the more the demand for the goods advertised. Round-the-corner will get some of the trade, and it is only fair and proper. But enough will come into you to well repay you for the fight. And you will have the satisfaction of knowing that the fight was open and above-board and that the victory was rightly, to the best advertiser.

There is little excuse for price-cutting where the trade of a large body of possible buyers exists, upon which can be practised the art of advertising. Let there be enough competition in advertising and the quality and quantity of goods sold will keep on increasing. But price-cutting wrecks trade and is not fair fighting. In a book reviewed in this number, called "The Making of a Merchant," by Harlow N. Higginbotham, manager of a Chicago mercantile concern, which employs seven thousand people, the author contends that a successful merchant is generally a man with the "gift of trade." During his remarks on the subject, he has this on the subject of price-cutting:—"There is scarcely a community in which the really able merchant is not cursed with ignorant and reckless competition. 'Cutting prices' is the favorite diversion of the merchant who ought, by good rights and natural endowments, to have been a farmer, a blacksmith, a carpenter, or an artisan of some sort."—From the Bookseller and Stationer, April, 1907.



Some Prominent Railway Men Were in City

The following railway men were in the city yesterday on business; Messrs C. B. Foster, District Passenger Agent, C.P.R.; S. J. Sharpe, Western Passenger Agent, C.P.R.; Atlantic S. S. line; J. J. Bragnall, Travelling Passenger Agent, C.P.R. and H. Bouttler Travelling Passenger Agent of the Allan line.

All of the above officials are from Toronto.

ON CAPTAINS OF INDUSTRY

There is no doubt a widely entertained sentiment of dissatisfaction in the popular conception of the commercial morality in vogue among business leaders. There is a strong and growing hatred, not to the playing of the game itself, but to the play that is without principles determining what is fair and what is foul. Yet the lawless system is impossible in a civilization of law and order; and if the chevaliers d'industrie cannot be other than irresponsible, their future as a factor in business progress is doomed. Modern society, with its ethical conceptions of a square deal, may manage to get along without them. But how will it guarantee progress!

From the economic standpoint the captain of industry who discovers opportunities and organizes enterprise is indispensable to progress. We can have welfare without him, but we cannot have progress such as has carried forward the country, for example, at the rate which has marked the last quarter century. Cannot the demands of business morality be met, and the promise of progress also be assured? These demands require a degree of personal worth in which the confidence of labor, of capital and of the owners of natural resources can center their interests under trustworthy leadership. That is the minimum condition of organizing industry on sure foundations.—The Canadian Trade Review.

SIRES AND SONS.

James R. Keene's race horses have won the past year $402,691.

Midshipman Raleigh C. Williams of Wichita, Kan., is the strongest man in the Naval academy.

A St. Petersburg newspaper says that John D. Rockefeller asked Count Tolstoi for his advice as to how great wealth might best be employed to benefit humanity.

John J. Murphy, one of the largest paper manufacturers of New York, who died recently, left an estate valued at $10,000,000. He was so unostentatious that few knew of his wealth.

Amos Brundage, known in Kansas City for twenty years as "the Salvation Army drummer boy," and his brother Henry are heirs to a fortune valued at from $5,000,000 to $8,000,000.

Hugh J. Chisholm, head of the International Paper company, when thirteen years old became a railway newsboy. Thomas A. Edison was associated with him, and the two became fast friends.

For more than fifty years the control and direction of the postoffice at Adamsville, R. I., have been centered in one family. The present postmaster is Abraham Manchester, who has been in office continuously since 1878. Previously his father, Philip Manchester, with the exception of one year, held the office from 1850.

Lord Clifton, whose coming of age has just been celebrated at Cobham Hall, Kent, England, is six feet seven inches high. His father, the Earl of Darnley, is six feet four inches, while the earl, Lord Clifton, and their relatives, the Hon. Noel Bligh, Hon. Arthur Bligh and Hon. E. V. Bligh, average six feet two and a half inches.

Sir William Purdie Treloar, who recently retired as lord mayor of London, is known in the English capital for his love of children and his work for the destitute cripples of the metropolis. He is loved by the poor children of the east end. His last effort in their behalf was the collecting of $300,000 for the building of a big home in Hampshire for crippled children.

SCIENCE SIFTINGS.

A drop of blood that might be suspended from the point of a needle contains about a million of red flattened corpuscles.

The French telephone authorities have invented a new apparatus which is to be called the "bowler." It is to prevent any one from forgetting to replace his receiver at the end of a call and emits a sound resembling that of a dog in pain.

Why animal charcoal removes the color from colored liquids, while wood charcoal has no effect, has not been understood. A European chemist now finds that the action of the former is due to the presence of 5 to 7 per cent of nitrogen.

A new directory by the Royal observatory of Belgium shows that there are 1,556 astronomers and somewhat over 550 observatories in the world. Of the observatories more than 100 are in the British isles, with nearly as many in the United States, the number in other countries being much smaller.

ODD HAPPENINGS.

Charles Deecrost of Philadelphia yawned just as a collision of a street car occurred, and a piece of glass went down his throat. Physicians say he may lose his speech.

By the explosion of a boiler in a hotel in Cripple Creek, Colo., the building was completely wrecked, but Henry Morgan, sleeping within six feet of the boiler, was not injured.

A charge of 13,000 volts passed through the body of Henry Tyson, aged thirty-six, at Germantown, Pa., and when examined at a hospital the physicians said he was uninjured.

Since June the beard of John B. Roberts, a grocer of Wichita, Kan., has been growing on the left side of his face inward instead of outward, notwithstanding efforts to check it. Surgeons say it is the strangest case they have ever seen.

CHURCH AND CLERGY.

The three minor denominations of Methodists who have just consolidated in England make a church of 180,000 members.

Moving pictures and songs, with social science class, is a part of the Sunday services of the Theodore Parker Memorial church at Boston.

During the past year 561 men were admitted to the ministry of the Church of England where a dozen years ago the number was over 800 annually.

The Methodist Episcopal ministers at Boston are to send delegates to the Central Labor union who will have a voice in the proceedings, but no vote.

The canton of Geneva, Switzerland, following in the footsteps of France, will divorce state and church on Jan. 1, 1909, when a law recently passed to that effect will become operative.

Train and Track.

A German estimate of the capital invested in the construction of the world's railroads is $42,210,000,000.

It is estimated that New York city requires 1,000 more cars on its railways to accommodate the traveling public.

The Fryeburg (Me.) horse railroad bears the distinction of being the shortest as well as the only horse railroad in the state. The railroad was originally built to accommodate a Methodist association which established a place of meeting about three miles from the Maine Central railroad station in Fryeburg.

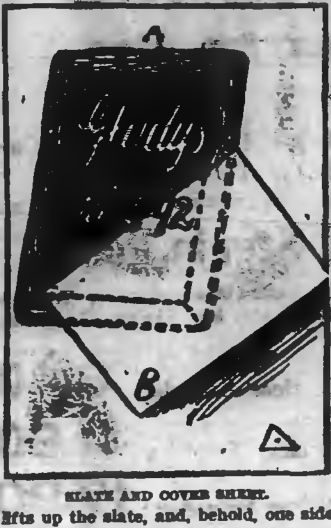
Dr. James Douglas, of New York, has given a $42,000 farm to the Verdun, Que., asylum for consumptives.

Young Folks

TRICK WITH A SLATE.

A Simple Yet Mystifying Feat of Parlor Magic.

An ordinary slate, such as children write on, is shown to the audience. To prove that nothing is written upon it both sides are rubbed with a wet sponge. A chair is brought to the foreground, the seat of which is covered with a black cloth. Then the performer asks any girl in the audience to be kind enough to give her first name and offers to let the slate guess the date of her birth. After the name is given the performer places the slate on the chair and lays a piece of chalk upon it. After making a few motions over the slate to indicate that the writing is going on the performer lifts up the slate, and, behold, one side of the slate shows the correct name and date of birth.



SLATE AND COVER SHEET.

This seems to be a trick hard to explain, but nevertheless it is a very simple one. Take a plain slate, on one side of which the name and the date are previously written. A friend of the performer is instructed to call the name so quickly that no one else can get ahead of him. All that is left to do is to secrete the name and date on the slate until it is time for it to appear. To do this you will have to get a piece of cardboard fitting exactly over the black part of the slate, both sides of which are covered smoothly with black slate paper. Sheet B is laid over the side of the slate, with the writing on it (A). Place the slate, with the sheet over it, face down on the chair. When you are going to show the secret writing to the audience, lift the slate in such a way that the sheet stays upon the black cloth, where it, being black, too, cannot be discerned. —Washington Star.

FACTS ABOUT THE SUN.

How It Compares With the Earth In Size and Density.

Children, when you feel the warmth and see the light of the mysterious body we call sun do you know that its density does not compare with that of our own world? The sun in size equals 1,300,000 of our planet, while in weight it would take only about 332,000 earths to weigh it down to an even balance. Thus you will readily see that our earth is of much heavier substance than is the sun. In fact, the latter body is not much denser than water.

Some conception of the immensity of the sun's distance from us may first be gained from Professor Mendenhall's whimsical illustration. Sensation, according to Helmholtz's experiments, travels at the rate of about 100 feet per second. If, then, an infant were born with an arm long enough to reach to the sun and on the day of his birth he were to exercise this amazing limb by putting his finger upon the solar surface he would die in blissful ignorance of the fact that he had been burned, for the sensation of burning would take 150 years to travel along that stupendous arm.

In diameter the sun is about 866,000 miles, and were it hollowed out till its crust remained but a shell our own earth could be placed in its center, allowing room for our moon to travel in its regular orbit, which is distant from the earth 244,000 miles, and outside of which another satellite could have an orbit at a distance of 190,000 miles from the moon.—Washington Post.

SWEET REVENGE

By

Captain F. A. MITCHEL,

Author of "Chattanooga," "Chickamauga," Etc.

Copyright, 1897, by Harper & Brothers.

She stood glaring at me, beautiful in her uncompromising fury. I was bewildered, entangled in the meshes of her beauty, her relentless will power. Then suddenly a cold chill swept over me, as a blighted frost across a land hot with the rays of a tropical sun. I stood aghast at what I had done. I had returned her inestimable service by a miserable attempt to force her to beg for her brother's life. I had lost what hope I had cherished of a reconciliation—of winning her. I threw my weapon into a corner and was striding from the room, when Captain Stanforth, freeing himself from Jack, cried:

"In the name of God, what does all this mean?"

"It means, Captain Stanforth," I said, turning, "that on a certain night in east Tennessee a party of Unionists on their way north were ambushed by citizens with shotguns. A body of Confederate cavalry came down to their assistance. You, captain"—

"It is false. I led my company to the scene you mention not to attack, but to protect."

It was now my turn to stand stupefied. Had I been all these months following an error?

"I came on the ground," Captain Stanforth continued, "just in time to witness the most diabolical sight I ever saw in the south. One incident of that terrible night I shall always remember—a murder that I punished with my own hand. I saw a woman flying for protection to a man who stood near her. A cowardly cur beside me fired, and she fell through her protector's arms. I drew my revolver and shot the murderer dead."

"You shot the murderer?"

I had no tongue for other words. This man, dear to Helen, dear to Jack, dear to all this household, was not only innocent of the crime I had imputed to him, but was my avenger. I took one step forward and seized his hand.

"Thank God!"

"You have been mistaken?"

"So far mistaken that had it not been for these two women I would have shot you down where you stand."

I strode to the door, rushed down the patch to the gate, mounted my horse and without once looking back at the gaping crowd behind me galloped down the road after the advancing army.

CHAPTER XXIII.

THE UNION SAVED.

I CAUGHT the troops just as they were entering the city. All that we could have wished for was accomplished. The whole territory was surprised and defenseless, and a hundred miles of railroad fell into our hands. Machine shops, rolling stock in abundance, telegraph and all other paraphernalia for operating the line were among the trophies, and on the morning after the capture the men who had been employed under the direction of the Confederate government went to work for the United States.

And now followed a rest for three months, a longer stay in one place than any I experienced during the war. It would have been the most delightful had it not been for my estrangement from Helen Stanforth. Though I was welcome at her father's house, though the family apparently became attached to me, though Jack and Buck loved me as I loved them, Helen remained obdurate. In vain I sought to soften her by those attentions with which men seek to entrap a woman's heart. She would not even treat me with indifference. I was to her a renegade to the south, an unpardonable offender.

I reported the case of Captain Stanforth to the general and secured from him a parole, which enabled him to divide his time between his father's house and the Rutland plantation with his fiancee Jaqueline, who soon nursed him back to health. Captain Beaumont was brought to Huntsville under guard, and I interested myself in securing for him an early exchange, which, after hearing of Jack's engagement, he was extremely anxious to obtain. He was passed through the lines to Chattanooga, vowing that he would give his life to the Confederacy if he could find a Yankee bullet to assist him. He was too manly and chivalrous to cast the slightest blame on Jack for his disappointment.

One morning I took my friends from Mr. Stanforth's—excepting Helen—into headquarters and introduced them to the general. He was aware of our coming and had directed that the outlaws should be brought before him at the same time.

"Are these the men?" he asked.

"Yes, general," I replied.

To an officer of the guard he said: "Take them away. I don't wish to see any more of them."

Jaqueline, who had heard these words once before, when they were applied to me, and consequently knew what they meant, turned pale. She begged the general to spare them. He shook his head.

"Impossible. They are the crowning barbarity of war."

"But, general, that one," pointing to Captain Ringold, "he helped us."

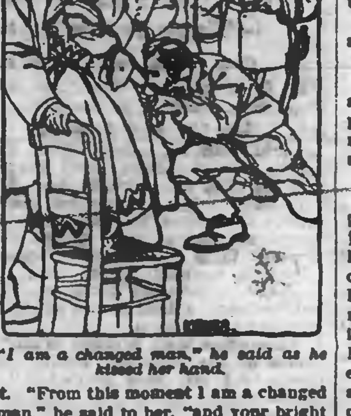
"Ah! I had forgotten that." Then, turning to Ringold:

"If set at liberty, how long will you require to get out of my lines?"

"I will go at once."

"Go, and if you are seen about here after 'tattoo' this evening you will follow your men."

The reprieved man sprang toward Jaqueline, seized her hand and kissed it. "From this moment I am a changed man," he said to her, "and your bright eyes and kind heart have done it." In another moment he was gone.



"I am a changed man," he said as he kissed her hand.

Captain Stanforth was soon exchanged and before leaving to join his regiment was united to Jaqueline. The wedding took place at the Rutland plantation. The groom did me the honor to request me to act as his best man, Jaqueline doubtless having influenced his choice. I gladly accepted, hoping that, since Helen was to serve as first bridesmaid, our being thrown together might heal the breach between us. Ten minutes before the ceremony Jaqueline was strumming Ginger's banjo and ten minutes after she had become a bride was standing on the rear gallery tossing presents to a crowd of black people below, whose upturned faces indicated the adoration in which they held their young mistress.

I was disappointed in my hope that the festivities would thaw the obdurate heart of the woman I loved. She remained cold even when her hand was laid on my arm before and after the ceremony. Later, finding her apart from the others, I approached her.

"Have you not one kind word for me?" I asked.

"Not one. I can respect a northern soldier, not a southern man who wears the blue."

"Be it as you wish."

Mounting my horse, I rode back to camp with a heavy heart.

The advantages gained by our force at Shiloh and our own bloodless conquest of northern Alabama were not vigorously followed up. The enemy withdrew to Tupelo, Miss., where he formed a new army, which early in the fall marched under the Confederate General Bragg through Chattanooga into Kentucky.

One morning in September orders came for us to break camp and march northward. Bragg was advancing, marching on Cincinnati or Louisville, thus compelling the abandonment of the territory we had acquired in the spring and requiring us to hasten to the protection of the threatened cities. After making my preparations for the move I left the command, intending to join it on the march, and rode over to the Stanforths to take my leave. Jackson announced me, and I sat down in the little library I had occupied three months before while my wound was healing to await the appearance of my friends. I was startled by the voice of Buck coming from above:

"Lib, doggone it, whar's my swearin book? I've lost that swearin book what Major Brandystone tole me to git."

A few minutes later he came into the room. As he caught sight of me his face became radiant, and, jumping into my arms, he hugged me like a young bear. The others soon entered. Mr. Stanforth, who by this time had openly avowed his affection for the Union, parted from me with regret, not unmixed with apprehension lest upon the return of the Confederates he might suffer for his attentions to our troops. Mrs. Stanforth bade me adieu with motherly affection. Little Ethel put her arms about my neck and wondered. Buck for the moment in his affection for me forgot that he was a Confederate sympathizer and insisted on going with me. Helen stood aloof and at the last moment seemed more bitter than ever. There was a flush upon her cheek and a bright spark in her eyes.

"Goodby," I said, putting out my hand to her.

"Never to an enemy," she replied, turning away.

There was a murmur of disapprobation at her act, but I did not listen to it. Turning on my heel, I left the room and the house and in another moment was galloping away.

My regiment was moving on a road leading northward and to the east of the main pike, so I was obliged to ride across country to rejoin. Large armies necessarily move slowly, and, although in this instance we had entered upon forced marches, I knew that I had plenty of time. I was riding leisurely through a lonely road when I heard the sound of horse's hoofs behind me. I had become so used to being hunted by my old enemies that I instinctively drew rein and my revolver at the same time and, facing about, awaited the coming of friend or foe. My pursuer turned a bend in the road but a short distance from me and suddenly came in sight.

"Helen Stanforth! What in the world brings you here?"

She drew rein and sat with flushed cheeks, her eyes looking anywhere except on me. Her horse was restive, the two making a picture by no means quiescent.

"I am not satisfied."

"With what?"

"The manner of your leaving the country."

"Do I take with me what does not belong to me?"

"You are going with our enemies."

I was puzzled. She knew that I was a Union officer and that my duty lay with the departing army. Besides, to remain in the country after its reoccupation by Confederate troops would be as much as my life was worth. I was more than puzzled; I was irritated, smarting as I was under her recent treatment.

"This is not what dissatisfies you," I said.

"I spent my time rescuing a renegade."

"I see no occasion for you to come after me to hurl that taunt anew. We parted half an hour ago, I supposed never to meet again. Now you must needs"—

She paused and bit her lip.

I had often noticed a great show of picket firing on the part of an enemy just before abandoning his lines. Somehow the thought gave me an inkling of what was passing in Helen's mind. I rode up close beside her and, laying my hand on her horse's neck, stroked it for a moment till I had quieted him. Meanwhile my eyes were fixed on Helen's, that were glancing about wildly, as if endeavoring to find some means of retreat. Bending forward without a word, I put my arms about her and drew her to me. Her head sank slowly, at last resting on the embroidered leaves that denoted my rank.

"Sweetheart, I love you, and I believe you love me."

There was silence, save for the running water of the creek and the chattering of the birds in the trees beside the road. The touching of our lips, her heart beating against mine, stray strands of her hair falling over my wrist, the moisture in her eyes, bring a new warmth to my heart even today. At last she suddenly disengaged herself and, as though ashamed of her surrender, turned her horse to move away. I caught her and held her long enough for one more embrace, one long parting kiss, then I let her go. As she galloped down the road I called after her:

"You forgive me for threatening your brother, for trying to compel you to beg for his life?"

"No."

"I'll come when the Union is saved."

"When the Confederacy is acknowledged," and she shot around the bend out of sight.

"I believe," I mused, as I rode on, "there is no inconsistency, no incongruity, that does not enter into the composition of woman."

We met again a year later, shortly before the battle of Chickamauga, and again when Hood was marching against Thomas at Nashville, but it was not till after the surrender at Appomattox that she consented to a union that was to be simultaneous with the reunion of the states.

One important fact has always remained a secret between me and my wife. I have never ventured to confess to her that during the war I performed one act of secret service. In overhauling my papers she one day came upon a document got up in red and black ink in the form common in the army.

"What's all this about?" she asked. "'Gallant and meritorious services in the capture of Huntsville, Decatur and Stephenson Junction.' I thought that when the Yankees surprised Huntsville you were at our house."

"That?" I said, taking the paper and pretending to scrutinize it. "Oh, that was for capturing a rebel."

"What rebel?"

I hesitated, then prevaricated. "Don't you remember the scene in which your brother bore an important part?"

"Do you mean to call drawing your pistol on an unarmed man a gallant and meritorious act?"

"Oh, they complimented everybody for everything during the war. But I deserved the encomium, for I captured another rebel more rebellious than your brother."

"Who was that?"

I put my arms about her and kissed her.

"My sweetheart!"

THE END.

A Glib Talker.

A rather distinguished man had one evening a visitor who began to speak about a certain branch of science. The host, perhaps a dozen times in the space of two hours and a half, gave a preliminary "Hem!" because he wanted to say something, but the bore waved him down with a suave "One moment, if you please!" What the gagged man wanted to say and eventually did say was that his caller's lecture, though interesting, was perfectly familiar to him.

"You are, in fact," he concluded, "discoursing on my own special subject."

Such a statement should have disconcerted a man who had talked with one even flow for the space of 150 minutes, but not at all! With the placid confidence of the thorough paced bore he sweetly remarked:

"Ah, well, you see how copiously I can talk on that subject! Next time I call you shall see that I can be quite as fluent on another branch of knowledge."

The Doctor Was There.

The sheriff of a certain town, says the London Globe, very rich, but rather mean, consulted a clever local doctor who had made diseases of the eye his special study concerning his sight.

After a careful examination the doctor said a cataract was forming and there would have to be an operation.

"Expensive?" asked the sheriff.

"Twenty guineas," was the answer.

"Must think it over," said the sheriff.

Three months after the sheriff went by appointment to be operated on by a celebrated London specialist, 124 miles away. Now, it so happened that the specialist was ill and had to telegraph for a substitute.

Judge of the sheriff's surprise when, the door of the operating room being opened, he found himself face to face with his own local doctor.

It was too late to retreat, however, and the operation was performed.

"Your fee?" asked the sheriff.

"Forty guineas," was the quiet answer.

The Interested Englishman.

A story is told of an aristocratic English immigrant who happened to be on board of a train that was held up by robbers near Grand Junction, Colo. The desperadoes put the conductor and fireman out on a pile of rocks alongside the tracks and kept them covered with pistols.

Being content with pillaging the express and mail cars, they did not interfere with any of the passengers, but the Englishman was so delighted at the notion of encountering an adventure that he insisted upon leaving his car. When the porter tried to restrain him, he replied, "But I want to observe how they rob a train in this blooming country, don't you know." He did actually get as far as the platform, when a bullet through his hat persuaded him to retreat.—Saturday Evening Post.

Cloud Formation.

A cloud is produced by the cooling of a rising current of vapor laden air or by the meeting of two bodies of air of different temperature. A given volume of air, or, more strictly, a given space, whether it contains air or not, will only take up a certain quantity of water vapor at a given temperature.

Nothing Lacking.

When Helen Keller, the brilliant blind and deaf girl, met Dr. Furness, the Shakespearean scholar, he warned her not to let college professors tell her too many assumed facts about the life of Shakespeare. All we know, he said, is that Shakespeare was baptized, married and died.

"Well," she replied, "he seems to have done all the essential things."

UNCLE SAM'S CAMELS.

A Government Experiment of Over Half a Century Ago.

How many modern readers of our newspapers ever knew that Uncle Sam once engaged in the camel business to provide transportation across the burning sands? In 1853 congress appropriated $30,000 for the purchase and importation of camels, looking to the use of that animal as an aid to army transportation across what was then popularly called the Great American desert, embracing California, Arizona, New Mexico and the greater part of northern Texas. Congress was influenced to take this action because of the successful use of the camel in semicivilized warfare by the French in Algeria and by the British in the orient.

It fell to the lot of Jefferson Davis, then secretary of war and later the president of the Confederacy, to carry out the wishes of congress. He detailed Lieutenant (after Admiral) D. D. Porter, U. S. N., and Major Henry C. Payne, U. S. A., to proceed to northern Africa and Asia Minor to buy the beasts. The expedition brought back seventy-five camels, one drove of thirty-one being shipped in the naval store ship Supply and another of forty-one in the United States warship Suwanee. Both vessels landed their live cargoes at Indianola, Tex., Feb. 10, 1857.

They were driven thence to Camp Verde in the care of three Arab camel drivers, who were brought out for the purpose under a year's contract. That year, in response to a request from the senate, Secretary Davis made an elaborate report of the expedition, which was subsequently published as an illustrated volume of 300 pages. The experiment was not a success. Its failure was attributed to the fact that the camels became footsore and stalled as soon as they attempted to travel over the rocky country outside the sandy plains, and it ended in the release of the animals in the Colorado desert to shift for themselves. There the camels thrived and multiplied. One of the herds contained over 100 head.

The miners and prospectors, however, did not take kindly to their presence, because they stampeded pack animals and other domesticated stock whenever they came in sight. It resulted finally in a war of extermination being waged against them as common nuisances, and what few escaped that raid were slaughtered by the Arizona Indians for their flesh. Although this experiment with the camel as a beast of burden failed, it was probably due to a misuse of the animal rather than to any natural shortcoming in it, as its great value as a burden bearer in Africa and Asia is undoubted.—Denver Field and Farm.

To Tunnel Mont Blanc.

The war of tunnels is on in the Alps. The completion of the Simplon route, followed by the tunneling of the Bernese Oberland, now in progress, has revived discussion in France and Italy of the project for a great series of tunnels under Mont Blanc and the Juras. The object would be to prevent the diversion of traffic toward the valley of the Rhine. Engineers have calculated that a tunnel of about eight miles length would suffice to penetrate the giant of the Alps. The cost is placed at $12,000,000, that of piercing the Juras at $23,000,000. The cost for approaches to the Mont Blanc tunnel is estimated at $3,000,000. The shortening of the route between the English channel and northern Italy would be only sufficient to save two hours' time on the railroad, but the friends of the project expect that these two hours would surely give to France the traffic that she now loses.—Youth's Companion.

A Rival to Radium.

Scientists in Germany say that a substance has been prepared which shows the same radio activity as that of radium bromide. It is said that the substance is uranyl molybdate. The molybdate is formed by adding ammonia molybdate to uranyl nitrate, when a white amorphous powder separates. This is dried in the dark and apparently must be kept there, as it is unstable. Report says that it gives radio active effects which are practically as intense as those given by radium. Though costly—namely, about $110 an ounce—the price is not so enormous as that of radium, which has reached many thousand dollars for the same quantity.

Life of Telegraph Poles.

During the past fifty-two years the telegraph department of the German government has experimented with various preservatives to prolong the life of telegraph poles. Records kept of 3,000,000 poles show that creosote is the most useful substance that can be employed to keep the poles from rotting. Impregnated with creosote a pole will last more than twenty years. Corrosive sublimate preserves for thirteen years, and it is the next best thing to prolong the life of wood. Poles which have not been impregnated with any preservative last only seven years.

AT THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE

Marks Dramatic Co. Draw an Immense Audience at First Performance.

The Kingston News of Tuesday says, "Last evening a crowded house greeted the R. W. Marks Comedy Co. who presented "The Witch of Wall Street," in a highly capable manner. Even the box seats were filled with spectators eager to witness the first class performance. The costumes worn by May A. Bell Marks were simply elegant and in her part of Jean Ingleside and Marie De Bosi she scored a great success. The latter part was a difficult one and required the knowledge of French to portray the character to the best advantage.

Arnold C. Baldwin in the part of Earl Leighton, the step-son, could not be improved on in his part. Mr. Baldwin's natural attractions beside his talent as an actor, made him a general favorite.

Miss Ivy Lyons, the banker's daughter also deserves special mention and Joe Lyons and George Marks were good in their different parts. The scenery was fine, especially the home of La Belle Marie and the Leighton residence. The specialties were the best seen here in many a day. The illustrated songs, "Captain Baby Bunting," and "When Our Firemen Face the Foe." by May Bell were received with great applause.

Archer and Garlow, who are old-time favorites, delighted the audience with their performance on the different musical instruments. The Gay children gave Buster Brown imitations and sang and danced very cleverly, as also did the Machan children, Rosyln and Glory, in their cute songs and dances. Songs and monologues by Ralph Wordley and some of the latest moving pictures completed the splendid list."

This company will be at the Grand Opera House, Peterborough all next week.

ENGAGEMENT IS CANCELLED

"Message From Mars" Will Not be Presented Here

The Peterborough engagement of "The Message from Mars" has been cancelled. The company went from Orillia to Kingston where they are playing tonight. To have played at played at Peterborough tonight would have meant getting a day behind in their dates all along the line.

All those who purchased tickets for this play here can have their money back by calling at the box office of the Grand Opera House.

The Response to Call for Charity

The large number of people who are flocking to the Children's Aid Society's relief restaurant has caused the more prosperous citizens to see that there is really a need for charity in Peterborough. Hence the establishment of the restaurant. A chord of sympathy and charity has been touched in the breasts of the more philanthrophic people of Peterborough, many of whom have contributed supplies in most generous quantities.

Peterboro' City Temperance League Was Organized

Enthusiastic Gathering of Workers Held Last Evening in the Y.M.C.A.—Officers Were Elected and Campaign Will Commence at Once to Wipe out Liquor Traffic in the City.

A temperance union to be known as the Peterborough City Temperance League, was organized last night at an enthusiastic gathering of the workers against the liquor traffic in the Y.M.C.A. hall. There was a large attendance and the members start out with the brightest prospects and will commence at once to fight for local option in Peterborough. Rev. J. R. Webb occupied the chair last night and Rev. H. J. Keith acted as secretary pro tem. The meeting was an organization one. The election of officers was the principal business transacted and resulted as follows:—

President—Rev. J. G. Potter.

Vice-President—Mr. H. P. Kennedy.

Secretary—Mr. A. B. Cunningham.

Treasurer—Mr. R. Harding.

Executive Committee—The pastors of the city churches and Messrs. W. E. Galley, A. McKenzie, Wm. Sanderson, of Knox church, Geo. Powell, T. M. McFadden, A. W. Cressman, of George street church; A. Brown, J. Goodwin, R. J. Kidd, of Charlotte st. church; Jas. Souci, A. Sheridan, M. McIntyre, of Mark street church; John Riddell, B. Yelland, Wm. Aldridge, of Murray street church, T. G. Gillespie, Wm. C. Barrie and W. Kempt, of Park street church, and J. W. Carey, J. L. Richmond and Wm. Stock, of the Royal Templars.

Representatives from St. Paul's and St. Andrew's churches will be appointed to the Executive at a later meting.

Rev. J. G. Potter was appointed to represent the society at the Ontario Alliance convention in Toronto on February 26th and 27th.

It was the unanimous opinion of the meeting that the present was the most opportune time for united movement on the part of temperance workers in wiping out the liquor traffic.

Another meeting will be held in the course of a week or so to adopt some plan of campaign.

Mandall Bros.' Junk Sheds Destroyed by Fire To-day

Mandall Bros.' junk sheds, next to the railway track, were badly gutted by fire this morning. All that is left to mark one of Peterborough's Jewish settlements is a few black and charred boards, and about six Jews are homeless. They estimate their loss at four hundred dollars, with no insurance whatever.

The fire started about ten o'clock from an over-heated stove pipe. The inmates of the place had a roaring fire going, and had been out and bought some bread and other provisions in preparation for a feast which they had anticipated enjoying. However, when the fire commenced one of them ran to the fire hall, and in a few minutes the brigade was on the scene and two streams were playing on the burning structure. Being of very dry material and having been filled with sawdust, the building made a big blaze for a while. There was no danger of the conflagration spreading, and it was only about an hour until the fire was out.

There was only a small quantity of furniture in the building, but it was all destroyed.

The building was formerly owned by Mr. M. Carlton, East City, but was taken over by the three Mandall brothers a few months ago. They have conducted a junk business there since taking it over.

Former Local Man May Have Been Injured in Bad Wreck

Mr. A. Mercer One of Those Hurt in Wreck in New York State in Which Several Canadians Were Injured.

Special to J. R. Heintz & Company.

Franklinville, N. Y., Feb. 7.—Ten persons, three of them residents of Bufaflo, and a resident of North Tonawanda, were injured in a wreck on the Penna. Railroad two miles south of this village this morning at nine o'clock. No one was killed. The injured are:—

Wilson C. Guggenheimer, Buffalo.

Mrs. Wilson Guggenheimer, Buffalo.

A. E. Neil, Buffalo.

Eugene De Kleist, Mayor of North Tonawanda.

R. L. Clawson, Toronto, Ont.

Julia Hooper, York, Pa.

W. Kilmer, Olean. N.Y.

M. O'Blackmere, Chicago.

C. P. Townsend, Washington, D.C.

A. Mercer, Toronto.

Of the ten who were injured Mr. Clawson was most seriously hurt. His chest was crushed and he is thought to have been internally injured. He is expected, however, to recover.

The wrecked train was the Washington express, otherwise known as the morning flyer. It was running towards Buffalo and was making about 60 miles an hour. A snow storm was raging. The wreck was caused by spreading rails owing, it was said, to the recent severe weather. The engineer tender passed the spreading rails safely but the two coaches of which the train consisted left the track. They were a chair car and a sleeper from Washington. They ran along for 50 or 60 rods on the edge of an embankment 30 or 40 feet high. Then the coaches plunged down the embankment turning over and over as they descended. The train crew escaped.

There is a possibility that the A. Mercer referred to above is Mr. Andrew Mercer, formerly of Peterborough, but now of Montreal. The address given, however, is Toronto, not Montreal. Mr. Andrew Mercer, who is a prominent merchant in the clothing business in Montreal, is well-known here, having conducted a successful tailoring business here for time. He has two sisters residing in Peterborough, Mrs. Chas. Stapleton, Gilmour street, and Mrs. R. Neill, Hunter street.

Grand Trunk and the C.P.R. are Now Free

Special to The Review

Toronto, Feb. 7.—The railway situation in the province is improved this morning. On the Grand Trunk all branches are open, and agents have been instructed to sell tickets again. The C.P.R. main line east from Montreal to Burketon is open and snow plows are now working in this direction. It is expected the track will be opened this afternoon, and with these exceptions, the C.P.R. sent out a passenger train at 10.50 this morning, the first in three days. Trains on the Owen Sound branch will be sent out this afternoon. Both roads are accepting perishable freight. The Canadian Northern is still tied.

Were Guests of Peterboro' Club

Several Prominent Gentlemen Detained Here by Storm Entertained Last Evening

Several prominent gentlemen who are detained in the city as a result of the snow blockade, were guests of the Peterborough Club last night. Among the visitors were Mr. Cockshutt, M.P., of Brantford; Mr. W. F. MacLean, M.P., of Toronto and Mr. G. T. Blackstock, K.C. of Toronto. A most enjoyable time was spent at the club, songs and recitations being contributed by Messrs. W. H. Denham, W. S. Davidson, G. T. Blackstock and others.

The guests of the club were greatly pleased with the hospitable manner in which they were entertained and expressed their hearty thanks.

BLOCKADE ON RAILROADS WAS RAISED THIS AFTERNOON

Roads Reported Cleared and Traffic Now Open—C. P. R. Trains Stalled Here Left at Noon—First C. P. R. Train From the West Arrived at 3 O'clock—Three Trains Passed Through City on the G.T.R.

The tieup on the railroads is still felt today and practically no mails have been received in the city. On the G.T.R. the road is nearly all cleared with the exception of that part between Lindsay and Toronto. On the CPR. the track between here and Toronto has been opened and the trains that were stalled along the route are beginning to move. The present tieup will long be remembered in railroad circles, not for some years have the trains been blocked for such a long period of time in the one snow storm.

Passengers were brought from Toronto on the GTR. last night. The train that left here yesterday at noon awaited the arrival of the Toronto train at Port Hope and then came through to Lindsay getting in here about midnight. A train also got through from Belleville last night and one left here for that place this morning. The 11.45 today at noon made good time and got here pretty nearly according to schedule. The 8.10 train from Belleville arrived here at 3.30 this afternoon.

On the main line of the GTR. the track is clear as is also the one to Belleville and Port Hope. Word was received at the local depot that in all probability the road from Blackstock to Toronto would be ready for traffic by this evening.

The CPR. road between Peterborough and Toronto that was so terribly blocked was cleared today at noon. The trains that were storm-stayed here since yesterday morning left today at 12.45 while the first one from the West was due here at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The evening local of Wednesday and the 4.48 train from the East of the same day that were stalled at Burketon and Claremont respectively will be the first to arrive in the city. After that it is expected that the trains will run in their regular order.

At the post office and express offices, the employees had an exceedingly easy time yesterday and today but they anticipate a big rush when the trains start to come in.

A rather strange incident happened at Burketon yesterday that prolonged the delay and caused a great deal of inconvenience. A snow plough left the track and a great deal of time was lost in getting it on the rails again.

Interesting Meeting Held at Barracks Last Evening

There was a large attendance at the Salvation Army barracks last evening, when an interesting meeting was held. From Orillia Here Without Anything to Eat

Message From Mars Company Passed Through City To-day —May Appear Here

"A Message from Mars" Company reached here today via G.T.R. from Orillia at 12 o'clock, and left about five minutes later for Port Hope. From there will go to Kingston where they play an engagement at the Grand Opera house tonight.

The train that brough them here consisted of a double header with a baggage and passenger coach. They left Orillia at five o'clock last night and came through as soon as possible, the passengers not having time to get anything to eat. The passage here was a tough one, and the roads were in bad condition.

The company appear in London on the 22nd, and arrangements are being made to book them for here if possible, sometime between the 24th and 28th. The play is a well written and elevating one, and it is to be hoped that the management of the Grand will succeed in securing it for a Peterborough date.

JERRY FROM KERRY

"Jerry from Kerry," an Irish musical comedy, was presented at the Grand Opera house before a big audience last night. Everything went with a swing and there was a laugh almost every second. The audience appeared to derive all sorts of fun out of the production, and there will no doubt be bumper audiences at the matinee and night performances tomorrow. "Jerry from Kerry," has such a variety of attractions that it might almost be described as vaudeville. "Joe, the newsboy," a dramatic sketch in one act, was productive of much merriment as well as teaching a moral. There was plenty of rich Irish humor in "Jerry from Kerry," and the specialties introduced were of a high order of merit. Among them was a brass sextette that played in a finished manner. Dick Mitchell, as "the funny old Jay from down east," was a great mirth maker and was encored several times. Mention must be made of the orchestra which was one of the best heard here for some time.

"Jerry from Kerry," will be the attraction tomorrow afternoon and night, and should be greeted by big audiences. For those who like a clean, rollicking Irish comedy, "Jerry from Kerry," can be heartily recommended.

Local Option By-law Stands

Recount at Millbrook Makes No Change in the Situation

Millbrook, Feb. 6.—The recount of the local option vote took place on Tuesday before Judge Benson, Mr. A. A. Smith acting for the temperance side, Mr. D. H. Chisholm of Port Hope, for the hotel interests and R. Ruddy, for the corporation of Millbrook. His Honor went carefully over the ballots and found no errors in the count. Asked by Mr. Chisholm if he would go into the matter further, the judge declined to open up the whole question. He offered, however, to hold his decision for a couple of weeks until a decision of Judge Snyder's of Hamilton was further heard by a higher court, but after consulting with his clients Mr. Chisholm decided to drop the matter and therefore the by-law stands.

SPORTING NEWS

Ladies Were Too Fast for Their Skirted Opponents

This handsome sum of $104 was taken in last night at the hockey match between the Rough Riders and the seven young lady hockeyists. The fair puckchasers won by 3-2. They scored the first two goals and at half time led by two to one.

When Referee Wesson rang his bell for the game to start the teams faced each other as follows:—

Goal.	Miss Olive Kyle	Giroux
Point	Miss Ola Cavanagh	Hayes
Cover	Miss Ada Minns	Cahill
Rover	Miss Lulu Scott	C. Giroux
Centre	Miss Nellie Graham	Pugh
Right Wing	Miss Meriel Burritt	Porter

Uniformed in Strathcona sweaters and red skirts, the young ladies' presented a very attractive appearance. The Rough Riders did not appear to be particularly inconvenienced by reason of their skirted outfit. They did not select their uniform with much regard to harmony but nevertheless as a team presented a very neat and graceful appearance. Many of the fair sex in the audience were heard to remark on the good taste they displayed in the selection of their wardrobe.

The tally as before stated was 3-2 but this score is by no means a just indication of the play. The winners notched the first two goals and then allowed their victims to secure one. At half time the score was 2-1 in favor of the young ladies. In the second half they made it three to one and as the game was only an exhibition were content with winning out by 3-2. The idea of making the game so close was to give the spectators the worth of their money. The victors knew they were never in any danger and regulated the match to suit themselves.

Everybody in the winners' line-up played a superb game and it would be unfair to make special mention of the showing of any individual players. Now and again the Rough Riders managed to make a feeble resistance; once in a while they were so completely outclassed that no credit can be given to any member of the defeated septette. They roughed it at times in a vain attempt to win but referee Wasson, although somewhat partial by reason of his sympathy with the losing team inflicted several penalties on the fractious ones. As the two goals were practically given the Rough Riders it is not necessary to mention those who scored them.

The winners tallies were secured by Miss L. Scott and Miss Cavanagh in the first half and Miss L. Scott in the second half.

The big crowd of spectators were enthusiastic over the game and cheered loudly for the winners.

After the match the hockeyists had a supper and entertainment at which a vote of thanks was passed to the Rough Riders for consenting to play and thus helping to raise money for such a worthy organisation as the Children's Aid Society.

The Strathconas Norwood Games

Definite Arrangements to b Made by To-morrow Night

Arrangements are being made for the home and home games between the Strathconas and Norwood and by to-morrow evening all matters in connection with the games will have been definitely arranged.

The Norwood seven who have been in the city since their last game with the High Lifes owing to the blocked conditions of the railway lines, took upon the proposition very favorably and are anxious to have an opportunity of clashing with the champions. There is much doubt as to which is really the better seven and the warmest kind of contest is sure to ensue when the teams meet.

HOCKEY

The Bell Telephone and C.P.R. sevens play tonight between 10 and 11 o'clock at the Brock street rink.

Picton defeated Port Hope at Belleville on Wednesday night, 5—1.

Victorias defeated Wanderers in an eastern league game, 6—5.

Sporting Comment

The hockey public of Peterborough will await with interest the approaching games between Norwood and the Strathconas. The teams are remarkably evenly matched and a great game should result when the two come together.

What "Times" Says of Game

Doesn't Understand Why Lindsay Team is Known as Midgets —Poor Exhibition

The Brockville Times says the following of the Lindsay-Brockville game in Brockville the other night:

The Lindsay Midgets played the 41st Regiment here last night in the first of home and home games in the OHA. semi-finals. The visitors won by a score of 5 goals to 1 in one of the poorest exhibitions of hockey ever witnessed on the local rink. Neither team displayed championship form. The contest dragged and towards the end became so slow and uninteresting that many of the spectators left the building. The Lindsay Midgets, where they derive the name of "Midgets" is hard to understand, were heralded as world-beaters of their class and the hockey loving public were led to expect great things of them. Their showing was certainly a keen disappointment. They are a big husky bunch who depend largely upon their weight and skating abilities. As far as having mastered the fine points they have yet much to learn.

Annual Turf Club Meeting

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Turf Club was held yesterday afternoon in the City Hotel. The election of officers resulted in the secretary, Mr. James O'Shea, being elected vice-president, and Mr. Chas. R. Nixon getting the secretaryship.

The Club intends holding a three days' race meet next August on an extensive scale.

The election of officers resulted as follows;—

President—Dr. Johnston.
Vice-President—James O'Shea.
Sec'y-Treas.—Chas. R. Nixon.
Track Manager—Martin Connors.

Could Not Go to Campbellford

A number of Peterborough people intended going to Campbellford last night to attend the dance being given by the bachelors of that town but were unable to do so owing to there being no train service. A large number in this city had been invited.

SHOVELLERS RETURNED

The gang of over one hundred men employed to shovel snow on the C.P.R., to make way for the trains, returned to the city at two o'clock this afternoon after having been engaged on their work for twenty-four hours. They met the snow plough at Myrtle and came in with the crew. The shovellers had a hard task to clear the road and were busy as nailers all the time.

CONDUCTOR HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Lindsay, Feb. 8.—Conductor T. Ringling, of the G.T.R. snow plow, had a rather narrow escape from death the other day. It seems that his outfit was stopped at a station, and after everything was ready to go on again, he gave the engineer the signal, but noticed a loose pin and leaned over to drive it in. He slipped some way and got his foot between the platform and the plow, badly crushing it. If the engineer had not noticed his danger and immediately reversed his engine he might have been drawn in and crushed—maybe to death.

Stone Cutters Not Included

Have Had the Eight Hour Day for Several Years.

A slip of the pencil made the Review use the words "Stone Cutters" instead of "Stonemasons," in an item in last night's paper regarding the nine hour day. To clear up any misapprehension that may have been created, it may be stated that the stone cutters have a union of their own and are independent of the bricklayers' and stonemasons' union. They have had an eight hour day for several years, and work at a certain rate per hour.

WILL OF LATE JAS. STODDARD

The estate is divided equally between Mary C. and Thomas A. Stoddard, son and daughter of deceased. Thomas A. A. Stoddard is made executor and the will provides that he shall not be required to give bonds or to file an inventory. The will was made at Sewaren, March 27th, 1902.

Curious Campaign Literature From the Grafters at Ottawa

By the Ottawa grafters campaign literature is already being issued and masses of it are passing through the columns of the weekly press. Here is a sample statement from the this truly Laurieresque material;—

"What would have happened had the Conservatives been allowed to have their way the past ten years? The Grand Trunk Pacific would never have been built. The great West would still remain a desolate wilderness. The farmers would have been crying in vain for transportation facilities."

This sounds like a quotation from one of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speeches—it is so untrue in its suggestions and so mean in its allusions to public men of a different way of thinking.

It is represented by the writer that but for the Grand Trunk Pacific the West would be a wilderness, and the farmers would have no way out for their produce. Yet the Grand Trunk Pacific is not built yet. It has not carried a pound of freight in or out of the West, and it will not do so for years to come. The mendacity of the men who can attribute the splendid position of the West to the work of a railway that is not yet in operation is worthy of the Ottawa politicians. But for the Conservatives, says this romancer, the Grand Trunk Pacific would never be built. This implies that the Ottawa Government opposed it. There are two untruths in this insinuation. In the first place the Ottawa Government never proposed the new railway. The scheme was designed by the Grand Trunk Railway Company with a view to connecting the system with the Great West. It was Sir Rivers Wilson and Chas. M. Hays, and not the Ottawa Ministers. The idea was projected by men of business, and not those of "rake-offs" and grafts. While the Ottawa Government did not design the project, the Opposition did not oppose the entrance of the Grand Trunk into the West. But the Opposition did oppose the present terms which are ridiculous, and indeed criminal. The Grand Trunk wanted to build its own railway, aided by a small bonus. Had the proposition been adopted, we should have had the second transcontinental line, and the cost of Canada would have been about $12,000,000. The Government would not permit this moderate proposition to become operative, and proposed another. As a result of the Government interference we are building one half of the line east of Winnipeg, and are finding three-quarters of the money for the other half of the line west of Winnipeg. Having forced us to provide so much money for the line, the Government makes the company a present of $50,000,000 of common stock in the undertaking. The scheme as designed by the Ottawa grafters, takes $100,000,000 from the people for building a section of the railway. Then it employes the credit of Canada in guaranteeing bonds for the other section. Finally, it makes the Grand Trunk a present of $50,000,000, upon which the profits are to be made.

The terms are of such a character as to mean the robbery of the people of Canada. No honest men, certainly no responsible men would propose them or consent to them. The fact that it did so stands to its credit. It shows that the party, while willing to push anything that makes for national development, respects the people and protects their interests. —Mail and Empire.

HAMILTON'S SENTENCE

This morning Frank Hamilton, convicted on a charge of forgery, was allowed to go on suspended sentence by County Police Magistrate Edmison. Hamilton raised a cheque on the Cavendish Lumber Company, from $1.40 to $50.40. His Worship gave him some sound advice regarding his future behavior. At the end of a year he is to again appear before the magistrate and will be required to report monthly to High County Constable Cochrane. He promised to abstain from using liquor, and to endeavor to lead a straightforward life.

THE CHINESE IN CARDIFF INVASION OF ORIENTALS

Among seafaring men in Cardiff the steady increase in the number of Chinamen who obtain berths on vessels at that port is causing alarm. It is stated that the Chinamen accept half the wages of European seamen and are less particular as regards food, requiring only a few cheap though wholesome articles of food.

The Chinaman does not ask for peas and haricot beans, flour, oatmeal, milk syrup, suet, pickles and dried fruits. He lives for a month on the same quantity of salt beef, salt pork, and tea he wants less in a month requires for a week. Even of coffee adn tea he wants less in a month than his white competitor in a week.

"Four years ago," said the Cardiff secretary of the Sailors' and Firemen's Union, "there was a Chinnese boarding-house in Cardiff. Now there are seven. Four years ago you could not go along the Bute road without seeing the Greek and Spanish flags. The Spaniards drove the Greeks away to a great extent. Then the Italians came in. Now the Italians are disappearing gradually, and also the Arabs and Turks, and the Chinese are taking their places.

"There are always between 200 and 300 Chinamen on shore, and available for engagement. If the rate of increase of the past year or so is kept up we shall have a new Chinese boarding house established every month or two."—The Minden Echo.

MANY YARDS BADLY FILLED WITH SNOW

"How many skirts can I get out of a yard?" asked the soubrette of the comedian at the Grand Opera House last night.

"Depends upon whose yard you get into," was the answer, and the crowd laughed.

There are more than skirts in the average Peterborough yard these days, however. For the first time in many years local citizens are finding it necessary to have the snow drawn out of their yards. "The beautiful" is so deep around the houses that it is necessary to have it hauled away. Several teams and men are engaged doing this work.

The Toast to "the Babies"

The Babies! Now, that's something like! We haven't all had the fortune to be ladies. We haven't all been generals or poets, or statesmen; but when the toast works down to the babies, we stand on common ground, for we've all been babies. If you gentlemen will think for a moment, if you will go back fifty or a hundred years to your early married life, and recontemplate your first baby, you will remember that he amounted to a good deal and even something over.

If the baby proposed to take a walk at his usual hour, half-past two in the morning, didn't you rise up promptly and remark that that was the very thing you were about to propose yourself? Oh, you were under good discipline! and as you went fluttering up and down the room in your undress uniform, you not only prattled undignified baby talk, but even tuned up your martial voice and tried to sing "Rock a by baby in the tree top!

I like the idea that a baby doesn't amount to anything. Why, one baby is just a house and a front yard full by itself. One baby can furnish more business than you and your whole interior department can attend to; he is enterprising, irrepressible, brimful of lawless activities; and do what you please you can't make him stay on the reservation. Sufficient unto the day is one baby. As long as you are in your right mind don't you ever pray for twins. Twins amount to a permanent riot; and there isn't any real difference between triplets and insurrection. —From "Modern Miracles."

A CHALLENGE ACCEPTED

The Examiner challenges Mr. Burnham, in an editorial, to enlighten the Review, and therefore practically the whole community, "as to the comments on the manner in which he gained the nomination, which have reached his ears directly and indirectly from the two unsuccessful candidates for the nomination, even after the formal resolution of unanimity." Mr. Burnham responds with pleasure, and through the Review, begs leave to assure the Examiner that not one word from Mr. Garvin or Ald. Phelan, directly or indirectly, of a nature reflecting upon the character or conduct of Mr. Burnham, as suggested by the Examiner, has as yet reached his ears. The challenge was an unintentional kindness to Mr. Burnham, who is thus allowed an opportunity of denying a false report. But there is more in the Examiner's article than an attempt to asperse Mr. Burnham for a supposition that all conventions are loosely conducted is a direct reflection upon the honest men of the Liberal party. We know what we know of the last Liberal convention here, and we hope such a travesty will never be repeated. In the meantime we again affirm that no insinuations of a doubtful nature have reached Mr. Burnham's ears, and for the very good reason that they were never made, except in the columns of the Examiner. We shall expect our contemporary to publish Mr. Burnham's reply since we have frankly put both challenge and acceptance before our readers.

DENIALS DENIED

The Toronto Globe has been called in to its aid by the Examiner in the desperate case of the Timber Scandals investigation at Ottawa. They deny the whole affair. We would respectfully ask these journals if they think that by denying generally they can negative Hansard. No matter what party journals say the full record remains in these official chronicles.

THE FIGHT FOR CANADA

In the days of the free export of logs to the United States and the consequent ruin of our timber limits and saw milling industry Canada was made the victim of Liberal inefficiency and misrule. In those days Hon. J. R. Stratton appeared before the Board of Trade in Peterborough in company with his cohorts and strongly opposed any attempt on the part of the Board to recommend an export duty on logs to the attention of the Government. What did they care for the Canadian workingman? They were more concerned for the owner of the limit who had a large market to sell in and less risk in handling his output. Mr. R. R. Hall was likewise an advocate of this destructive process but time has worked great changes. The United States no longer enjoys the privilege of closing our mills and using Ontario as a backyard. This refers to timber only, however. In pulpwood we are still by the grace of the Liberal administration at Ottawa the victims of similar policy. Last year $8,000,000 worth of pulpwood that should have been $50,000,000 worth of pulp, was taken across the lines by our astute neighbors and manufactured into pulp. This is only one instance of the failure of Liberal politicians to understand the principles of tariff-making. "Strip the country if you like" is their motto "but don't try to build up a nation." Of course somebody as usual profits by this manner of dealing with the matter—the owners of the pulp limits. The Canadian workmen would have to follow the pulpwood to get employment if Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Fielding had their way.

THE TELEPHONE

As our esteemed contemporary the Morning Times observes in its editorial columns the telephone as applied to farms has worked wonders in the farming industry. Hitherto the chief difference between social life in this city and country, lies in the position of people with regard to each other. If people in cities lived and worked with considerable intervals between their dwellings the conditions of life in city and the farm would practically be the same. It is the density of population therefore that makes the difference. The telephone has secured this for farmers and their families. Union is strength, but it is also something else. It provides for social intercourse and an increase in human happiness. In the future we may expect to see on this account a disposition on the part of young men and women to remain on the farm.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The editorials of the Toronto Mail and Empire are, it may safely be asserted amongst the most cogent and effective in the Canadian press. They are written as concisely as a lawyer's brief, omit nothing in detail and have the finish of true literary art. The Mail and Empire's opponents are treated with journalistic courtesy, but in argument are not the less surely silenced.

The Liberal-Conservative Convention for East Peterborough meets on February 26th in Norwood. Much interest is being taken in this gathering by the Conservative electors of the riding and there will likely be a very large attendance—if there are no more snow storms. When the Liberal convention will be held has not been announced as yet. As in the west riding the date remains in "the womb of time."

Mr. Burnham, the Liberal-Conservative candidate in the west riding, instructs us to thank the Examiner for its insinuations regarding the Convention. Many electors have promised to support him as a consequence. Wanton abuse by an opponent is an excellent solidifier and restorative in party warfare. The party is thoroughly united and many Liberals also have declared their intention of joining in with it to break up the conspiracy at Ottawa, by sending a supporter of Mr. Borden's from West Peterborough.

We propose to publish from time to time extracts from Hansard, the official record of the proceedings of the House of Commons. It is always more satisfactory to those interested in matters of fact as well as of opinion in political affairs to have the authentic record at hand for their own perusal. It saves much time and prevents blanket denials and cynical evasions on the part of those chiefly interested in making out a good case in reply to damaging charges and accusations.

THE MAIL'S REPLY

A Stunning Denunciation of the Globe—A Masterly Summing up—Arraignment of Graft

Complaint is made by the Toronto Globe, the newspaper apologist for the timber steals in the West, that The Mail and Empire in reporting the exposure in Parliament gave five columns of space to the facts and but 25 lines to the reply of ex-Land Commissioner Turriff, M.P. Were this complaint well founded, the Mail and Empire would be open to the charge of unfairness. But it has no foundation for it happens that Mr. Turriff has made no reply.

It is well to bear in mind that Mr. Turriff was the man who gave out many of the huge timber grants concerning which there is so much excitement. Acting as Land Commissioner in the pay of the people, this politician awarded the property to the men who now have it. In one case (a 60-mile limit was applied for by Mr. A. W. Fraser, an Ottawa lawyer, who was President of the Ottawa Liberal Association. The limit was offered for sale by private tender. One tender only was put in, that of Mr. Fraser, and the price offered was $500. Now anybody can see that $500 for 60 miles of timber territory is simply ridiculous. Why did Mr. Turriff allow the property of the people to go for this small sum to a lawyer who was President of the Liberal Association? Mr. Turriff has not explained that. His speech makes no reference to this important point. After the 60 miles had been awarded to Mr. Fraser for $500, Mr. Turriff increased the limit by 30 miles, thus making it 90 miles, at the same price. Why was this done. There is no explanation in the so-called reply of the ex-Land Commissioner. How did it happen that Mr. Turriff gave for $500 property of the people which the present holders are offering for sale at $500,000? In another case a very curious transaction occurred. The Ottawa lawyer, who was also president of the Liberal Association, applied for a 50-mile timber berth. Three tenders were submitted as follows;

Fraser	1,000
Nolan	7,000

The highest bidder was to get the concession. Fraser's tender and Nolan's tender were both in the same handwriting, but the figure "$7,000" in Nolan's was in different ink and was added after the tenders had been written. The berth was awarded to Nolan and five days afterwards he transferred it to a company, the membership of which is mysterious. Now the eccentricity in the tendering is calculated to awaken curiosity. Was this figure in Nolan's tender filled in after the offer of Curry had been seen? Did the president of the Liberal Association put in a $1,000 tender and with it an offer in blank to be filled in should a higher tender be inserted by some other party? Anyway, who wrote the $7,000 in the Nolan tender? Mr. Turriff has not explained these matters. He has not even advanced a theory. Nor has he told Parliament why there has been such feverish haste to sell the timber property of this country to lawyers and presidents of the Liberal Associations.

Mr. Turriff has made no reply to the charges laid before Parliament by Mr. Ames. He has certainly made a brassy challenge to all and sundry to make accusations against him, and he has pretended that Conservatives, in the past made similar timber grabs in which respect he falsified the record. But he has dodged the questions that are uppermost, and therefore the allegation that the Mail and Empire failed to give his "reply" to the public is untrue.

Claimed Good for the Blood

Good Home Made Mixture Said to Make Kidneys Filter Out Impurities

All medical authorities are agreed that the blood is the great source of disease or health in the human system. If the blood is pure, the individual is strong and healthy, if the blood is impure or diseased, then there is sickness or decay in the whole system.

Rheumatism is strictly a blood disease. It is caused by excessive uric acid. Sores, pimples, etc., mean bad blood. Catarrhal affections must be treated through the blood to get permanent results. To get well, to feel strong, hearty and vigorous one must have good, clean blood, and lots of it. You can't clean the blood thoroughly unless the kidneys are made active. Bad blood means clogged, inactive kidneys and liver, which causes, too, such symptoms as backache, nervousness, bladder and urinary difficulties, and other sympathetic troubles.

Here is a simple home remedy and the Recipe for making it up is as follows;—

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle, and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime. The ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy at small cost.

Here the readers of this paper have a simple, yet powerful and effective remedy for all forms of blood, kidney and bladder diseases, which should relieve rheumatism and catarrhal affections and replace that weak, worn-out, indifferent feeling with strength, vigor and health.

This prescription is considered a fine system renovator and being made of vegetable extracts, only, is harmless and any one can mix it at home. Try this anyway before investing in the secret unknown concoctions of the patent medicine manufacturers.

SOME SENSIBLE SUGGESTIONS

A writer in the Providence Journal offers a few suggestions to theatregoers. In a condensed form they follows;

To make every possible effort to reach the theatre on time.

To remain quietly seated until the curtain finally descends and make no preliminary fuss and disturbance with hats and wraps. If earlier departure is necessary leave at the end of an act when it will not cause a disturbance.

To sit quietly and squarely and not twist round and lop over so as to take one-third or one-half of the space paid for by the occupant of the adjacent seat.

Not to beat time to the music against the floor or whistle or hum an accompaniment.

To bear in mind that an accompanying friend or relative probably possesses faint gleams of intelligence and refrain from repeating every second line and explaining every situation in the play in a more than audible voice. Others in the vicinity are also probably partially intelligent.

To refrain from discussing loudly and vivaciously the domestic affairs of friends or the details of the pink tea or the dinner party or what not that preceded the theatre party.

To abstain as far as possible from behaving inconsiderably and to remember that some of the other persons present have paid to be entertained and not to suffer foolish afflictions.

These good rules might be greatly amplified, yet such is human nature that the inconsiderate among theatregoers would not reform were they to read such admonitions daily.

DOUBTFUL IF INDUSTRY IS A BENEFIT

Tweed News Comments on the Recent Explosion

The Tweed News says; In the view of the numerous precautions adopted at the works of the Ontario Powder Company, accidents at the plant have been of comparatively rare occurrence, but despite these measures to insure safety there have been two explosions of a serious nature.;

The explosion on Tuesday was perhaps as bad as could possibly occur at the local plant and the damage inflicted on the local business places and residences is only a little on the opposite side of the ledger to the benefits derived from the business done with the employees of the Powder Company.

It is impossible, however, to hide the fact that the works are a menace to the town and something should be done before the fatal third time.

Now that the buildings of the company are practically all destroyed the village fathers should discuss the situation with the owners of the plant in order to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion, perhaps towards moving some of the buildings further from the town, or at least to insure even greater protection in case of a worse explosion.

The fortunate warning that gave the men a chance to save their lives is cause for the greatest thanksgiving.

OBITUARY

DAVID McILMOYLE

The death of Mr. David McIlmoyle occurred on Saturday, Feb. 1st, after a somewhat lingering illness. Although he had been in poor health for nearly three years, his death came as a shock to his family and surrounding friends. His illness was of an obscure character and in spite of all that medical skill could do, he gradually grew worse, until at last, exhausted and debilitated, his life slowly ebbed away. He was born on October 16th, 1844, on lot 21, con. 10, of Smith township, where he pursued his life work farming. In 1884 he moved to lo 3, con. 6, South Monaghan where he resided at the time of his death. He was a member of South Monaghan council for a term and for several years a representative on the Board of Health. In his private and public life he proved himself to be a man of sound judgment and preeminent ability, weighing carefully his decision on each business enterprise. Ever ready to lend a helping hand, to the needy and to shelter and care for the weary traveller was his predominant characteristic. In politics he was a staunch Liberal, in religion a Presbyterian. By his death is lost a devoted husband, a kind father, and a sincere friend. He leaves to mourn his loss a widow, and three sons. The funeral took place on Monday, Feb. 3rd from the family residence, to Centreville cemetery for interment.

PUT STITCHES IN HIS HEART

Remarkable Operation Performed on Washington Man

Washington, Feb. 6.—One of the most difficult operations ever performed on a patient in this city took place at the Emergency Hospital, when the physicians took five stitches in the heart of Richard Denton, who was stabbed on Saturday night. Denton's heart was severed almost in half, and it was necessary to lay open the breast to perform the operation. Only six similar operations, the physicians say, have been performed in the United States.

When brought to the hospital Denman was unconscious. He was placed upon the operating table, and within an hour his breast had been opened, the heart slightly raised, and sewed up. The breast was then closed, and eighteen stitches taken.

Denton was better yesterday, and it was stated at the hospital that he may recover.

ITALIANS MEET TRAGIC DEATH

Killed While Thawing Frozen Dynamite

Smith Falls, Feb. 5.—A young Italian named Leo Loratto, employed on the C.P.R. construction, met a tragic death near Kemptville. Just how it happened will probably never be known, as he was alone in a shack at the time. It is supposed, however, that he was thawing out dynamite and in doing so set fire to it. The explosion was so great that the building was totally demolished.

The unfortunate man presented a horrible sight when found by his companions. His clothing was torn to shreds, his back was broken and his body was terribly mutilated. The deceased was thirty-five years of age and is said to have a wife and family in Italy.

Detained Three Days at Omemee

Commercial Travellers Had Rather Unpleasant Experience

Several commercial travellers who were stalled at Omemee since Tuesday arrived in the city this morning on the train that managed to get through on the Grand Trunk. It can hardly be said that they enjoyed their stay in the village and were glad enough to get going again. They state that they spent their time in Omemee running between the village and station in the hope that a train would put in an appearance, but in this they were disappointed until this morning. Omemee was without a train service from Tuesday until this morning, with the exception of two engines and a car which came through yesterday morning.

Bricklayers Gathered 'Round the Festive Board Last Night

Enjoyable Banquet Held by the Local Union in Hooper's Palm Gardens—Choice Menu and Interesting Toast List—Mayor Rush Gave an Address.

About thirty members of the Bricklayers and Masons' Union, No. 17, gathered at Hooper's grill room last evening and enjoyed their annual banquet. The evening was a most pleasant one and heartily enjoyed by everyone. The excellent repast served by Mine Host Hooper, could not have been improved upon, and the toast list was an interesting one. The occasion was graced with the presence of his Worship Mayor Rush, who during the evening delivered an address.

After everyone had enjoyed the recherche banquet, Mr. A. H. Webb, president of the Bricklayers' Union, rose and with a few well chosen remarks welcomed his Worship Mayor Rush and representatives from sister unions. Referring to the past year, the chairman said that it had been a most successful one. Everyone had had plenty of work. He said that the bricklayers and masons did not believe in strikes. He hoped that there would always be a friendly feeling existing between the employers and employees. He did not think there ever had been any discord. Every bricklayer in the city was a member of the union, and during the past year twenty new members had been added. The toast to the "King" was then proposed, and responded to with the singing of the National Anthem.

"The International Union," was the next toast, and was responded to by Mr. J. J. Hartley. He said the International Union was one, representative of all the unions in Canada and United States. Mr. Hartley said that conventions were held every second year, and would be held this coming summer in Detroit. The speaker has had the pleasure of attending these assemblies on two different occasions. The international convention deals with all matters of interest to the mason and bricklayer. Everything is threshed out squarely and honestly. There is no prejudice and every grievance is considered for the welfare and protection of the members of the union. The speaker referred to the fact that in all the years he had worked in Peterborough, he never had a strike on his hands. This is probably due to the fact that in this city there are employed a higher class of mechanics.

In Peterborough contractors and journeymen work in harmony, but in the larger cities each class has its own union. The speaker was pleased to say that the International Union was governed by officers who were honorable and level headed men. It is necessary that this union should exist in order to settle disputes and strikes that out of the ordinary course of events are bound to occur. The local union was strong and in good standing. No reflection could be cast upon any bricklayer in the city.

The toast to the city coupled with that to his Worship Mayor Rush, was next honored. Mayor Rush upon rising to respond, was greeted with an ovation. He thanked the bricklayers for their kind invitation to be present, and hoped that the most friendly feeling would always exist between him and the labor organisations of the city. He was sure that the citizens of Peterborough had elected a council in whom they could place every confidence and all efforts to secure manufactories for the city would be put forward. Mr. Rush stated that he would like to see the opportunities of labor enlarged upon. He was glad that they had met the employers on the nine hour day movement. The Mayor closed his remarks by wishing the bricklayers a prosperous and successful season.

Mr. Gatfield then delighted those present with a vocal solo which was much enjoyed.

"Sister Unions" was the next toast proposed and was heartily drunk.

In responding, Mr. John Londerville, on behalf of the Moulders' Union, thanked the bricklayers for the hearty and enthusiastic way in which the toast was honored. He had enjoyed the banquet very much, and expressed a wish that the union would have great success. Mr. Geo. Bertram, president of the Stonecutters' Union, made a similar reply. A communication was read from Mr. T. J. Begley, expressing regret at being unable to be present.

Mr. T. M. McFadden, one of Peterborough's well known contractors, was the guest of the bricklayers at their banquet last evening, and his name was coupled with the next toast, that of "Our Guest."

Mr. McFadden in a brief speech responded. He had enjoyed the hospitality of the bricklayers. He was pleased to be present with Mayor Rush, with whom he gathered on several previous occasions around the festive board. He thought that the union was wise in their decision, when they decided to keep to the nine hour day. Peterborough was not ready for the eight hour day yet.

"Our Local Union" was next proposed, and Messrs. Geo. Curtis and Geo. Hillier made suitable replies, referring to the harmonious feeling prevailing in the union. Mr. Haywood also spoke a few words. He had only been in Peterborough two years, having come here from the Old Country. Peterborough was a growing city and he trusted that it would always prosper and that the union would go ahead in a straightforward manner.

Messrs. Geo. Dartnell, Geo. Rose and Mr. Franklin added a few remarks, after which Mr. Gatfield sang a song.

The next toast was to the "Ladies," and was responded to by Mr. J. J. Goodwin, who sang the Maple Leaf forever.

Other toasts honored, were "Our Host," and the "Press," to which were made suitable replies.

The meeting was then brought to a close by the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

The Resolution is Criticized

Correspondent Has Something to Say About Sunday Funerals

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—I notice in a recent issue of your valuable paper a report of the proceedings of the Ministerial Association. That part of it referring to "Sunday Funerals" I think in some ways are about as reasonable as their resolution a year or so ago on the hotel question.

Now from appearances the resolution passed by the ministers on Monday may appear very good from their standpoint. But let us look at it from another standpoint. Many deaths occur on Friday and if this resolution is carried out the bodies of our friends would have to be buried with unseemly haste on Saturday or lay over until Monday. In many cases this would not really be a hardship (my own included) to the friends of the deceased, but there are hundreds of cases where every day lost by the bread-winners is a serious loss to the family, and although some may say that this is a heartless way of looking at it, I do not think so. Just think a death occurred on Friday and the father with a large family to feed and clothe, has got to stay at home for the Monday to bury his dead, probably other members of his family is working too, because he could not bury the body on Sunday. The ministers salaries are paid by the year, and a day lost is not a monetary loss to them, in fact they can go off on a month's holidays in the summer, and let the dead bury the dead, while they are away, and shall I say, let the evil one have full sway while they are away too.

What have the clergymen to do with treating this subject from the standpoint they have in their resolution. Why not treat it from the standpoint, "What would Christ do in this matter?"

Let the ministers preach Christ and Him crucified and there will be no desecration of the Sabbath.

Yours sincerely,
AN OBSERVER.

Two Holes in the Ground Mark Place Where Buildings Stood

Later Details of the Explosion at Tweed—One Man Received Slight Injuries—Many Peculiar Freaks Are Recorded.

The fact that no one was killed does not mean that the explosion here was not a terrible one. A visit to the place where the works stood reveals a sight of complete wreckage. The gelatine building and the nitroater have been completely blown to atoms, and the only thing left to mark their location are two deep holes in the nitroater building there was heavy machinery some of it weighing three to four tons, but not a trace of this is seen in the vicinity of the ruins, although the gun cotton storehouse near the destroyed buildings was practically undamaged.

Mr. Frank Knight, who is in charge of the works here, when interviewed said he was unable to say how the explosion occurred. The first indication of trouble was when flames and smoke were seen coming from the nitroater, and knowing that an explosion would follow, the men rushed to places of safety just getting away in time to escape a terrible death.

Mr. Daniel Smith and Mr. C. A. McPherson of Kingston, President and Sec.-treas. of the Ontario Powder Co., arrived in town Tuesday afternoon and at once went to view the ruins.

Mr. Smith expressed himself over and over again as being thankful that there was no loss of life and said that the company would rebuild the plant at once.

Mr. McPherson said no estimate of the company's loss could be given, but it would be heavy. He said the explosion was as bad as could possibly happen at the plant, and he believed the people of Tweed would now feel more confident that no great danger threatened the town.

Many peculiar freaks are recorded as the work of the explosion. Practically every window on the west side of the main street was broken, while the stores on the east side, nearest the explosion, were only slightly damaged. At the tailor shop of Mr. I. D. Huyck the strong iron hinges were torn from the lower half of the door, while the glass front was not damaged, and the door not broken.

The Tweed News office door was blown open, bending a strong steel lock, and all the glass on one side of the door was broken to atoms, while on the other not even a crack was made.

Paul Trumpour, who is an old man, is the only person reported as injured. He was working in the drying room of the powder plant, some distance from the mixing room, and when he was told to run he either did not hear the warning or did not heed it. Before he had made up his mind that there was danger the explosion came and he was hurled across the room, but fortunately escaped with some severe bruises about the head.

One of the new machines installed in the gelatine factory weighing about three tons was destroyed, and not even a trace of it can be found. A nitric acid tank weighing perhaps 1,200 lbs. was hurled over the trees some 120 yards and fell breaking the C.P.R. telegraph wires so that communication east was cut off for several hours.

When Mr. Smith was seen on Wednesday morning he said there was no gelatine exploded. The gelatine manufactured the day before had been removed to the main storehouse about a mile away, but the explosive that caused the damage was nitro-glycerine of which there was about three tons in the mixing room.

The men employed at the plant will say very little concerning their experience and the general opinion of the men interviewed is that they expected greater damage than was done. The cold weather and heavy snow lessened the effect of the concussion, and it is no doubt owing to this fact that the damage is so light.

The loss of the local merchants will amount to over a thousand dollars in broken glass alone. There were nineteen large plate-glass windows totally destroyed, besides a great many smaller lights. The demand for small lights of glass soon exhausted the supply and many homes will get along with closed windows until the new shipment arrives.

A pleasing feature of the mishap was the way in which the east side merchants went to the aid of their less fortunate neighbors, and assisted them in every way to repair the damage done.

The work of clearing up the ruins of the plant has started and whether the buildings will be rebuilt in the old location remains to be seen.—Tweed News.

LEST WE FORGET

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Did you notice in the Examiner of Thursday the editorial backing up the liquor traffic? Now, sir, you are a moderate minded man yourself, but do you think that the Examiner's arguments for the continuance of the bars is worthy of any paper these days? I don't, but I hope when the Examiner is talking about temperance and pretending to be what it isn't, in the future that people will remember what it wrote on Thursday, February 6th, 1908.

Yours truly,
TEMPERANCE.

To the Children of Canada Who Honour its Great Men

Here children, is your opportunity You know how three hundred years ago next July, Samuel de Champlain, sailed up the St. Lawrence, anchored his ship below a beautiful wooded promontory, and founded the city of Quebec.

This was the beginning of our country's history. On those high lands where Champlain's men built their wooden churches, Canada was born, and it was there in after years that Canada's heroes (French and British) did great deed; there when called upon for God and King and country, they laid down their lives.

It was on those heights, the Plains of Abraham and the field of St. Foye that the fate of a continent was determined. It was on the Plains of Abraham, in 1759, that the brave French soldiers, with their glittering bayonets, the English infantry, resolute and silent, and the Scottish Highlanders, sounding the pibroch, met in deadily and decisive conflict; when the noble Montcalm and the intrepid Wolfe were wounded unto death. Wolfe, saying as he heard the issue of the battle; "Now, God be praised, I will die in peace;" and Montcalm, as he gave his soul to God, that it consoled him to have been defeated by so brave an enemy.

And it was on the field of Ste. Foye in the following spring that Levis and Murray, brave and true men both, entered into that last close contest for the stronghold of Quebec, when Murray and his men were driven into retreat behind the ramparts and Quebec seemed likely to be recovered by the French, but suddenly the British fleet appeared, and, routing their vessels, left Levis in honorable defeat and Murray in possession.

Now, children of Montreal and of Canada, who love your country and would honor its great men, this is your opportunity. Next summer we are to celebrate the three hundred anniversary of the founding of Quebec, and the Governor-General is asking us if we will mark the occasion by setting aside those great battlefields forever as a National Park, sacred to the memories of our mighty dead, of Champlain, the founder of Canada, and of those others who in war or peace loved their country and their country's honor better than themselves. This park will be named after King Edward, and nothing mean or ugly will be allowed within it, no frowning jail or factory for making weapons of war, such as disfigure it today; but on that famous headland overlooking the river, there will stand a Figure of Peace, which, smiling down from the height to all who come, will say: "This is the birthplace of Canada, of Canadfa, the home of two races, who came here from the Old World, to make the new, and once they fought upon those heights and counted not their lives dear unto them. and over one waved the ensign of Britain, and over the other floated the Fleur de Lis, the white banner of France. But out of those throes of war, Peace was born, and now the children of those races live together in one nation, and the torn and tattered ensigns under which their fathers fought are held in mutual honor, while over them both, as Canadians, there floats but one flag."

Children of Montreal and of Canada will you help us do this thing for the honor and love of your country, and for the praise of the brave men of old! Every boy or girl amongst you who can help, you can help by telling of this great national memorial and all that it means to us, you can help by giving a "silver bit" out of your own pocketbook, or you can write for a little collection book and get fifty people to give ten cents each, making for every boy or girl collector five dollars to bring in. And you and those who enter their names in these little books, will become members of the Quebec Battlefields Association and you will be written in your country's archives, in those chronicles that are kept in Ottawa, as those who helped to give it lustre and to make it great.

And we should like, if we may, to have your photographs that we may show them in our newspapers and so every one may see that the boys and girls of Canada are worthy of the name they bear, that to them their country is their house — that they are building it on sure foundations of sacrifice and duty, and that each of them has put in one little stone to make it more noble, strong and fair.

NAMES OF COMMITTEE.
MRS. R. WILSON REDFORD.
(Covener),
LADY DRUMMOND,
MADAME DANDURAND,
SIR ALEX. LACOSTE,
JUDGE ROBIDOUX,
F. D. MONK, M.P.,

140 Drummond street.

NOTE.—All who will help in this way are asked to send post cards giving their names and addresses to Mrs. R. W. Reford, Covener, Quebec Battlefields Association, P. O. Box 65, Station 'B.' Montreal. Collecting books will then be forwarded, with instructions as to the sending in of the money. Every one who fills a book will be given a certificate of merit to be framed and kept.

Advertising vs. Price-Cutting

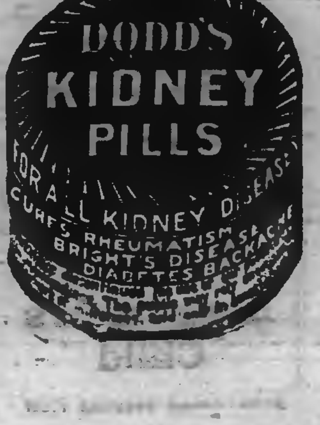
Competition is said to be the life of trade, and so it is. Competition in merchandise betters the merchandise and creates more users of it, which in turn creates a demand for more merchandise. The ramifications of competition extend away beyond the boundaries of mere business. They extend into every branch of human activity. Every active agent in every human activity is everlastingly striving to outdo other active agents in the same line. The small schoolboy who collects postage stamps strives to outwit the other boy in the acquisition of philantelic pleasures. Later on in life the same boy tries to outdo the home and other rivals in the production of photographs or the collection of post cards or any one or more of a hundred other things. And the name of this active boy (and his sister) is legion.

The changing fashions in clothing; the modern book and picture; the modern play; the modern sport; everything in short, that shows the slightest sign of continuous development is but an evidence and result of competition.

Competitive trade does not only mean rivalry in production or sale of commercial articles for consumption. Competition should include all the efforts of the merchant. Supposing you get a line of new goods shipped to your store and the chap around the corner gets some too. Don't start in cutting prices! Don't let the competition of the round-the-corner-man have that effect. Put all your combative faculties into the art of bringing your goods before the public.

Let your round-the-corner-friend and yourself remember that competition in customer-hunting which is the same thing as advertising, is the thing which will result in benefit to both of you. If you alone advertised it would not reach the eyes and ears of as large a body of prospective buyers as if both round-the-corner and yourself advertised. The more the advertising the more the demand for the goods advertised. Round-the-corner will get some of the trade, and it is only fair and proper. But enough will come into you to well repay you for the fight. And you will have the satisfaction of knowing that the fight was open and above-board and that the victory was rightly, to the best advertiser.

There is little excuse for price-cutting where the trade of a large body of possible buyers exists, upon which can be practiced the art of advertising. Let there be enough competition in advertising and the quality and quantity of goods sold will keep on increasing. But price-cutting wrecks trade and is not fair fighting. In a book reviewed in this number, called "The Making of a Merchant" by Harlow N. Higginbotham, manager of a Chicago mercantile concern which employs seven thousand people, the author contends that a successful merchant is generally a man with the "gift of trade." During his remarks on the subject, he has this on the subject of price-cutting:—"There is scarcely a community in which the really able merchant is not cursed with ignorant and reckless competition. 'Cutting prices' is the favorite diversion of the merchant who ought, by good rights and natural endowments, to have been a farmer, a blacksmith, a carpenter, or an artisan of some sort."—From the Bookseller and Stationer, April, 1907.



Some Prominent Railway Men Were in City

The following railway men were in the city yesterday on business; Messrs C. B. Foster, District Passenger Agent, CPR.; S. J. Sharpe, Western Passenger Agent, CPR.; Atlantic S. S. line; J. J. Brignall, Travelling Passenger Agent, CPR. and H. [illegible] Travelling Passenger Agent of the Allen line.

All of the above officials are from Toronto.

ON CAPTAINS' OF INDUSTRY

There is no doubt a widely entertained sentiment of dissatisfaction in the popular conception of the commercial morality in vogue among business leaders. There is a strong and growing hatred, not to the playing of the game itself, but to the play that is without principles determing what is fair and what is foul. Yet the lawless system is impossible in a civilization of law and order; and if the chevaliers d'industrie cannot be other than irresponsible, their future as a factor in business progress is doomed. Modern society, with its ethical conceptions of a square deal, may manage to get along without them. But how will it guarantee progress!

From the economic standpoint the captain of industry who discovers opportunities and organizes enterprise is indispensable to progress. We can have welfare without him, but we cannot have progress such as has carried forward the country, for example, at the rate which has marked the last quarter century. Cannot the demands of business morality be met, and the promise of progress also be assured! Those demands require a degree of personal worth in which the confidence of labor, of capital and of the owners of natural resources can center their interests under trustworthy leadership. That is the minimum condition of organizing industry on sure foundations.—The Canadian Trade Review.

SIRES AND SONS.

James R. Keene's race horses have won the past year $402,691.

Midshipman Raleigh C. Williams of Wichita, Kan., is the strongest man in the Naval academy.

A St. Petersburg newspaper says that John D. Rockefeller asked Count Tolstoi for his advice as to how great wealth might best be employed to benefit humanity.

John J. Murphy, one of the largest paper manufacturers of New York, who died recently, left an estate valued at $10,000,000. He was so unostentatious that few knew of his wealth.

Amos Brundage, known in Kansas City for twenty years as "the Salvation Army drummer boy," and his brother Henry are heirs to a fortune valued at from $5,000,000 to $8,000,000.

Hugh J. Chisholm, head of the International Paper company, when thirteen years old became a railway newsboy. Thomas A. Edison was associated with him, and the two became fast friends.

For more than fifty years the control and direction of the postoffice at Adamsville, R. I., have been centered in one family. The present postmaster is Abraham Manchester, who has been in office continuously since 1878. Previously his father, Philip Manchester, with the exception of one year, held the office from 1850.

Lord Clifton, whose coming of age has just been celebrated at Cobham Hall, Kent, England, is six feet seven inches high. His father, the Earl of Darnley, is six feet four inches, while the earl, Lord Clifton, and their relatives, the Hon. Noel Bligh, Hon. Arthur Bligh and Hon. E. V. Bligh, average six feet two and a half inches.

Sir William Purdie Treloar, who recently retired as lord mayor of London, is known in the English capital for his love of children and his work for the destitute cripples of the metropolis. He is loved by the poor children of the east end. His last effort in their behalf was the collecting of $300,000 for the building of a big home in Hampshire for crippled children.

SCIENCE SIFTINGS.

A drop of blood that might be suspended from the point of a needle contains about a million of red flattened corpuscles.

The French telephone authorities have invented a new apparatus which is to be called the "howler." It is to prevent any one from forgetting to replace his receiver at the end of a call and emits a sound resembling that of a dog in pain.

Why animal charcoal removes the color from colored liquids, while wood charcoal has no effect, has not been understood. A European chemist now finds that the action of the former is due to the presence of 5 to 7 per cent of nitrogen.

A new directory by the Royal observatory of Belgium shows that there are 1,556 astronomers and somewhat over 550 observatories in the world. Of the observatories more than 100 are in the British isles, with nearly as many in the United States, the number in other countries being much smaller.

ODD HAPPENINGS.

Charles Deecrost of Philadelphia yawned just as a collision of a street car occurred, and a piece of glass went down his throat. Physicians say he may lose his speech.

By the explosion of a boiler in a hotel in Cripple Creek, Colo., the building was completely wrecked, but Henry Morgan, sleeping within six feet of the boiler, was not injured.

A charge of 13,000 volts passed through the body of Henry Tyson, aged thirty-six, at Germantown, Pa., and when examined at a hospital the physicians said he was uninjured.

Since June the beard of John B. Roberts, a grocer of Wichita, Kan., has been growing on the left side of his face inward instead of outward, notwithstanding efforts to check it. Surgeons say it is the strangest case they have ever seen.

CHURCH AND CLERGY.

The three minor denominations of Methodists who have just consolidated in England make a church of 180,000 members.

Moving pictures and songs, with social science class, is a part of the Sunday services of the Theodore Parker Memorial church at Boston.

During the past year 581 men were admitted to the ministry of the Church of England where a dozen years ago the number was over 800 annually.

The Methodist Episcopal ministers at Boston are to send delegates to the Central Labor union who will have a voice in the proceedings, but no vote.

The canton of Geneva, Switzerland, following in the footsteps of France, will divorce state and church on Jan. 1, 1909, when a law recently passed to that effect will become operative.

Train and Track.

A German estimate of the capital invested in the construction of the world's railroads is $43,310,000,000.

It is estimated that New York city requires 1,000 more cars on its railways to accommodate the traveling public.

The Fryeburg (Me.) horse railroad bears the distinction of being the shortest as well as the only horse railroad in the state. The railroad was originally built to accommodate a Methodist association which established a place of meeting about three miles from the Maine Central railroad station in Fryeburg.

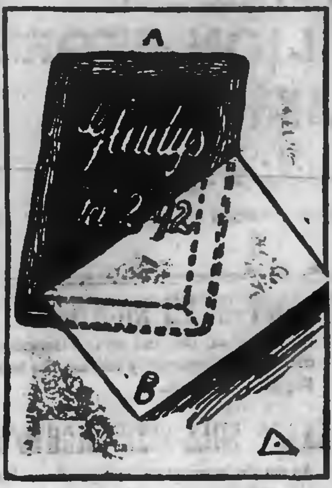
TRICK WITH A SLATE.

A Simple Yet Mystifying Feat of Parlor Magic.

An ordinary slate, such as children write on, is shown to the audience. To prove that nothing is written upon it both sides are rubbed with a wet sponge. A chair is brought to the foreground, the seat of which is covered with a black cloth. Then the performer asks any girl in the audience to be kind enough to give her first name and offers to let the slate guess the date of her birth. After the name is given the performer places the slate on the chair and lays a piece of chalk upon it. After making a few motions over the slate to indicate that the writing is going on the performer lifts up the slate, and, behold, one side of the slate shows the correct name and date of birth.



SLATE AND COVER SHEET.

This seems to be a trick hard to explain, but nevertheless it is a very simple one. Take a plain slate, on one side of which the name and the date are previously written. A friend of the performer is instructed to call the name so quickly that no one else can get ahead of him. All that is left to do is to secrete the name and date on the slate until it is time for it to appear. To do this you will have to get a piece of cardboard fitting exactly over the black part of the slate, both sides of which are covered smoothly with black slate paper. Sheet B is laid over the side of the slate, with the writing on it (A). Place the slate, with the sheet over it, face down on the chair. When you are going to show the secret writing to the audience, lift the slate in such a way that the sheet stays upon the black cloth, where it, being black, too, cannot be discerned. —Washington Star.

FACTS ABOUT THE SUN.

How It Compares With the Earth in Size and Density.

Children, when you feel the warmth and see the light of the mysterious body we call sun do you know that its density does not compare with that of our own world? The sun in size equals 1,300,000 of our planet, while in weight it would take only about 332,000 earths to weigh it down to an even balance. Thus you will readily see that our earth is of much heavier substance than is the sun. In fact, the latter body is not much denser than water.

Some conception of the immensity of the sun's distance from us may first be gained from Professor Mendenhall's whimsical illustration. Sensation, according to Helmholtz's experiments, travels at the rate of about 100 feet per second. If, then, an infant were born with an arm long enough to reach to the sun and on the day of his birth he were to exercise this amazing limb by putting his finger upon the solar surface he would die in blissful ignorance of the fact that he had been burned, for the sensation of burning would take 150 years to travel along that stupendous arm.

In diameter the sun is about 866,000 miles, and were it hollowed out till its crust remained but a shell our own earth could be placed in its center, allowing room for our moon to travel in its regular orbit, which is distant from the earth 244,000 miles, and outside of which another satellite could have an orbit at a distance of 190,000 miles from the moon.—Washington Post.

SWEET REVENGE

By
Captain F. A. MITCHEL,
Author of "Chattanooga," "Chickamauga," Etc.

Copyright, 1897, by Harper & Brothers.

She stood glaring at me, beautiful in her uncompromising fury. I was bewildered, entangled in the meshes of her beauty, her relentless will power. Then suddenly a cold chill swept over me, as a blighted frost across a land hot with the rays of a tropical sun. I stood aghast at what I had done. I had returned her inestimable service by a miserable attempt to force her to beg for her brother's life. I had lost what hope I had cherished of a reconciliation—of winning her. I threw my weapon into a corner and was striding from the room, when Captain Stanforth, freeing himself from Jack, cried:

"In the name of God, what does all this mean?"

"It means, Captain Stanforth," I said, turning, "that on a certain night in east Tennessee a party of Unionists on their way north were ambushed by citizens with shotguns. A body of Confederate cavalry came down to their assistance. You, captain"—

"It is false. I led my company to the scene you mention not to attack, but to protect."

It was now my turn to stand stupefied. Had I been all these months following an error?

"I came on the ground," Captain Stanforth continued, "just in time to witness the most diabolical sight I ever saw in the south. One incident of that terrible night I shall always remember—a murder that I punished with my own hand. I saw a woman flying for protection to a man who stood near her. A cowardly cur beside me fired, and she fell through her protector's arms. I drew my revolver and shot the murderer dead."

"You shot the murderer?"

I had no tongue for other words. This man, dear to Helen, dear to Jack, dear to all this household, was not only innocent of the crime I had imputed to him, but was my avenger. I took one step forward and seized his hand.

"Thank God!"

"You have been mistaken?"

"So far mistaken that had it not been for these two women I would have shot you down where you stand."

I strode to the door, rushed down the patch to the gate, mounted my horse and without once looking back at the gaping crowd behind me galloped down the road after the advancing army.

CHAPTER XXIII.

THE UNION SAVED.

I CAUGHT the troops just as they were entering the city. All that we could have wished for was accomplished. The whole territory was surprised and defenseless, and a hundred miles of railroad fell into our hands. Machine shops, rolling stock in abundance, telegraph and all other paraphernalia for operating the line were among the trophies, and on the morning after the capture the men who had been employed under the direction of the Confederate government went to work for the United States.

And now followed a rest for three months, a longer stay in one place than any I experienced during the war. It would have been the most delightful had it not been for my estrangement from Helen Stanforth. Though I was welcome at her father's house, though the family apparently became attached to me, though Jack and Buck loved me as I loved them, Helen remained obdurate. In vain I sought to soften her by those attentions with which men seek to entrap a woman's heart. She would not even treat me with indifference. I was to her a renegade to the south, an unpardonable offender.

I reported the case of Captain Stanforth to the general and secured from him a parole, which enabled him to divide his time between his father's house and the Rutland plantation with his fiancee Jaqueline, who soon nursed him back to health. Captain Beaumont was brought to Huntsville under guard, and I interested myself in securing for him an early exchange, which, after hearing of Jack's engagement, he was extremely anxious to obtain. He was passed through the lines to Chattanooga, vowing that he would give his life to the Confederacy if he could find a Yankee bullet to assist him. He was too manly and chivalrous to cast the slightest blame on Jack for his disappointment.

One morning I took my friends from Mr. Stanforth's—excepting Helen—into headquarters and introduced them to the general. He was aware of our coming and had directed that the outlaws should be brought before him at the same time.

"Are these the men?" he asked.

"Yes, general," I replied.

To an officer of the guard he said: "Take them away. I don't wish to see any more of them."

Jaqueline, who had heard these words once before, when they were applied to me, and consequently knew what they meant, turned pale. She begged the general to spare them. He shook his head.

"Impossible. They are the crowning barbarity of war."

"But, general, that one," pointing to Captain Ringold, "he helped us."

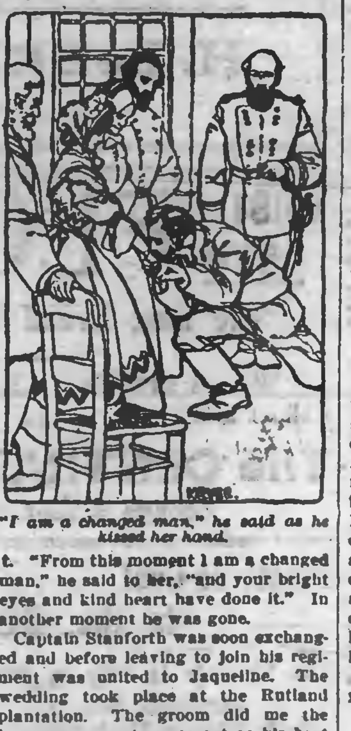
"Ah! I had forgotten that." Then, turning to Ringold:

"If set at liberty, how long will you require to get out of my lines?"

"I will go at once."

"Go, and if you are seen about here after 'tattoo' this evening you will follow your men."

The reprieved man sprang toward Jaqueline, seized her hand and kissed it. "From this moment I am a changed man," he said to her, "and your bright eyes and kind heart have done it." In another moment he was gone.



"I am a changed man," he said as he kissed her hand.

Captain Stanforth was soon exchanged and before leaving to join his regiment was united to Jaqueline. The wedding took place at the Rutland plantation. The groom did me the honor to request me to act as his best man, Jaqueline doubtless having influenced his choice. I gladly accepted, hoping that, since Helen was to serve as first bridesmaid, our being thrown together might heal the breach between us. Ten minutes before the ceremony Jaqueline was strumming Ginger's banjo and ten minutes after she had become a bride was standing on the rear gallery tossing presents to a crowd of black people below, whose upturned faces indicated the adoration in which they held their young mistress.

I was disappointed in my hope that the festivities would thaw the obdurate heart of the woman I loved. She remained cold even when her hand was laid on my arm before and after the ceremony. Later, finding her apart from the others, I approached her.

"Have you not one kind word for me?" I asked.

"Not one. I can respect a northern soldier, not a southern man who wears the blue."

"Be it as you wish."

Mounting my horse, I rode back to camp with a heavy heart.

The advantages gained by our force at Shiloh and our own bloodless conquest of northern Alabama were not vigorously followed up. The enemy withdrew to Tupelo, Miss., where he formed a new army, which early in the fall marched under the Confederate General Bragg through Chattanooga into Kentucky.

One morning in September orders came for us to break camp and march northward. Bragg was advancing, marching on Cincinnati or Louisville, thus compelling the abandonment of the territory we had acquired in the spring and requiring us to hasten to the protection of the threatened cities. After making my preparations for the move I left the command, intending to join it on the march, and rode over to the Stanforths to take my leave. Jackson announced me, and I sat down in the little library I had occupied three months before while my wound was healing to await the appearance of my friends. I was startled by the voice of Buck coming from above:

"Lib, doggone it, whar's my swearin book? I've lost that swearin book what Major Brandystone tole me to git."

A few minutes later he came into the room. As he caught sight of me his face became radiant, and, jumping into my arms, he hugged me like a young bear. The others soon entered. Mr. Stanforth, who by this time had openly avowed his affection for the Union, parted from me with regret, not unmixed with apprehension lest upon the return of the Confederates he might suffer for his attentions to our troops. Mrs. Stanforth bade me adieu with motherly affection. Little Ethel put her arms about my neck and wondered. Buck for the moment in his affection for me forgot that he was a Confederate sympathizer and insisted on going with me. Helen stood aloof and at the last moment seemed more haughty than ever. There was a flush upon her cheek and a bright spark in her eye.

"Goodby," I said, putting out my hand to her.

"Never to an enemy," she replied, turning away.

There was a murmur of disapprobation at her act, but I did not listen to it. Turning on my heel, I left the room and the house and in another moment was galloping away.

My regiment was moving on a road leading northward and to the east of the main pike, so I was obliged to ride across country to rejoin. Large armies necessarily move slowly, and, although in this instance we had entered upon forced marches, I knew that I had plenty of time. I was riding leisurely through a lonely road when I heard the sound of horse's hoofs behind me. I had become so used to being hunted by my old enemies that I instinctively drew rein and my revolver at the same time and, facing about, awaited the coming of friend or foe. My pursuer turned a bend in the road but a short distance from me and suddenly came in sight.

"Helen Stanforth! What in the world brings you here?"

She drew rein and sat with flushed cheeks, her eyes looking anywhere except on me. Her horse was restive, the two making a picture by no means quiescent.

"I am not satisfied."

"With what?"

"The manner of your leaving the country."

"Do I take with me what does not belong to me?"

"You are going with our enemies."

I was puzzled. She knew that I was a Union officer and that my duty lay with the departing army. Besides, to remain in the country after its reoccupation by Confederate troops would be as much as my life was worth. I was more than puzzled; I was irritated, smarting as I was under her recent treatment.

"This is not what dissatisfies you," I said.

"I spent my time rescuing a renegade."

"I see no occasion for you to come after me to hurl that taunt anew. We parted half an hour ago, I supposed never to meet again. Now you must needs"—

She paused and bit her lip.

I had often noticed a great show of picket firing on the part of an enemy just before abandoning his lines. Somehow the thought gave me an inkling of what was passing in Helen's mind. I rode up close beside her and, laying my hand on her horse's neck, stroked it for a moment till I had quieted him. Meanwhile my eyes were fixed on Helen's, that were glancing about wildly, as if endeavoring to find some means of retreat. Bending forward without a word, I put my arms about her and drew her to me. Her head sank slowly, at last resting on the embroidered leaves that denoted my rank.

"Sweetheart, I love you, and I believe you love me."

There was silence, save for the running water of the creek and the chattering of the birds in the trees beside the road. The touching of our lips, her heart beating against mine, stray strands of her hair falling over my wrist, the moisture in her eyes, bring a new warmth to my heart even today. At last she suddenly disengaged herself and, as though ashamed of her surrender, turned her horse to move away. I caught her and held her long enough for one more embrace, one long parting kiss, then I let her go. As she galloped down the road I called after her:

"You forgive me for threatening your brother, for trying to compel you to beg for his life?"

"No."

"I'll come when the Union is saved."

"When the Confederacy is acknowledged," and she shot around the bend out of sight.

"I believe," I mused, as I rode on, "there is no inconsistency, no incongruity, that does not enter into the composition of woman."

We met again a year later, shortly before the battle of Chickamauga, and again when Hood was marching against Thomas at Nashville, but it was not till after the surrender at Appomattox that she consented to a union that was to be simultaneous with the reunion of the states.

One important fact has always remained a secret between me and my wife. I have never ventured to confess to her that during the war I performed one act of secret service. In overhauling my papers she one day came upon a document got up in red and black ink in the form common in the army.

"What's all this about?" she asked. "'Gallant and meritorious services in the capture of Huntsville, Decatur and Stephenson Junction.' I thought that when the Yankees surprised Huntsville you were at our house."

"That?" I said, taking the paper and pretending to scrutinize it. "Oh, that was for capturing a rebel."

"What rebel?"

I hesitated, then prevaricated. "Don't you remember the scene in which your brother bore an important part?"

"Do you mean to call drawing your pistol on an unarmed man a gallant and meritorious act?"

"Oh, they complimented everybody for everything during the war. But I deserved the encomium, for I captured another rebel more rebellious than your brother."

"Who was that?"

I put my arms about her and kissed her.

"My sweetheart!"

THE END.

A Glib Talker.

A rather distinguished man had one evening a visitor who began to speak about a certain branch of science. The host, perhaps a dozen times in the space of two hours and a half, gave a preliminary "Hem!" because he wanted to say something, but the bore waved him down with a suave "One moment, if you please!" What the gagged man wanted to say and eventually did say was that his caller's lecture, though interesting, was perfectly familiar to him.

"You are, in fact," he concluded, "discoursing on my own special subject."

Such a statement should have disconcerted a man who had talked with one even flow for the space of 150 minutes, but not at all! With the placid confidence of the thorough paced bore he sweetly remarked:

"Ah, well, you see how copiously I can talk on that subject! Next time I call you shall see that I can be quite as fluent on another branch of knowledge."

The Doctor Was There.

The sheriff of a certain town, says the London Globe, very rich, but rather mean, consulted a clever local doctor who had made diseases of the eye his special study concerning his sight.

After a careful examination the doctor said a cataract was forming and there would have to be an operation.

"Expensive?" asked the sheriff.

"Twenty guineas," was the answer.

"Must think it over," said the sheriff.

Three months after the sheriff went by appointment to be operated on by a celebrated London specialist, 124 miles away. Now, it so happened that the specialist was ill and had to telegraph for a substitute.

Judge of the sheriff's surprise when, the door of the operating room being opened, he found himself face to face with his own local doctor.

It was too late to retreat, however, and the operation was performed.

"Your fee?" asked the sheriff.

"Forty guineas," was the quiet answer.

The Interested Englishman.

A story is told of an aristocratic English immigrant who happened to be on board of a train that was held up by robbers near Grand Junction, Colo. The desperadoes put the conductor and fireman out on a pile of rocks alongside the tracks and kept them covered with pistols.

Being content with pillaging the express and mail cars, they did not interfere with any of the passengers, but the Englishman was so delighted at the notion of encountering an adventure that he insisted upon leaving his car. When the porter tried to restrain him, he replied, "But I want to observe how they rob a train in this blooming country, don't you know." He did actually get as far as the platform, when a bullet through his hat persuaded him to retreat.—Saturday Evening Post.

Cloud Formation.

A cloud is produced by the cooling of a rising current of vapor laden air or by the meeting of two bodies of air of different temperature. A given volume of air, or, more strictly, a given space, whether it contains air or not, will only take up a certain quantity of water vapor at a given temperature.

Nothing Lacking.

When Helen Keller, the brilliant blind and deaf girl, met Dr. Furness, the Shakespearean scholar, he warned her not to let college professors tell her too many assumed facts about the life of Shakespeare. All we know, he said, is that Shakespeare was baptized, married and died.

"Well," she replied, "he seems to have done all the essential things."

UNCLE SAM'S CAMELS.

A Government Experiment of Over Half a Century Ago.

How many modern readers of our newspapers ever knew that Uncle Sam once engaged in the camel business to provide transportation across the burning sands? In 1853 congress appropriated $30,000 for the purchase and importation of camels, looking to the use of that animal as an aid to army transportation across what was then popularly called the Great American desert, embracing California, Arizona, New Mexico and the greater part of northern Texas. Congress was influenced to take this action because of the successful use of the camel in semicivilized warfare by the French in Algeria and by the British in the orient.

It fell to the lot of Jefferson Davis, then secretary of war and later the president of the Confederacy, to carry out the wishes of congress. He detailed Lieutenant (after Admiral) D. D. Porter, U. S. N., and Major Henry C. Payne, U. S. A., to proceed to northern Africa and Asia Minor to buy the beasts. The expedition brought back seventy-five camels, one drove of thirty-one being shipped in the naval store ship Supply and another of forty-one in the United States warship Suwanee. Both vessels landed their live cargoes at Indianola, Tex., Feb. 10, 1857.

They were driven thence to Camp Verde in the care of three Arab camel drivers, who were brought out for the purpose under a year's contract. That year, in response to a request from the senate, Secretary Davis made an elaborate report of the expedition, which was subsequently published as an illustrated volume of 300 pages. The experiment was not a success. Its failure was attributed to the fact that the camels became footsore and stalled as soon as they attempted to travel over the rocky country outside the sandy plains, and it ended in the release of the animals in the Colorado desert to shift for themselves. There the camels thrived and multiplied. One of the herds contained over 100 head.

The miners and prospectors, however, did not take kindly to their presence, because they stampeded pack animals and other domesticated stock whenever they came in sight. It resulted finally in a war of extermination being waged against them as common nuisances, and what few escaped that raid were slaughtered by the Arizona Indians for their flesh. Although this experiment with the camel as a beast of burden failed, it was probably due to a misuse of the animal rather than to any natural shortcoming in it, as its great value as a burden bearer in Africa and Asia is undoubted.—Denver Field and Farm.

To Tunnel Mont Blanc.

The war of tunnels is on in the Alps. The completion of the Simplon route, followed by the tunneling of the Bernese Oberland, now in progress, has revived discussion in France and Italy of the project for a great series of tunnels under Mont Blanc and the Juras. The object would be to prevent the diversion of traffic toward the valley of the Rhine. Engineers have calculated that a tunnel of about eight miles length would suffice to penetrate the giant of the Alps. The cost is placed at $12,000,000, that of piercing the Juras at $23,000,000. The cost for approaches to the Mont Blanc tunnel is estimated at $3,000,000. The shortening of the route between the English channel and northern Italy would be only sufficient to save two hours' time on the railroad, but the friends of the project expect that these two hours would surely give to France the traffic that she now loses.—Youth's Companion.

A Rival to Radium.

Scientists in Germany say that a substance has been prepared which shows the same radio activity as that of radium bromide. It is said that the substance is uranyl molybdate. The molybdate is formed by adding ammonia molybdate to uranyl nitrate, when a white amorphous powder separates. This is dried in the dark and apparently must be kept there, as it is unstable. Report says that it gives radio active effects which are practically as intense as those given by radium. Though costly—namely, about $110 an ounce—the price is not so enormous as that of radium, which has reached many thousand dollars for the same quantity.

Life of Telegraph Poles.

During the past fifty-two years the telegraph department of the German government has experimented with various preservatives to prolong the life of telegraph poles. Records kept of 3,000,000 poles show that creosote is the most useful substance that can be employed to keep the poles from rotting. Impregnated with creosote a pole will last more than twenty years. Corrosive sublimate preserves for thirteen years, and it is the next best thing to prolong the life of wood. Poles which have not been impregnated with any preservative last only seven years.

Dr. O'Brien Gave Talk at Toronto

Address Greatly Enjoyed by Those Present

This lecture which for some time had been eagerly anticipated by the Catholic Young Ladies' Literary Association, came off on Wednesday evening of last week, and proved in the reality even more pleasure-giving and satisfying than had been anticipated. Despite the cold the beautiful Greek theatre of the Margaret Eaton School of Expression was filled with the Society and their friends, who on every side expressed their enjoyment of the evening's entertainment. Not for years, if ever before, has there been shown in Toronto a collection of views of Italy and Rome as fine as those thrown on the canvas by Dr. O'Brien, and the running commentaries which accompanied these, together with the pictures themselves, showed the familiarity of the Rev. lecturer with his subject and proved a great source of information to his audience. Father O'Brien is to be congratulated on the possession of so fine a collection and on the fund of information as evinced by the readiness and clearness which come to a lecturer only with a full knowledge of his subject.— Catholic Register.

The Ingredients of Zutoo

One ingredient is soda—just old-fashioned soda, that our grandmothers took to settle the stomach, and there is nothing better.

Among the other ingredients there is not one that did not come from old Mother Earth herself.

There is not one that is not approved by both the British and American Pharmacopoeias,—the highest medical authorities in the world.

There is not one that your family physician, even if a personal friend, would not approve of and prescribe.

If you are using some other headache remedy, why do you not change and use Zutoo instead?

It will cure your headaches and colds just as quickly and safeguard you against the bad after effects which may some day come from using the ordinary remedies. Zutoo tablets

Are Harmless as Soda.

Rabbit Hunters Better Beware

Keene Gun Club is up in Arms Against Killing the Animals Out of Season

The members of the Keene Gun Club are after the scalps of the Peterborough men who hunt rabbits in the vicinity of the Otonabee capital during the winter and spring. This is the close season for rabbits and anyone killing them is liable to a fine. The law in the past does not seem to have been enforced very strictly, but the Keene Club is up in arms and the members wish it known that the next man who is seen hunting rabbits will be prosecuted.

Eggs Are Eggs And Butter Is Butter These Days

High Prices for These Household Necessities at Today's Market—Small Attendance—Farmers Unable to Reach City on Account of Impassable Roads

Eggs at thirty-five cents per dozen and butter at the same price per pound were the somewhat startling figures asked for the household necessities at the local market this morning. It was with exceedingly great difficulty that farmers reached the city today, and those who were fortunate enough to get here, demanded a big price for their produce. The roads are in an almost impassable condition, and, as one farmer remarked, any one having very many miles to drive would freeze to death before he reached his destination. One man stated today that he was four hours in coming four miles. From now until spring the country roads will be in a wretched shape. With pitch holes and snow drifts the farmers will experience many hardships in getting to the city.

The attendance at the market this morning was very small, there being only two or three sleighs on the square, while upstairs there were only about fifty vendors. Butter and eggs were in great demand and were picked up quickly at the above prices.

Turkeys sold at three dollars a piece and chickens at from 50 to 75 cents.

This Good Natured Bruin Must Have Been a Teddy Bear

Followed Lumberman for Many Miles and Didn't Offer to Attack Him—Mr. James Williamson's Unique Experience in Northern Woods—Bear Retreated When About a Mile From North Bay

Mr. James Williamson, of North Bay, who is here on his way to Ottawa, tells of an exciting experience he had in the woods about 30 miles north-east of North Bay. He is registered at the Southern Hotel. Mr. Williamson was in the employ of a lumber camp there and one morning undertook the strenuous task of snowshoeing to North Bay to make arrangements with some merchants there for the supplying of provisions for the camp.

While on the way and about twelve miles from the camp, he encountered very unexpectedly, a large black bear. The animal was standing on his hind legs and looked anything but savage. Nearby were what was left—and that was very little—of a deer.

He was naturally somewhat frightened and as he had no gun with him owing to the hard time he had to make progress without any incumbrance whatever, was in a quandary as to what would be the most advisable thing for him to do under the circumstances. Bears are not by any means common in that part of the country where Mr. Williamson's camp was and while he knew he was running a risk in making the trip, it was necessary for some one to do so and he undertook the journey.

The peculiar part of the affair was that the bear left the deer immediately, the traveller resumed his way and followed him at distances alternating from fifty to a couple of hundred yards, until about a mile of North Bay had been reached. He made no sound whatever and simply plodded along after his friend on the snowshoes. As mentioned before he gave up his doglike pursuit when a mile from the town, perhaps detecting in the air the dangerous scent of civilization.

When Mr. Williamson reached North Bay he felt quite fatigued and to use his own expression, was "all in."

Although he had brought some dinner with him he was so much excited by the bear following him that he did not pause to eat anything. However, he is fully recovered from the effects of the trying journey, which is now to him simply an unusual and semi-pleasant reminiscence.

Local Citizens are Virtuous; No Police Court During Week

It was the same old story this morning—nothing doing in police court. February will be a lean month in police court circles if the present state of affairs continues. The weather must be too cold for people to commit offences and they are content to live in peace and quietness. The Gypsy Williamsons have been the only persons before his Worship this month. Not for some time has it been that, for several days in succession there has been no police court. The police have had an exceedingly quiet week. However it speaks well for the morals of this city and is an evidence that Peterborough citizens are honorable and respectable and keep the law.

Trains are all Running, but Are Several Hours Behind

Three Trains Arrived From the West inside an Hour on the C.P.R. Last Evening—Noon C.P.R. Express To-day Was Delayed Four Hours Between Here and Toronto—Snow is Again Drifting in Country.

The trains on the two railroads are running fairly good today and although not on schedule time the service is fairly satisfactory, and weary travellers who have been snowed in on different points along the route are glad that they are able to proceed without any further delay.

At noon yesterday the blockade was raised on the C.P.R., and at three o'clock the first train from the west arrived in the city. Between five and six o'clock last evening three more trains came from the west. There were very few passengers on any of them for Peterborough, but the large amount of mail and express parcels kept express men and the mail driver exceedingly busy. On one train there were four express cars, each carrying its full share of goods. The drivers and officials of the Dominion Express Co., have been greatly rushed today, there being three days' delivery to make. The mail carriers had a similar experience, and had all they could carry this morning when they started out on their rounds of the city.

The C.P.R. local last night and the midnight were an hour late.

NOON TRAIN STALLED.

The difficulty is not over yet and and today's noon train is several hours late, owing to it being blockaded somewhere between here and Toronto. It was expected that it would arrive here about four o'clock this afternoon. While the wind is not blowing terribly strong today the tracks are already in such a wretched condition that they drift very quickly.

G.T.R. TRAINS ALL RUNNING.

Mr. F. Sandy the local G.T.R. station agent informed the Review that all the G.T.R. lines had been cleared, and the trains are running as well as can be expected. The weather conditions are very much against the running of the trains. In the country it is drifting again, and the severe cold makes it very difficult to keep the tracks shovelled out. The trains from Belleville and Port Hope got in this morning, but the 11.45 Toronto train did not get here until three this afternoon. On its arrival, the Belleville train went out and one was also run to Lakefield.

FREIGHT TRAIN LEFT TRACK

Owing to a double header freight train having jumped the track on the C.P.R. between Peterborough and Toronto, the noon express will not be here until six o'clock this evening. An auxiliary is at present engaged getting the derailed train on the track again, but considerable difficulty is being experienced, and the road is so completely blocked that no trains from the west are expected till after six o'clock.

Plenty of Coal in the City

The Shortage is Only in One Particular Size

To the Editor of The Review.

Sir,—In last evening's Examiner appears an article predicting a coal famine in the city as a result of the railway blockades. This information may have been given without a true knowledge of the conditions, FOR WHILE THERE MAY BE A SHORTAGE IN ONE PARTICULAR SIZE, sufficient stock of coal is held by the different dealers in the city to meet the requirements for some time to come.

Bible Class Banquet Was Well Attended

Enjoyable and Profitable Time Spent at George St. Church Last Evening

The banquet held at George street church last night under the auspices of the Social Adult Bible Class proved a most successful event. Over a hundred of the men of the congregation were present and everything passed off most harmoniously. The function took place in the Sunday School hall and the catering was looked after by the ladies who were warmly complimented on all sides on the splendid manner in which it was done. The banquet was something more than a mere social event. It demonstrated that the interest of the men of George street in matters spiritual is being increased and that the outlook for greater work is brighter than for many years.

After the banquet proper was over, a toast list was honored and resulted in a number of interesting speeches. Mr. W. B. Warne, president of the class, was chairman and filled the position of toast master in a most acceptable manner

"The King," was proposed by the chairman and honored in the usual way after which Mr. R. T. Hounsell proposed the toast to "Our Country" which was responded to by Mr. F. Skitch. Mr. J. H. Scriven sang "The Veteran's Song," in splendid voice, and then followed the toast to 'Our City,' proposed by Mr. W. S. Turner, and responded to by Mr. W. J. Johnston, Mr. F. H. Dobbin gave a short talk on "When I was a boy," and created much merriment by his recounting of some events of the past years when Peterborough was younger and smaller than it is now. "On the Rolling Deep" was sung by Mr. F. Skitch in a most praiseworthy manner and was loudly applauded.

Mr. A. W. Cressman responded to the toast "Our Church," which was proposed by Mr. S. G. Sails.

A vocal selection by the class quartette, Messrs. Scriven, Walton, Zepp and Cunningham, was one of the features of the evening and an encore had to be given.

The toast to "Our Sabbath School" was proposed by Mr. R. B. McGill and replied to by Mr. S. B. Armstrong and J. J. Hartley. A selection by the class orchestra followed and then came the toast to "The Social Bible Class," which was fittingly proposed by Dr. J. E. Middleton, responded to by Messrs. R. Howland, D. Deprose and E. Hamm.

Another selection by the class orchestra was listened to with great pleasure and the last toast, "The Ladies," was proposed by Mr. L. A. Turner and responded to by Mr. W. C. Switzer.

The singing of the doxology and the pronouncement of the benediction by Rev. Mr. Pearson brought the evening to a close.

The following are the officers of the Social Bible Class:

Teacher—Rev. Edwin A. Pearson, B.A.
Pres.—W. B. Warne.
1st Vice-Pres.—L. A. Turner.
2nd Vice-Pres.—E. G. Clarke.
Secretary—P. M. McCarrol.
—Treasurer—S. G. Sails.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS, A SMILE IN EVERY DOSE

The mother who, in her gratitude for what Baby's Own Tablets have done for her child, said that "There's a smile in every dose," coined a very happy and true phrase. The tablets cure all the minor ailments of babies and young children, and make bright, smiling, happy little ones. Mrs. John Young, Auburn, Ont., says:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for more than a year and I think they are the best medicine that can be given a baby. They are splendid at teething time, and for stomach and bowel troubles. You don't need a doctor if you keep Baby's Own Tablets in the house." That's about the highest praise a mother can give, and its true, every word of it. You can get the Tablets from any medicine dealer or by mail at 25 cents a box, from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., cine Company. Brockville, Ont.

SPORTING NEWS

Ladies Were Too Fast for Their Skirted Opponents

The handsome sum of $104 was taken in last night at the hockey match between the Rough Riders and the seven young lady hockeyists. The fair puckchasers won by 3-2. They scored the first two goals and at half time led by two to one.

When Referee Wassons rang his bell for the game to start the teams faced each other as follows;

Goal.	Miss Olive Kyle	Giroux
Point	Miss Ola Cavanagh	Hayes
Cover	Miss Ada Minns	Cahill
Rover	Miss Lulu Scott	C. Giroux
Centre	Miss Nellie Graham	Pugh
Right Wing	Miss Muriel Burritt	Porter

Uniformed in Strathcona sweaters and red skirts, the young ladies' presented a very attractive appearance. The Rough Riders did not appear to be particularly inconveniennced by reason of their skirted outfit. They did not select their uniform with much regard to harmony but nevertheless as a team presented a very neat and graceful appearance. Many of the fair sex in the audience were heard to remark on the good taste they displayed in the selection of their wardrobe.

The tally as before stated was 3-2 but this score is by no means a just indication of the play. The winners notched the first two goals and then allowed their victims to secure one. At half time the score was 2-1 in favor of the young ladies. In the second half they made it three to one and as the game was only an exhibition were content with winning out by 3-2. The idea of making the game so close was to give the spectators the worth of their money. The victors knew they were never in any danger and regulated the match to suit themselves.

Everybody on the winners' line-up played a superb game and it would be unfair to make special mention of the showing of any individual players. Now and again the Rough Riders managed to make a feeble resistance; once in a while they were so completely outclassed that no credit can be given to any member of the defeated sextette. They roughed it at times in a vain attempt to win but referee Wasson, although somewhat partial by reason of his sympathy with the losing team inflicted several penalties on the fractious ones. As the two goals were practically given the Rough Riders it is not necessary to mention those who scored them.

The winners tallies were secured by Miss L. Scott and Miss Cavanagh in the first half and Miss L. Scott in the second half.

The big crowd of spectators were enthusiastic over the game and cheered loudly for the winners.

After the match the hockeyists had a supper and entertainment at which a vote of thanks was passed to the Rough Riders for consenting to play and thus helping to raise money for such a worthy organization as the Children's Aid Society.

The Strathconas Norwood Games

Definite Arrangements to b Made by To-morrow Night

Arrangements are being made for the home and home games between the Strathconas and Norwood and by to-morrow evening all matters in connection with the games will have been definitely arranged.

The Norwood seven who have been in the city since their last game with the High Lifes owing to the blocked conditions of the railway lines, took upon the proposition very favorably and are anxious to have an opportunity of clashing with the champions. There is much doubt as to which is really the better seven and the warmest kind of contest is sure to ensue when the teams meet.

HOCKEY

The Bell Telephone and C.P.R. sevens play tonight between 10 and 11 o'clock at the Brock street rink.

Picton defeated Port Hope at Belleville on Wednesday night, 5—1.

Victorias defeated Wanderers in an eastern league game, 6—5.

Sporting Comment

The hockey public of Peterborough will await with interest the approaching games between Norwood and the Strathconas. The teams are remarkably evenly matched and a great game should result when the two come together.

What "Times" Says of Game

Doesn't Understand Why Lindsay Team is Known as Midgets —Poor Exhibition

The Brockville Times says the following of the Lindsay-Brockville game in Brockville the other night;

The Lindsay Midgets played the 41st Regiment here last night in the first of home and home games in the OHA. semi-finals. The visitors won by a score of 5 goals to 1 in one of the poorest exhibitions of hockey ever witnessed on the local rink. Neither team displayed championship form. The contest dragged and towards the end became so slow and uninteresting that many of the spectators left the building. The Lindsay Midgets, where they derive the name of "Midgets" is hard to understand, were heralded as world-beaters of their class and the hockey loving public were led to expect great things of them. Their showing was certainly a keen disappointment. They are a big husky bunch who depend largely upon their weight and skating abilities. As far as having mastered the fine points they have yet much to learn.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Turf Club was held yesterday afternoon in the City Hotel. The election of officers resulted in the secretary, Mr. James O'Shea, being elected vice-president, and Mr. Chas. R. Nixon getting the secretaryship.

The Club intends holding a three days' race meet next August on an extensive scale.

The election of officers resulted as follows:—

President—Dr. Johnston.
Vice-President—James O'Shea.
Sec'y-Treas.—Chas. R. Nixon.
Track Manager—Martin Connors.

Could Not Go to Campbellford

A number of Peterborough people intended going to Campbellford last night to attend the dance being given by the bachelors of that town but were unable to do so owing to there being no train service. A large number in the city had been invited.

SHOVELLERS RETURNED

The gang of over one hundred men employed to shovel snow on the C.P.R., to make way for the trains, returned to the city at two o'clock this afternoon after having been engaged on their work for twenty-four hours. They met the snow plough at Myrtle and came in with the crew. The shovellers had a hard task to clear the road and were busy as sailors all the time.

CONDUCTOR HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Lindsay, Feb. 8.—Conductor T. Ringling, of the G.T.R. snow plow, had a rather narrow escape from death the other day. It seems that his outfit was stopped at a station, and after everything was ready to go on again, he gave the engineer the signal, but noticed a loose pin and leaned over to drive it in. He slipped some way and got his foot between the platform and the plow, badly crushing it. If the engineer had not noticed his danger and immediately reversed his engine he might have been drawn in and crushed—maybe to death.

Stone Cutters Not Included

Have Had the Eight Hour Day for Several Years.

A slip of the pencil made the Review use the words "Stone Cutters" instead of "Stonemasons," in an item in last night's paper regarding the nine hour day. To clear up any misapprehension that may have been created, it may be stated that the stone cutters have a union of their own and are independent of the bricklayers' and stonemasons' union. They have had an eight hour day for several years, and work at a certain rate per hour.

The estate is divided equally between Mary C. and Thomas A. Stoddard, son and daughter of deceased. Thomas A. A. Stoddard is made executor and the will provides that he shall not be required to give bonds or to file an inventory. The will was made at Sewaren, March 27th, 1902.

Curious Campaign Literature From the Grafters at Ottawa

By the Ottawa grafters campaign literature is already being issued and masses of it are passing through the columns of the weekly press. Here is a sample statement from the this truly Laurieresque material;—

"What would have happened had the Conservatives been allowed to have their way the past ten years? The Grand Trunk Pacific would never have been built. The great West would still remain a desolate wilderness. The farmers would have been crying in vain for transportation facilities."

This sounds like a quotation from one of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speeches—it is so untrue in its suggestions and so mean in its allusions to public men of a different way of thinking.

It is represented by the writer that but for the Grand Trunk Pacific the West would be a wilderness, and the farmers would have no way out for their produce. Yet the Grand Trunk Pacific is not built yet. It has not carried a pound of freight in or out of the West, and it will not do so for years to come. The mendacity of the men who can attribute the splendid position of the West to the work of a railway that is not yet in operation is worthy of the Ottawa politicians. But for the Conservatives, says this romancer, the Grand Trunk Pacific would never be built. This implies that the Ottawa Government opposed it. There are two untruths in this insinuation. In the first place the Ottawa Government never proposed the new railway. The scheme was designed by the Grand Trunk Railway Company with a view to connecting the system with the Great West. It was Sir Rivers Wilson and Chas. M. Hays and not the Ottawa Ministers. The idea was projected by men of business, and not those of "rake-offs" and grafts. While the Ottawa Government did not design the project, the Opposition did not oppose the entrance of the Grand Trunk into the West. But the Opposition did oppose the present terms which are ridiculous and indeed criminal. The Grand Trunk wanted to build its own railway, aided by a small bonus. Had the proposition been adopted, we should have had the second transcontinental line, and the cost to Canada would have been about $12,000,000. The Government would not permit this moderate proposition to become operative, and proposed another. As a result of the Government interference we are building one half of the line east of Winnipeg and are finding three-quarters of the money for the other half of the line west of Winnipeg. Having forced us to provide so much money for the line, the Government makes the company a present of $50,000,000 of common stock in the undertaking. The scheme as designed by the Ottawa grafters, takes $100,000,000 from the people for building a section of the railway. Then it employes the credit of Canada in guaranteeing bonds for the other section. Finally, it makes the Grand Trunk a present of $50,000,000, upon which the profits are to be made.

The terms are of such a character as to mean the robbery of the people of Canada. No honest men, certainly no responsible men would propose them or consent to them. The fact that it did so stands to its credit. It shows that the party, while willing to push anything that makes for national development, respects the people and protects their interests.—Mail and Empire.

HAMILTON'S SENTENCE

This morning Frank Hamilton, convicted on a charge of forgery, was allowed to go on suspended sentence by County Police Magistrate Edmison. Hamilton raised a cheque on the Cavendish Lumber Company, from $1.40 to $50.40. His Worship gave him some sound advice regarding his future behavior. At the end of a year he is to again appear before the magistrate and will be required to report monthly to High County Constable Cochrane. He promised to abstain from using liquor, and to endeavor to lead a straightforward life.

THE CHINESE IN CARDIFF INVASION OF ORIENTALS

Among seafaring men in Cardiff the steady increase in the number of Chinamen who obtain berths on vessels at that port is causing alarm. It is stated that the Chinamen accept half the wages of European seamen and are less particular as regrads food, requiring only a few cheap though wholesome articles of food.

The Chinamen does not ask for peas and haricot beans, flour, oatmeal, milk syrup, suet, pickles and dried fruits. He lives for a month on the same quantity of salt beef, salt pork, and tea he wants less in a month requires for a week. Even of coffee adn tea he wants less in a month than his white competitor in a week.

"Four years ago," said the Cardiff secretary of the Sailors' and Firemen's Union, "there was a Chinnese boarding-house in Cardiff. Now therre are seven. Four years ago you could not go along the Bute road without seeing the Greek and Spanish flags. The Spaniards drove the Greeks away to a great extent. Then the Italians came in. Now the Italians are disappearing gradually, and also the Arabs and Turks, and the Chinese are taking their places.

"There are always between 200 and 300 Chinamen on shore, and available for engagement. If the rate of increase of the past year or so is kept up we shall have a new Chinese boarding house established every month or two."—The Minder Echo.

MANY YARDS BADLY FILLED WITH SNOW

"How many skirts can I get out of a yard?" asked the soubrette of the comedian at the Grand Opera House last night.

"Depends upon whose yard you get into," was the answer, and the crowd laughed.

There are more than skirts in the average Peterborough yard these days, however. For the first time in many years local citizens are finding it necessary to have the snow drawn out of their yards. "The beautiful" is so deep around the houses that it is necessary to have it hauled away. Several teams and men are engaged doing this work.

The Toast to "the Babies"

The Babies! Now, that's something like! We haven't all had the fortune to be ladies. We haven't all been generals or poets, or statesmen; but when the toast works down to the babies, we stand on common ground, for we've all been babies. If you gentlemen will think for a moment, if you will go back fifty or a hundred years to your early married life, and recontemplate your first baby, you will remember that he amounted to a good deal and even something over.

If the baby proposed to take a walk at his usual hour, half-past two in the morning, didn't you rise up promptly and remark that that was the very thing you were about to propose yourself! Oh, you were under good discipline! and as you went fluttering up and down the room in your undress uniform, you not only prattled undignified baby talk, but even tuned up your martial voice and tried to sing "Rock a by baby in the tree top!

I like the idea that a baby doesn't amount to anything. Why, one baby is just a house and a front yard full by itself. One baby can furnish more business than you and your whole interior department can attend to; he is enterprising, irrepressible, brimful of lawless activities; and do what you please you can't make him stay on the reservation. Sufficient unto the day is one baby. As long as you are in your right mind don't you ever pray for twins. Twins amount to a permanent riot; and there isn't any real difference between triplets and insurrection.—From "Modern Miracles."

The Daily Review

FRIDAY, FEB. 7, 1908.

A CHALLENGE ACCEPTED

The Examiner challenges Mr. Burnham, in an editorial, to enlighten the Review, and therefore, practically the whole community, "as to the comments on the manner in which he gained the nomination, which have reached his ears directly and indirectly from the two unsuccessful candidates for the nomination, even after the formal resolution of unanimity." Mr. Burnham responds with pleasure, and through the Review, begs leave to assure the Examiner that not one word from Mr. Garvin or Ald. Phelan, directly or indirectly, of a nature reflecting upon the character or conduct of Mr. Burnham, as suggested by the Examiner, has as yet reached his ears. The challenge was an unintentional kindness to Mr. Burnham, who is thus allowed an opportunity of denying a false report. But there is more in the Examiner's article than an attempt to asperse Mr. Burnham for a supposition that all conventions are loosely conducted is a direct reflection upon the honest men of the Liberal party. We know what we know of the last Liberal convention here, and we hope such a travesty will never be repeated. In the meantime we again affirm that no insinuations of a doubtful nature have reached Mr. Burnham's ears, and for the very good reason that they were never made, except in the columns of the Examiner. We shall expect our contemporary to publish Mr. Burnham's reply since we have frankly put both challenge and acceptance before our readers.

DENIALS DENIED

The Toronto Globe has been called in to its aid by the Examiner in the desperate case of the Timber Scandals investigation at Ottawa. They deny the whole affair. We would respectfully ask these journals if they think that by denying generally they can negative Hansard. No matter what party journals say the fell record remains in those official chronicles.

THE FIGHT FOR CANADA

In the days of the free export of logs to the United States and the consequent ruin of our timber limits and saw milling industry Canada was made the victim of Liberal inefficiency and misrule. In those days Hon. J. R. Stratton appeared before the Board of Trade in Peterborough in company with his cohorts and strongly opposed any attempt on the part of the Board to recommend an export duty on logs to the attention of the Government. What did they care for the Canadian workingman? They were more concerned for the owner of the limit who had a large market to sell in and less risk in handling his output. Mr. R. R. Hall was likewise an advocate of this destructive process but time has worked great changes. The United States no longer enjoys the privilege of closing our mills and using Ontario as a back-yard. This refers to lumber only, however. In pulpwood we are still by the grace of the Liberal administration at Ottawa, the victims of similar policy. Last year $6,000,000 worth of pulpwood that should have been $50,000,000 worth of pulp, was taken across the lines by our astute neighbors and manufactured into pulp. This is only one instance of the failure of Liberal politicians to understand the principles of tariff-making. "Strip the country if you like" is their motto "but don't try to build up a nation." Of course somebody as usual profits by this manner of dealing with the matter—the owners of the pulp limits. The Canadian workmen would have to follow the pulpwood to get employment if Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Fielding had their way.

THE TELEPHONE

As our esteemed contemporary the Morning Times observes in its editorial columns the telephone as applied to farms has worked wonders in the farming industry. Hitherto the chief difference between social life in the city and country, lies in the position of people with regard to each other. If people in cities lived and worked with considerable intervals between their dwellings the conditions of life in city and the farm would practically be the same. It is the density of population therefore that makes the difference. The telephone has secured this for farmers and their families. Union is strength, but it is also something else. It provides for social intercourse and an increase in human happiness. In the future we may expect to see on this account a disposition on the part of young men and women to remain on the farm.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The editorials of the Toronto Mail and Empire are, it may safely be asserted amongst the most cogent and effective in the Canadian press. They are written as concisely as a lawyer's brief, omit nothing in detail and have the finish of true literary art. The Mail and Empire's opponents are treated with journalistic courtesy, but in argument are not the less surely silenced.

The Liberal-Conservative Convention for East Peterborough meets on February 26th in Norwood. Much interest is being taken in this gathering by the Conservative electors of the riding and there will likely be a very large attendance—if there are no more snow storms. When the Liberal convention will be held has not been announced as yet. As in the west riding this date remains in "the womb of time."

Mr. Burnham, the Liberal-Conservative candidate in the west riding, instructs us to thank the Examiner for its insinuations regarding the Convention. Many electors have promised to support him as a consequence. Wanton abuse by an opponent is an excellent solidifier and restorative in party warfare. The party is thoroughly united and many Liberals also have declared their intention of joining in with it to break up the conspiracy at Ottawa, by sending a supporter of Mr. Borden's from West Peterborough.

We propose to publish from time to time extracts from Hansard, the official record of the proceedings of the House of Commons. It is always more satisfactory to those interested in matters of fact as well as of opinion in political affairs to have the authentic record at hand for their own perusal. It saves much time and prevents blanket denials and cynical evasions on the part of those chiefly interested in making out a good case in reply to damaging charges and accusations.

THE MAIL'S REPLY

A Stunning Denunciation of the Globe—A Masterly Summing up—Arraignment of Graft

Complaint is made by the Toronto Globe, the newspaper apologist for the timber steals in the West, that The Mail and Empire in reporting the exposure in Parliament gave five columns of space to the facts and but 25 lines to the reply of ex-Land Commissioner Turriff, M.P. Were this complaint well founded, the Mail and Empire would be open to the charge of unfairness. But it has no foundation for it happens that Mr. Turriff has made no reply.

It is well to bear in mind that Mr. Turriff was the man who gave out many of the huge timber grants concerning which there is so much excitement. Acting as Land Commissioner in the pay of the people, this politician awarded the property to the men who now have it. In one case a 60-mile limit was applied for by Mr. A. W. Fraser, an Ottawa lawyer, who was President of the Ottawa Liberal Association. This limit was offered for sale by private tender. One tender only was put in, that of Mr. Fraser, and the price offered was $500. Now anybody can see that $500 for 60 miles of timber territory is simply ridiculous. Why did Mr. Turriff allow the property of the people to go for this small sum to a lawyer who was President of the Liberal Association? Mr. Turriff has not explained that. His speech makes no reference to this important point. After the 60 miles had been awarded to Mr. Fraser for $500, Mr. Turriff increased the limit by 30 miles, thus making it 90 miles, at the same price. Why was this done. There is no explanation in the so-called reply of the ex-Land Commissioner. How did it happen that Mr. Turriff gave for $500 property of the people which the present holders are offering for sale at $500,000? In another case a very curious transaction occurred. The Ottawa lawyer, who was also president of the Liberal Association, applied for a 50-mile timber berth. Three tenders were submitted as follows;

Fraser	1,000
Nolan	7,000

The highest bidder was to get the concession. Fraser's tender and Nolan's tender were both in the same handwriting, but the figure "$7,000" in Nolan's was in different ink and was added after the tenders had been written. The berth was awarded to Nolan and five days afterwards he transferred it to a company, the membership of which is mysterious. Now the eccentricity in the tendering is calculated to awaken curiosity. Was this figure in Nolan's tender filled in after the offer of Curry had been seen? Did the president of the Liberal Association put in a $1,000 tender and with it an offer in blank to be filled in should a higher tender be inserted by some other party? Anyway, who wrote the $7,000 in the Nolan tender? Mr. Turriff has not explained these matters. He has not even advanced a theory. Nor has he told Parliament why there has been such feverish haste to sell the timber property of the country to lawyers and presidents of the Liberal Associations.

Mr. Turriff has made no reply to the charges laid before Parliament by Mr. Ames. He has certainly made a brassy challenge to all and sundry to make accusations against him, and he has pretended that Conservatives, in the past made similar timber grabs in which respect he falsified the record. But he has dodged the questions that are uppermost, and therefore, the allegation that the Mail and Empire failed to give his "reply" to the public is untrue.

Claimed Good for the Blood

Good Home Made Mixture Said to Make Kidneys Filter Out Impurities

All medical authorities are agreed that the blood is the great source of disease or health in the human system. If the blood is pure, the individual is strong and healthy, if the blood is impure or diseased, then there is sickness or decay in the whole system.

Rheumatism is strictly a blood disease. It is caused by excessive uric acid. Sores, pimples, etc., mean bad blood. Catarrhal affections must be treated through the blood to get permanent results. To get well to feel strong, hearty and vigorous one must have good, clean blood, and lots of it. You can't clean the blood thoroughly unless the kidneys are made active. Bad blood means clogged, inactive kidneys and liver, which causes, too, such symptoms as backache, nervousness, bladder and urinary difficulties, and other sympathetic troubles.

Here is a simple home remedy and the Recipe for making it up is as follows:—

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime. The ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy at small cost.

Here the readers of this paper have a simple, yet powerful and effective remedy for all forms of blood, kidney and bladder diseases, which should relieve rheumatism and catarrhal affections and replace that weak, worn-out, indifferent feeling with strength, vigor and health.

This prescription is considered a fine system renovator and being made of vegetable extracts, only, is harmless and any one can mix it at home. Try this anyway before investing in the secret unknown concoctions of the patent medicine manufacturers.

SOME SENSIBLE SUGGESTIONS

A writer in the Providence Journal offers a few suggestions to theatregoers. In a condensed form they follows;

To make every possible effort to reach the theatre on time.

To remain quietly seated until the curtain finally descends and make no preliminary fuss and disturbance with hats and wraps. If earlier departure is necessary leave at the end of an act when it will not cause a disturbance.

To sit quietly and squarely and not twist round and lop over so as to take one-third or one-half of the space paid for by the occupant of the adjacent seat.

Not to beat time to the music against the floor or whistle or hum an accompaniment.

To bear in mind that an accompanying friend or relative probably possesses faint gleams of intelligence and refrain from repeating every second line and explaining every situation in the play in a more than audible voice. Others in the vicinity are also probably partially intelligent.

To refrain from discussing loudly and vivaciously the domestic affairs of friends or the details of the pink tea or the dinner party or what not that preceded the theatre party.

To abstain as far as possible from behaving inconsiderably and to remember that some of the other persons present have paid to be entertained and not to suffer foolish afflictions.

These good rules might be greatly amplified, yet such is human nature that the inconsiderate among theatregoers would not reform were they to read such admonitions daily.

DOUBTFUL IF INDUSTRY IS A BENEFIT

Tweed News Comments on the Recent Explosion

The Tweed News says; In the view of the numerous precautions adopted at the works of the Ontario Powder Company, accidents at the plant have been of comparatively rare occurrence, but despite these measures to insure safety there have been two explosions of a serious nature.;

The explosion on Tuesday was perhaps as bad as could possibly occur at the local plant and the damage inflicted on the local business places and residences is only a little on the opposite side of the ledger to the benefits derived from the business done with the employees of The Powder Company.

It is impossible, however, to hide the fact that the works are a menace to the town and something should be done before the fatal third time.

Now that the buildings of the company are practically all destroyed the village fathers should discuss the situation with the owners of the plant in order to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion, perhaps towards moving some of the buildings further from the town, or at least to insure even greater protection in case of a worse explosion.

The fortunate warning that gave the men a chance to save their lives is cause for the greatest thanksgiving.

OBITUARY

DAVID McILMOYLE

The death of Mr. David McIlmoyle occurred on Saturday, Feb. 1st, after a somewhat lingering illness. Although he had been in poor health for nearly three years, his death came as a shock to his family and surrounding friends. His illness was of an obscure character and in spite of all that medical skill could do, he gradually grew worse, until at last, exhausted and debilitated, his life slowly ebbed away. He was born on October 16th, 1844, on lot 21, con. 10, of Smith township, where he pursued his life work farming. In 1884 he moved to lo 3, con. 6, South Monaghan where he resided at the time of his death. He was a member of South Monaghan council for a term and for several years a representative on the Board of Health. In his private and public life he proved himself to be a man of sound judgment and preeminent ability, weighing carefully his decision on each business enterprise. Ever ready to lend a helping hand, to the needy and to shelter and care for the weary traveller was his predominant characteristic. In politics he was a staunch Liberal, in religion a Presbyterian. By his death is lost a devoted husband, a kind father, and a sincere friend. He leaves to mourn his loss a widow, and three sons. The funeral took place on Monday, Feb. 3rd from the family residence, to Cavan cemetery for interment.

PUT STITCHES IN HIS HEART

Remarkable Operation Performed on Washington Man

Washington, Feb. 6.—One of the most difficult operations ever performed on a patient in this city took place at the Emergency Hospital, when the physicians took five stitches in the heart of Richard Denton, who was stabbed on Saturday night. Denton's heart was severed almost in half, and it was necessary to lay open the breast to perform the operation. Only six similar operations, the physicians say, have been performed in the United States.

When brought to the hospital Denman was unconscious. He was placed upon the operating table, and within an hour his breast had been opened, the heart slightly raised, and sewed up. The breast was then closed, and eighteen stitches taken.

Denton was better yesterday, and it was stated at the hospital that he may recover.

ITALIANS MEET TRAGIC DEATH

Killed While Thawing Frozen Dynamite

Smith Falls, Feb. 5.—A young Italian named Leo Loratto, employed on the C.P.R. construction, met a tragic death near Kemptville. Just how it happened will probably never be known, as he was alone in a shack at the time. It is supposed, however, that he was thawing out dynamite and in doing so set fire to it. The explosion was so great that the building was totally demolished.

The unfortunate man presented a horrible sight when found by his companions. His clothing was torn to shreds, his back was broken and his body was terribly mutilated. The deceased was thirty-five years of age and is said to have a wife and family in Italy.

Detained Three Days at Omemee

Commercial Travellers Had Rather Unpleasant Experience

Several commercial travellers who were stalled at Omemee since Tuesday arrived in the city this morning on the train that managed to get through on the Grand Trunk. It can hardly be said that they enjoyed their stay in the village and were glad enough to get going again. They state that they spent their time in Omemee running between the village and station in the hope that a train would put in an appearance, but in this they were disappointed until this morning. Omemee was without a train service from Tuesday until this morning, with the exception of two engines and a car which came through yesterday morning.

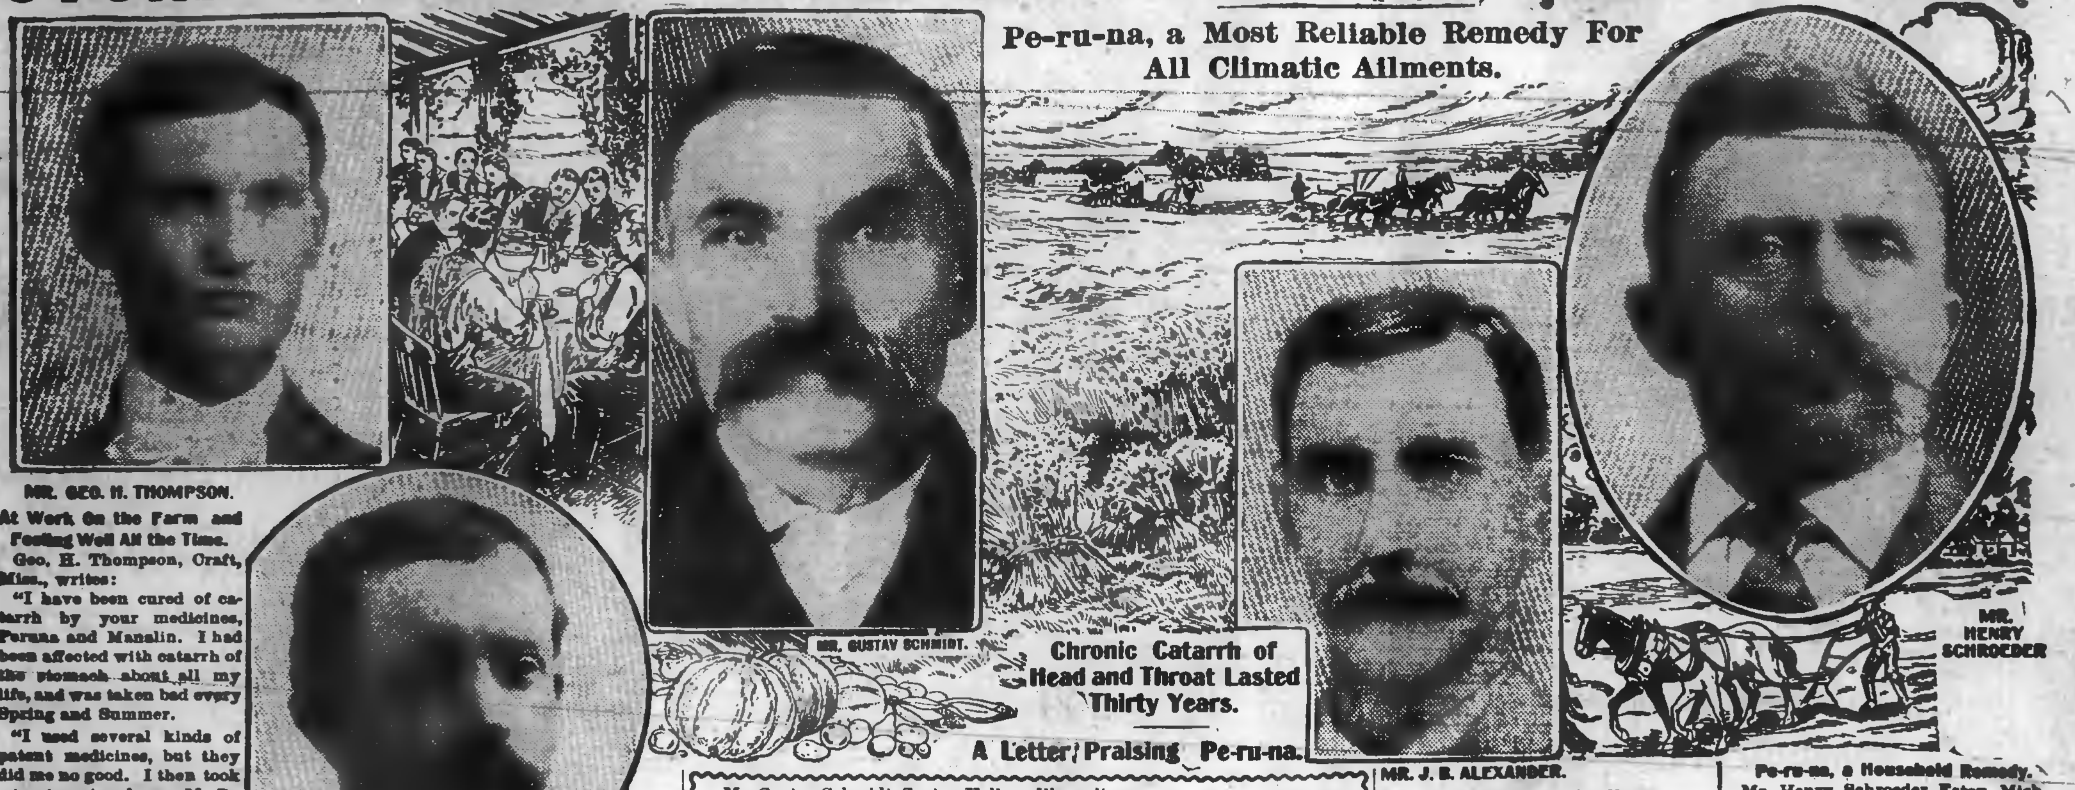
STURDY FARMERS KEEP OFF ALL CATARRHAL ILLS BY TAKING PE-RU-NA.

Pe-ru-na, a Most Reliable Remedy For All Climatic Ailments.



MR. GEO. H. THOMPSON.

MR. W. J. TEMPLE.

MR. GUSTAV SCHMIDT.

MR. J. B. ALEXANDER.

MR. HENRY SCHROEDER

At Work On the Farm and Feeling Well All the Time.

Geo. H. Thompson, Craft, Miss., writes:

"I have been cured of catarrh by your medicines, Peruna and Manalin. I had been affected with catarrh of the stomach about all my life, and was taken bad every Spring and Summer.

"I used several kinds of patent medicines, but they did me no good. I then took a treatment under an M. D., which did me but little good. By this time I had come to where I could eat nothing but a little soup. I had severe pains, had lost in weight and could not do anything. I began taking your medicines, Peruna and Manalin. I then weighed 126 pounds, but after taking several bottles of Peruna and one bottle of Manalin, I weighed 166 pounds.

"I am now at work on the farm and feel well all of the time. I eat all I want to and my friends say that I look better than ever before. I will ever praise Peruna for its healing power."

Pe-ru-na is a Systemic Remedy.

If Peruna proves efficient for catarrh in one place, it will be equally potent in any other place, because it is a systemic remedy.

The people generally are very much misinformed as to the nature of catarrh.

Catarrh is usually believed to be confined to the head, nose and throat. Lately we sometimes hear of catarrh of the stomach and catarrh of the bowels. Seldom, if ever, do we hear of catarrh of any other organs.

It is not because these organs are not subject to catarrh, nor that catarrh of these organs is not a very common disease, but simply because it is not generally known that affections of these organs may be due to catarrh.

Climatic Ailments Overcome By Pe-ru-na.

Mr. W. J. Temple, R. F. D. 8, Delaware, Ohio, writes:

"I am a farmer and so necessarily must be exposed to all kinds of weather. About three years ago last winter, I was taken sick with bowel and stomach trouble.

"One doctor called it ulceration of the bowels, another called it colitis. Another doctor helped me temporarily.

"Then a druggist recommended Peruna and I followed his advice. I took altogether five bottles and I consider myself a well man.

"Before using Peruna, it was utterly impossible for me to do a day's work, but now I can do farm work without the least trouble or fatigue. I consider Peruna the best medicine and tonic on the market.

"I had not eaten a meal for five years without distress until I took Peruna. I have recommended it to several friends with good results."

Chronic Catarrh of Head and Throat Lasted Thirty Years.

A Letter Praising Pe-ru-na.

Mr. Gustav Schmidt, Spring Valley, Ill., writes:

"I had catarrh of the head and throat for over thirty years. It became worse every year. About three months ago I commenced to take Peruna and Manalin, and now I am entirely cured of that troublesome sickness. Your medicine is surely a blessing to mankind. You can truly say that you have not lived in vain, Doctor, and I thank you for the good you have done me. May you enjoy a long life to help suffering humanity."

DR. HARTMAN, THE FARMER.

Dr. S. B. Hartman, the inventor and original manufacturer of Peruna, is one of the best farmers in the Middle West.

His farm comprises several thousand acres of the best land in the State of Ohio, located near the City of Columbus.

As an importer of French Percheron and German Coach horses, the Doctor has not an equal in this country.

The fowl-raising department is a marvel of ingenuity and perfection; but, perhaps the dairy department is where the Doctor shows his greatest sense of order and sanitary science.

His milk cows, of the purest Jersey stock, have all been subjected to the tuberculin tests, and he gives to the City of Columbus a pure milk, certified by the Board of Health.

The milk stables, the milk men and the whole process of milking are absolutely faultless and clean.

The Doctor himself, past 70 years of age, is the managing head of the farm.

He himself supervises the working details of every department.

He is a model of strength and vitality, and since Peruna is the only remedy he ever makes personal use of, his physical condition is a testimonial to the efficacy of Peruna of greater value than could be framed in words.

Dr. Hartman is one of the few doctors who take their own medicine and his splendid physique and strength in his old age are an eloquent argument for Peruna very difficult to gainsay.

Dr. Hartman, being a farmer himself, knows what the farmer needs and in speaking of Peruna to the farmer he speaks to his own kind of people.

Pe-ru-na For Bowel Trouble.

Mr. Stanly Bell, Ashley, Ohio, writes:

"I was afflicted with rheumatism so badly that it was painful for me to move. I took two or three bottles of Peruna when I began to feel better. It also gave me relief from bowel trouble."

A Necessity in the Home.

J. B. Alexander, publisher of the "Fruit and Floral Guide, a Magazine of Horticulture," published in Hartford City, Ind., says of Peruna:

"I was afflicted with catarrh of the throat and head for over ten years. I was treated by many physicians, but grew worse until I was seldom able to go out in cold weather.

"About one year ago I was advised to try Peruna, which I did, and I am now entirely well of the catarrh.

"Peruna is a necessity in our home. With the first symptoms of a cold we use it, and are never afflicted with catarrh.

"I advise all who are afflicted with catarrh to try Peruna. There is certainly nothing equal to it as a catarrh medicine."

71 Years Old and Able to Work.

Mr. John G. Hirdler, Garfield, Kas., writes:

"I was injured by a fall on the railroad and my entire nervous system was impaired by the same. The help of a physician was useless.

"I then tried Peruna and after using it for three months was entirely well. I am 71 years old and my work on the the railroad is hard and tedious, but I can work like a young man in all kinds of weather, heat, cold, rain, snow or storm alike."

Pe-ru-na, a Household Remedy.

Mr. Henry Schroeder, Estey, Mich., writes:

"I suffered for almost ten years with catarrh of the stomach and all doctoring was of no avail. I took nine bottles of Peruna and two of Manalin and am now entirely cured.

"I recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this disease. It is my household friend."

One of Dr. Hartman's Grateful Correspondents.

Mr. W. R. Callahan, proprietor of Big Hill Farm, and prominent fruit grower and stock raiser, Glenvar, Va., writes:

"I write to express my kindness toward you and your good medicine, Peruna.

"I had a very bad spell of sickness and could not eat anything at all. My head, stomach, in fact, my whole body ached, and it looked as though nothing would do me any good. I had almost given up.

"I decided to try a bottle of your Peruna and before I had taken half the bottle my appetite came to me and my head became all right. In fact, I was all right all over. Peruna cured me."

While Peruna is not confined to any one class of people, yet it is probably true that the farming class more than any other, rely upon Peruna for the prevention and cure of all climatic diseases.

BOOTS TAKEN FROM ROOM AT THE RINK

Young Man, Seen Carrying Them Off on Thursday Night Had Better Return Them

A bold theft was committed at the Brock street rink on Thursday night when a young fellow who could be termed a "smart Alex carried off a pair of black button boots belonging to one of the patrons of the rink. The shoes were left hanging in the gentlemen's waiting room and while the wearer of them was enjoying a skate they were taken away. When at ten o'clock he came to change his boots he was surprised to find his boots had disappeared. A search was made but no trace of them was to be seen. The young man was obliged to take the skates off his skating boots to walk home.

The authorities at the rink have got suspicions as to the guilty party and if the stolen goods aren't returned at once there is likely to be an arrest made.

Cutter Badly Smashed in a Runaway

Horse Belonging to W. Hopkins Made Exciting Run This Morning

An exciting runaway accident occurred this morning at eight o'clock on Charlotte street, when a horse belonging to Mr. W. Hopkins, made a wild dash for liberty. Mr. Hopkins was driving along in his cutter when suddenly the animal became frightened at a passing street car. It ran at a pretty fast rate until it reached the corner of George street where it was quickly brought to a standstill, but not before a great deal of damage had been done. Swinging from one side of the road to the other, the cutter was badly smashed, the back of it being completely torn away from the other part.

Mr. Hopkins was unable to hold the frightened horse and was thrown from the cutter but fortunately escaped uninjured.

The damage done was principally to the sleigh which was rendered unfit for further use. A new one had to be procured before Mr. Hopkins was able to proceed on his way.

BOY NEEDED TULIP SALVE

As a Result of Getting Two Familiar With Water Pipe

A young lad while in the act of taking a drink at the thirst fountain on John street, near Park street, had a very unpleasant experience today. The frosty water-pipe and the boy's lips became very affectionate and in his effort to free himself the skin from both lips was badly torn. This should be a warning to persons to exercise every care in touching iron piping during this frosty weather. The boy who suffered today is an employee of this office, otherwise we might recommend the old salve, the curative powers of which cannot be doubted.—Port Hope Guide.

Some Snow Shovellers Had Awful Experiences

Many of Them Were Not Prepared for the Bitter Cold and Were Badly Frozen—Cried Out With the Pain

Something about the hardships experienced in getting the C.P.R. track cleared between Peterborough and Toronto is told in the following despatches from Burketon;

Burketon Junction, Feb. 7.—Ninety-two men hastily gathered by the C. P.R., left the Union Station, Toronto, at 7 o'clock last night in two coaches pulled by the heaviest engines in an attempt to reach Burketon Junction to relieve train No. 3, of Wednesday from Montreal, which was still stalled there. It took 12 hours to cover the 43 miles, and was one of the worst experiences known on this division.

Number 8 Tweed express left Toronto at 6 p.m. Wednesday afternoon with 66 passengers. She was forced to pass the night at Agincourt, and got to Locust Hill at 11 a.m. She was still there at 11 p.m. Thursday. The passengers were well cared for, and were contented.

HARD ON ENGLISHMEN

The trip to Burketon Junction was a terrible experience for the shovelers, most of whom are Englishmen, unused to Canadian winter. Many were unprovided with gloves, one without a cap, most of them wore thin coats and hard hats. Time after time they were called on to turn out and face the terrific blizzard and zero temperature. Many times the snow piled up to the height of the coach tops, brushing the tail lights of the rear car.

At Locust Hill three trains and seven engines with two snowploughs were waiting. Two of the heaviest engines sent out with a plow to break the drift would run back half a mile, would make about 50 yards, and then have to be dug out, back up, and then come on at full speed again. At the third attempt, the plow mounted the drift, turned completely around, and tore off the trucks and again rushed past. Nobody was hurt.

The second plow was then used, and managed to get through. The shoveler's train followed slowly and had to stop frequently to be dug out.

The worst experience was just at six a.m. today. The train was in an exposed cut, the blizzard so strong it was impossible to see thirty yards and the cold was terrible. Numbers of men had their hands and faces so badly frozen that they were unable to go out again. One young man's neck was covered with blood from frozen ears; others cried with pain from frozen hands and cheeks. They had no idea what to do, and came into the warm car. They were completely unprepared for the cold. Hot coffee and sandwiches were provided by the company. The men were usually fairly willing to work, with some exceptions, but suffered most severely. Many wrapped their hands in rags.

EMPLOYEES TRIED HARD.

The railway employees made the greatest efforts to keep the line open. A gang of sectionmen were picked up who had been at work for 22 hours steadily. Train crews had worked fifteen hours without relief. As the immense locomotives struck the drifts, five or six feet deep, the flying snow smashed all the glasses in the left side of the cab and sifted in in clouds through cracks in the doors of the coaches.

DRIFT EIGHTEEN FEET HIGH

Near Locust Hill a drift eighteen feet high was cut through. Time after time in the last six minutes before Burketon Junction was reached the gang had its turn to be driven out in some cases. Those very badly frozen were allowed to remain in the car. As fast as the snow drifted in it packed down and froze hard on the rails and around the wheels.

No. 3 from Montreal stalled on Wednesday at Burketon Junction will leave for Toronto upon the arrival of the snowplough from Pontypool. She was pulled by two of the biggest engines and spent thirty hours in covering the last mile beyond Burketon Junction.

Experienced railway men say that the storm of the last three days was the worst in their memory.

Roads in Smith Township Were Completely Blockaded

Reeve Scott Does Not Remember a Time When the Chemong Road Was in Such Bad Condition—Many Shovellers at Work.

Reeve Scott of Smith township, was in the city last evening for the first time since the early part of the week. Communication between the township and the city has been practically cut off since Tuesday, the roads being completely blockaded. Reeve Scott informed the Review that never within his knowledge had the Chemong road been so completely filled. It is level across from the tops of the fences and entirely unfit for traffic. Mr. Scott was out through the township yesterday afternoon hiring men to shovel the roads. He secured a large number this morning they went to work. Other highways in the township in addition to the Chemong road are badly blockaded and it will be several days before traffic will be normal again.

Conditions are much the same throughout the country and today hundreds of men and teams are at work clearing the roads. The "oldest inhabitant" has to work his brain overtime to recollect a time when conditions were worse or as bad.

Mr. Thomas Yellowlees Gave Much Valuable Information Of House to House Visitation

Delivered a Concise and Comprehensive Address on Movement to be Taken Up by Local Churches—A Sketch of the Work and the Plan Followed in Carrying it Out—The Great Scope the Field Offers forC hristian Workers.

The house to house visitation proposition in Peterborough was given a great impetus last night by reason of the able address given on the subject at St. Paul's church.

The speaker was Mr. Thos. Yellowlees, Toronto, extension secretary of the provincial Sunday School Association. Mr. Yellowlees has had a wide experience in the actual work of house to house visitation and dealt with his topic in a thoroughly practical and appealing way. He showed the immediate necessity for the campaign being taken up and convinced those present that there was a great field for the cause right in Peterborough. In fact he showed by statistics that it is almost beyond comprehension to realise how many people there are who have no preference for any special church, as well as others who are absolutely indifferent to religion. Mr. Yellowlees speaks with a knowledge that bears conviction. He tells in a straightforward way what he has to say and is an earnest and interesting talker.

OBJECT OF HOUSE TO HOUSE.

At the commencement of his address last night he referred to the progress of the house to house visitation movement that is being made in Ontario. He said its object was by organized effort to locate every man, woman and child in the places where it was being carried out and have them identified with some church or Sunday school. It was not the idea to have them join any special church, but to find out what one they had a preference for.

TRANSIENT AND NON-CHURCH GOERS.

There are a great many people outside the church. These visited are asked to express a preference for some special church. A large number of people go to church with more or less regularity and the house to house visitors endeavor to place them in some pastor's care. He then told of the places where the visitation had been carried into effect and of others where it will be done.

Many persons never cross the threshold of a church. This condition he found in every place he had visited. Speaking of the good work being done in the interests of the movement Mr. Yellowlees paid a compliment to Col. F. B. Edwards, formerly of this city, for the splendid manner in which he had performed his duties in connection with the work in Edmonton, his present home.

SUCCESS OF MOVEMENT.

The first of house to house visitation took place three years ago and has since then progressed most encouragingly. It is carried on on a systematic basis and with much energy by the workers, which accounts to a great extent for its success. Hamilton was the first city visited and since then most of the principal places in the province as well as a large number of smaller ones have benefitted by the results of the movement in all places it is a revelation to discover the large number who have a preference for a special church without the pastor of the church having any knowledge of their inclinations.

The necessity of doing the work in the most thorough manner was strongly emphasized.

NON-DENOMINATIONAL.

House to house visitations are not carried on under any secular auspices. Protestant and Roman Catholic churches realizing its importance, cooperate in a mutual Christian spirit. Letters from ministers and priests were read in which the spiritual advisers expressed their approval of the movement and told of the great success it had met with in their respective communities or parishes.

"There's a work outside the church as well as inside," said the speaker, "and many people have become lost in the crowd."

He described many pathetic instances that had come under his observation during his long connection with religious work and related many interesting personal experiences.

CITY MAPPED OUT.

In order that the plan of carrying on the movement may be executed with expedition the town or city in which it is to take place is mapped out into districts with a supervisor over each one and a sufficient number of ladies are chosen to do the work. The visitations take a half a day and the visitors go out in pairs. The speaker then explained the way in which the names of boarders and domestics at hotels and private residences are secured and imparted some explicit information of different phases of the movement.

In concluding his address Mr. Yellowlees said he believed it possible to get almost every home in Peterborough to express a preference for some church or pastor.

Cards to assist the workers in the house to house visitation are given out and the speaker explained anything concerning them by any in attendance who desired the information. He stated also that he hoped to be able to again speak in this city on the subject of the evening, at no very distant date.

Are Socialistic Views Being Propagated in Debating Club?

To the Editor of The Review.

Sir,—I noticed some time ago in one of our local papers a reference to the shortage of the Y.M.C.A. Exchequer now. I am not going to discuss this question which I think I really could from a very reasonable standpoint. There is a cause and a most serious one as well. but I will not go into it now.

But I would like to know if the Y.M.C.A. is a place to discuss and propagate socialistic doctrines. Let me quote what I have read from the programme of their debating club of that institution. Dec. 4. "Resolved that individual control of capital is opposed to the best interests of the people." What is this? I am told that two speeches made at this debate was the strongest possible argument in favor of the Socialistic propaganda.

I see by your issue of a recent date that the debate on Wednesday evening last was on "Municipal Ownership of Public Utilities." Another plank in the Socialistic platform. I have been told by one of the regular attenders of this Club that the next question is "Compulsory Arbitration in all labor disputes." I also read from their programme as follows. March 4. Resolved, "That equality of opportunity is impossible under existing circumstances."

These are both strong socialistic doctrines and which they try to preach on all occasions. These subjects are not fit questions to discuss in an institution where the young men of our city go, and which is supported in a very large measure by the public and which is really a public institution, and not as some would like us to believe a "Select Club," for goody goody boys to congregate and disseminate views which have destroyed in a great measure the sacred ties of our most cherished institution "Home."

Hoping that a word to the wise is sufficient, I am, dear sir, only

GRIM HUNGER GRIPS TOWN.

Decadence of Shipbuilding Makes 8,000 Men Idle.

The distress in Sunderland, England, at the present time has been unequaled for a generation. Within the limits of the Parliamentary division close on 8,000 men are out of work. Many are literally starving and are going for days without food. Babies are born in stripped rooms, where the mother's only bed is the floor. There is hunger here, grim gaunt, and acute.

The streets of the borough are thronged all day with groups of idle mechanics and laborers, men with pinched faces, who lounge along sucking empty pipes. Many shipyards are closed, and still more make a mere pretence of keeping open. The workhouse is crammed. Statistics tell something of the extent of the distress. The unemployed in those unions on the Wear have risen from 6.1 per cent. a year ago to 22.4 per cent. Nearly 2,300 unemployed have registered their names at the offices of the distress committee, and hundreds more come each day. These are only a part, for most skilled men do not register.

The secretary of the distress committee estimates the total out of work at 8,000. Among the boilermakers alone 1,500 are idle. For each idle boilermaker three laborers lose work. Nearly 50 per cent. of the men in the building trades are out. One firm that paid $15,000 a week in wages in June is paying about $1,500 now. The Co-operative Society at the end of September had improved its last year's trading account by $8,000. To-day that improvement is turned into a decline of $10,000.

Sunderland depends almost solely on shipbuilding. The narrow and deep channel of the Wear, full of shipping, edged with factories, and backed by sharp-rising sides, covered with smoke-stained houses, usually presents one of the busiest industrial pictures to be seen in England. To-day giant chimney after giant chimney stands like a dead thing against the sky, no smoke coming from the chimneys. The gates of many works are shut.

The one reason for the distress here is the amazing decline in shipbuilding. This is attributable to many causes, mainly the high price of coal and steel and overproduction. Some blame the raising of the Plimsoll line as a contributory cause.

In the working class suburb of Southwick are many heartrending and tragic examples of the acuteness of the misery and of the heroism with which the people are bearing it. In this district scores and hundreds of children are going to school either shoeless or with boots that afford no protection from the cold, rain, and snow. Many hundreds obtain practically no food but the free meals at the schools. At one school alone the head teachers said that fully a hundred of their scholars had gone one day dinnerless and would remain without bite or sup until the next day.

The workingmen who are able do everything possible to help. Children whose parents are in work take hungry school fellows home to share half their dinner. Mothers search out their spare clothes for neighbors. The colliers at Castletown are sending a weekly trolley of food, the miners' wives clearing their own cupboards to help the hungry mites.

"Our great need is boots," said the head mistress of the High Southwick council school. "Large numbers of children are suffering greatly from lack of these.

"The distress is in some cases too terrible to contemplate. One morning, for instance, I noticed one girl of 7 at breakfast. It was plain that she had nothing to eat since school broke up on Friday. She was trembling violently, and at first could not take anything. At last we got her to swallow a spoonful or two of cocoa to give her strength to eat."

The local authorities at Sunderland, led by the mayor, are doing much to meet the distress, but their resources are wholly unequal to the exceptional situation. There is need for active help from the local Government Board and from private charity in other parts. If Sunderland can tide over between now and January the worst will then probably be ended.

Opium From Lettuce.

A sort of opium is obtained from the common lettuce. The scientists give it a long name, which no doubt means something very learned and profound, and declare that they find important differences between the opium of the lettuce and the opium of the poppy, but for all practical purposes the one is identical with the other. Many a man who has eaten lettuce knows how sleepy it causes him to become an hour or so after dinner, and the older the lettuce the greater the sleepiness, for in mature lettuce the milk juice is well developed and all the properties of the opium are present.—London News.

No Place to Die.

The soldier of the legion lay dying in Algiers.

A committee of citizens who wanted to boom Algiers as a health resort waited upon him.

"We want you to change your headquarters," announced they. "You're hurting business here."

Where He Gets His Orders.

"My friend Jinks says he can't catch up with his orders."

"Is he a manufacturer?"

"Oh, no; just a married man with five grown daughters."

The Feminine.

The Wife—Fancy, John, they are getting out a woman's dictionary! I wonder if it's any different from the others. The Husband—Probably has more words in it.—London Opinion.

FIRST SETTLEMENT IN WEST.

Gathering Place of Red Men For Various Expeditions.

Young as Manitoba is, its first settlement, like that of the great centres of government, trade and commerce in the world's history, is wrapped in obscurity.

Tradition tells that in the long ago before the white man came to trade throughout and subsequently occupy the fertile valleys of the great rivers of the eastern prairies of Prince Rupert's Land, the confluence of the Red and Assiniboine rivers was a point of meeting, a gathering place of the red man at certain times for expeditions of war or peace.

The first white man who had looked upon the site of the city of Winnipeg was a native-born Canadian, Pierre Gaultier de Varennes, afterwards Sieur de la Verandrye, who, with five of his men, paddled for two days in their canoes from the mouth of the Red river and on Sept. 24, 1738, made their camp at the point where the Assiniboine river enters the Red and which for years became known in the geographical descriptions of the West in the earliest days as The Forks.

"M. de la Marque told me," writes Verandrye shortly afterwards in October of the same year at Fort de la Reine, near the site of the present town of Portage la Prairie, where his small expeditionary force had gone by way of the Assiniboine river, "he had brought M. de Lonniere to the Forks with two canoes to build a fort there for the accommodation of the people of Red river. I approved of it if the Indians were notified."

Thus was built Fort Rouge on the south bank of the Assiniboine, the first tangible beginning of the western metropolis of the Dominion of Canada, in which is now its most populous and wealthiest suburb.

With the intrepid and unselfish spirit of the explorer, Verandrye, troubled with private business embarrassments and unsupported by the Governments of France or Quebec, continued for several years with his sons the exploration of the great Northwest from the valley of the Red river of the north. Lake Manitoba was discovered and the Great Saskatchewan river and the Rocky Mountains, in 1743, seen for the first time by white men. Fort Dauphin was established on west side of Lake Manitoba and at the expanse of the Saskatchewan, known as Cedar Lake, Fort Bourbon was built. In the southwesterly expedition, the Missouri river was discovered. Pressed by debt, persecuted by those jealous of his deeds and maligned at Quebec and in the court of France, Verandrye, the first to explore, and to some extent, at least, realize the greatness of what is now Western Canada, received belated and meagre recognition of his great work shortly before his death, by the gift of the Cross of the Order of St. Louis and by promotion to a captaincy of Colonial troops.

After the battle of the Plains of Abraham and the fall of Quebec in 1759, and the cession of Canada to Great Britain, French explorations practically ceased in the Northwest. . . . With the ordinance of British power in Canada came shrewd, enterprising and adventurous merchants and traders to Quebec and Montreal, made up of members of Highland Scotch Jacobite families, proscribed for participation in the Scottish rebellion of 1745, from the New England colonies, and afterwards, from 1778 to 1783, of Loyalists from the newly-constituted United States of America, drawn principally from those of Scottish birth or descent. The admixture of daring, adventure, enterprise and profit in the fur trade appealed particularly to this large class that made up the leading spirits of the dominant party in the newly acquired colony of Great Britain, and through them the waning trade of the Far West was revived.—Winnipeg Telegram.

Saw Nice Big Cat.

The Herald, of Cranbrook, B. C., reports an odd incident. Recently the family of J. E. Larrigan, living on the borders of that town, had a haunch of venison in their back shed. One evening the youngest son, about three and a half years old, was playing around outside, and later came in, and said to his mother: "I saw such a nice big cat out in the yard. It had a smooth back and I want it." The mother did not give the matter consideration, thinking of course, that the boy had seen one of the cats of the neighborhood, until later in the evening she had occasion to go into the shed and almost ran into a large wild cat or mountain lion that was smelling around after the venison. The next morning Jake Smoke and Harry Spence killed the wild cat near the place, and from the tracks it was evident that the little boy had been virtually playing with the animal the night before, and in a most miraculous manner escaped death.

Married Her Rescuer.

The romantic climax to the heroic rescue of a young Ottawa lady from drowning by a Canadian Pacific telegraph operator at Barnet, B. C., last summer, culminated recently in the marriage of the principals when Miss Edith Thompson, daughter of Edmund Thompson, became the wife of Clement Young of Barnet.

Nearly a year ago Mr. Thompson and his daughters, Edith and Nellie, left for a visit to the coast. One day when the girls were bathing, they were swept off their feet and in imminent danger of drowning. The father, who attempted to rescue them, was unable to swim, and also in difficulty until Mr. Young came to the rescue, and succeeded after several attempts in rescuing the three.

On his way to Ottawa to be married he was on the train which plunged into the ditch at Angler, with fatal results to the engineer and fireman. He went to the telegraph instrument until the line was cleared.

Lawlessness in the Yukon; Strong Statements Are Made

Rev. John Pringle Who is Well Known in Peterboro', Writes About Conditions in the Far North.

Since I last wrote there have been developments in connection with matters discussed in former letters which ought to be of interest to the public.

The press here reports that the Minister of the Interior told a delegation representing the churches that an investigation had been ordered into the charges made by me against certain officials. It is true, for I have seen the Minister's letter to the Commissioner. In it the Commissioner of this territory is instructed to investigate the charges, and to call upon me to prove them.

But when I conferred with the Commissioner about the investigation I found that he had none of the powers necessary for such an inquiry; that he could not subpoena, swear or protect witnesses. I, therefore, refused to appear as prosecutor or to ask my witnesses to appear. I do not expect to go into a fight and not get hurt, nor when I run counter to the party machine, to escape without being bespattered. But I was not born yesterday, and am not disposed, voluntarily and cheerfully, to throw myself under the wheels of the car.

To begin with, I have never said or written a sentence which could fairly be construed to mean that I thought, or think, the people of the Yukon immoral above others. My statement, made before the General Assembly of my church in St. John, reported and editorially commented upon in the St. John Telegraph of June 3, 1904, was that seventy-five per cent of the people of the Yukon were up to the average in morality, and above it in intelligence. Nor have I in my letters or in my interviews with members of the Cabinet varied from that statement. I have simply given facts, figures and illustrations to show that, so far as morals go, the administration of the law has been in the interests of the lowest element of our social life. And I shall, later, if necessary, give the public further facts, figures and illustrations to prove the truth of my assertions.

But about that telegram, The Commissioner had been here not quite six months. I have been in the north ten years, in Dawson and vicinity six and a half years. My statements ought, therefore, to be given careful consideration, even when they are denied by the Commissioner.

I ask the people of Canada to consider what follows, making due allowance for the fact that I am a minister, i.e., a minister of the Presbyterian church, and, therefore, impractical and perhaps extreme, and also for the fact that Dawson is a frontier mining town.

MINISTERS WERE TTOLD.

The commissioner agreed to ask, and did, I believe, ask for powers under the Public Inquiries Act. I also wrote to the Governor-General, the Prime Minister, the Minister of Public Works, and the Minister of the Interior, stating my position, and enclosing a copy of my letter to the commissioner giving my reasons for declining to appear. The reply of the Minister of the Interior is before me. In it he says that he sees no necessity for an appointment with the powers suggested by me, and that if the investigation fails to substantiate my charges it will be my own fault. The Minister's conclusion is, I think, open to serious question. I am not at all sure that it will be my own fault. But I am sure of this, that I have mistaken the character and temper of my people, if they will be content to have the humblest citizen treated in this fashion, when he seeks the purification of the public service of his country. I cannot escape the imputation of lower motives. I learned long ago that it was one of the inevitable penalties of the fight in behalf of right. But the Government knows that I have, during the last six years, by correspondence and in personal interviews with the Ministers of the Crown, called their attention to the plainest way possible to malodorous conditions in the official and community life, only to have my representations practically ignored by those responsible at Ottawa and to be flouted by the undesirables in the service and their retinue of heelers.

PROPOSED TO PROVE CHARGES.

The charges made against Mr. Girouard, the registrar of the territory, reflecting upon the purity of his character and life, I cannot discuss here. For while the so-called investigation was pending, a writ for libel was issued against me by Frederick Tennyson Congdon, K.C., in Mr. Girouard's behalf. But, in regard to the charges against the Comptroller, I am prepared to prove them to the limit as soon as the Government is prepared to sacrifice the interests of the party at the altar of the interests of justice and the public—if these interests are antagonistic.

A curious telegram was sent by the Commissioner to the Government and the press a short time ago. In it the Canadian people are assured that Dawson is as moral as any other town in Canada.

A MORAL SEWER

There are in Dawson, including Klondike City not more than 1,500 people, probably about 1,200 at this season of the year. We have two schools, public and separate, the attendance between 200 and 250.

Within 200 yards of these two schools, of the Carnegie library, of the two principal places of amusement for ourselves, our wives and children, are three known houses of prostitution. I have lived on the frontier for over twenty-five years in mining, railway and rural towns, and I have never, until now, known a community, whose government would, for a day, stand for such a condition as this—an open and offensive moral sewer, right under the eyes of our wives and children. There are thirty-two licensed retail liquor houses in the city. Over the Floradora in the heart of the business portion of the city sixty feet from express, steamboat and stage offices, beside our principal cafes, are now in the dull season, fourteen lewd women whose business it is to lure men to the loss of money and manhood, not infrequently life. There are not less than thirty-five of these women here now whose names are known to the police, and until my last letter bestirred somebody in authority and Judge Craig, two weeks ago, gave his sane interpretation of the law concerning gambling practices, games were going on all over the city. I leave the public to judge between the Commissioner and me.

CALLED A PARASITE

Another curious feature in the situation has developed within the last week. The Commissioners of this territory approached the president of the Dawson Board of Trade, Mr. Stanley Scearce, and requested him to call the Board together to condemn my statements, and incidentally myself. A prominent member of a low-caste political clique prepared the resolutions to be submitted at that meeting, in which, amongst other epithets applied to me, I am called a parasite. The Board met after considerable preliminary travail, and refused even to consider the matter. Had any member had the courage to bring it up, he would have been turned down quick and hard. I tell this, that the public may know what the man who is jealous for the good name of his country and desires to remove causes of shame, is up against in the Yukon. I am old enough to have got rid of, much of the conceit with which we all begin life and to know my limitations; but I think I can say, without undue egotism, that the appeals I have made to my people, through the press in the East, where the vote is have accomplished more than the innumerable appeals which, quietly have been made to the responsible Ministers through ten long years.

The attitude of Governments, towards moral questions is not always a fair reflection of the moral standards of the people. There is manifestly no surgeon at all equal to an aroused public for party and official blindness.

Former Peterborough Citizen is Pres. of London Canadian Club

London, Feb. 6.—The Canadian Club dinner at the Hotel Ritz to-night was attended by a large number of influential people. Mr. F. W. Taylor, the president, who spoke eloquently in toasting Canada and the Governor-General, made an amusing reference to an encyclopedia, "recently revised and brought up to date by a Cambridge professor," which informed the world that the maple tree produced a light, refreshing wine, which was much liked by the natives of Canada, and yielded a syrup, which, when crystallized, supplied the Dominion with sugar.

Mr. Taylor proceeded to criticize the United States in a humorous and sometimes sub-acid fashion, emphasizing the fact that the financial serenity of Canada had been undisturbed during the financial storm over the border. (Cheers.) If Canada had been to any extent unwise, he said, her follies were those of lusty youth, and forgivable. (Applause.)

The remaining speeches glowed with confidence in Canada's future. Admiral Douglas piously hoped the Admiralty would restore a fleet to Canadian waters. They could man one ship entirely with officers who were willing to serve there. Major G. W. Stephens dwelt on the question of transportation in Canada and the development of her terminals. Signor Marconi expressed his gratitude to the Dominion Government, which had been the first to give him practical encouragement. He declared that the wireless system of the St. Lawrence was unequalled in the world. He would spare no efforts to show that the encouragement given him by Canada had not been thrown away.

Mr. Taylor was manager of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal some years ago.

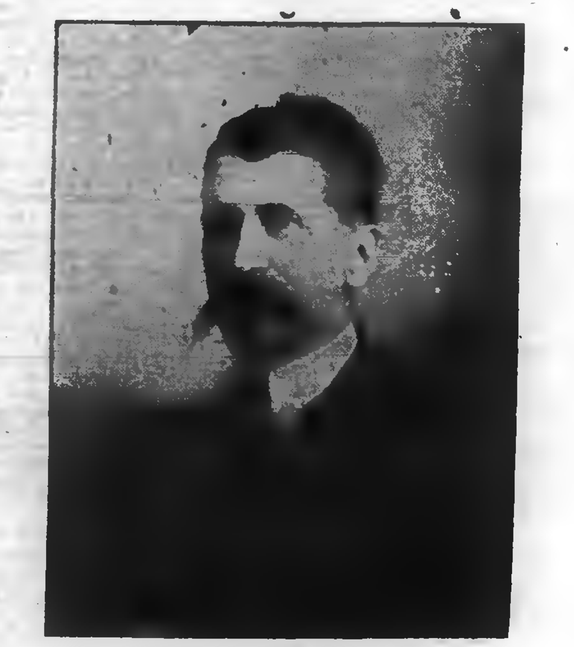
Opening of the Assembly; Function was Brilliant One

His Honor the Lieut.-Governor Reads Speech From Throne.

Fashionable Throng Present—Speech Contains No Surprises — Law Reform a Prominent Feature—Liquor License Act Will Probably Be Amended — Other New Measures Promised—Three New Members.

Toronto, Feb. 6.—The Legislative machinery of the province was set in motion yesterday afternoon, when His Honor Sir William Mortimer Clark, the Lieutenant-Governor, formally opened the Legislative Assembly. The first day of the fourth and last session of the eleventh Parliament of Ontario did not materially differ from the first days of preceding sittings of the House. As in the past, the dignified ceremonial was observed by a large and fashionable gathering, and in the Legislative Chamber the gay dresses of the ladies and the uniforms of officers and consular representatives of other countries lent a dash of color to the scene.

The advent of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor at the Parliament Buildings was witnessed by a considerable crowd of persons, who found the higher temperature of about 16 degrees quite endurable, despite the high east wind which foretold the approach of snowstorms or even rain. Sir William Mortimer Clark arrived attended by a traveling escort of an officer and twelve troopers of the Royal Canadian Dragoons. He was greeted by the general salute from a guard of honor selected from the Tenth Royal Grenadiers and the discharge of fifteen guns, fired by "B" Battery of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery. Attended by his military secretary, Major J. Fraser Macdonald, his aide-de-camp, Capt. Douglas Young, and the commanding officers of the garrison, his honorary aides, he was conducted by Hon. J. P. Whitney, the Prime Minister, to the Chamber. He proceeded to the throne, while the audience stood, and read his address to the members of the Assembly.



MR. T. E. BRADBURN, M. P. P.
Who Is Attending the Session of Ontario Legislature.

Speech From the Throne.

Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:

It affords me satisfaction to once more meet you as the representatives of the people in Parliament assembled.

Our thanks are due to Almighty God that while in some sections of the province the harvest was not as abundant as in the previous year, yet the general interest and activity of our people, displayed during the past year with reference to business and commercial undertakings, indicate continued prosperity. It is also a matter of satisfaction that our province has suffered comparatively little from the financial stringency which has been very marked in other countries during the past few months.

It will afford you gratification to know that the first payment of the additional subsidy from the Dominion, arranged for at the late interprovincial conference and payable under the act passed at the last session of the Imperial Parliament, has been received.

No disposition has yet been made by the Dominion Government of the territory extending northward to Hudson Bay and forming the hinterland of Ontario, but a decision is expected soon.

The work of the revision of the statutes has made such progress that several of the important acts will be laid before you for your approval.

The construction of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway has been nearly completed, the rails having been laid as far as a point two hundred and eight miles beyond North Bay, and about forty miles south of the probable junction with the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway; while the earnings have continued to be satisfactory, and largely in excess of the outlay incurred in operating the road.

Very fair progress has been made in the development of the mining industry at Cobalt and vicinity; and the investigation and working of the Gillies limit have been very satisfactory.

Emigration Problem.

The Minister of Agriculture paid a visit to Great Britain during the past summer for the purpose of investigating the conditions surrounding the emigration problem. While there, he was able to take steps for the careful supervision of intending immigrants to Ontario. By agreement the distribution of immigrants has been taken over by the Dominion Government, thus making it possible for the Provincial Government to devote more attention to the careful selection of desirable settlers.

A demonstration farm has been established at Driftwood River, north of the height of land, in a good agricultural country. By experiments in crop-raising conducted there, much practical information will be gained for the use of intending settlers.

Important documents and reports relating to the distribution of electric power under the statute will be laid before you.

At the request of my Ministers, the Hon. Mr. Willoughby, Dr. Clark, superintendent of the Asylum for the Insane, Toronto, and Dr. Ryan, superintendent of the Asylum for the Insane at Kingston, proceeded during the recess to Great Britain and the continent in order to investigate modern methods of caring for and treating the insane. Their very interesting report will be laid before you.

In accordance with my reference to the subject last year, my Ministers have considered the question of prison labor, with a view to preventing competition with free labor, and the Provincial Secretary and other gentlemen proceeded to several of the prisons in the United States, in order to observe the systems in operation there. The result of their visit will be laid before you, together with interesting and valuable information obtained by them.

My Ministers will propose for your consideration, a scheme of law reform, with a view to decreasing appeals, expediting trials and lessening the cost of litigation.

A bill to rearrange the constituencies of the province, in order, as far as possible, to equalize representation, will be laid before you.

The large increases in the appropriations for the teachers' salaries, additional Normal schools, and various other educational purposes, have received the commendation of the public, and you will be asked now to consider increased appropriation for urban schools. The policy of throwing open the publication of text books to public competition has led to considerable reductions in the prices of school reading books, and it is confidently hoped that reductions in the prices of other books will result from an extension of this policy.

Bills will be laid before you in amendment of various enactments of a public nature, now on the statute book, including the Mining Laws, the Liquor License Act, the act creating the Railway and Municipal Board, the Public Lands Act, the Free Grants Act, the Supplementary Revenue Act.

Owing to the steady increase of settlement, it has been found necessary to create the new judicial district of Rainy River.

Provincial Rights.

A conference has been held with the Dominion Government with a view to adjusting the differences which have arisen relating to the respective jurisdictions of the Dominion and the province on the subject of railway and other companies, and it is to be hoped that a satisfactory solution will be found.

You will be glad to learn that the revenues of the province are largely in excess of the estimates and more than sufficient to meet the public expenditure during the year.

The public accounts will be laid before you for your consideration at the earliest moment, and the estimates for the coming year will also be submitted for your approval at an early date.

Down to Business.

At 3.15 the Lieutenant-Governor's party left the House by the Speaker's entrance, and eight minutes later the Speaker took his seat; the mace was laid on the table, and prayers were said, Dr. Carman standing up during the ceremony.

The result of the new writs for the west riding of York, and the electoral districts of Dufferin and Brockville having been officially announced, the three new members were escorted in, Premier Whitney and J. S. Callagher of Frontenac leading up Albert Edward Donovan, the hero of Brockville; Hon. J. J. Foy and J. S. Duff, West Simcoe, supporting Charles Robert McKeown of Dufferin, and Hon. Dr. Pyne and Alexander McCowan, East York, introducing Dr. Forbes Godfrey of West York.

Premier Whitney moved that the speech be taken into consideration today, and this was carried. Messrs. McKeown and Donovan will orate on this occasion, and it is expected that the debate will be closed this afternoon after the House has heard from Messrs. Whitney and McKay.

A motion to enable the appointment of the usual select standing committees having been adopted, the House was adjourned at 3.25.

Subsequently the ladies adjourned to the Speaker's apartments, where a reception was held.

The House will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Had Stormy Passage.

Halifax, N.S., Feb. 6.—Four days late the Allan liner Siberian, came into port yesterday, reporting a terrific trip of fourteen days across the Atlantic, which culminated in an encounter with Saturday's terrific gale.

From the time the steamer left Liverpool a succession of gales were met with, and one day she only made 81 miles. The steamer shipped an unusually large amount of water, and the passengers were all very sick. During Saturday night and Sunday the steamer had a terrific time.

Buffeted by tremendous seas she pitched and tossed so that passengers nearly abandoned all hope of ever reaching Halifax. There were twenty-five passengers on board, eight second cabin, and seventeen steerage.

Some Moors Still Live.

Paris, Feb. 6.—The Foreign Office is without confirmation of the statement published on Tuesday by a London news agency, that there had been a battle between the French and the Moors near Settat, Morocco, in which 10,000 Moors were killed or wounded, and wherein the French losses amounted to 160 men, including four officers.

It is believed that this report refers to the recent engagements near Kasbah Ber Rechid, in which eight Frenchmen were killed and fifty wounded. Kasbah Ber Rechid is near Settat. Further reports of this fight show that not less than 500 Arabs were killed by the French.

Hired Man Suicides.

Aylmer, Feb. 6.—William Marshall 45 years of age, committed suicide by hanging at noon yesterday. He was employed as a hired man by Harvey Brown, a farmer four miles south of here. While Mr. Brown was in town yesterday morning neighbors found Marshall hanging in Brown's barn. He was an Englishman and had worked for Brown for many years. No special reason can be given for his act. He was not very bright-minded. An inquest will probably be held today.

G. R. T. Conductor Arrested.

Montreal, Feb. 6.—W. F. Bottomley, conductor of the G.T.R. freight train which was run into at St. Martin Junction and killed Engineer Symonds, was arrested for manslaughter. He pleads not guilty. The charge is that he had not protected his train by lights.

Objected to Treaty.

Paris, Feb. 7.—The Chamber of Deputies adopted the Franco-Canadian commercial treaty yesterday by a big majority. Before this action was taken, Alexandre Lafas, Republican Progressist, objected to the treaty on the ground that it afforded no protection to the French shoe industry.

He Knew the Play.

Miss Grace Lane, an English actress, who achieved her first success as Babbie in "The Little Minister," told of her introduction to the author. One night at a Stoke Newington theater the manager told her that Mr. —— was coming round to see her at the end of the act. She did not catch the name and thought that a representative of the local paper was seeking a chat with her. "Very well," she answered and gave the matter no more thought. At the end of the act she found the manager and a small, delicate looking man awaiting her, and, without stopping for an introduction, Miss Lane started talking nineteen to the dozen that she might get the interview over and take a little rest in her dressing room before the next act. "I hope you are enjoying the play," she said when she had finished giving the astonished young man a long account of her private history and her early professional career. "Oh, yes," he answered. "Don't you think it is a pretty play?" she asked. "Quite a pretty play," was the reply. "Did you see it at the Haymarket?" "Oh, yes, I saw quite a lot of it. You see, I wrote it," said Mr. James Barrie.

FEAR TURKISH TROOPS

Infantry Are Being Concentrated on Persian Frontier

Russian Residents of Armenia Becoming Alarmed—Hostilities In Caucasus May Be Approaching—Soldiers Could Sweep District—Emissaries of the Porte Fomenting Disorder—Stirring Up the Moslems.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 6.—Recent advices received from the Caucasus indicate that the Russian inhabitants are considerably alarmed over the concentration of Turkish troops in Armenia and the region seized from Persia, which, it is believed, is designed as a reply to any attempt at demonstration on the part of Russia.

Under the cover of Kurdish tribesmen, the Turks are reported as massing infantry at Bayazid and other strategic points near the frontier in such strength as to dispose of the probabilities that the movement is intended solely against non-militant Persia.

Russia now only has two army corps in the Caucasus, a large part of which is dispersed in detachments through the country to preserve order or engaged in punitive expeditions. An officer is quoted as saying that the Turks could, in case of trouble, sweep the Caucasus and occupy Tiflis in ten days.

Turkish emissaries and spies, it is stated, are to be found everywhere, fomenting disorder, and the Moslem inhabitants, particularly Daghestan, are in open sympathy with their co-religionists across the border.

The authorities here, although admitting the seriousness of the Turko-Persian relations, do not share the alarmist views held in the Caucasus, and declare that the possibility of hostilities with Turkey, over which Russians there are panicky, is utterly excluded. Certain precautionary measures, however, are being taken by the military council, and during the past three weeks all regiments in that territory have been notified to hold themselves in readiness to move at short notice.

BAD WRECK ON M.C.R.

Engineer's Presence of Mind Saved the Fireman's Life.

St. Thomas, Feb. 6.—A bad wreck occurred on the M.C.R. at Ridgetown shortly after 8 o'clock Tuesday night, and blocked the westbound track until noon yesterday.

The wreck happened under rather peculiar circumstances, and only for the presence of mind and strength of the engineer the fireman would surely have lost his life.

The freight was going west about thirty miles an hour, and just as the engine was going over a road crossing near Ridgetown, for some unknown reason it separated from the tender, letting the fireman, Joseph Underhill, fall down between the engine and tender. Engineer John Allen saw the danger, and giving the engine more steam, keeping it a sufficient distance from the tender to prevent Underhill from being crushed to death. Finally Allen succeeded in pulling the fireman safely on deck, and believing he had shut off steam, he called to his fireman to jump, as he was afraid it was going to tip over. However, the engine stuck to the track, and stopped of its own accord, near Mull, six miles away.

The train itself was not so fortunate. It had not gone far when the tender jumped the track, wrecking over twenty cars, piling them up every way, rendering some of them to kindling wood. Most of them were empties, so no merchandise of any account was damaged.

The sand house, which is near the track, was completely demolished, and the water tank, being only a few feet away, but out of commission for some time. Considerable damage was done to the track, breaking ties and tearing up track for some distance. Only one car fell across the eastbound track, so traffic in that direction was not delayed more than an hour.

Engineer Allen and Fireman Underhill were severely shaken up by the fall, but suffered no serious injuries.

Beat Mother to Death.

Yarmouth, N. S., Feb. 6.—A few days ago an old woman named Hilton, who lives at Ohio Village, near here, was beaten by her son, Ebenezer Hilton, who used an axe-handle as the implement of punishment.

The evidence given at the inquest yesterday showed that the son had beaten his mother into insensibility, had dragged her over the frozen ground and kicked her. The evidence also established the fact that the woman had never revived after her terrible ordeal. The jury found that death had been caused by the beating received at the hands of her son, and recommended that the Attorney-General should immediately take the matter up.

Match Would Have Saved Life.

Melfort, Sask., Feb. 6.—Word has been received of the death of Helmar Loftus by freezing which occurred about 25 miles north of here. The victim was out hunting, and was one of a party of four. He got lost and having no matches with him, was unable to build a fire. His body was not found until three days after he was missed, and it was evident that his experiences had been terrible. He was a Norwegian, 28 years of age, and unmarried. He had a homestead in this district.

Rejected; Ends His Life.

Paris, Feb. 6.—Horace Simonson, son of J. Simonson, Brantford, shot himself here last night through the right temple about 6 o'clock and died shortly after.

Deceased is said to have been engaged to a young lady here, and as she refused to marry him he took his own life.

Galt Board of Trade asks for more letter boxes in the town and more frequent deliveries.

Quebec Bridge Disaster Comes up in the House

Country Is Committed to Complete Structure Says Laurier.

Mr. Monk Moves For Committee of Investigation—Health of the Nation — Suppression of Contagious Diseases—Bonuses Paid For Undesirables — Mr. Gervais Introduces Amendment to Criminal Code.

Ottawa, Feb. 6.—No contentious subject commanded attention in the House yesterday. F. D. Monk (Con., Jacques Cartier), moved for the appointment of a committee to investigate the financial condition of the Quebec Bridge Co., and this the Premier granted. Then the House listened for a couple of hours to a discussion by the medical members of the means to be taken to suppress causes of contagious diseases.

A new member was introduced, accompanied by applause from the Liberal side. Charles H. Lovell of Stanstead, Que., was brought in by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Mr. Brodeur, the Speaker, also read the certificate of election of M. Y. McLean of South Huron, and he is now entitled to take his place in Parliament.

Rejected Immigrants.

Alphonse Verville (Maisonneuve) asked if Canada was paying bonuses on immigrants rejected by Australia and sent out by the Central Immigration Board of London.

Hon. Mr. Oliver said bonuses had been paid on 30 immigrants sent out by the board at a cost of £14 10s, but he had not heard the statement of T. A. Coghlan of New South Wales, Government office in London, that all but two of 368 emigrants offered by this board had been rejected "because it would have been unkind to themselves to send them to farm work," nor did he know how many of Australia's rejected had come to Canada.

Mr. Gervais moved the first reading of his bill to amend the act respecting the Supreme Court of Canada. It aims at placing all appeals from the court of review of Quebec to the Supreme Court on the same basis as an appeal from the Court of King's Bench.

Mr. Gervais also introduced a bill to amend the criminal code with regard to the speedy trial of persons charged with indictable offences, the object being to get rid of commitment to jail while they await trial.

Mr. Monk moved for a select committee of seven to investigate conditions and guarantees under which the Government paid moneys to the Quebec Bridge Co., and endorsed or guaranteed bonds of the company and what measues were adopted by the Government to ensure the preparation of suitable plans of construction and proper execution of same, and what security the Government at present possesses for sums already received by and guaranteed to the company.

Cost $12,000,000.

Mr. Monk said when it was considered that the ultimate cost of the bridge would be, at a moderate estimate, about $12,000,000, he was justified in calling for a thorough investigation. He recalled that when the vote was put through the House within a few hours of prorogation, the members were in possession of scanty information.

Mr. Monk went on to show that on Oct. 15, 1903, when the Dominion Government undertook to guarantee bonds of $6,678,200 of the company, that the company had a floating debt of $779,551, and it was impossible to arrive at any other conclusion than that the company was hopelessly insolvent and that the Government had committed an act of a very improvident and imprudent nature.

He showed that as the bridge was absolutely necessary for an undertaking that had been largely financed by the Dominion it was folly to confide the bridge project to a company that was absolutely in bankruptcy. The company, Mr. Monk claimed, was as insolvent to-day as it was in 1903, and it was the duty of Parliament to ascertain exactly the situation. As far as he could ascertain the Phoenix Co. was not in financial condition to face this very large loss. He was told there was no insurance against loss. No one had been found to be responsible, and he concluded that the loss must fall upon the country. The obligation to pay the debts of the company, contracted with the approval of the Government, rested with the country.

Country Must Build.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said as the country was committed to the construction of the bridge, and it was important that a full investigation should be made of all circumstances he readily agreed to the motion, which was declared carried.

Mr. Crockett moved for the correspondence with regard to alleged discrimination against the City of Fredericton in the matter of freight rates. This was granted.

Dr. Black (Hants, N. S.) moved that an organization should be perfected for suppression of causes of preventable diseases. In a speech of an hour he exhaustively dealt with many of the causes of disease which carried off a large proportion of the population. A bureau of health was suggested to deal with this question.

Dr. Black declared that typhoid fever could be eradicated with proper attention given to water and milk supply, and more than one-half the deaths that occurred could be prevented.

Save the Babies.

Dr. Chisholm (Huron) warmly supported the resolution, pointing out the absurdity of spending large sums to bring in filthy foreigners to take the place of our own dead babies when with proper nourishment those lives might be saved. What was needed more than anything else was a commissioner of health, whose duty it would be to disseminate literature instructing people in proper modes of living.

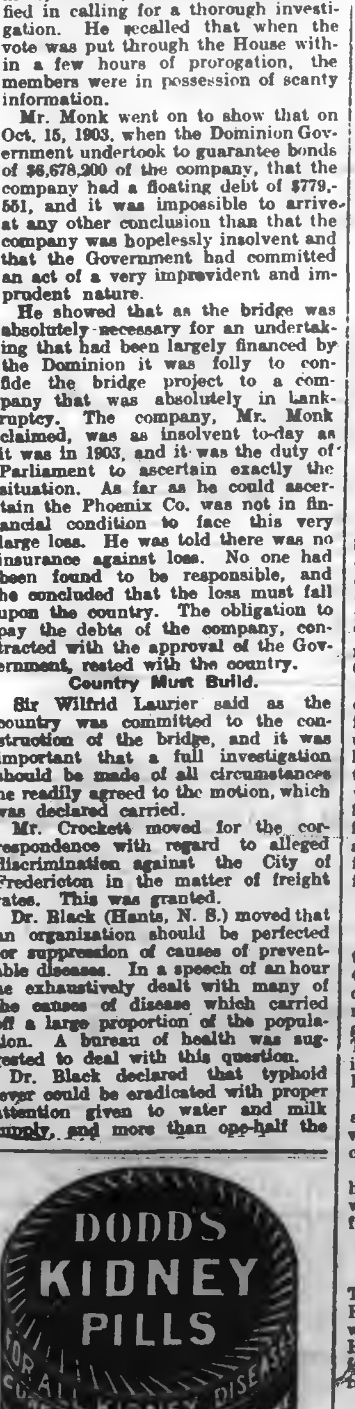
Dr. Boland (Beauce) invited the members to carry on a campaign of sanitation, and the ministers of the gospel to thunder the new gospel from the pulpit.

Bureau of Health.

Dr. Worthington (Sherbrooke) favored the creation of a bureau of health, while Dr. McIntyre discussed the question of provincial control of sanitation. The proposed Dominion board need not interfere with provincial boards, but would rather supplement their work.

Dr. McIntyre declared that the growth of Christian Science must necessarily increase the spread of contagious diseases.

The debate was adjourned at 6 o'clock by Dr. McLennan.



FOSTER'S MOTION REJECTED.

Charged Liberals of Blocking With Technicalities.

Ottawa, Feb. 6.—The sub-target matter was before the public accounts committee yesterday. Mr. Foster renewed his motion to have the proceedings of the committee reported to the House along with the decision of F. B. Carvell, chairman of the committee, disallowing a question which Mr. Foster had put at the last meeting.

Hon. Dr. Pugsley declared that after going carefully into the practice of the House he could find no precedent for Mr. Foster's motion.

Hon. Mr. Foster appealed to the committee not to stand on technicalities and charged the Government supporters with coming to the committee to block the investigation.

Mr. Foster's remarks were objected to as a gratuitous insult to the Liberal members of the committee.

Sir Frederick Borden declared that the animus shown by Conservative members of the committee disclosed their motives. They took particular pains to insinuate what they dare not say.

Mr. Foster's motion was defeated by 17 votes to 30.

Speaker Rules Resolution Out.

Victoria, B.C., Feb. 6.—A resolution introduced into the local Legislature by John Oliver (Liberal), which had for its object an appeal to the Governor-General for the removal of Lt.-Gov. Dunsmuir from office, was ruled out of order.

In the opinion of the Speaker, improper motives were attributed to his honor in the resolution, if not in plain language, by inuendo.

Chaudiere Frozen Over.

Ottawa, Feb. 6.—For the first time in 14 years the Chaudiere Falls are frozen over. It has happened when the temperature was the same as then, 30.8 below zero. The whole descent of water is closed in, above and below the falls, the river is also frozen over. Tuesday night was the coldest in 18 years.

Kingston, Feb. 6.—William Friendship, aged 25 years, an employe of the Cereal Company, was oiling the flaking machine yesterday when his coat sleeve caught in the gearing and his left arm drawn in and mangled up to the elbow. Amputation followed in the General Hospital.

STOESSEL ASKS FOR JUSTICE.

Lays Emphasis on Russia's General Unpreparedness For War.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 6.—Deputy Syrtlanoff, counsel for Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel, pleaded yesterday before the court-martial that is trying the general on the charge of having surrendered Port Arthur to the Japanese for the full acquittal of his client. The speech was in reply to the summing up of Judge Advocate General Gursky for the prosecution Tuesday.

Counsel for Stoessel laid emphasis on Russia's general unpreparedness for war, and said that Port Arthur under Gen. Stoessel resisted heroically, repulsed all the attacks made by the Japanese, and surrendered only when it was as good as taken. M. Syrtanoff closed his address with the following words: "Gen. Stoessel is an old and invalid soldier and he faces his judges to-day asking only for justice."

Parlor Car Burned.

Ottawa, Feb. 6.—The parlor car on the G. T. train leaving Ottawa at 4.45 yesterday afternoon was practically destroyed by fire between Vaudreuil and Montreal. An explosion of gas is supposed to have started it. The passengers beat a hasty retreat into the forward cars, and west of Dorval the car was cut out.

The crew shoveled in snow in an attempt to put out the fire, but in vain, and the peculiar accident will cost the company some $30,000.

The cook lost everything, including his money, while the conductor, in walking to Dorval station, was badly frost bitten.

English Settler's Suicide.

Port Arthur, Feb. 6.—An Oliver Township farmer named John C. France, shot himself yesterday, and was found in the barn by his brother. He was 35 years of age, and came from England two years ago. No reason for his act is known.

Sifton on the Defensive ; More About Timber Deals

Explains His Timber Policy to the House of Commons.

Conservatives Did It and Liberals Followed Their Example—Ex-Minister Avoids Specific Charges—Mr. Foster Attacks Turriff—Importance of Forest Preservation—Canadian Mint Will Issue Gold Coins

Ottawa, Feb. 7.—Hon. Clifford Sifton spoke yesterday on the western land scandals. The Liberal legion made a great noise when he got up, and rattled their desks intermittently throughout his discourse.

The defence of the ex-Minister of the Interior was on lines similar to that presented by his successor. He declared that the Conservatives in the early eighties, alienated large areas of the public domain; that in 1889 the Conservatives changed their timber lands policy, and this amended policy was continued by him. Moreover, there was a large part of the public domain that had not been alienated.

Not a word was uttered as to the charges of tampering with the tenders for the benefit of a few favorites. The Minister relied entirely upon the argument used by previous Liberal speakers, that if there was anything wrong with the system the Conservatives were to blame. Only he made it stronger. From the Government point of view the Minister made the strongest speech of the debate.

Hon. Clifford Sifton.

Mr. Sifton said he proposed to elucidate the answer to the question whether the present Government continued the policy in force from 1881 to 1896 with respect to timber and he observed at the outset that he did not think the leader of the Opposition was justified in drawing the inference that Mr. Oliver had said that the policy was continued.

At the time the timber lands were taken up by Conservatives in 1881-2-3, the route of the C.P.R. had not been definitely settled, and this accounted for the fact that so many Conservatives had given up their licenses. In the past 11 years the present Government had disposed of 6,400 square miles to meet the wants of 90,000 people, while in three years the Conservatives gave away 21,000 square miles to meet the wants of 100,000 people.

Mr. Sifton had defended the settlers in court against the raids of timber speculators. It was 21,000 square miles for speculators and police court for settlers, said Mr. Sifton amid applause. Regarding the claim that under the present Government timber lands fell into the hands of speculators, Mr. Sifton proceeded to show what the duty of the Government was. First of all, it was to see that lands got into the hands of lumbermen. There was the testimony of the Opposition that at least two-thirds of the timber lands got into the hands of actual operators. Then it was the duty of the Government to choose such lands as would be operated in the interest of the settler, and finally to put these lands up to public competition. He repudiated any responsibility as to who the tenderers were, the only consideration being that the timber should go to the highest bidder.

There were so many objections to the policy in force in 1881-2-3, that in 1889 the Conservative Government made a change.

Guarantee of Permanency.

It was the policy of Ontario and every other Provincial Government to give the limit holders every guarantee of permanency. It was good policy to encourage them in cutting the lumber providentially and to ensure protection against destruction by fire.

As a matter of fact, continued the ex-Minister of Interior, very few sales of timber limits had been made in the Northwest. The limits brought from the Government were still in the hands of the buyers to-day.

The limits sold were to supply the people of the Northwest. As to the price it was not just to compare these limits with the white pine areas of Ontario. The fairest comparison was with the spruce areas of Quebec, and according to the statement of Premier Gouin, the Quebec Government between 1888 and 1906 had sold 25,000 square miles of spruce lands at an average of $81.62 per square mile. The sales made in the Northwest compared favorably with this. The Department, under his own administration, had not sold all, or nearly all, the timber in the west,

Forest Preservation.

Mr. Sifton agreed with Mr. Foster as to the importance of forest preservation. He himself had inaugurated a system of tree planting, under which 9,000,000 trees had been planted in the Northwest, although Conservatives fought against the scheme as a "political dodge." Moreover, he had started a system of fire-guarding which he believed had saved more than the 6,400 miles he had sold in 11 years. It had also been his intention to have appointed Dr. Furnow one of the greatest of living forest experts, and he hoped it would yet be possible to get him, or some one of equal ability, so that a system of careful and scientific forestry could be inaugurated in Canada.

Dr. Roche Replies.

Dr. Roche (Con., Marquette) replied He remarked at the outset that it was strange, that in his speech of an hour and a quarter, Mr. Sifton, from whom a practical reply had been expected should have sat down without once expressing an opinion as to the resolution before the House. Instead of generalizing the ex-Minister should have devoted some attention to the real question at issue. "He had taken us back to his police court days," said Dr. Roche, "which were not so long ago, either, as they lasted until his advent to this Parliament. If the hon. gentleman had been as good a financier for the country as he has proved to be in his own affairs, it would have been a grand thing for the country to have had him as Finance Minister."

Continuing at evening session, Dr. Roche said there was evidence of gross manipulation of tenders and Mr. Turriff would have to have an epidermus like a rhinoceros to stand any more charges than have been made.

How Sifton Came In.

George Taylor gave the Prime Minister a little "friendly talk," as he phrased it, and incidentally gave a little inside history of the deal by which Mr. Sifton come into the Cabinet. When Mr. Sifton was asked to fix up the Manitoba school question he consented on condition that he get clear of Messrs. Prendergast, Martin and Greenway. Prendergast was accordingly made Chief Justice of Manitoba. Mr. Martin was appointed C.P.R. solicitor in British Columbia for five years, the C.P.R. in return getting an increased subsidy in the Crow's Nest Pass Railway, and Mr. Greenway was promised a Senatorship, which he hasn't got yet.

Proceeding to deal with tenders for Moose Lake limits, Mr. Taylor said the figures $7,000 in Nolan's tender were not written by Mr. Fraser, nor was the tender signed by Mr. Nolan and Mr. Turriff, who opened the tenders, well knew it. The signature of Nolan was forged: Mr. Turriff had no business to open these tenders alone. The Conservative Government always had tenders opened by the deputy minister in the presence of two first-class clerks.

Mr. Lalor of Haldimand pointed out that only one Liberal member from Ontario had dared to stand up and defend this, namely, Mr. Miller of South Grey, and he would defend anything the Government could possibly do.

No Quebec Liberal member, by the way, had spoken in support of Sifton. It was well-known that the Quebec Liberals were rather disposed for certain reasons to let the Sifton quartette, who had got rich over these transactions, defend themselves. If the course pursued by Sir John Thompson were adopted, some of these non-members would be expelled from the House.

J. G. Bergeron was followed by Mr. Foster, the latter making a vigorous attack on Mr. Turriff, who, he said as an employe of the Government, went into his private office, locked the door, turned all inconvenient witnesses out and adjudicated upon the applications of his brother-in-law and other political friends.

Mr. Foster was still speaking at 1 o'clock.

Will Make Gold Coins.

To Mr. Bergeron the Minister of Inland Revenue yesterday said the proposed bill respecting proprietary and patent medicines was still under consideration.

Mr. Thompson (Yukon) desired to know when the new mint would be making gold coins, and of what denominations the coins would be.

Mr. Fielding answered that if gold of sufficient purity could be obtained from the smelters in Canada the mint would be in operation very shortly. otherwise it might be necessary to erect a refinery. The coins would be the denominations of $2.50, $5 and $10.

Mr. Taylor was told by Mr. Aylesworth that the Government had no information as to how many suits were tried before Mr. Justice Magee in 1905, on which he has not yet delivered judgment.

The judges were not amenable to Government control as to the time decisions may be announced.

E. N. Lewis (Huron) introduced a bill to amend the criminal code by providing for punishment for homicide while hunting. He explained that it was not necessary to show criminal intent. The law provided that if a hunter killed a cow moose or a deer under one year old he is liable to punishment, and newspapers had told of men who had been hunted out of the country for unmanly sport of killing a cow moose by mistake.

No Change In Fleet.

London, Feb. . The Associated Press is officially authorized to declare that there is absolutely no truth in the report telegraphed from Halifax yesterday, that the British squadron in the Pacific is to be materially increased.

HOISTED THE RED FLAG

Revolutionaries Attack City Hall in Oporto.

Scattered by the Police and Several Wounded—Portuguese Have Confidence In New Cabinet—Imprisoned Deputies Are Released—Influence of Queen Amelie Is Feared—Young King Is So Inexperienced.

Madrid, Feb. 7.—A special despatch received here from Lisbon states that revolutionaries in Oporto made a sudden and determined attack upon the city hall. They took the municipal guard by surprise and succeeded in forcing an entry. They then hoisted the red flag of revolt on the big tower. Their triumph, however, was short lived, as reinforcements of police soon arrived and drove out the revolutionaries and tore down their banners. Many were wounded on both sides.

Lisbon, Feb. 7.—A very good impression has been created among the people by the decrees issued by the new Government nullifying the dictatorial repressive measures that still were in force from the Franco regime, and the confidence of the press and the public in the new Ministry is growing. This attitude of the Government was well exemplified in the release from prison yesterday of three deputies, all prominent republicans, who were incarcerated the latter part of January, charged with plotting against the State.

In spite of the present tranquility in the capital and throughout the country and the general optimism as to the immediate future still there are pessimists who believe that revolutionary activity is more widely spread than appears on the surface, and that the situation for the throne is not improved by the combination of a young and inexperienced king under the domination of an adored mother with reactionary clerical tendencies, a make-shift ministry and a premier who is a soldier rather than a statesman. The fact that Franco has chosen a party leader to continue his policy adds to their foreboding.

It is reported in court circles that Queen Amelie is considering going on a visit to Spain or England as soon as the improvement in the home situation warrants her absence. The departure of the Queen, it is stated, would give to the beginning of King Manuel's reign a character of much desired neutrality. Queen Amelie, who is a devout Catholic, has been criticized by the Anti-Clerical party on the ground that her many works of charity were too closely restricted to Catholic ends.

A Republican newspaper of Lisbon says that Franco has transferred his entire fortune to French or Swiss banks, and that his ultimate destination is Switzerland, where he purposes to live with his family.

It is learned that King Carlos held among other insurance policies on his life, one with the New York Life Insurance Co. for $25,000, one with Urbaine Company of Paris for $80,000, and one in a South American Company for $50,000.

ICE DIVERTED STREAM.

Ohio Town Flooded and Three People Drowned.

Dillonvale, Ohio, Feb. 7.—Heavy rain caused the ice in Short Creek to gorge early yesterday, and at the Dillonvale Athletic Park a bank of ice 30 feet high formed. This changed the course of the stream and water and ice covered the lower portion of the town to a depth of 15 feet.

Fifty families escaped from their homes by horses and boats, and it was but a few minutes until the first floors were submerged. Two Polish boys and one girl were drowned.

French Were Victors.

Paris, Feb. 7.—A despatch received here from Gen. d'Amado, the French commander-in-chief in Morocco, says that the column operating on the coast had an engagement Wednesday with the Arabs at a point southwest of Kasbah Ber Rebid.

The French apparently had routed their enemy when the Moors returned with reinforcements and attacked the French camp a second time. This fight was a hot one, but the Moors were eventually forced to retire. Five Frenchmen were wounded.

Life Saved by Rail.

Cobalt, Feb. 7.—Kenneth McDonald, a timberman at the Kerr Lake narrowly escaped death yesterday morning while standing in the bottom of one of the shafts at the cage landing. Owing to mis-signal, the cage dropped suddenly, and came upon McDonald before he had time to get out of the way. He had one of his legs broken near the ankle. Were it not for an iron rail that McDonald held perpendicularly in his hand, and which broke the force of the fall, he would have been crushed.

Clergyman Out on Bail.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 7.—Judge Grossoup of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals granted a writ of error and supersedeas in the case of Rev. Dr. Kaye of Oak Park, Ill., convicted of counterfeiting and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

He has been in the jail annex here pending the action of the higher court, and was yesterday afternoon admitted to bail. Dr. Kaye was born and reared in Woodstock, Ont.

"New Theologist" Coming.

MAN SLOWLY FREEZING.

Terrible Experience of Thomas Crawford—Feet Frozen Solid.

Kemptville, Ont., Feb. 7.—A sad occurrence, is reported from Osgoode Township, Carleton County, as a result of the recent storm and severe cold snap, during which Thomas Crawford of Reid's Mills had his feet frozen solid to the ankles and his fingers frozen to the knuckles.

Mr. Crawford left the home of his son Willie on Wednesday for Greeley. He then started home, going by way of North Gower, Kars and Osgoode. About three miles south of Osgoode Village, at a turn in the road leading to Reid's Mills, his horse got down in the snow. Mr. Crawford unhitched his horse and tried to get to William Hicks' house, which was only about 30 rods away, and found he was unable to reach it, so he left the horse at the fence and returned to the cutter.

This was about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and a fierce storm was blowing. Mr. Crawford lay down beside the cutter and there remained until Monday morning at 9 o'clock, when Messrs. James Moses and William Hicks found him. They had started to open roads on Monday, after the storm, and seeing the horse and cutter ahead, hurried to investigate.

They took the unfortunate man to Mr. Hicks', and did all in their power, to relieve his sufferings. Dr. Ruby of Kars was summoned, and it is not known at time of writing whether the feet will have to be amputated or not. A small piece of bush between Mr. Hicks' house and the road kept Mr. Crawford from being seen.

SON MURDERS FATHER.

Notorious Ex-Judge Shot Dead by His Drunken Offspring.

Jackson, Ky., Feb. 7.—Former County Judge James Hargis, for many years member of the state Democratic executive committee, accused of complicity in many killings, and a prominent figure in the feuds which have disrupted Breathitt County for several years, and shot and instantly killed in his general store here yesterday by his son, Beach Hargis.

The son fired five shots in rapid succession at his father, who fell dead while his clerks were waiting on customers.

The exact cause of the murder has not been learned, but it is supposed to have been the result of differences which have existed between father and son for some time. The two men are reported to have had a quarrel several nights ago, when the father, it is alleged, was compelled to resort to violence to restrain his son.

Young Hargis, it is said, had been drinking heavily of late. He came into the store yesterday afternoon, apparently under the influence of liquor.

Young Hargis was placed in jail. He was raving like a maniac, and the officers were compelled to drag him to prison.

Judge Hargis had long been prominent in Kentucky political circles, and has figured in the courts in the meantime for years, on account of the murders of Dr. Cox, Attorney James B. Marcum and Jim Cockrill.

Mr. Peabody said no action would be taken yet to secure Thaw's release.

Some New Members are Heard ; The Legislators at Toronto

Debate on the Address in Ontario Legislature.

Mr. McKeown Eulogizes the Whitney Administration—"Wise, Just and Honest"—Beck Power Policy—Improve Liquor License Act—"An Era of Progress"—Member For Brockville Makes Good Impression.

Toronto, Feb. 7.—The debate on the address from the throne in the Legislature opened with two spirited and excellent addresses by Messrs. G. R. McKeown, Dufferin, and A. E. Donovan, Brockville. Both new members acquitted themselves with credit and were congratulated on all hands.

Th Attorney-General, Hon. Mr. Foy, has given notice that he will introduce his resolution along the lines of law reform on Tuesday next. This measure will seek to reduce the multiplicity and cost of the courts.

Mr. McKeown opened by alluding to the vacancies which had occurred since the last session by the hand of death. He paid a tribute to the late Dr. Lewis, his predecessor for Dufferin. Proceeding the speaker eulogized the administration as wise, just and honest.

"Under the present rule," he declared, "private vested rights in this province are secure, but any monopoly in the assets of the province to the injury of its people is not permitted." (Applause.)

Continuing, Mr. McKeown alluded to the long term of office enjoyed by the Liberals. It reminded him of the Biblical story of the 40 years of travel in the wilderness by the Israelites. "There is this difference," he added, "that the gentlemen opposite after 40 years of travel are only reaching the wilderness. (Laughter and applause.) The men of old had still another advantage. They had at their head a Moses. Where, oh where, is Moses to-day?" (Renewed laughter.)

The Power Policy.

Mr. McKeown proceeded to discuss the development of the power policy, the most important project, he declared, that Ontario had taken up in years. Mr. Beck's policy was destined to make the province the great manufacturing centre of the continent.

"This Government," announced Mr. McKeown, indicating the Government benches, "is one which has adopted the unique principle in public life today that they are expected to fulfil in power the promises they made in opposition."

He congratulated the Provincial Secretary on his decision to further improve the Liquor License Act, and upon his determination, successfully carried out, to enforce the law without fear or favor. He commended the Government on its position that legal technicalities must not be permitted to annul the will of the people of any municipality when expressed for local option.

Mr. McKeown congratulated the province upon another surplus—"an actual and substantial surplus, one not secured by cutting off the acres of the homestead, or sacrificing the minerals or the timber, but earned by honest business methods—and that," he added, "has not meant false economy."

Prisons and Asylums.

Money had been spent wisely. Much had been done in relieving the condition of unfortunate and mentally weak women and girls, and in improving the conditions of the prisons and asylums. The decision of the Department of Agriculture to extend the work of agriculture and to insist upon the best class of immigration was endorsed.

Referring to the Department of Education, Mr. McKeown eulogized the decision to give increased grants to rural schools, now to be supplemented by increased grants to urban schools. He commended the increasing of teachers' salaries. The teachers had, in the speaker's opinion, the most influential and important avocation. Mr. McKeown's reference to the reduced price of school books was received with applause.

The member for Dufferin concluded by declaring that the Whitney Government had inaugurated in Ontario an era of progress. The numbered ballot was among the antiquities of the province. Other electoral mistakes and misdemeanors were ended and the people had in every sense an honest and worthy Government. (Applause.)

Mr. A. E. Donovan was greeted with Government applause. He congratulated the mover on his address, and thanked the House for the honor done the constituency of Brockville in his selection to second the resolution. He confessed to feeling some temerity over his maiden effort, but hoped it would be more successful than was the initial effort of the leader of the Opposition (Hon. Mr. Mackay) "when," said Mr. Donovan amid laughter, "he came up into Brockville and assisted me in turning a Liberal majority of 169 into a Conservative majority of 320."

The result was not to be wondered at. The Whitney policies were founded upon principle. It was an honest Government, a business Government and a Government that kept its promises. (Applause.)

Help the Workers.

Continuing Mr. Donovan expressed strong sympathy with all legislation to improve the condition of the laboring men. The Government purpose, he declared, was to make all men equal in fair legislation. The legacy of prison labor competition with free labor left by the old Government was, he said, soon to be completely abolished. Mr. Donovan commended the splendid administration of the mines by Hon. Mr. Cochrane and the handling of provincial finances by Hon. Mr. Matheson. "There is a good surplus this year," he declared. "I hazzard a guess that it will be well over half a million."

The member for Brockville concluded with humorous counsel to the Opposition. "You are a body of fine fellows," he declared amid laughter. "But you're going wrong. The engine is headed the wrong way. (Renewed laughter.) It may not be your fault. You have traditions and environment over which you have no control.

"But I have many friends among you and I look for good things from them. Stand by the great public interests of Ontario, demand integrity in the handling of provincial affairs and I do not think there will be any very serious opposition to the honest, business-like and progressive legislation outline in the speech from the throne." (Loud applause.)

The adjournment of the debate was moved by Mr. C. N. Smith, Sault Ste. Marie.

Fatal Vaccination.

Brockville, Feb. 7.—Lorimer Hay, 10 years old, son of C. J. Hay, florist, died early yesterday morning, a victim of lockjaw. At the time of the recent vaccination of school children on account of the smallpox epidemic, the little fellow was one of the number. The vaccination was healing nicely until last Sunday evening, when symptoms of the disease developed and grew worse. He had been playing in his father's greenhouses, and it is supposed a scratch on the hand or arm became inflamed with plant earth.

Say People Will Act.

Seattle, Wa., Feb. 7.—Before taking adjournment yesterday, the Asiatic Exclusion League of North America framed a "memorial to Congress" protesting against the presence of orientals in America as a menace to labor, and suggesting that if Congress does not act quickly the people will take the law in their own hands.

To the Children of Canada Who Honour its Great Men

Here children, is your opportunity. You know how three hundred years ago next July, Samuel de Champlain, sailed up the St. Lawrence, anchored his ship below a beautiful wooded promontory, and founded the city of Quebec.

This was the beginning of our country's history. On those high lands where Champlain's men built their wooden shanties, Canada was born; and it was there in after years that Canada's heroes (French and British) did great deed; there when called upon for God and King and country, they laid down their lives.

It was on those heights, the Plains of Abraham and the field of St. Foye that the fate of a continent was determined. It was on the Plains of Abraham, in 1759, that the brave French soldiers, with their glittering bayonets, at the English infantry, resolute and silent, and the Scottish Highlanders, sounding the pibroch, met in deadly and decisive conflict; when the noble Montcalm and the intrepid Wolfe were wounded unto death. Wolfe, saying as he heard the issue of the battle; "Now, God be praised, I will die in peace;" and Montcalm, as he gave his soul to God, that it consoled him to have been defeated by so brave an enemy.

And it was on the field of Ste. Foye in the following spring that Levis and Murray, brave and true men both, entered into that last close contest for the stronghold of Quebec, when Murray and his men were driven into retreat behind the ramparts and Quebec seemed likely to be recovered by the French, but suddenly the British fleet appeared; and, routing their vessels, left Levis in honorable defeat and Murray in possession.

Now, children of Montreal and of Canada, who love your country and would honor its great men, this is your opportunity. Next summer we are to celebrate the three hundred anniversary of the founding of Quebec, and the Governor-General is asking us if we will mark the occasion by setting aside those great battlefields forever as a National Park, sacred to the memories of our mighty dead, of Champlain, the founder of Canada, and of those others who in war or peace loved their country and their country's honor better than themselves. This park will be named after King Edward, and nothing mean or ugly will be allowed within it, no frowning jail or factory for making weapons of war, such as disfigure it today; but on that famous headland overlooking the river, there will stand a Figure of Peace, which, smiling down from the height to all who come, will say: "This is the birthplace of Canada, of Canada, the home of two races, who came here from the Old World to make the new, and once they fought upon those heights and counted not their lives dear unto them and over one waved the ensign of Britain, and over the other floated the Fleur de Lis, the white banner of France. But out of these throes of war, I, Peace, was born, and now the children of those races live together in one nation, and the torn and tattered ensigns under which their fathers fought are held in mutual honor, while over them both, as Canadians, there floats but one flag."

Children of Montreal and of Canada will you help us do this thing for the honor and love of your country, and for the praise of the brave men of old! Every boy or girl amongst you who can help, you can help by telling of this great national memorial and all that it means to us, you can help by giving a "silver bit" out of your own pocketbook, or you can write for a little collection book and get five people to give ten cents each, making for every boy or girl collector five dollars to bring in. And you and those who enter their names in these little books, will become members of the Quebec Battlefields Association and you will be written in your country's archives, in these chronicles that are kept in Ottawa, as those who helped to give it lustre and to make it great.

And we should like, if we may, to have your photographs that we may show them in our newspapers and so every one may see that the boys and girls of Canada are worthy of the name they bear, that to them their country is their house — that they are building it on sure foundations of sacrifice and duty, and that each of them has put in one little stone to make it more noble, strong and fair.

Advertising vs. Price-Cutting

Competition is said to be the life of trade, and so it is. Competition in merchandise betters the merchandise and creates more users of it, which in turn creates a demand for more merchandise. The ramifications of competition extend away beyond the boundaries of mere business. They extend into every branch of human activity. Every active agent in every human activity is everlastingly striving to outdo other active agents in the same line. The small schoolboy who collects postage stamps strives to outwit the other boy in the acquisition of philatelic pleasures. Later on in life the same boy tries to outdo the same and other rivals in the production of photographs or the collection of post cards or any one or more of a hundred other things. And the name of this active boy (and his sister) is legion.

The changing fashions in clothing; the modern book and picture; the modern play; the modern sport; everything in short, that shows the slightest sign of continuous development is but an evidence and result of competition.

Competitive trade does not only mean rivalry in production or sale of commercial articles for consumption. Competition should include all the efforts of the merchant. Supposing you get a line of new goods shipped to your store and the chap around the corner gets some too. Don't start in cutting prices! Don't let the competition of the round-the-corner-man have that effect. Put all your combative faculties into the art of bringing your goods before the public.

Let your round-the-corner-friend and yourself remember that competition in customer-hunting which is the same thing as advertising, is the thing which will result in benefit to both of you. If you alone advertised it would not reach the eyes and ears of as large a body of prospective buyers as it both round-the-corner and yourself advertised. The more the advertising the more the demand for the goods advertised. Round-the-corner will get some of the trade, and it is only fair and proper. But enough will come into you to well repay you for the fight. And you will have the satisfaction of knowing that the fight was open and above-board and that the victory was rightly, to the best advertiser.

There is little excuse for price-cutting where the trade of a large body of possible buyers exists, upon which can be practiced the art of advertising. Let there be enough competition in advertising and the quality and quantity of goods sold will keep on increasing. But price-cutting wrecks trade and is not fair fighting. In a book reviewed in this number, called "The Making of a Merchant," by Harlow N. Higginbotham, manager of a Chicago mercantile concern which employs seven thousand people, the author contends that a successful merchant is generally a man with the "gift of trade." During his remarks on the subject, he has this on the subject of price-cutting:—"There is scarcely a community in which the really able merchant is not cursed with ignorant and reckless competition. 'Cutting prices' is the favorite diversion of the merchant who ought by good rights and natural endowments to have been a farmer, a blacksmith, a carpenter, or an artisan of some sort."—From the Bookseller and Stationer, April. 1907.

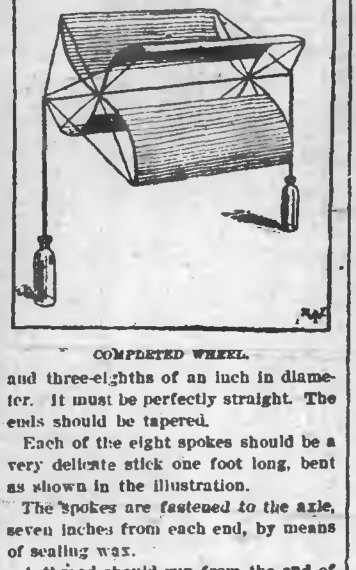
A FERRIS WHEEL.

How to Make a Novel Toy That Works by Sunlight.

Never heard of toys "made to go" just by sunlight? Oh, there are a great many of them. Here is a novel little toy, which, when set in the sun, will work quite well.

Take for an axle, upon which the wheel may turn, a stick three feet long and three-eighths of an inch in diameter. It must be perfectly straight. The ends should be tapered.



COMPLETED WHEEL.

Each of the eight spokes should be a very delicate stick one foot long, bent as shown in the illustration.

The spokes are fastened to the axle, seven inches from each end, by means of sealing wax.

A thread should run from the end of the axle to the end of a spoke, then across to the end of the opposite spoke on the other side and from there to the other end of the axle. Threads will thus connect the different spokes with the ends of the axle.

A thread should also connect the ends of each spoke. All threads should be drawn taut.

Make the paddles of the wheels of tissue paper, 23 by 10 inches. The long edge of the paper should be pasted over the spokes and the front outer edge over the thread.

The axle should revolve on pins stuck into two upright posts. These posts may be made stationary by inserting the ends into small bottles and fastening by means of sealing wax.—Philadelphia North American.

WHAT THE TREE SAID.

How It Calmed the Little Leaf's Fear of the Wind.

Once upon a time a little leaf was heard to sigh and cry, as leaves often do when a gentle wind blows. And the twig said:

"What is the matter, little leaf?"

"The wind," said the leaf, "just told me that one day it would pull me off and throw me to the ground to die."

The twig told it to the branch, and the branch told it to the tree, and when the tree heard it it sent this word back to the little leaf:

"Do not be afraid; hold on tightly and you shall not go off till you want to."

And so the leaf stopped sighing and went on singing and rustling all summer long until November came. When the bright days of autumn were at hand the leaf saw all the leaves around becoming very beautiful. Some were yellow and some were red and some were striped with colors. Then it asked the tree why this was, and the tree replied:

"All these leaves are getting ready to fly away, and they have put on these colors because of their joy."

Then the leaf began to want to go and grew very beautiful thinking about it. And when it was very gay in colors it saw that the branches of the tree had no colors in them, so the leaf said:

"Oh, branch, why are you so lead colored and we so golden?"

"We must keep on our work clothes," said the tree, "for our work is not yet done, but your clothes are for a holiday because your task is over."

Just then a little puff of wind came, and the leaf let go without thinking, and the wind took it up and turned it over and then let it fall gently down under the edge of a fence among hundreds of leaves, and it is lying there now, fast asleep, making a warm cover for a tiny violet that will bloom next spring.—Philadelphia Ledger.

So It Had.

On her return to school little Mary's mamma gave her a double slate. It was the first of the kind the little miss had ever seen.

"Oh, mamma," she exclaimed, turning it with joy, "it has an each side and an inside!"—New York Press.

Little Boy Blue.

"Little Boy Blue, come blow your horn,
The sheep's in the meadow, the cow's in the corn.
Is this the way you mind your sheep—
Under the haystack, fast asleep?"

Little Boy Blue, awake, awake,
And see how merry your charges make.
Through field and garden their course they steer,
And the mischief they're doing—oh, dear, oh, dear!

I see them now, as they wander far,
With never a thought of a fence or bar.
I hear them laugh—I'm sure I do—
As they think of the trouble they've made for you.

Ah, Little Boy Blue, this wisdom keep,
That much may happen when one's asleep,
And he who'd harvest his field of corn
Must keep his eyes open and blow his horn.

GOOD THINGS TO EAT.

Dishes That Are Famous In the Sunny South.

Shrimp Fricassee.—Put a teaspoonful of lard in a saucepan. When it is hot, stir in one spoonful of flour. Stir over the fire until the flour is a rich brown; then add one onion chopped fine and when that has fried a little (but before it browns) add two tablespoonfuls of tomatoes. Let it stew a little with the saucepan covered on a slow fire; then when the tomatoes have melted down add two cups of hot water; season to taste with salt, pepper and cayenne. Let it stand a few minutes before dinner; then put in the shrimps, one or two cans, according to the number of guests. The shrimps will break if put in too early.

Rice is such a substantial and healthy vegetable and yet when served just plain boiled the men in the family generally say, "No, thank you." Some time try the following for a change and see what they will say:

Creole Rice.—Wash one-half cup of rice and cook in a double boiler until tender. Lay two good sized pieces of bacon into a hot frying pan and cook to a crisp, but do not burn. Add to these drippings half an onion sliced fine and brown; then add half a cup of tomatoes and the rice. Season with cayenne pepper and salt and stew together until it has all blended.

A very popular dish of beef, known in the south as "griades," is an appetizing dish that is easily prepared as follows:

Griades.—Take two pounds of beef (the bottom round if possible), slice thin, trim off all the fat and cut in pieces about the size of the inside of your hand. Put one spoonful of lard in a saucepan. When the lard is hot drop your meat, which must be first properly washed, in the hot lard; add a little salt, black pepper and cayenne. Cover the saucepan and let the meat stew, or, rather, boil, for the juice of the meat will boil out. Stir occasionally and let all the juice of the meat boil out. When it begins to get dry stir it till it browns. When it is of a nice brown color, sprinkle in the saucepan about one teaspoonful of flour. When that is brown, move it off the hot fire so that it will not burn and add three or four good sized onions sliced and three or four large tablespoonfuls of tomatoes. Let it all smother with the cover on the saucepan, stirring once in awhile till the onions and tomatoes are all melted to a rich gravy; then add two teaspoonfuls of boiling water and season to taste and let it boil about one hour more. A tiny bit of garlic adds flavor if you like it.

CORSICAN CUSTOMS.

Tragic Funeral Rites—Death Hunters and Improvisatores.

When a Corsican woman dies, she is always buried in a new costume, which sometimes with the poorer classes takes up most of the family savings, and as the heat of the climate renders burial imperative within twenty-four hours the new gown is generally commenced directly the dying person's illness assumes a serious form.

Corsicans reverence the dead, and a feature in a funeral is the "improvisatores," women whose business it is to improvise prose-poetry to the mourners. Often this improvising is wonderfully beautiful and breathes the true feeling of sorrow.

The "death hunters" attend funerals and afterward wrestle with the mourners. If a relative of the deceased gets the better in the combat it is assumed that his affection for the departed relative was absolutely genuine.

When the corpse leaves the house, the women gather at an upper window and, tearing out handfuls of their hair, throw it on the coffin. The rich hire women mourners who scratch their faces and are paid in proportion to the injuries they inflict on themselves in their paroxysms of grief.

A Corsican widow wears a strip of black material tied on her eyes for a week, and during that period she is fed and led about by her friends. No room in her house is cleaned and no fire lighted for the same period.

In the cemeteries are a succession of little buildings with flat roofs and high openings. These are the tombs, and inside them are rich hangings, flowers, poetry and lamps which the mourners place there in remembrance of the departed.

KITCHEN WRINKLES.

Save time when knife cleaning by previously warming the knifeboard before the fire.

Common snuff sprinkled in the chinks round the fireplace will drive away crickets.

To cut cheese smoothly and without breaking fold tissue or paraffin paper over the knife blade.

When the white of a fresh egg is beaten to a froth and added to the cream it will whip much more quickly and easily.

A little fresh grated cocoanut sprinkled over a Waldorf salad (of celery and tart apple with mayonnaise) is a pleasant addition.

Use fine wire for hanging up such articles as rolling pins, chopping knives, potato mashers and pastry boards. The wire loop is perfectly clean.

A few drops of turpentine added to cold water starch or boiled starch will give an excellent gloss to the linen and will prevent it from sticking to the iron.

The flavoring of shrimps is much improved if boiling water is poured over them a short time before they are served. It must be drained away immediately.

The Stuartburn Trading Company's store at Dominion City, Man., was burned with $10,000 loss.

Suggestions for Ladies

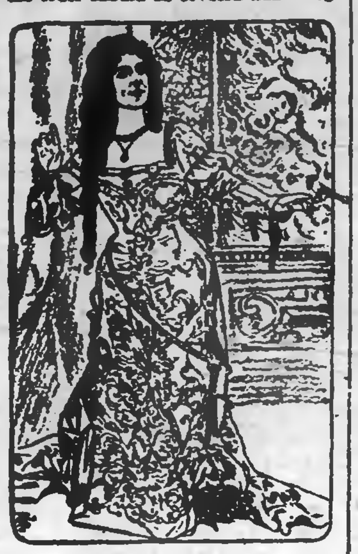
Woman's World

MME. LILLIAN BLAUVELT.

Only Woman Honored With the Medal of the Royal Order of St. Cecilia.

The famous American soprano Mme. Blauvelt, who is declared to have received the largest salary ever paid to any singer in light opera, has had conferred on her the most coveted honor that any artist can receive—the medal of the Royal Order of St. Cecilia, which has never before been bestowed upon a woman and which even the renowned Patti has failed to win.

The Society of the Royal Academy of St. Cecilia is the oldest singing organization in the world, having been founded in 1585. That the degree of the order should be coveted and recognized as alone in exclusiveness its originators decided that the number of decorations conferred by it should never exceed fifty, of which twenty-five should be given to Italians and twenty-five to foreigners.



MME. LILLIAN BLAUVELT.

In more than three centuries but eight persons have received the medal, Mme. Blauvelt being the eighth and the first English speaking person to receive this most signal recognition of musical talent. The events leading up to this presentation are of interest. Mme. Blauvelt was studying in Rome in 1897 when a great musical event was announced, the singing of the Verdi requiem under the direction of the Royal Academy of St. Cecilia. In the quartet were Marconi, the tenor; Nanetti, the basso, and Falchi, the contralto. To find a suitable soprano seemed impossible.

Mme. Blauvelt volunteered to sing the role. She learned the entire part in Latin with the music and sang it so gloriously that musical Rome was at her feet. She received a wonderful ovation, and when a few years later she returned to sing again in the ancient city her previous performance was remembered, and a remarkable demonstration took place in her honor. It was at this appearance that it was decided to present her with the medal of the Royal Order of St. Cecilia, and a few months ago she received the coveted distinction, which she now prizes above every other recognition.

An Apology For the Irritable.

In an age when every one has an inalienable right to nerves most of us have had reason to notice and to deplore the relentlessness with which irritability is punished. Other more fundamental failings come off better. Untidiness is recognised as the fault of romanticists, poets and the whole crew of vague, lovable idealists. Who has not loved a pleasant, large souled liar? Even selfishness may warm a relation and give it a tenderer scope. But against irritation friendship, family affection and even love have hard work to bear up.

This state of things is particularly unfortunate, for the casual stranger does not play upon this weakness as much as our own nearest and dearest, and our own nearest and dearest are precisely the people who find it hardest to forgive, for under its different guises—the patiently overstrained, the carefully explanatory and, of course, the simply explosive—the same suggestion of hostility and criticism is evident, a suggestion particularly trying to those who love us.

"How pale you are!" says a mother to her son and is surprised at the antagonism her solicitude rouses. She explains it to herself as an example of the robust, masculine spirit. It is nothing of the kind. The young man, recognizing in himself an unlimited capacity for worrying over his health, offers under the guise of anger a prayer to his mother not to play into the hands of the enemy.

The victim of irritability should be more merciful in knowing that when not purely physical it has its rise in a sense of our own shortcomings. No one flies out at a demand upon his strength, but at a call upon his already recognized weakness. Irritability belongs to people conscious of their own mental processes, consciously struggling to be something different, whether better or worse, than what they are. It is specially characteristic of that phase of youth when we are all trying to make ourselves over.—From "The Point of View" in November Scribner's.

Keeping Cheerful.

The girl who is born cheerful has a richer inheritance than if she were heiress to millions, for it is a coin that will buy happiness when all the dollars in the mint have failed.

Trouble, after all, is more or less in the taking of it, and the woman with a sunny disposition has a beautiful way of being blind to the fact that there is any around to take.

There is not so much credit if the naturally light hearted and merry girl can laugh her way through the world. She has few temptations to do anything else. She really has not a strong inclination to sit down and brood when her life goes awry.

It is the girl born down in her luck who will have a whole collection of crowns if she can fool her world into the belief that she is of a cheerful turn of mind.

It can be done, too, and so successfully that the girl herself will soon find her clouds are sun pierced.

True, it will take fighting, and hard fighting.

But what of that? Nothing is worth having that is too insignificant to be worthy of a rousing fight.

And surely if there is anything that has significance both to the girl herself and those who are around her it is a cheerful outlook on life and its happenings.

If for no other reason than the selfish one that you yourself are so much happier cheerful than gloomy, cultivate the habit of putting your woes back into the darkest closet of your brain.

Removing Ink Stains.

In two quarts of water, previously boiled and cooled, dissolve four ounces of citric acid.

Add six to eight ounces of a strong strained solution of borax, after which the whole may be put in a bottle.

Then to two quarts of water previously boiled and cooled add three-quarters of a pound of chloride of lime.

Shake and let stand from four to six days, after which strain and add from six to eight ounces of borax in a strong solution and place in a separate bottle.

To remove ink from paper, cloth or other absorbent substances, the composition in bottle No. 1 is applied so as to saturate thoroughly the ink covered spot. A blotter placed underneath will absorb all waste moisture. Rinse out and then apply fluid No. 2.

By the combined use of the two fluids thus described writing inks or other fluids will be immediately dissolved and removed. If ink spot is on paper, the paper can then be rewritten on.

Hold Your Saucer Correctly.

Did you know that there is a correct and an incorrect way to hold the saucer in which your teacup rests? The correctness consists in whether or not it is held gracefully. Watch the women at an afternoon tea, and you will see that not all, indeed few, handle the cup and saucer in the most engaging way. Here is the secret: Instead of holding the saucer with the four fingers placed beneath it and the thumb above the rim, as nearly every woman does, form a half circle with the thumb and first finger, clasping the saucer in it and giving a slight support from below with the third and fourth fingers. A woman who does this may have the largest hands in the room, but they will appear the most graceful and charmingly managed.

Your Expression.

What kind of expression do you wear habitually?

Is it sour, morose, repellant?

Do people look happier when you approach them or do they shrink from you?

It makes all the difference in the world with your prospects for success in either society or business what sort of expression you wear.

The candidate for success should learn the power of a smile not only because it wins friends, but because its power over one's life is immeasurable.

The effort to be always kind, considerate and gentle, no matter what may be ranking in the heart, has a great influence in transforming life.

Cure For Chapped Lips.

Chapped lips come from the drying of the membrane and constantly moistening them, when they crack and become very painful. Sometimes the lips are so painfully chapped that nothing will do any good except a bit of court plaster put on over the cracked part, which prevents further cracking. A bit of self colored court plaster will not show and prevents infection. Sore places in the corner of the mouth touched with alum will afford relief. It smarts severely at first.

A Fudge Tip.

The girl and boy who like to make fudge will find they can give their candy a delicious flavor and make a pleasant variety by using about a half teaspoonful of lemon juice instead of vanilla, or if the candy is not liked quite so acid a little lemon is used with the vanilla.

If you'd thread the lace or embroidered beading quickly after it comes from the laundry, tack a narrow tape to the ribbon before it is drawn out and then pull the ribbon out and the tape in. When the garment returns from the laundry, tack the ribbon to the tape and pull it in as the tape goes out.

Be ready with the pleasant look and the gentle answer, be ready with the kind word and helping hand, and what a world of music you will make around you!

Illogical woman, she never can claim
To argue without dragging in a friend's name.
How strange 'tis that man, formed so wise and so cool,
A soft word from her can transform to a fool!

Young Conservative Club Meeting

Large Attendendance at the Rooms on Saturday Evening

The attendance at the Saturday night smoker of the Young Conservative Club was large, there being fully one hundred and forty present. A very excellent programme was presented. Mr. Roy gave a number of interesting "mysteries." Mr. Bradburn, M.P.P., and Mr. Burnham were present, and said a few words in response to calls for a speech. Mr. Layfield was chairman for the evening. It was thought by many that Saturday night was a good night to hold smokers in the future, perhaps more convenient to a larger number. It is possible smokers may be arranged hereafter with this end in view. Numbers of former Liberals were present and expressed a desire to unite under the Conservative banner for the next election. The chairman addressed the audience and requested earnest co-operation in the club's work for the coming year. The rooms were as usual bright and warm. The music was of a high order, and the generally expressed opinion was that it was the best and jolliest smoker yet held.

The following is the programme:

Piano Solo—J. E. Dickenson.
Stump Speech—T. W. Wilson.
Song—Geo. Chambers.
Mysteries—R. M. Roy.
Song—Geo. Chandler.

THE CARNEGIE LIBRARY

To Editor of The Review.

Sir,—Your editorial in Saturday's Review re "Public Library," was to the point, and on the correct line of reasoning. There is only one thing for the Mayor and aldermen to decide, that is, Will the citizens of Peterborough be satisfied with such a library as the money from the sale of the store presented by the Nicholls' trustees will build? and then raise from year to year enough money to maintain it, less the amount of the income from the present library endowment, which is about $400 per year. Or shall we use the grant from the Nicholls' trustees as a permanent endowment, and accept from Andrew Carnegie $30,000 or $35,000 to build a library building? The one is being independent and satisfied with a small library not equal to the wants of the citizens or the importance of the city; the other is doing as cities all over the Empire and the U.S. are doing. And getting a library that will be a credit to our city, of great use to the working-men and their families, to the students in our Collegiate Institute and Normal school, and to the scores of young men and women who are endeavoring to improve their faculties by reading and practical experiments, and so become the very best type of citizen. By all means let us have the best that we can get in the way of a free public library. And at as little cost to the municipality as possible. Thanking you, Mr. Editor,

Yours truly,

CITIZEN.

Strong Pleas for Support of Educational Work of Church

Two Prominent Members of the Methodist Ministers Preached in Peterborough Churches Yesterday—Large Congregations and Generous Response.

Strong pleas for the support of the educational work of the Methodist church were made at the services in the Charlotte and George St. churches yesterday. It was the educational anniversary of the baove two two churches and the special preachers for the occasion were Rev. J. W. Graham, B.A., Toronto, secretarry of the Educational Society fo the Methodist church in Canada, and Rev. Prof. R. B. Bowles, B.A., B.D. of Victoria University, Toronto. Prof. Bowles preached at Charlotte St. in the morning and at George St. in the evening and Rev. Mr. Graham at George St. in the morning and at Charlotte St. at the evening service. Large congregations were present.

AT CHARLOTTE-ST.

The great necessity for a higher education among the people of our land was forcibly brought home to a large congregation at Charlotte street Methodist church yesterday morning. In the educational interests of the Methodist church special sermons were preached by Rev. Prof. R. B. Bowles, MA., B.D., of Victoria College, Toronto, and by Rev. J. W. Graham, B.A., secretary of Education for the Methodist Church in Canada.

At the Charlotte street church yesterday morning, Rev. Prof. Bowles delivered an earnest and inspiring discourse taking as his text part of the sixth verse of the 4th chapter of the Book of Hosea, "Because thou has rejected knowledge I will also reject thee." In commencing the learned preacher said that to him the present was the most opportune time for awakening a livelier interest in higher education in our land and in the church. Everywhere through our country education and culture does not occupy the place it should. It has been said that the desire for education is the theme of mankind. The speaker referred to the time when books were bought at a very heavy cost, and it was only the wealthiest that could have them. Then education was appreciated. "Nowadays when books are so plentiful and reading is thrust upon us," said the reverend gentleman, "our love for knowledge has passed away." There was a day when the world's greatest scholars begged in the streets that they might buy literature. For so doing they were none the less respected but in the community in which they lived they were honored and esteemed.

"A strong desire for gain and for material wealth is foremost in the minds of the people of today, and they have little relationship for the higher things in life," continued the speaker. "In this commercial age the love for the practical alone occupies the attention and time of the man in business. In our young land of Canada there is a strong tendency to make our education of the commercial type. The motive of parents is to educate their sons to that which will bring them the highest salary. The commercial spirit premeates while the great masters of literature who have something beautiful and instructive to give to people are never thought of. A man is better fitted for commercial and financial success if he invests himself with the higher knowledge. If a man would believes himself as he is and as he recognizes himself before God, he would be more successful in his career." The speaker strongly urged a deepening of our lives, and not a widening for material things. A financial stringency is said to be prevailing at the present time but the learned professor said that to his mind there was a greater intellectual stringency and a lack of knowledge in spiritual matters. The reverend gentleman referred to the far reaching effect of the sentence spoken by Christ, "The Kingdom of God is within not without." A great many religious men are prejudiced against higher education. They have contempt for it. Prof. Bowles remarked that it was the opinion of many that young men entering college lost their religious zeal. This is not so. The college life does not change them. Boys are safer in college than anywhere. Many young fellows who have commenced a college course with ideas of fame and honor have given them all up and are now missionaries in the foreign field. The Methodists in Canada should feel proud of their colleges. They have been considered too radical and revolutionary in their teachings. That was not the case. Theological colleges should not be extreme.

In conclusion, Prof. Bowles urged the people to take a greater interest in educational matters and asked for their sympathy and prayers on behalf of the work of the church. A special collection was taken for educational purposes and was largely responded to.

AT GEORGE-ST.

A most impressive explanation of the policy and need of the educational work of the Methodist church in Canada was given in George Street Methodist church yesterday morning by Rev. J. W. Graham, B.A., of Toronto, the general educational secretary of the church, annd successor to the late Rev. Dr. Potts. Yesterday was Educational Sunday in the Methodist Churches of the city and large congregations heard the addresses. Rev. Mr. Graham's message was listened to with the conviction of a man who thoroughly knows his subject and the earnestness of one who believes in what he says. His message could not have failed to bring conviction to the mind of his hearers.

He remarked in beginning that he did not propose to preach a sermon, but rather to touch upon the salient features of the educational work and policy of the church.

The question of aid to probationers was first referred to and the speaker discussed the former way of making loans to the probationers with which they were expected to repay. The system was not an ideal one and debt was a thing to be avoided, a curse to the church as well as to the individual. "I wouldn't go into debt for any church under the stars,' exclaimed the speaker decisively. 'I wouldn't go into the ministry of any church that would force me to contract debts I couldn't meet."

The Board of Education and the Missionary Board had solved the problem by giving the probationers missionary work in the summer motnhs and paying them for it. It cost more money but it was a much better way to help young men who were studying for the ministry.

The speaker went on to point out the necessity of having the Methodist theological colleges in federation with universities, and explained at some length the advantages of having the future ministers come into contact with a large body of ordinary students. It was a mistaken idea that ministers must be trained in a 'sequestered vale, far from the madding crowd's ignoble strife.' "Bring them up in the storm centre," remarked the speaker.

The need of trained men in the ministry was clearly demonstrated by the speaker, who went on to speak of the way in which the educational work of the Methodist church was being carried on. The Church had colleges in St. John's, Newfoundland; at Sackville, N.S.; Wesley Colefege in Montreal; Victoria College in Toronto; Wesley College in Winnipeg. Alberta College in Edmonton and a College in New Westminster, B.C., In addition there were ladies' schools in St. Thomas, and Whitby, and preparatory schools in Stanstead and Belleville.

The speaker closed with an earnest plea for the support of the educational facilities of the Church. He pointed out that this year there would be an expenditure of $40,000 as against $27,000 last year, while there were 266 probationers this year to 155 in 1907.

The collections during the day were in aid of the educational department of the Church.

In the evening Professor R. B. Bowles, M.A., B.D., of Victoria College, Toronto, preached an educational sermon to a large congregation.

Merchant Has a Grievance

Complains That Peddlers are Going About City Selling Goods

A local merchant called at the police station this morning and inquired if there wasn't a law to prevent peddlers going about the city selling goods. He said that he knew of several persons from Toronto who were here taking orders in the same line of business as he conducted. He did not think that this was right. He thought that the city merchants should have some protection. They pay property and business taxes and a law should be passed to prohibit men from other cities coming here and selling goods. Chief Roszel informed the complainant that peddlers had to have a license to sell but if a man simply went about taking orders and afterwards delivering the goods, it was lawful to do so.

Bodies of Royal Victims Are Borne to the Tomb

Murdered King and Prince Laid to Rest in the Pantheon.

Immense Crowds Pay Last Tribute—King Manuel Did Not Have Place In Procession—No Disorders to Mar the Obsequies — Troops Guard Streets — Ancient Ceremonial Observed—General Mourning.

Lisbon, Feb. 10.—With the church bells tolling continually, the bodies of the murdered King and crown prince, in two golden chariots shrouded in black velvet and drawn by eight hooded horses, were escorted by a glittering funeral pageant on Saturday, across Lisbon to the Portuguese pantheon, and laid at rest beside their ancestors of the Braganza dynasty.

Seven hours elapsed from the time the foreign princes and the special ambassadors of all the powers gathered at the palace for the ceremony there until three salvos of twenty-one guns and three volleys of musketry, reverberating over the terraced and sun-bathed hills, and answered by the British warships in the harbor, announced that the last rites were over.

Not a single untoward incident marred the last act of Portugal's tragedy. The vague forebodings proved baseless, and there is a general feeling of relief that all passed well, in view of the political turmoil.

The great outpouring of people along the line of the procession was noteworthy. They packed the pavements, crowded the windows and choked the side streets. While evidences of deep and popular sorrow seemed to be absent, many stood with uncovered heads as the funeral cars passed, and nowhere was actual disrespect witnessed.

Troops guarded the streets and were massed in numerous parks and plazas along the route; all shops and cafes were closed, and shutters covered the windows of the Ministerial buildings in the Praca do Commercio, where the King and prince were assassinated a week ago.

It was a grief-stricken palace, hearts were turned in pity, and strong men shaken at the scene in the private apartments where the special embassies were received. Neither Queen Amelie nor the Dowager Queen Maria Pia were to be seen, but King Manuel carried himself as bravely as he might, though deadly pale and on the verge of complete breakdown when the ordeal was finished.

The Duke of Connaught, Prince Eitel Frederick, and Infanta Fornindo, in addition to verbal condolences, presented letters from their sovereigns to the King, who was greatly touched at these messages. Tears that were almost constantly in his eyes several times overflowed.

When the members of the court and the special representatives of foreign countries entered the chapel for the last brief service, the King remained behind. Neither he nor the two Queens followed the cortege to the cathedral.

The violent death of his father, it is explained, absolved King Manuel from conforming to the tradition of walking behind the dead to the grave. Nevertheless, his absence and the absence of Queen Amelie and the Dowager Queen has caused universal comment, being generally attributed to other reasons.

Apart from the hearses themselves, which were covered with heavy draperies and trapping of black velvet, bordered with fringes of gold, the feature of the cortege that attracted the most attention was the gilded state coaches of the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, which were reserved for the use of the foreign missions and the highest dignitaries of Portugal.

As the procession advanced through the guarded streets the crowds became denser. All stores and business establishments along the route were closed and tightly shuttered.

The funeral cortege moved more slowly than had been expected, and it was the middle of the afternoon before it reached the church.

The Church of San Vicente is an historic edifice, built in the reign of Philip II., where, in an adjoining wing or royal pantheon, are entombed members of the royal family. It is situated in the old quarter of the town, near an ancient monastery, now the palace of the Primate of Lisbon.

Situated on a height, it dominates all sections of the capital. A group of clergy, headed by the patriarch of Lisbon, awaited the cortege at the steps leading to the church. The coffins were carried from the hearses, and, enveloped in the national flag, were placed on biers in front of the church. Troops formed about them in open square, and now occurred, what seems to many, the most touching incident of the day.

From one side slowly marched a company of men, wearing long black robes and carrying lighted torches. They were members of the ancient sacred fraternity of the Holy House of Pity, organized in the thirteenth century, to which Portuguese tradition has accorded the privilege of uttering the first absolution over dead sovereigns, as well as later of claiming the catafalque and burial pall, which they may sell for the benefit of their charities. Their service is symbolized by disregard for all worldly vanities and by humility.

The chaplain of the order intoned the accustomed prayers while the troops stood at attention and in the distance could be heard the minute guns of the land batteries, to which the British and Spanish cruisers replied gun for gun. This brief but imposing ceremony finished, the primate, with the words, "Requiescat in peace," sprinkled the coffins with holy water, and they were borne by the high court dignitaries into the church and laid side by side on a catafalque in front of the altar.

Meanwhile, the master of ceremonies conducted the special missions, and the diplomats to special tribunes built for their use. The interior of the edifice was draped from ceiling to floor with rich hangings of purple velvet, embroidered in gold. Varicolored jewels encrusting the ebony cross, gleamed in the subdued light of numberless candles, which also was reflected from the jeweled orders covering the breasts of most of the mourners, who filled the cathedral.

The second absolution having been pronounced by the patriarch, a requiem mass was celebrated. The ceremony in the church lasted half an hour, and the coffins remained for some time for public view and were then conveyed to the mortuary chapel adjoining the church, where another mass was said for the repose of the souls of the dead.

The cortege, on account of the ancient coaches, moved at a snail's pace, the three mile journey consuming two hours.

The religious service at the church was very stately. The interior was draped and literally buried in floral tributes. The bodies will lie in state for three days, and then will be consigned to the tombs, in the pantheon.

King Edward at St. Paul's.

London, Feb. 10.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra, the Prince and Princess of Wales, Princess Victoria and many Government officials attended the memorial services yesterday at St. Paul's for King Carlos of Portugal and the crown prince. Immense crowds filled the streets along which the King and Queen drove, and about the cathedral and within were more than three thousand persons, including the members of the Cabinet, members of Parliament and the diplomatic corps.

When King Edward and Queen Alexandra entered the cathedral the band of the Oxfordshire Light Infantry, of which King Carlos was honorary colonel, played Chopin's funeral march, and during the service it played the dead march in Saul.

Archdeacon Sinclair read the lesson, and the Archbishop of Canterbury pronounced the benediction.

The members of the royal party drove to and from the cathedral in closed carriages, and were not attended by an escort.

New Armor Plate.

Rome, Feb. 10.—Naval Engineer Baratta has patented a new armor plate. A composition is laid about a foot thick over a single sheet of steel.

The armor thus made is light, and cheap, and it is claimed that it has remained unperforated by the projectile from the heavy naval gun the Italian admiralty is now experimenting with.

WABASH FLYER DITCHED

Coaches Tumbled Down Fifteen Foot Embankment.

Entire Train Jumped the Track—Trucks Badly Smashed—Two People Badly Injured—Other Passengers Shaken Up But No One Was Killed—Rails Torn Up and Broken In Many Places.

Delhi, Feb. 10.—Wabash flyer No. 1 is lying in the ditch two miles east of this town as a result of a broken rail. The Wabash flyer consisted of an engine and five coaches. She was running westbound and left Simcoe about 9.30 yesterday morning.

All went well until about two miles east of Delhi when the entire train jumped the rails and tore along the ties for a distance of a hundred yards, when the two rear coaches broke loose and tumbled down a fifteen-foot embankment. These two coaches are badly wrecked. They are lying on their sides, and the trucks in some places are badly smashed and torn completely off.

In these two cars there were only six passengers and two porters. One old lady was said to be badly injured, and one man had his head badly cut. Apart from this none of the occupants were severely injured, beyond a bad shaking up.

It is little short of a miracle that all the occupants were not killed, as the train was traveling at the rate of a mile a minute, and these two rear coaches were hurled a considerable distance. The other three coaches remained right side up.

Word was sent to Delhi, and a wrecking train from St. Thomas was sent to the scene of the disaster. No. 6 Wabash, going east, came along shortly after and took the passengers from the ill fated train. Fortunately there was a doctor on No. 6, who looked after the injured passengers on the flyer.

One rail is torn up for a distance of about twenty feet. This rail is broken into over a dozen pieces. The track in another place is twisted, and will have to be taken up and replaced before traffic can be resumed.

THAW SHOVELED SNOW.

Prisoner Must Stay at Least Six Weeks at Matteawan.

New York, Feb. 10.—Harry K. Thaw did real work Saturday, when, armed with a large shovel, he went at the heaps of snow on the walks about the Matteawan Asylum, and for two hours, with a score of other inmates, helped to clear the pathways.

Tiring of the piano and the books which have meant so much to him during his confinement, Thaw asked permission of Dr. Robert E. Lamb, the medical superintendent of Matteawan, to be allowed to do some work that would keep his mind away from his troubles.

"How would you like to try your hand at snow shoveling?" asked the physician.

"That would suit me all right," replied Thaw, and forthwith he was provided with a shovel and went to work with a vim.

Thaw must remain in the Matteawan Asylum for at least six weeks, according to the authoritive statement given out by Martin W. Littleton, his chief counsel, just before the lawyer left with his family to rest in Florida.

Busy Stork Ties Up Paper.

Winsted, Conn., Feb. 10.—The New Hartford Tribune, a weekly newspaper, came out two days late this week because a dual performance by the stork made the getting out of the paper on schedule time next to impossible.

On Monday the wife of the editor, H. Roger Jones, a graduate of the Yale Law School, presented him with a boy, and on the same day the foreman, Lawrence H. Hotchkiss, was presented with a daughter by Mrs. Hotchkiss. Both became papas for the first time, and little was accomplished on the newspaper Monday and Tuesday.

Miss Stone's Ransom.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Miss Ellen M. Stone, the American missionary who in 1901 was captured by Bulgarian brigands and held for a ransom, had a conference with Secretary of State Root to urge him to make a demand on the Turkish Government for the return of the $66,000 ransom paid to her captors for her release. Mr. Root promised to go over the record of the case.

Miss Stone was captured in September, 1901, by Bulgarian brigands near the Town of Djumbala, on the Turkish border.

Police Busy at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Feb. 10—The police again spent yesterday taking evidence against those breaking the Lord's Day Act. Several hundred violations were reported, including restaurants, newsstands, undertakers, and even business offices.

The newspaper offices were again invaded, and the names of those working taken. The summons of those violating the act last Sunday will be issued to-day. The cases are causing a great deal of interest.

Burned Alive by Lascars.

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 10.—Mail advices received yesterday from Hong Kong say that the provost sergeant on the British transport Sicilia, which took the Cameron Highlanders to Hong Kong, was murdered by the Lascar sailors, who burned him alive in a furnace of the steamer.

Treasurer Found Guilty.

Binghamton, N.Y., Feb. 10.—Arthur W. T. Back, former county custodian, who has been on trial here, charged with wrongfully taking $675 of the county's funds, was found guilty Saturday by a jury, which returned the verdict after deliberating on the evidence for over three hours.

RUSSIAN PAINTINGS SEIZED.

Were Exhibited at St. Louis Exhibition—Duty Not Paid.

New York, Feb. 10.—The official Russian collection of paintings that was brought to this country for exhibition at the St. Louis Exposition has been seized by the custom authorities, and to-day the collector of the port issued an order for the sale of the collection.

Permission of the Emperor of Russia was secured to allow the paintings to be sent out of Russia, it was stated Saturday, and a bond of $50,000 was given to the United States treasury department as a guarantee that the collection would be returned to Russia within a certain period after the exposition. Collector of the Port Fowler, decline to give any information concerning the seizure. It is understood that the allowance of time within which the collection was to be returned, having expired, and no duty having been paid, the Government found it necessary to take possession of the paintings.

The collection is said to include some of the best examples of Russian art, and that among the paintings is one owned by the Emperor, taken from the palace in St. Petersburg and loaned to the collection to make it complete.

The order for the sale will not, it is believed, be actually carried into effect until there has been further correspondence concerning the collection between the Russian authorities at St. Petersburg and the Treasury Department. The paintings are packed in forty-six cases, and no statement concerning their value has been obtained.

SUBLIME PORTE BACKWARD.

Not Acceding Readily to Austrian Railway Project.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 10.—Advices received here from Constantinople indicate that the Sublime Porte is backward in acceding to Austria's project of constructing a railway connecting the Austrian line through Bosnia, with the Turkish line to Salonica through the district of Novipazar which is opposed by Russia.

It is surmised here that the project, on this account, will be deferred for some time, as the Turkish territory has been depleted of resources.

The British proposal to create a flying column of gendarmerie to be commanded by Europeans and charged with the task of stamping out marauding bands in Macedonia, mentioned in King Edward's throne speech, has not met with favor from Russia on the ground that previous undertakings of a similar sort in Egypt and Crete have not proved effecacious, and have entailed a vast amount of trouble for the native population.

Douma Cools Down.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 10.—Prof. Paul Milukoff's recent address in New York continues to monopolize attention. Copies of the address and also the New York papers of Jan. 15 are in great demand. A perusal of the original text, however, has considerably modified the prevalent excitement, and several of the Octoberists now declare that the speech is practically without reproach and gives no opportunity for the further hounding of Prof. Milukoff.

Prince Mestchersky, the editor of The Grashganin, in an article in that paper, rebukes the Douma in scathing terms for its action with reference to M. Milukoff, saying:

"The schoolboyish demonstration on Friday is another proof of the lack of brains and the lack of sense in the third Douma, which truly does not possess a single sound Conservative or Octoberist Leader."

One of the principal grievances against M. Milukoff consists in a widespread idea that the brilliant reception which he met with in Washington might serve to counteract the movement in favor of a Russo-American alliance, which is supposed to have begun at the time of Secretary Taft's visit to St. Petersburg. M. Milukoff's appeal to the American people for sympathy for his cause also has met with bad temper here.

Indian Badly Frozen.

Mariposa, Feb. 10.—Jerry Shilling, Indian, celebrating at Lindsay, returned to Mariposa on a belated train at 11 p. m. in an intoxicated condition with several white companions and started for an Indian camp about a mile from the station. When about half way home he lay down and was not discovered till nine o'clock yesterday morning. Dr. Dale of Oakwood was summoned and found both his hands, feet and ears frozen solid. Amputation will be necessary. The thermometer registered 10 to 15 degrees below zero.

A Michigan Bank Closes.

Detroit, Feb. 10.—A bulletin from Dowagiac, Mich., says:

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 10.—A special from Greenwood, Miss., says:

The jury before whom Dr. J. W. Kirby has been on trial for the past two days, charged with the killing of James D. Money, Jr., a nephew of United States Senator Money, returned a verdict of "not guilty."

Mr. Jas. Williamson of North Bay Injured by Fall on Slippery Pavement—Four Stitches Required

On Saturday night on George street south, just above Lake street, Mr. Jas. Williamson, of North Bay, concerning whose experience with an amicable bruin an ite mappeared in Saturday night's Review, met with an accident that was an extremely painful one.

He was out walking with a local young man when he stepped on a slippery portion of the pavement and and fell, his head striking the hard ice on the side of the pavement. A serious scalp wound was inflicted, causing the blood to flow freely. Mr. Williamson, while stunned by the fall, did not lose consciousness. His friend knotted his own and the injured man's handkerchief together to form a bandage, and a street car was taken to a physician's office, where the wound was dressed.

Fine Day, First in Long While

For the first time, it's almost impossible to say how long, we are having real congenial weather. The probs call for a milder turn to-morrow, and it's to be sincerely hoped that we have had all the real cold weather in a lump. It has been so bitterly cold lately that the Arctic like temperature has become extremely motonous.

Drummond's, Feb. 10.—On Sunday morning fire broke out in the residence of Mr. Robt. Carey, postmaster at Drummond's Station. Mr. Gearey's hous eand practically all his furniture, his driving sheds and all his implements were burned.

The blaze started between one and two o'clock, and Mr. Carey was in the house alone. As there were no means of fighting the fire it had to be allowed to take its destructive course.

The damage is very heavy, but the loss cannot yet be estimated. The cause is unknown.

New Feature in Connection With Church Work in City

Something new in connection with the church life of Peterborough was the installation of the officers, teachers and workers of the Sunday school of St. Paul's church at the morning service yesterday. It was the first time that such a ceremony had been observed in Peterborough and it proved exceedingly impressive. A large congregation was present, and the service was unusually interestinging. The installation ceremony consisted of a responsive service, conducted by the pastor and shared in by the S.S. superintendent, teachers and congregations. Leaflets with the service printed upon them were distributed. The responses included a workers' covenant and a parents' covenant. The hymns were appropriate for the occasion and were sung with heartiness.

The officers and teachers occupied front pews which had been reserved for them.

The officers and teachers of St. Paul's Sunday school are as follows:

Superintendent—Mr. Wm. Madill.

Former Peterborough Boy Honored in Vancouver

The following is from the Vancouver Daily Province;

The proudest moment in his life, declared Mr. H. W. Kent, general superintendant of the B.C. Telephone Company occurred shortlyy after five o'clock last night, when he was surprised by a deputation of over one hundred of the employees of the company who presented him with a magnificent roller top desk, an office chair and most prized of all a handsomely bound address of appreciation signed by all the Vancouver employees of the company.

Mr. Kent, who today severs his long connection with the B.C. Telephone Company was completely taken by surprise. He made a speech, expressive of his great and a heartfelt appreciation of the evidences of esteem on the part of his fellow workers, but so great was his feeling in the matter that five minutes after ward he was not sure that he had properly presented his thanks.

Next Tuesday Mr. Kent will leave for Toronto, Peterborough, Montreal, New York and other eastern cities on business connected with his private affairs. He expects to be absent from Vancouver about six weeks

Mr. William Farrell, director of the B.C. Telephone Company, today stated that no appointment in succession of Mr. Kent had been made, nor is one likely to occur, for some time. It is understood that Mr. G. H. Halse will direct the executive affairs of the company upon the retirement of Mr. Kent.

Young Man Slept Out in Cold And Was Rescued by Police

One young man of this city has two small boys to thank that to-day he is alive and able to work. On Saturday evening about eight o'clock two young lads were passing through the market arcade and outstretched on the floor exposed to the severe cold they saw a young man. Unable arouse him and realizing that if he was to lie there very long he would surely be frozen to death, they ran to the Police Station and informed P. C. McGinty of the affair. P. C. McGinty went to the market and found the young man in a drunken stupor. He picked him up and brought him to the station where he was placed in a warm and comfortale cell. When he awakened yesterday he was allowed to go home and this morning appeared before Magistrate Dumble. He pleaded guilty to being drunk in a public place and paid a fine of two dollars. He said that he had learned a good lesson and hoped that he would never agian have such an experience.

Horses Broke Through Ice

Mr. Richardson of Peterborough Nearly Lost Valuable Team

A Burleigh despatch says; The services of Mr. Harry Edmison of Peterborough, have been secured to fill the position of teacher for the Deer Bay Public school.

Mr. Richardson of Peterborough has bought the Connor Limits. He had a very narrow escape from losing a valuable team of horses. The ice broke through letting the horses into the river. Help was called from one of the neighboring camps. One of the horses has not yet recovered from the effects of its bath.

SLIPPED AND BROKE HIS LEG

Mr. Wm. Redmond Had Painful Accident When Returning From Church

When returning from the eight o'clock service at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning, Mr. Wm. Redmond, who stops at the Cavanagh House, was the victim of a painful accident. He was crossing to Rubidge street, and when going down a small embankment he slipped. The Dan Spence ambulance was called, and Mr. Redmond was removed to his boarding house. Dr. Halliday was summoned and upon examination found that the old gentleman's left leg was broken near the hip. He was afterwards removed to St. Joseph's Hospital, where it is reported that he is progressing favorably.

C.P.R. TRAINS VERY LATE ON SATURDAY

Double Header Freight Left Track at Burketon—Trains Delayed Many Hours.

The trains are all running on schedule time today. However on Saturday night the C.P.R. trains were very late. Early Saturday morning a double header freight with light coal cars left the track at Burketon. Every car was derailed and it was not until late Saturday evening that the road was cleared. Great difficulty was experienced in getting it back on the track, as the snow was drifting terribly and made a great deal of extra labor. The eight o'clock morning local was stalled in Myrtle all Saturday, and the noon express did not reach here until 11 o'clock Saturday evening. The other trains were also several hours behind time.

The G.T.R. trains were all running and considering the unfavorable weather made very good time.

Lakefield Sore on Grand Trunk

Board of Trade Urged to Take up Recent Incident

The passenger train scheduled to leave Peterborough for Lakefield at 12.20 on Wednesday last, and at 8.30 a.m. on Thursday, did not run. It is understood that the Lakefield engine was sent to Port Hope. Quite a number of people were seriously inconvenienced, about twenty persons having left here on Wednesday morning for Peterborough intending to return on the noon train that day, and the expressions of some of the disappointed ones, when they found the position they were in, either having to stay in Peterborough until a train should be run or face a long drive in the very severe weather, were not of the drawing room variety. The News is informed that claims for the damage suffered will be put in by some of the passengers. It appears than the track between Lakefield and Peterborough was clear and that a train would have been run as usual on Wednesday had the engine been available. It is high time that Lakefield should see that action is taken to prevent reoccurrences of such treatment at the hands of the company. Is it not the duty of the company to have engines to take care of extra work arising without taking off regular scheduled trains, to the annoyance and injury of passengers who purchase tickets relying upon the representations in the timetable that certain trains will be run. Here is work for the Board of Trade!—Lakefield News.

THE RING

Great interest is being taken in the Burns-Palmer fight today. The Canadian is looked upon as a sure winner. If it is possible to get the returns they will be bulletined in front of the Review.

London, Feb. 9—Tommy Burns, the Canadian heavyweight pugilist, who will meet Jack Palmer, of Newcastle tomorrow, for the heavyweight championship has been forced to forego a part of his usual training during the past week on account of a severe cold and a strained tendon in his right foot, but he is confident of his ability to make short work of his opponent.

The Canadian is still a strong favorite in the betting. Even the north country men who are noted in the way in which they will back an Englishman against a foreign fighter are asking long odds before they lay their money. They have asked, however, to place $5,000 at 2 to 1 that Palmer will stay six rounds, Burns' backers have not taken this bet, but Burns nevertheless believes that the fight will not last longer than that. He said today that he intended to make the contest as short as possible, as he has engagements to give a number of exhibitions next week, and must get into shape again for the fight in Dublin with Jem Roche, the Irish champion, on March 17, for which Richard Croker the former Tammany leader, and one of the backers of Roche, is returning from Egypt.

NEW VESTRY IS OPENED AT ST. JOHN'S

Handsome Addition to New Edifice is Greatly Admired.

The new vestry of St. John's church was opened yesterday. At the morning service the rector, Rev. Canon Davidson referred to the fact that the vestry had been completed and referred to Architect John E. Belcher, the designer and supervisor in kindly words. Mr. Belcher, it is not generally known to the public, kindly contributed his services to the church gratis. The recently added vestry, is of handsome design, its interior being in exact keeping with the main church building and is of massive as well as ornamental build. In it is a handsomely illuminated stained glass window. It is inserted to the perpetual memory of Architect Belcher and contains the Belcher family crest This vestry cost in the neighborhood of $2,775 which is paid for with the exception of $1,000. Rev. Mr Davidson in his address referred to the financial standing of the church, which considering the great improvements and additions is satisfactory. A large number of the congregation accepted the rector's invitatioon and inspected the new vestry.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Belcher by the church wardens.

BAD MINING DISASTER

Explosion Kills Ten Men in Nova Scotia Coal Mine.

Miners Crushed to Death by Falling Shale From Roof—Bodies All Recovered — Cause of Explosion a Mystery — Mine Not Damaged—Victims Mostly Foreigners — Coroner Orders Inquest.

Port Hood, N.S., Feb. 8.—At half-past seven yesterday morning, shortly after the men had gone to work, an explosion occurred in one of the southern levels on the Port Hood mine. The news spread rapidly. Much anxiety was felt throughout the town by relatives and friends of workmen in the pit.

Manager McLellan organized and headed the rescue party and proceeded immediately to the scene of the disaster. It was then discovered that all occupants of the room had been instantly killed. The position of the bodies when found indicated that the men did not receive a moment's warning. In the hands of some were pickaxes, augers and other working tools, held firmly in the death grasp. Of ten men killed, six were miners, natives of the town and neighboring districts, and four were Bulgarians.

The miners were all young men, married, except one, and left widows and in some cases children. About 1 o'clock all the bodies had been recovered and brought to the surface. Considerable difficulty was experienced in identifying them, so charred and disfigured were they from the force of the explosion, but the clothing enabled the relatives to identify the bodies. They were laid out in a room in the company's office, which had been improvised into an undertaking room, and the scene was indeed pitiful.

All the employes of the mine stood around with voices hushed. It was the first accident at the mine attended with serious loss of life and its awfulness made a deep impression. The officials did everything possible to show their sympathy and consideration for the feelings of the employes and relatives and friends of the deceased.

Coroner Cameron empanelled a jury and proceeded to hold an inquest. After hearing evidence of identification, he ordered the bodies to be interred and adjourned the inquest, awaiting the arrival of the deputy inspector of mines. A committee of the P.W.A. took charge of the remains after the inquest adjourned. There is considerable speculation as to the cause of the accident, whether done by gas or powder. The mine is practically uninjured.

Those killed in the explosion are: John Campbell, who leaves a wife and three children; Duncan R. McDonald, leaving a wife; Malcolm Brown, leaving a wife and one child; Lauchlin Gillis, leaving wife and two children; Allan R. McDonald and Willie McKenzie, single, and four Bulgarians, all married, leaving families of two and three each.

Charged With Murder.

MacLeod, Alta., Feb. 8.—The preliminary trial of Maximi Pilyezuk, alias Mike Phillips, charged with the murder of Monte Lewis, a resident of the red light district at Blairmore, in November, was heard before Inspector Starnes of the R.N.W.M.P. on Thursday. The case was remanded until Thursday next, the prisoner being brought to MacLeod for safekeeping. Meanwhile it is likely that a special sitting of the court will be applied for in order that the trial may not be long delayed. The crown produced the blood-stained knife with which the crime was committed. The details of the crime are said to be particularly atrocious.

Nearly three years ago a rancher named C. R. Johnson was arrested here, charged with cattle-killing, and was placed in the Mounted Police guard-room to await his trial. Before that took place, however, it is thought that with the connivance of a guard he made good his escape. He is now in custody at Great Falls, Montana, and will, it is thought, return without fighting extradiction. The case promises to be one of the most sensational in the history of the district.

Stole From Friend In Jail.

Ottawa, Feb. 8.— A unique case has arisen here wherein a prisoner in jail accuses a friend at liberty of theft committed during the time the plaintiff was in jail. Ada Williams, serving a six months sentence in default of $50, was visited by a friend. The prisoner told the visitor where $45 was concealed in her home, and told the visitor to get it and with $11 extra which sha gave her, to pay the fine The visitor got the $45 in the place designated, but did not return for a week, and upon doing so told the prisoner that she might stay in jail as the visitor had no intention of paying the money for her release.

Trouble Brewing in the East; Troops Being Sent Forth

Russia Moves Large Army to Persian Frontier.

Alarmed at Turkish Penetration of Persia—Funds Voted by Douma—$10,000,000 For Floating Batteries—War Regarded as Imminent in the Spring — Turkey Making Preparations For Sharp Conflict.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 10.—The Russo-Turkish relations have entered upon a menacing phase. Alarmed at the unchecked Turkish penetration of Persia, and the mobilization in Armenia, the Russian Government has decided to execute a formidable military demonstration in reply on the Turko-Persian frontier despatching there a compact expedition of 60,000 select troops from Central Russia, with full war equipment, and it is acting with uncommon rapidity with a view to overaweing the Turks by a decisive exhibition of force.

The War Office has drawn up plans of the expedition, and submitted them hurriedly for legislative enactment to the Douma on Friday. The committee on national defence assembled in a virtually closed session. A representative of the War Office briefly and impressively outlined the Turkish preparation, of which Russia is fully informed, and asked for an open credit for the maintenance of an army of 60,000.

He met the possible arguments of economy by saying that Russia had expended blood and treasure in Manchuria in vain, owing to the initial backwardness in armament. The empire's prestige in the middle east, he said, is now also in the balance, and Russia must be prepared to defend it.

M. Guchkoff, leader of the Octobrist party, in a speech, said that the majority in the Douma were Russian patriots and willing to part with their "last shirt" to defend the fatherland. The committee in a high pitch of patriotism passed the appropriation unanimously. At the same session the War Office obtained sanction for a further item of $10,000,000 to create floating batteries along the Baltic coast, which, owing to the weakness of the navy, is at the mercy of Germany.

Situation In Balkans.

Rome, Feb. 10.—The situation in the Balkans, which suddenly has attracted attention here through the reported recall of Prince Ourosoff, Russian Ambassador to Austria-Hungary, seems to be graver than official statements make it appear,

Austria and Germany charge that Russia is trying to obtain revenge for her failure in the far east by turning her attention to the near east, and is resuming her ancient traditional policy of aiming at Constantinople. It is further asserted by officials of these Governments that she is helped in this above board by France, and secretly by Great Britaind, the latter thus opposing German influence.

Russia has emphatically declared that it would be impossible to tolerate the carrying out of the proposed plan for the construction of railways in the Balkans, and as announced by Baron Von Aehrenthal, the Austria-Hungarian Foreign Minister, as this would mean, under the guise of commercial interest, a practical Austrian supremacy throughout the Balkans. Indeed, it would mean Austria's reaching Salonica, and Russia remarks, this would be equivalent to having Germany at Salonica.

However, it is believed here that if a conflict breaks out that it will not be between Russian and Austria, but between Russia and Turkey, the latter being accused of favoring the Austrian plans under German influence.

The Popular Romano goes as far as to chronicle the rumor that a Russo-Turkish war is likely to occur in the spring. Turkey has been making preparations, for she now has in Macedonia 100,000 of her best troops, officered to a great extent by Germans.

Ambassador Not Recalled.

Vienna, Feb. 10.—The foreign office yesterday denied the report that the Russian ambassador to Austria-Hungary, Prince Ourosoff, had been recalled by his Government. The ambassador is getting along in years, and is in delicate health, and has asked and received permission from his Government to go home or to some southern resort as soon as the weather and his health permits him to travel.

London, Feb. 10.—It looks as though there would be a great legal struggle for The Times newspaper. A syndicate representing the owners of several minor interests in the paper has been formed with a capital of $4,250,000.

CHINA HALL FOR DINNER SETS

LEARN DRESS-MAKING BY MAIL In Your Spare Time at Home

We want our course to be in every home in Ontario where there are ladies, so have decided to give, direct to the public our improved $15 course in dressmaking, including our Ladies' Tailor System for wholesale price, $5.00.

As there are a large number of people, especially dressmakers say you cannot learn by mail we will send system and first lesson (which teaches how to make a perfect fitting waist) registered to any address in Ontario. After you are satisfied you can learn, send $5.00 and we will forward full course of lessons. Please do not send unless you wish to learn dressmaking; we are so sure anyone can learn that we guarantee to give $500 to anyone we cannot teach.

These lessons teach how to cut, fit and put together, any garment from the plainest shirt waist suit to the most elaborate dress. This is the only course in Canada that the whole family can learn by one member taking it up. We have been in business for ten years, have taught over 7,000. Beware of imitations, as some have been known to copy our advs. and even claimed where they were not known to be the inventor of this course. No adv. is genuine without our $500.00 guarantee.

THE EXAMINER'S DILEMMA

Our esteemed contemporary in its Saturday evening issue, flies into a passion in three rapid-fire interrogations:—"Why does he invite the public to remember the particular date on which the article appeared? Before what tribunal is the Examiner to be haled? Who is to be the judge?" This reads ominously like the well-known address of Serjeant Buzfuz in Bardell v. Pickwick, but it really all refers to a letter written by a correspondent, who signed himself "Temperance" in the Review of last Friday. In our correspondent's letter the Examiner is accused of "backing up the liquor traffic." Now the Examiner replies to this accusation by saying that its article (more than a column long) was "practically a quotation of comments by Saturday Night and Mr. Goldwin Smith, giving, as announced, the other side of the question in reference to reduction of licenses in Toronto." But the Examiner does not do our correspondent justice. Its alleged "quotation of comments" was preceded, as we find on looking it up, by half a column of editorial of its own, which is, we suppose, the ground upon which our correspondent based his conclusions, largely. The Examiner should remember the fate of the poor man who endeavored to sit on two stools at once and the same time. He fell between, and then, of course, blamed somebody else. As the Spoceleman says, "there's somethin' ridiculous about it," and that is true enough. Nor does it help our contemporary, we venture to think that it winds up its objurgation by using slang. To "spot" people is not English as yet. Then again, if Mr. Goldwin Smith should see the Examiner, and somebody is sure to be mean enough to send it to him, he will see himself quoted at length. What will he think? What could any sane man, whether "Temperance" or otherwise think? The only thing the Examiner can do now is to hurry forward a batch of articles on the temperance question, quoting F. S. Spence, Rev. J. G. Potter and the W. C. T. U. Even this may not convince its readers of its even-handed impartiality, but it could scarcely make it appear more unfortunate than it does at present. To head its attack upon our contemporary, "A stupid correspondent" is not worthy of the occasion, and when we consider that just beside it in the next column is an essay on the Sabbath day, we feel like asking "Is this Rip-the-Dyke come to life again?" Had the Examiner endeavored to show "Temperance" that it had been misunderstood and that it really agreed with him in his advocacy of temperance, it would have been easy enough to do so. Consequently its reply to "Temperance" will probably confirm our correspondent in his (or her) view that it did really "back up the liquor traffic" in its lead article as alleged. Beyond seeing that justice is done, we do not wish to interfere in this controversy further and shall, with this explanation, leave it in the future, at any rate in the immediate future, to the two antagonists already in the field, "Temperance" and the Examiner.

EDUCATION

Rev. Mr. Graham, the secretary for Education of the Methodist Church in Canada, successor of the late Rev. John Potts, D.D., preached last evening in the Charlotte street church upon the necessity of college training for the young men of the ministry. He emphasized in a very practical and yet eloquent manner the great desirability of system and order in the knowledge and acquirements of those who would teach and lead. It is impossible otherwise to convert the educated but pagan portion of mankind either at home or abroad. Rev. Mr. Graham described life at Victoria College in Toronto, one of the many colleges gathered under the wing of the University of Toronto, and pointed out the splendid opportunities and good influence of men gathered together in one large residence. Living in lodgings or boarding houses is not nearly so acceptable to a man with few acquaintances in a city, as living in a great and well equipped residential lodging house. Then too the spiritualizing influence of such a manner of living is much greater than that of any other. Hence infidelity or indifferentism is disappearing rapidly from college life. Indeed it is from colleges that the supply of missionaries is really drawn, and it is well that it is so for otherwise it would be impossible to win for Christ foreign leaders of men who sway powerfully those under them in their opinions. The preacher combatted the supposition that simplicity of faith and mind were found only in those uneducated and ignorant. Those who knew most were always ready to confess that their knowledge showed them how much there was yet to learn. It is only those with a limited horizon who make the mistake of self-sufficiency. He closed an eloquent and broad-minded discourse with an appeal for contributions which was readily responded to. This is par excellence the age of training. The man who best knows how to play his part in life is he who plays it best. For the young man with hasy ideas and an untrained mind there is little scope and while the demand for scientifically trained men is much greater than the supply, the supply of untrained men is always greater than the demand.

LAW REFORM

What the poor lawyer is going to do after Hon. J. J. Foy gets through with his Law Reform Bill it is hard to guess. He will have to go out into the wide, wide world and labor with his hands. It is a gruesome prospect. In the shortening of the list of possible appeals as indeed in its other features also the new bill will receive popular commendation. An ordinary action at present may be possibly before the trial judge, where upon the legal adviser of the indignant loser interviews Divisional Court of three judges at Toronto. After this the court of appeal a still more formidable array of legal authorities may have an opportunity of hearing the case. However, after that, if the parties to the suit have any more money the Supreme Court at Ottawa and the Privy Council of England may be interviewed by the opposing counsel. It is no doubt a glorious privilege but it is too much privilege and too little glory. One appeal would be enough except perhaps in very exceptional cases and would be much more in the interests of justice and fairplay. As it is, less so it is true than used to be, the man with most money can hang out the longest and is therefore most likely to win. The tendency of the times is to enlarge the jurisdiction of all courts and Mr. Foy's bill is in line with that tendency. This distinguished lawyer holds a high place in the confidence of our people and it is safe to say that his present efforts for law reform will advance him even farther in the good graces of people of all shades of political opinion. We append the resolution.

MR. FOY'S RESOLUTION.

The full text of Mr. Foy's resolution is as follows;

That in the opinion of the House with a view to the more prompt and satisfactory administration of Justice in civil matters and the assessing of the cost thereof, it is expedient;

1. That there should be but one Appelate Court for the Province.

2 That all the judges of the Suprreme Court of Judicature for Ontario should constitute the Appellate Court.

3 That the Appellate Court should sit in divisions, the members of which should be permanently assigned to them, or chosen from time to time by the judges from among themselves.

4 That the divisions should consist of five members, four of whom should be a quorum, except in election cases, and cases in which constitutional questions arise, for which five members should sit, and except in appeals from inferior courts, for the hearing of which three judges should frm a quorum.

COURT OF APPEAL JUDGMENT.

5 That the decision of the Court of Appeal should be final except in all cases except where;

(a) Constitutional questions arise, or

(b) Questions in which the construction or application of a statute of Canada are involved, or,

(c) The action is between a resident of Ontario and a person residing out of the Province.

6 That the appeal of right to the Judicial Committee of the Imperial Privy Council should be abolished, and the prerogative right of granting leave to appeal to that tribunal, if retained, should be limited to cases in which large amounts are involved or important questions of general interest arise.

7 That in matters of mere practise the decision of a Judge of the Supreme Court, whether on appeal or a judge of first instance should be final.

EXAMINATION FOR DISCOVERY

8 That provision be made to regulate examinations for discovery to prevent the excessive costs that are often incident to such examinations, and the undue prolongation of such examinations.

9 That the County and District Courts shall have jurisdiction in all actions whatever may be their nature or the amount involved if both parties consent.

10 That the ordinary jurisdiction of the County and District Courts should be increased.

11 That communications should be had with the Imperial and Dominion Governments with the view to legislation by the Imperial and Canadian Parliaments as to such of the foregoing matters as are not within the legislative authority of the Province

RURAL POSTAL DELIVERY

That plank in Mr. Borden's platform, which deals with the question of rural postal delivery, ought to enlist the support of farmers. Our agricultural brethren complain sometimes and certainly not without reason that they are neglected, but when an opportunity such as this arises, whereby they can obtain something of very distinct advantage, they should assist in acquiring it. President Roosevelt has this to say of rural postal delivery in the U.S.:—

"Among recent postal advances the success of rural free delivery wherever established, has been so marked and actual experience has made its benefits so plain that the demand for its extension is general and urgent."

It has been found in centres of population that the increase of means of communication of all descriptions tends to an immediate increase in buiness and comfort. Naturally enough some people fear that it will not pay, although this has not been the ultimate experience of the U.S. But this fear is more or less a groundless one, and when taken in conjunction with the utility of the rural system, as a feeder to national trade we can only wonder that it is opposed by the Ottawa administration at all.

TOO SNOWY BY HALF

It is high time that the present fantastic manner of opening legislative sessions at Toronto was done away with. Dignity is best suited with simplicity, not combast. If it were a millinery opening or the prelude to a circus we could understand it, but as the formal beginning of taking counsel regarding the business affairs of a sane people, we unhesitatingly condemn the present procedure. Cocked hats and feathers cannot on any pretence be considered as necessary or suitable to the opening of the halls of our provincial Parliament for good plain, honest, hard work. No doubt Mr. Whitney realises this but hesitatess to fly in the face of precedent an dpretty women. A wave of humbug and show is submerging or threatens to submerge the good sense of the people of the United States. By all means let us avoid this at any rate at Toronto. A little of it may not be unbecoming at the nation's capital, but it is little short of preposterous nearer home.

EDITORIAL NOTES

It is reported that no less than 8,000 of the unfortunate Doukobors will start in the spring on a pilgrimage. Their diet and apparel are kept at a low standard by the tryanny of their leaders. Animal life is held sacred by them, but as they have put tea and coffee on the animal list it looks as if they were mad.

Hon. Mr. Cochrane, Minister of Mines in the Whitney Cabinet, has placed on the list of his notices of motion one respecting the amendment to the act regulating free grants and homesteads to actual settlers on public lands. The lands for the actual settler is a policy that cannot be too carefully followed out. The prosperity and well-being of Ontario is largely dependent upon a wise superintendence of her public lands.

Lindsay is famous nearly the world over, at least in all those parts of it where snow and ice prevail, for plucky and proficient curlers. The dean (or daddy) of them all is Mr. J. D. Flavelle, who is said to curl up even when he goes to bed. His onslaughts upon the Winnipeg prizelist have made him a national hero and now that he had led his men to victory for the steenth time in the Tankard competition Lindsay's cup will be full—of joy. We recognize, or he does, that he is not the eight men comprising both rinks, but like John Brown, his spirit goes marching on. There being no need of Peterborough's fighting for the tankard, we contented ourselves with the next best—the Governor-General's medal.

"London, Feb. 7.—The Tariff Reform League held its annual "Love Feast" here today, and, judging from the enthusiasm of the 1,500 delegates in attendance, the Protectionists are more than satisfied with the progress of the movement, which Joseph Chamberlain himself declared in a message he sent to the meeting, "has surpassed my most sanguine expectation.'".

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain appears to be in good enough health to encourage his followers in their Tariff Reform campaign. What we call Protection the Chamberlainites term Tariff-reform. There can be no doubt that reform of the tariff in Great Britain and Ireland is plainly a necessity. So long as England was the commercial power of the world, without, almost, a rival, she could do as she pleased, but that day has gone. Like the tortoise in the famous race she has at last waked up.

Hastings is Jealous of Campbellford

Would Like to Have Secured the New Steel Industry

According to a report in a Campbellford paper of last week, that town has landed the steel plant which there was a prospect of coming to Hastings.

We are not conversant with the negotiations between the company and the Hastings town officials or if the matter ever got that far but it is quite certain that no great effort was made to induce this company to locate here. We heard a great deal about this town not going ahead, and this from those who could at least do something to further the town's interest instead of bemoaning the loss of enterprises in someone else. An opportunity was offered last year in the organization of a Board of Trdae for all the buisness men to get together and help themselves by helping the town and incidentally one and another through this organization, but the matter died a natural deaha simply from disinterestedness of those who should have been most interested. You must get together and boom the town yourself if you want it to go ahead. Don't depend on the council or some individual. Providence helps them that helps themselves. Two manufacturing concerns have been over the ground here and looked very favorably on the sites available and passed on. Were they given very much encouragement? We would like to know.—Hastings Star.

RECIPE FOR CATARRH

Easily Eradicated by Using Simple Home-Made Mixture.

Here is a simple prescription which drves from the blood and system every vestige of catarrhal poison with remarkable promptness. To prepare the mixture; Get from any good prescrption pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandewlion, one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon and three ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

This is a harmless mixture which has a peculiar action upon the eliminative tissues of the Kidneys, assisting them to filter and strain from the blood and system the catarrhal poisons, which, if not eradicated, are absorbed by the mucous membrane, and an open sore or catarrh is the result.

This remarkably simple recipe has been the means of relieving thousands of men and women of this foul and dangerous disease, and every sufferer here should give it a test, as it is not expensive nor unpleasant to take.

Prapare some and try it, anyway, as it is certain to do much good, if only to purify and sweeten the blood; though it may prove just what your system requires to overcome the catarrhal condition.

AMUSEMENTS

JERRY FROM KERRY

"Jerry from Kerry" played a return engagement to a good-sized audience at the Grand on Saturday night and thoroughly pleased those in attendance. An opening and closing playlet with a substantial and interesting olio between formed the bill which was a unique one in the matter of construction, as far as this city is concerned.

The company carries its own orchestra which is a particularly effective and well balanced one and played its selections in good tone, and proved splendid accompanists as well.

Probably the best feature of the vaudeville bill was the clever tumbling turn given, and the musical acts were well worthy of the recognition they received.

no word

Nothing yet has has been decided about the date of the exhibition games between Norwood and the Straths. Norwood did not communicate by phone with the locals concerning the game as they were expected to do on Saturday night so no arrangements have been made.

Had Seven Hours Stay at Myrtle

C.P.R. Line Blockaded by Snow—Twelve Hours and a Half to Get to Toronto

Mr. Webber Turner who has returned to the city from Toronto, tells of the hard time the train on which he left on Saturday for Toronto had in reaching that city. He left Peterborough about eight o'clock in the morning, and did not arrive in Toronto until 8.30 at night, twelve hours and a half for less than a hundred miles. Seven hours' time was lost by a delay at Myrtle, the track having to be cleared before the train could proceed.

The snow at Myrtle was piled up higher than the windows of the coaches on both sides of the track, and it was more like a trip through the Arctic regions than a midwinter run on a Canadian railroad.

Black Hand Leader Shot.

New York, Feb. 10.—Coly Calcagno, an Italian barber who was shot to death in East 106th street last Monday, may have been the leader of the Black Hand organization in the United States. Detective Wm. H. Atkinson of Baltimore, after seeing the body on Saturday, said he was convinced the dead man was the chief of the Black Hand in this country.

Calcagno was not his real name, Atkinson said. He is convinced, however, he said, that the body is that of the man who, when known as the leader of the Black Hand organization, dynamited a house in Baltimore several years ago, and at that time was being sought on a charge of having shot and killed a prominent man in Pittsburg.

The local Italian detective bureau will make an effort to verify the identification. Calcagno was about 27 years of age.

King Leopold Not Sane.

Brussels, Feb. 10.—There are indications that the Government may soon have to deal with a difficult problem in regard to King Leopold. Its nature may be indicated by the remark made by a member of the Cabinet Saturday in the lobby of the Chamber of Deputies. He said:

"The King is no longer in a normal condition of mind."

Signs of mental breakdown of Leopold have been noticeable for several months.

Arrested, Though Legally Dead.

New York, Feb. 10.—Otto Adams, a fugitive from justice upon an indictment charging him with sending bombs to two persons and trying to blow up an hotel with an infernal machine, and who last year was legally declared dead as a suicide, was locked up in the Adams street police station, Brooklyn, Saturday night. He was arrested in Jersey City while keeping an appointment with the wife who had deserted him in the west.

Kingsville, Feb. 10.—Early Sunday morning fire broke out in the tobacco factory of George Jasperson. The Ontario Legislature; Building Up the Province Important Government Measure to Aid Bona Fide Settlers.

Will Secure Mineral as Well as Agricultural Rights Under Hon. Mr. Cochrane's Bill—Protection Given Against the Speculator — Proposal For Provincial Commission on Pulmonary Tuberculosis.

Toronto, Feb. 11.—Greater encouragement to the settlers in New Ontario is provided in the Government bill to amend the Public Lands Act brought down by Hon. Frank Cochrane at yesterday's session of the Legislature. The object the Minister has in view is to do full justice to the bona fide settler, and, at the same time, provide protection against the speculator who desires to rob the county of its natural wealth rather than colonize.

Only five members of the Opposition attended the sittings.

Mr. Cochrane's act respecting public lands provides that when it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the Minister of Lands and Mines, by inspection and report of an officer appointed by him for the purpose, that crown lands in any township or portion of a township not reserved from settlement, are not valuable for the mines or minerals, the Minister may, under order in council, open such lands to actual settlers and such settlers shall be entitled to all mines or minerals thereafter found therein.

The act is made retrospective, clause two providing that in all townships already opened for sale, the Minister may at the request of any purchaser, or any person claiming under such purchaser, declare such purchaser entitled to the mines and minerals thereafter found, if the same are the property of the crown and not staked out, recorded, leased or granted under the Mines Act. All sales of agricultural lands under this act hereafter made in such townships shall include the mines and minerals therein. Clause three provides that all reservations of mines or minerals expressed or implied in any patent heretofore issued, where such is the property of the crown, and not granted under the Mines Act, are rescinded, and all minerals pass to the owners of the land.

Mr. Godfrey (West York) gave notice that he will move that, whereas the prevalence of pulmonary tuberculosis demands that action be taken by the Legislature of this province to afford relief from existing conditions, and, whereas the movement for the establishment of municipal sanatoria where sufferers from tuberculosis can be given necessary treatment and education to cure and prevent the spread of this dread disease, has received practically the unanimous endorsement of the medical profession of this province as well as that of the press, therefore in the opinion of this House a commission of three persons, two of least of whom shall be physicians who have given some study to the question, should be appointed to investigate conditions existing in the province in this regard and the advisibility and practicability of the establishment of a provincial sanatorium, such commission to report to this House at an early date.

Later Details About the Northern Ontario Tragedy

Mother and Six Children Perish in New Liskeard Fire.

Husband and Father Alone Escaped—Terrible Tragedy Leaves Him Homeless and Childless—Citizens Contribute Collection to Send the Bodies to Former Home For Burial—Child Born During Fire.

New Liskeard, Feb. 1.—Six children and their mother were burned to death on Sunday morning when the shack in which they were living burst into flames.

The victims are Mrs. Lawrence Haacke and her children, Vera Margaret, aged 11; Mabel Irene, aged 9; George Frederick, aged 6; Clarence Henry, aged 4; Annie Evelyn, aged 2; and a new born infant.

Haacke formerly lived at 3 Bleecker street, Toronto. His home is in Markham Township, where the bodies will be sent for burial, a collection being taken up in town for this.

The house was a small building, twelve by fifteen, with one room down stairs used as a sitting room and one room upstairs used as a bedroom. Behind this was a kitchen of about ten by twelve. Haacke got up at 9.30 and kindled a fire in the front room, and then went outside to get some kindling for the kitchen stove. The rest of the family were asleep in bed.

While lighting the kitchen stove he heard his wife scream, and rushing in discovered that the front part of the house and stairway were on fire. He ran and summoned his brother-in-law, Frets, who lived next door, and they got a ladder and put it up to the only window upstairs. When they broke the window a flame shot out, and they were badly burned themselves, especially Haacke, who was at the top of the ladder.

By this time the screams of the mother and children had been silenced.

An alarm was sent in, but when the firemen arrived the building, which was of frame and tar-papered inside, was burned to the ground. The body of the baby girl, two years old, was the first to be recovered. The body was very slightly scorched, due to the fact that it was wrapped in blankets. The body of the boy, 4 years old, was charred almost beyond recognition. The mother's limbs were all burned off.

At the undertaker's the birth of the sixth child, still-born, took place.

The mother was 36 years of age, and at the time of the fire was in confinement. A sister lives on Hamilton street, Toronto. The family had lived in New Liskeard for two years, the husband being a carpenter, but latterly a teamster.

LEGISLATE FOR CHILDREN.

British Parliament Proposes Measures to Protect the Young.

London, Feb. 11.—If a bill which passed its first reading in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon becomes a law, juvenile lovers of the cigarette will have a hard time indulging their appetite. The act is a Government measure, which amends the existing laws for the protection of children. It prohibits smoking under the age of 16, provides penalties for anyone less than 16 years old caught smoking in the streets or other public places, and makes the sale of cigarettes to any person under the age of 16 a punishable offence.

Among other interesting features, the bill establishes juvenile courts throughout the country and calls for special places of detention for children, instead of sending them to the ordinary prisons. It proposes furthermore that the imprisonment of children be entirely abolished.

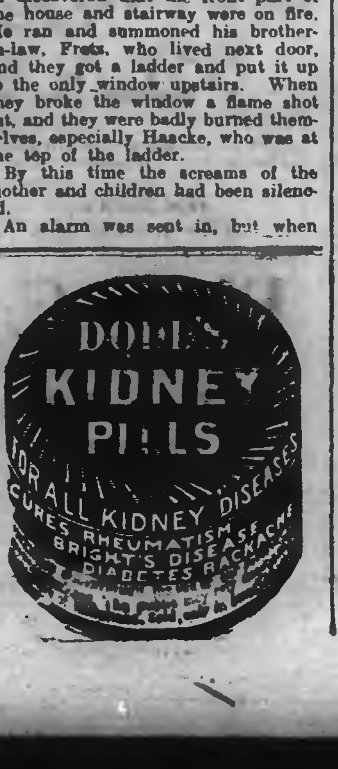
An effort also is to be made to end the terrible waste of infant life, through drunken parents rolling on their children in bed. The returns show that 1,600 infants perish annually from this cause, and in the future parents will be punished for such deaths. Burnings are responsible for an almost equal number of infant deaths, and penalties are provided for parents who leave children alone in rooms with unguarded fires.

The Kaiser's Free List.

Berlin, Feb. 11.—The Emperor has decided that the free list and the sale of tickets to the public for the royal opera be suspended for six evenings in February and March, so that what is called "society night" may be held.

The Emperor maintains the opera out of his private purse and has a permanent free list of four hundred. His Majesty frequently directs that tickets be sent to professors, artists and distinguished persons who he has received in audience, as well as to the trades people with whom he has dealings.

Very spring like to-day.



Is Another Campaign Being Started by the Dog Poisoner?

Is another onslaught to be made on the dogs of the city again this winter with poison, the weapon of destruction?

Everyone remembers the way the canines departed by way of the strychnine route last year, and the indignation that prevailed as a result.

During the past few months nothing has been heard about the dog poisoner, and the dog population has been in comparative safety. Yesterday, however, there was a report of a dog being poisoned, and it is feared that the poisoner is starting another campaign.

Yesterday afternoon a dog was found dead in Mr. Frank Smith's yard at 466 George street, and it was evident that he had got a dose of poison. The dog ran into the yard from the street and died a short time afterwards. It is not known where he picked up the poison.

Annual Meeting Board Of Trade on March 3rd

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Board of Trade will be held on Tuesday evening, March 3rd. Officers will be elected for the coming year, reports received and other business transacted.

On the same night a discussion of the public library question will also take place. This is a subject of live interest at the present time and discussion should be exceedingly interesting. Special invitations will be sent the members of the City Council, Board of Education, Public Library Board and other public bodies and one of the best meetings in years is anticipated.

STOCK MARKET QUOTATIONS

New York, Feb. 11.—The opening was decidedly nervous, with mixed changes sharp fractional gains being recorded among leading issues. London prices came over much lower, due to selling for New York account and there was particular pressure on the Harriman issues.

That the weakness in London, however, was manipulated from this side in order to furnish the bears better opportunity to cover their contracts was soon apparent for although the early market continued very erratic a marked up-trend soon developed under the influence of the demand from the shorts.

The bear party at times tried to break the market by a sharp raid on Penna and other issues, but were confronted by a great deal better support than recently manifest, so that the floor element for the most part took the bull side. Considerable strength was noted in the case of the Hill stocks, Reading and other coalers.

The day's news contained items concerning the re-opening of various plants and the closing down of others. These matters about counterbalanced each other, but in our opinion the industrial situation shows little change, if any, for the better.

A decline in the copper metal prices all around, disclosed the poor condition in the trade. London bought a few shares here, but no doubt will be quick to sell on any further rally. There was a heavy selling movement in the last few minutes, and the market closed quite weak.

We look for a continuation of the irregularity and perhaps the bears will be successful in bringing about a somewhat lower level of prices but in such event we would buy stocks quick turns.

ALFALFA ENRICHES LAND

All kinds of objections—some fancied others more or less real—are urged against alfalfa culture. Some men think it must be hard on the land, whereas it is a more effectual soil improver than clover. By means of the bacteria working on its roots, it abstracts from the air, circulating through the soil most of the nitrogen it needs, and as nitrogen is the rarest and by far the most expensive element in commercial fertilisers the economy of alfalfa in this respect is enormous. Then, too, the roots range deep down into the subsoil, bringing up potash and phosphates below the reach of other plants. These same roots are the most effective subsoilers known to agriculture. It is true, if alfalfa, or for that matter, clover, were grown indefinitely, and sold off the farm, it would in time reduce the proportion of available potash and phosphoric acid in the soil, and these elements would have to be supplied from year to year, in the form of ashes, or potassic fertilizers, phosphates and lime. But this would be comparatively inexpensive. And let it be clearly understood that, when the alfalfa hay is fed to stock, and the manure applied to some other fields of the farm, it is probably the most economical and certain means ever devised for enriching the farm economically. Moreover, when the alfalfa sward is plowed up, it will, if given any kind of a chance, as to season and cultivation, yield one of the biggest crops of corn ever grown on that land. So far from being hard on the land alfalfa excels clover as a soil improver, especially when fertilized judiciously with wood ashes, lime and phosphoric acid, in the form of bone meal, basic slag, ground-rock phosphate or acid phosphate. Barnyard manure may be occasionally applied, but is a less economical fertiliser for alfalfa than the purely mineral elements, for the nitrogen in the manure is not needed by alfalfa and is therefore virtually wasted. While an occasional light dressing of manure may be advisable to add humus and improve the organ ic condition of the soil, and, while, manure is much better than no fertiliser at all, yet, for the most part, we are convinced that, once the stand is established, it will pay better to fertilize the alfalfa chiefly with mineral fertilizers, and save most of the manure for other fields. Wood ashes and lime, as a rule, give wonderful results, and the effect is by no means exhausted in the season of application.—Farmer's Advocate.

Many Cases of Smallpox in East

Toronto, Feb. 11.—Dr. R. W. Bell, inspector of the Provincial Health Department, has arrived back from a trip to the counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, where there have been a few cases of smallpox. A joint meeting was held of the councils of the three counties, and the precautions necessary for dealing with smallpox were explained. At Brockville and Belleville there were several cases, but they are now nearly all cured.

Band to-night at Street Railway Rink and on Thursday night.

Crown Prince Killed Murderer.

Members of the household aver that they saw the prince rise after the King had been shot and fire twice.

Original Papers on Timber License Deal to Be Produced.

Resolution Passes Parliament After Premier Required Their Return—New Member For Huron Takes His Seat—Debate on $21,000 Subsidy Reveals Some Plain Talk on Railway Affairs.

Ottawa, Feb. 11.—A motion for production of the original papers in respect to granting of timber licenses passed the House last night without the slightest objection from the Prime Minister, except that he suggested an amendment requiring the return of the papers after inspection.

Mr. Lake (Qu'Appelle) moved for the original papers in respect of timber berths 1,220 to 1,236, 1,238 and 1,272. His reasons were that he could not do justice to the question without them and that copies did not give all the information he desired. With the change noted the motion carried.

M. T. McLean, the new member for South Huron, was brought in by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. G. P. Graham.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier moved the appointment of the following as a select committee to investigate old age pensions: Messrs. Lemieux, McIntyre (South Perth), Sinclair, Ralph Smith, MacKenzie, Verville, Monk, Pringle, McCarthy (Calgary.)

On orders of the day being called, W. F. Maclean (South York) called attention to the condition of the order paper. As it now stood it was impossible to reach public bills and orders unless a change was made in the procedure. These bills must come up on Mondays and Wednesdays, but they were preceded by pages of notices of motion, and it was doubtful if they would be reached this session. He complained that he could not get on with his bills.

To Mr. Taylor, the Prime Minister said it was not the intention of the Government to recognize the services rendered by the forty ladies who went to South Africa as school teachers.

W. B. Northrup (East Hastings) brought up the case of the Belleville and North Hastings Railway, which had been paid $21,000 in subsidies for a road seven miles in length, and the road being taken over by the Grand Trunk, that company pocketed the $21,000 and discontinued the operation of the line.

Altogether $97,000 was paid by Federal and Provincial Governments to the County of Hastings and Township of Madoc. Mr. Northrup argued that it was the duty of the Government to compel the fulfilment of the obligations, but there was a doubt as to the powers of the Railway Commission.

Spontaneous Objections.

When W. F. Maclean (South York) attempted to show that the Grand Trunk was delinquent in other matters, he was promptly met by objections from Mr. German, who was backed up by the Prime Minister and the Speaker of the House.

Mr. Northrup (Hastings) moved for correspondence between the Government and Belleville and North Hastings Railway, or Grand Trunk, or any other railway relating to granting and payment of subsidies to the Belleville and North Hastings Railway.

Mr. Northrup did not attach blame to the present Government, as he was not aware its attention had been called to the matter. There was springing up in the country, Mr. Northrup went on, a feeling of resentment against the railways for failing to live up to their obligations, and people were justified in asking Parliament for more drastic legislation. It was a simple matter for the Government to obtain justice; it should demand the return of $21,000, and he was prepared to say that the G.T.R. must come before Government with clean hands or no further favors would be granted.

The Two Cent Fare.

W. F. Maclean seized the opportunity to ventilate the grievance of the G.T.R. attempt to repudiate its obligation in the matter of two-cent-per-mile fares.

W. German of Welland, who interrupted with a cry of "Order," adding the protest that "a penny-a-mile service has nothing to do with the subject under discussion."

"The motion," interrupted Mr. Speaker, "is for a return of copy of certain papers. It does not seem to me that on such a motion such matters can be discussed as those which the hon. gentleman (W. F. Maclean) is discussing.

"In supporting the contention of the hon. gentleman, surely I have the same privilege that he had of appealing to the Government to do its duty," returned the member for South York.

"My hon. friend (Mr. Maclean) says that he intends to bring up this matter on motion for committee of supply. That will give him his opportunity for discussion," Sir Wilfrid observed.

"I think," observed Mr. Speaker, "that Mr. Maclean is quite within his right in discussing reasons why this order for papers shall be made, but he has no right to travel outside that and discuss matters that are purely irrelevant."

Dr. Sproule Takes a Hand.

At this point Dr. Sproule took a hand in the contest.

"I rise," he said, "to a point of order. Is it not the proper practice in this House, if a member wishes to bring any subject of importance before the House, to move for papers, when that motion expresses his views. We find that course followed even when the member knows that there are no papers. This is one of the methods we have always adopted for the discussion of matters of importance. It seems to me that this should give us the right to travel just beyond the exact record in the discussion, whether papers should be brought down or not."

"The point of order," said Sir Wilfrid, addressing Mr. Speaker, "is taken, and you have decided that it is well taken. All I can say to the hon. member for South York is that I shall be happy, when he wishes it, to give him an opportunity to bring up this question on motion for committee of supply."

The House at night discussed a resolution of Mr. Guthrie (Wellington): "That in the opinion of this House it is desirable that a commission of enquiry be forthwith appointed to investigate the needs of Canada in respect to technical education and to report on ways and means by which these needs may best be met."

The importance of technical instruction was emphasized by Messrs. Smith (Oxford) and Cockshutt (Brantford), and the debate was adjourned at 11.20 by Dr. Sproule.

NEGRO LYNCHED.

Prominent Southern Farmers Openly Assist—Two Men Shot Down.

Brookhaven, Miss., Feb. 11.—Eli Pigot, a negro, who criminally assaulted a young white woman here several weeks ago, was taken from the custody of the Jackson Military Co. and a posse of deputies yesterday by a mob of 2,000 and hanged from a telegraph pole within less than a hundred yards of the court house. He was to have been tried yesterday for his crime.

The mob began to assemble here before daylight in wagons, on horseback and walking. It included some of the most prominent farmers in Lincoln County, especially in the neighborhood of Rith, where the assault by the negro is alleged to have occurred. By the time the train from Jackson had arrived, there were over 2,000 men in the mob at the railroad station. No attempt at concealment was made, not a man in the mob wearing a mask.

The two men shot down in the fight were Jos. Cole of Brookhaven, and an unidentified farmer. Neither of them is seriously wounded.

Captain A. L. Sairley commanded the Jackson Company, which had in its ranks about 30 men. He has reported the affair to the governor and is awaiting his orders.

CRASHED TOGETHER.

Conductor Buchanan of the express had a shoulder and his back bruised.

Expressman Williamson and Baggageman Stewart were badly shaken up and several passengers were slightly injured.

To Unseat Toronto Council.

Toronto, Feb. 11.—The quo warranto proceedings to unseat Mayor Oliver, Controllers Harrison, Hocken and Spence, and Aldermen J. J. Graham, Vaughan, Foster, Bredin, Bengough, Hales, Adams, Keeler and R. H. Graham, were set in motion yesterday by Millar, Ferguson & Hughes, when a fiat was secured from the master-in-chambers which allows for the filing of the necessary notice of motion.

It is claimed that the members named did not file statutory declarations, have not the required property qualifications, are not British subjects (this aimed more particularly at Mayor Oliver) and have neglected to file declarations of qualifications. The action is instigated by the liquor interests as a result of the license reduction bylaw.

Thickest Ice at Ottawa.

Ottawa, Feb. 11.—Ottawa has the thickest ice of any spot in the inhabited portion of Canada. So say the records of the meteorological service of the Dominion, which have just been published for January. According to the report the local ice froze to the depth of 30 inches, surpassing by three inches the closest rival, Swift Current. The average, not including the Arctic regions, was 15 inches. The ice as reported from the various stations is as follows: Western provinces—Edmonton, 20 inches; Battleford, 24 inches; Medicine Hat, 18 inches; Swift Current, 27 inches; Minnedosa, 24 inches.

Fire at Sherkston.

Welland, Feb. 11.—On Saturday morning at an early hour fire was discovered in the basement of Thos. DeSantis' store at Sherkston. There were no fire-fighting appliances, and the building was soon enveloped. The flames also caught Mr. DeSantis' residence and both store and house, with their contents, were destroyed. The stock was worth $4,000. Very little insurance was carried.

MURDER OR SUICIDE?

Former Toronto Woman Found With Head Split Open.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 11.—Death yesterday sealed the lips that might have cleared the mystery of Mrs. Madeline A. Booth of Toronto, Ont., who was found in the home of Dr. H. H. Hoppe on Sunday with her head split open, in three places with a hatchet, supposedly by a burglar. The woman died without having regained consciousness. The authorities failed to get in communication with her husband, James R. Booth, who was a contractor in Toronto, in September, 1903, when the couple were married in that city, but who, since their separation, is reported to have removed to Sault Ste. Marie.

The only address of Booth found in letters among the woman's effects is Earl Grey, Province of Saskatchewan, Canada. The case is the most mysterious the local police have had to deal with in years.

When Mrs. Booth was found lying in a pool of blood in the pantry of the Hoppe home there was not another person in the house and all the doors were locked. Her skull was crushed like an egg-shell, yet she lived until yesterday. Detectives were constantly at her bedside at the hospital, but the vigil was in vain, and now that she is dead the police have not the slightest clue to work on. The hatchet with which the deed was done was found by her side, and Dr. Hoppe declared it his belief that Mrs. Booth wielded the weapon herself, citing the case of a man who drove a nail into his own skull.

Mrs. Booth was a widow when she married Booth, who was her third husband. She is said to have murdered a son by her first husband 15 years ago, and was for a time in an insane asylum.

FATHER FIRED ON SON.

Quiet Village of Moriel Stirred by the Awful Tragedy.

Woodstock, Feb. 11.—A sad shooting affair took place at the village of Moriel, nine miles southeast of here yesterday.

Alfred Holsworth, aged 50, had quarrelled with his son, William, aged 24, who went into a woodshed and barricaded himself. The father got a shotgun and fired through the door. The boy was wounded in the left hand and right arm, and screamed. Thinking he had killed the son, the father returned to the house, and taking down a shotgun, turned it on himself. He was prevented from doing himself injury by a neighbor, Frank Fitch, who took the gun away. Then the old man attempted to swallow some carbolic acid, but again was thwarted by Fitch. The latter took the cartridges out of the gun and in due time left, thinking Holsworth safe. The latter, however, had other cartridges in the house, and fired three shots before he succeeded in seriously wounding himself. Part of his face and nose is blown away and he will probably die.

A constable is in charge of the house.

Holsworth bore a good reputation and his act is attributed to a particularly violent temper.

Sunday Court In Canada.

Ottawa, Feb. 11.—A unique case has arisen in Ottawa which establishes a Sunday session of the police court last Sunday. The magistrate held court at 11 o'clock in the morning and remanded a prisoner until yesterday. The court will be held every Sunday owing to the fact that the county jail authorities refuse to accept prisoners from the police over Sunday who have not already appeared before the magistrate and been remanded. The jail people take this view in consequence of the recent death of a prisoner in the county jail. This man died shortly after admission and remained over Sunday on a remand signed by a police sergeant. The Sunday court is the only one of its kind in Canada.

Man Found Frozen.

Preston, Feb. 11.—Word was received here yesterday morning that Jos. Leyman of this town had been frozen to death while walking from Guelph to Little Germany.

Leyman was a tinsmith in Clare Bros'. stove works, and left Saturday evening for Guelph with the intention of walking to Little Germany, where his wife and five-year-old daughter were visiting. He was found Sunday morning on the road near Weisenburg.

The man had become exhausted from tramping through the deep snow and froze to death before help reached him.

Murder In Street Car.

New York, Feb. 11.—A girl of the tenderloin, known to her companions only as "Queenie," about 27 years old and decidedly pretty, was shot and almost instantly killed while riding on a northbound Second avenue car at Eighth street early yesterday. A young man who was sitting opposite the girl in the car fired the shot and then made his escape.

Thousands Destitute.

Philadelphia, Feb. 11.—An appeal for aid for destitute people in the Kensington Mill district of Philadelphia, one of the greatest industrial centres in the world, was made at the meeting at the Central Labor Union. A delegation of textile workers claimed that from 35,000 to 50,000 men, women and children were destitute.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Feb. 10.—(Special.)—At the Montreal stock yards, west end market, the receipts of live stock for the week ending Feb. 8 were [illegible] cattle, [illegible] sheep and lambs, 1237 hogs and 1[illegible] calves. The supply this morning for local consumption consisted of 425 cattle and 150 hogs.

The attendance of local buyers was large and as they all wanted some beef a good trade was done, considering that the supply was very limited. The demand was principally for small lots to fill actual requirements, consequently they all managed to get sufficient beef to see them over until later on in the week, when it is expected that supplies will be more plentiful, if no more storms strike the country in the meantime. Choice beeves sold at 5½c to 5¾c: good, at 4¾c to 5¼c: fair, at 4c to 4½c; common, at 3½c to 3¾c, and inferior, at 2¾c to [illegible] per lb. There were no sheep or lambs on the market, but prices were reported firm and choice lambs were quoted at 6¼c to 6½c: good, at 5¾c to 6c and common at 5¼c to 5½c; choice sheep, at 4c to 4½c: good at 3½c to 3¾c and culls, at 3c to 3¼c per lb. A strong feeling has developed in the market for hogs and prices have advanced 30c to 50c per cwt., since this day week. This has been due entirely to the scarcity of supplies on account of the severe weather of late and the general opinion is that the present values will not be maintained when receipts become normal again. Sales of small lots of selected stock were made at $6.50 per cwt., weighed off cars. Cable advices from London and Bristol on Saturday on Canadian bacon were stronger and noted an advance in prices of 1s 6d per cwt., but the Liverpool market was weaker and 2s to 3s lower than a week ago.

HORSES RANAWAY

An exciting runaway took place on King street this morning when a team belonging to an Otonabee farmer, took a spin while the owner was delivering some potatoes to a customer. The box of the sleigh was knocked off and a couple of bags of potatoes were strewn on the road. A dozen of fresh eggs for another customer couldn't stand the concussion and these valuables were shattered beyond redemption. The horses stopped voluntarily after running about a quarter of a mile.

REVIEW CORRESPONDENTS ON PUBLIC LIBRARY QUESTION

THE CARNEGIE LIBRARY

To the Editor of The Review:

Sir,—If Peterborough was too be offered a new market hall by an old man from Cohoes and weigh-scales from Bobcaygeon and a poor house by Mr. Towser of Coontown, and a gaol or two by rich Mr. Smith of Douro and a Children's Aid Society by a New Yorker, and a lot of soup by the little girls of the kindergarten at Pontypool, would we take it? You bet we'd take anything not nailed. We got the Hospital for nothing and a whole lot of money for nothing and of railroads for the same. What do we all want. Are we waiting around for more coppers before we build a library. I aint fond of paying out any more mun than I can help but I'll pay my way every time and don't you forget it. There aint much pride in Peterborough I declare when they will take money for anything, even their cemetery.

Yours,
WORKINGMAN

ANOTHER OPINION

To the Editor of The Review;

Sir,—Would you have any objection Sir, to my expressing an opinion upon the question of Mr. Carnegie's library. In England we took as no doubt you are aware more than a million pounds from Mr. Peabody, an American gentleman for workingmen's homes. It seems to me that this was very kind of Mr. Peabody and we appreciated it. Mr. Cor, and Englishman of wealth gave the city of Boston, U.S., a present of a technological, I think it was termed, Institute. There can be no objection to international gifts of this sort, I am persuaded. Mr. Carnegie attaches no mean conditions too his gifts. They are after all, not so much given to each place as to the cause of learning and for the uplifting of humanity.

SPECTATOR

ASK FOR A GRANT

Editor of The Review.

Dear Sir,—The point that stands out most prominently in connection with the present discussion on the library question is that Peterborough, if it needs anything, needs a good public library. How shall we obtain it? It seems to me that to go ahead without assistance from Mr. Carnegie will mean that we will have an institution that will will not be a credit to the city and only partially filling the want tha exists at the present time. Though not a betting man, I would be willing to gamble a little that the citizens who are clamoring against asking the great steel magnate for a grant will be among the last to go down in their dips and contribute towards a good library built and maintained entirely by the city. By all means let us ask Carnegie for assistance. The good that will result from having a good public library in the city will exist long after time's flight has obliterated the so-called pride that would prevent some people from going across the line for help.

Is Carnegie's money any more tainted than that of hundreds of other business men. Let us pause and consider. We hear much about Belleville's new library donated by Mr. Corby. And how did Mr. Corby make his money? Let the temperance people who point to Belleville as an example to be followed pause and consider this phase of the question.

If Carnegie's sin has been the making of to, too much money let us help him in his repentance by asking for a grant, of, say, $30,000.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for this opportunity to express my views,

Yours, etc.,

Former Peterboro' Citizens Celebrate Golden Wedding

The Toronto News last night contains cuts of Major and Mrs. E. Leigh, who are former residents of Peterborough and Lakefield. The estimable major and his wife celebrated their golden wedding yesterday, having been married for fifty years.

Major and Mrs. Leigh had some time ago issued invitations to a large "At Home," to celebrate the event, and learning of the general poverty common throughout Toronto, they donated $50, the sum it was anticipated the reception at their residence would have cost, and cancelled the invitations.

Major Leigh has for many years filled an important post in the Ontario Government Crown Lands Department. Older citizens will remember the Major whilst living the life of a country gentleman in Lakefield many years ago, always taking great interest in the 57th Battalion, Peterborough Rangers, and was always a keen sportsman and deerstalker. He and Mrs. Leigh have lived in Toronto about 25 years.

In an Interview To-day The Rev. E. A. Pearson B. D.

Expresses His Opinion of the Controversy Regarding Higher Criticism.

"In no direction will good be done by an indiscriminate outcry against the so-called higher criticism. There is nobody to be helped by denouncing the higher critics en masse as enemies of the Bible. All fears less some dreadful thing is going to happen to the Word of God from critical investigation are foolish and groundless. The Bible has nothing to lose and much to gain from investigation. Critical investigation is to be met by critical investigation and not by cheap and wholesale denunciation. We need to discriminate between the critics who are destructive negative and skeptical in their spirit and those who are devout, honest and constructive in their labors. Out of the smoke and turmoil there will come, no doubt, fresh views of the truth, new proofs of the divinity and authority of the Book and new revelations of divine grace. Wherever and whenever the Bible is criticized with love and reverence the church has absolutely nothing to fear. As to the modern pulpit, my thought is that that is not the court in which to try the case of higher criticism. What a lamentable blunder to bring into the pulpit the half-digested ideas of the school men and palm them off on hungry people as the bread of life. The call to-day is of the certitudes of experience and not unproven theories, evangelism, nor criticism."

Rev. Canon Davidson M. A. His Views of Higher Criticism

"The Higher Criticism movement of to-day is deeply interesting because that through it we are given a modern view of the Bible and of its message, which calls to its aid all the helps of philosophic method and scientific research and throws a new and clearer light on much which was formerly obscure and unmeaning."

"The conclusions thus far reached (which do not pretend to be final) are of very different grades according to the reverence and religious viewpoint of the investigators. These conclusions are to be judged of on their merits and from their harmony with the great basic principles of Revelation, 'the faith once delivered to the Saints.'

"Insofar as the principles of Higher Criticism help us to avoid what is merely superstitions and mechanical, we may thankfully use them, but when they are employed to discredit living supernatural truth we promptly part company.

"While on the above grounds some of us may find Higher Criticism interesting, it is unfortunate that many are being unsettled in their faith by the revolutionary conclusions of extreme men and by a vague and utterly unfounded idea that somehow the authenticity of the Bible as the Word of God has been undermined. This is, of course, an entire mistake. The knowledge that a certain human element can be detected in the Bible only brings into more striking contrast the Divine element which remains unshaken. It is really a process of sifting the Divine kernel from the human husk.

"One can perhaps understand people being alarmed who, taking their stand as it were, on the covers of the English Bible and everything contained in it, accept no other Divine helps as of any authoritative value. To them it may seem as if the foundations were rocking. But to us whose privileged eyes are opened to recognise and to use the Divinely Commissioned Church of the living God, holding in Her hands the open Bible to proclaim and explain the message contained, to us, I say, there can be no cause whatever for alarm. Whatever new light God may allow to fall upon the Bible and however differently it may be regarded, the other witness, living, independent and Divine, remains to unite men to God and His Truth.

"It is also a great fact and a consoling one that the central truths revealed in th eBible, all those indeed which are of practical value in life, remain untouched by reverent and conservative criticism, which is lend-revealed in the Bible all those indeed ing to them a new interest, and which is to all practical intents and purposes the Bible is sure to remain the Guide Book for all souls who desire to be guided on life's pilgrimage."

Rev. R. A. Pogue on Higher Criticism

Rev. Robert A. Pogue, of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, of this city, gave it as his opinion in an interview with a representative of the Review last evening, that for those who are interested in the present Higher Criticism controversy, there could be no better book of reference than Rev. Dr. Orr's "The Province of the Old Testament."

Rev. Dr. Orr's, "The Province of the Old Testament," is understood to be conservative and in general opposed to the views of the Higher Critics.—E

Snowshoes Caught in Ice, Kept Man From Drowning

Lindsay, Feb. 11.—Mr. Harold Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wallace, Colborne street, had a narrow lace, Colborne street, had an exceedingly narrow escape from death about nine o'clock last night, on the river opposite the Baker Lumber Company's mill.

Harold, who is in charge of the school at Fairbairn, South Verulam, had walked from Bobcaygeon on snowshoes, being accompanied by Mr. Arthur Phelps, who is engaged in missionary work in Bobcaygeon vicinity.

The pair separated at the mill, Mr. Phelps proceeding to his father's home on St. Paul street, and Mr. Wallace heading for the family roof tree on Colborne street. While crossing the river, near the west shore, he suddenly plumped into a hole in the ice and sank down to th eneck, further progress being prevented by the snowshoes carried on his back catching on the ice in some way and rendering him valuable service.

He clambered out and continued his homeward journey at a fast pace in order to keep from freezing. When he reached the house his garments were frozen stiff and rattling like a suit of armor. The prompt application of proper remedies warded off all unpleasant results.

Drawn to Grave on a Toboggan Melancholy Aspect of Funeral

A romantic though rather melancholy aspect was given to a funeral near Allandale on Sunday last by reason of the snow blocking the roads. The procession started for the Union cemetery at Barrie, but when at the Roman Catholic cemetery, about a mile and a half from their destination, the roads became impassable. The pallbearers then lifted the casket out of the hearse, and placing it on a toboggan, strapped on snowshoes and drew it the rest of the way to the grave, where the interment took place, the mourners standing about on their snowshoes and muffled up in their great coats, while the coffin was being lowered into the ground.

A Knockabout Act Fell Three Times

Had Narrow Escape From Horse First Time and Went Down Twice Again

A local gentleman had what might be called a freak accident this morning. He was crossing Dublin street near the corner of George on his way to work this morning about nine o'clock, when he slipped and fell. A gentleman was driving a horse and cutter down Dublin street towards George and was close to him when he fell. He pulled up suddenly just as the horse was in dangerous proximity to the fallen man and then drove on to one side of the road. The gentleman who had just got up from the road, but no sooner had he found his feet than down he went again. He repeated this operation no less than twice before he finally reached the pavement, affording all kinds of amusement to a couple of spectators, who watched him from the corner.

LINE CANNOT BE EXTENDED AT PRESENT

That the Radial Railway Company should extend its line to Ashburnham, was the opinion expressed last night at the meeting of the Board of Works. Under the contract with the city ,however, the company cannot be compelled to build a line to the ward across the river, as Ashburnham was not a portion of the city at the time the agreement was entered into. Their charter permits them ,however, to extend to Ashburnham.

The opinion was expressed last night that the company is anxious to connect with east city, but cannot proceed on account of the condition of the bridge across the Otonabee on Hunter street.

It is learned that arangements are under weight that may result in the present bridge being replaced, and as soon as this is done there is no doubt but that ward five wwill be favored with a street car service at once.

CRITICISM OF EXAMINER

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I notice in Saturday's Examiner an article re the Temperance question. Now, sir, it seems to me the editor of that paper is like one of our ex-Mayors of Peterborough, who always waited to see how other people voted before he knew whether he was up or down. But the editor cannot bluster like the ex-Mayor, so when temperance men are called for he should go away and sit down, as his paper is and has been the friend of the license system.

"Whitty" Writes From Vancouver

Mr "Mac" McDonough has received a card from Mr. Fred Whitcroft, post marked Vancouver, B.C., and dated February 4th. Whitty states that he is on "the long trip" whatever significance that may have.

Sporting Comment

Lindsay is feeling in high glee over their defeat of Brockville. Lindsay has every reason to be glad and make a loud noise, but from here it looks like Midland should the Lindsay-Midland outfit over meet. Lindsay certainly has a nice little team, but by no means a bunch that is overly fast for aspirants for intermediate honors.. But they may win the championship at that, although if they do, intermediate hockey is not as fast as it used to be.

CURLING

THANKS, LINDSAY.

Lindsay Post.—Peterborough curlers shared with Lindsay confreres in the glory of wining trophies at the recent meeting of the Ontario Association tracks in Toronto. The Peterborough men were not in the Tankard competition, but they had their eyes on the Governor-General's Cup, another trophy of consequence, second only to the Tankard, and despite the fact that they have been homeless since the burning of their rink, and as a result have had little practice, Skips Frost and Foote succeeded in annexing the trophy, wining out from the Toronto Granites in the final by 55 shots to 38. Congratulations.

THE RING

London, Feb. 10. — Tommy Burns, the Canadian heavyweight pugilist, tonight knocked out Jack Palmer of Newcastle, the English champion, in the fourth round of what was scheduled to be a twenty-round contest for the heavyweight championship. Some two thousand persons saw the fight, which took place at Wonderland, a big music hall on the East Side, but it was a one-sided affair from the sound of the first gong until the middle of the fourth round, when Palmer, on his knees, was finally counted out.

The referee might have given a decision in the first minute of the contest, as Palmer was a beaten man from the moment he entered the ring. Burns climbed under the ropes smilingly and showing his customary confidence, while Palmer displayed great nervousness. Without any preliminary sparring Burns went after him, and the first round had hardly been begun before the Englishman was on his knees. He took the count twice and during the rest of the round was busily engaged in covering himself. This was repeated in each of the other rounds. Palmer being hopelessly outclassed, and apparently without ability either to deliver a telling blow or defend himself. In the final round he was sent to the floor several times and at last was barely able to drag himself to his knees, where he remained with his elbows on the floor until after the count of ten had been tolled off.

Jem Roche, who has been backed by a syndicate headed by Richard Croker, the former Tammany leader, rick's Day, was a spectator at the ringside tonight. His only comment was; "Burns fights like an old woman, while Burns is a master of the art, and, besides was in splendid condition."

The fight was for $2,500 a side and 75 per cent. of the gate receipts. The odds were 6 to 4 on Burns, but there was very little betting. There were no takers for bets offered by Palmer that he would stay six rounds.

RUNNING

President Tom Flanagan of the Irish Canadian A. C., is all wrapped up in the prospects for the big Brantford to Hamilton Marathon race, which will be pulled off on the 24th of May next by Mr. Peter Christopher, of Hamilton.

TO RIVAL THE GREEK MARATHON.

The latter gentleman, while a citizen of Canada, is a Greek by birth, having been born in Athens, the home of the original Marathon. Mr. Christopher has long been enthused with the idea of running a race in this country which would rival, if possible, the famous Marathon at Athens, and ever since his statement last summer to the effect that he intended to run such a race over the Brantford-Hamilton course, he has been quietly completing all arrangements with the result that full particulars of the big event will be made within a few weeks, and the entry blanks posted to all the big clubs in Canada and the United States and even Europe.

The huge cups which Mr. Cristopher is putting up as prizes have already been manufactured, and, in the words of Tom Flanagan, who has already seen them, "They are the best I ever saw. The first prize is a wonderful piece of work, and stands over 42 inches in height, while the second prize puts even the beautiful Marathon trophy in the shade. Even the third cup is something more than Canadian athletes are used to competing for, and would be well worth the trouble alone." The three prizes will be put on exhibition in Hamilton early next week, and will also be shown in the leading athletic centres in Canada before the big race is run.

C.A.A.U. SANCTION SECURED.

Mr. Christopher has already secured the C.A.A.U. sanction for the big race, and at the first opportunity it is his intention to have several of the C.A.A.U. officials and prominent athletic authorities cover the course in order to select starting and finishing points, and become thoroughly acquainted with the road, which, in the opinion of Tim O'Rourke and other famous long distance authorities, including Billy Sherring, is an ideal course, and one of the best for the purpose in the world. Exactly twenty-six miles in length, and composed of the best Canadian macadam, there is no doubt but that the course will become as famous as any on the map, marking, as it does, the district from which several of the greatest long distance runners of the day have hailed, including Longboat and Sherring.

EVERY MILE TO BE MARKED.

"I positively believe that the course, as Mr. Christopher intends to fit it up, will be the nicest Marathon stretch in the world," said President Flanagan last night. "Why they intend to have every mile marked overhead, and telephone booths stationed every five miles in order to note the progress of the runners. Mr. Chrisstopher is sparing neither trouble or expense to make it the one great athletic event of the coming year, and from all appearances it should be.

LONGBOAT'S ONLY APPEARANCE

"The Irish Canadians will have at least five entries in it as far as I can see at present, and it will be the first and last appearance of Tom Longboat in an open competition before he goes to the Olympic games. Tom Coley will, in all probability, be another starter, and it will mark the first clash of this pair, whom the Canadian public have been so eager to see together for some time. The entry list is expected to exceed even that of the Boston and Ward Marathons, while it most certainly will be more representative, covering at least the entire contingent."

AN OLYMPIC TEST!

The suggestion has been made that the event would prove an ideal chance for the Olympic Committee to hold their test Marathon race to decide the distance runners for the Olympic team, but it i shardly probable that this will be done, especially as the race i sopen to the world; while the test will be for Canadians only.

Skating Championship to be Contested for in Peterborough

The citizens of Peterborough will have an opportunity to witness some particularly good skating events. By special arangement C. B. Heffernan and Fred Robson, both of Toronto, will race for the championship of Canada in half mile, mile and two mile heats on Tuesday night next, February 18th. Both these men are lightning skaters and it is just a question as to which one of the two is the speedier. Robson is known all over the world, wherever the movements of skeed skaters are followed, having been before the public for years. Heffernan, his opponent, is looked upon as one of the best athletes that ever wore the steel blades and when the two break away a great contest is assured. A valuable trophy will be given the winner by the rink company.

Besides the chief attraction there will be a race for boys 18 and under, for a valuable gold medal and another for a gold medal also, the latter race being open to the county.

The 57th Regimental Band will be present and will furnish a generous and appropriate supply of music.

There will be skating when the ice is not being used by those competing in the different events.

Mr. John E. Belcher C. E. Gives His Reminiscences of Maple Beer

Mr. F. W. Taylor the Former Local Manager of the Bank of Montreal Taken to Task

Mr. John E. Belcher, C.E., the well known architect having read in a recent issue of the Review that Mr. F. W. Taylor, now manager of the Bank of Montreal in London, England, and formerly of Peterborough, is of opinion that his old friend, Mr. Taylor is in error regarding the not making of beer or wine out of the sap of the Canadian maple. Mr. Belcher remembers some 38 years ago he and his brother, Thomas Belcher, were 16 miles north of Apsley on a hot day. They came to the house of a hospitable settler who relieved their thirst by giving them a good long swig out of a cask of maple beer and that it was most refreshing goes without saying. Mr. Belcher affirms emphatically that maple beer is almost equal to champagne. Of maple wine he cannot speak. Further, old timers remember that maple syrup was used in tea and coffee, and as for vinegar the most delicious vinegar in the world is made from maple syrup. There are many families within 40 miles of this city who make maple beer to this day. Mr. Belcher's remarks it will be noticed are a complete defence of "Contall" who was so severely handled by the chairman of the meeting Mr. Taylor, and whose article in the Encyclopaedia Britannica, was so scathingly ridiculed.

Poll Tax of One Dollar is Considered Unsatisfactory

A prominent citizen in speaking to the Review today said that he thought the present system of having the young men pay a poll tax of one dollar was pretty much of a farce. He contended that the trouble of collecting one dollar per head from persons who were constantly moving from one ward to another, or leaving the city was more bother than it was worth.

Asked if he had any suggestion to offer that would result in an improvement the gentleman said that he would make all young men who were of age and earning a fair salary pay $5 per year. Those who were earning only small pay he would let go without paying anything. He could see no reason why a young man earning good wages should not pay a fair amount of taxes. If he was married and had a house he would have to do it, and he should not escape because he remained single.

"This business of collecting a dollar a year is no good," said the Review's informant "and the city council should see that a change is made.'

Local Agent of Children's Aid Has Jurisdiction Extended

Mr. E. L. Goodwill, secretary of the Children's Aid Society has received a certificate from Mr. J. J. Kelso, superintendent of the Society in Ontario, extending the jurisdiction of Mr. George Cochrane the local agent to the County of Haliburton. Heretofore Mr Cochrane has only been agent for Peterborough County but at the annual meeting of the Society a few weeks ago, a resolution was passed asking Mr. Kelso to have Haliburton placed under the supervision of the local Society. In the future all cases of child neglect in Haliburton should be reported to Mr. Cochrane and the cooperation and assistance of magistrates and other officers of the law, in the said county is asked for in the furtherance of the good work of the Society.

For some time passed, the need of an agent in Haliburton has been urgently felt. It was stated at the annual meeting that some of the people in the back country whose farms are not of the best, find it not of the not of the best find it difficult to live through the winter. Some of them with large families, are living in a state of destitution and in the most squalid quarters. The assistance of the Society will certainly be gladly welcomed in Haliburton.

"Hands Up" Was Startling Cry That Greeted Local "Vet"

"Hands up!" was the startling cry with which a local veterinary surgeon was greeted a few nights ago while returning from Springville where he had been attending a sick horse. It was well on in the evening when he started out for the city. He was driving along the road when he was accosted with the above salutation. A young man with his cap pulled down to hide his face, stepped from the roadside and catching the horse by the bridle, exclaimed in a threatening tone of voice, "Hands up!" The doctor, although astounded at his totally unexpected hold up, endeavored to defend himself. However, this was not necessary for as he moved towards his assailant, the young man pulled off his cap and the "vet." at once saw that he had been the victim of a practical joke.

The explanation of the affair is that shortly after the doctor had left his equine patient, the owner of the horse telephoned to a farmer whose place the doctor would pass, and asked him to go out and tell him the sick animal was worse and to return at once. Realizing the splendid opportunity to work a bluff on the local surgeon with whom he was very intimately acquainted he decided to act the hold up man which he did with the desired effect.

Both parties had a good laugh over the matter and the doctor takes great delight in relating the story to his city friends of how he was held up on the lonely road from Springville.

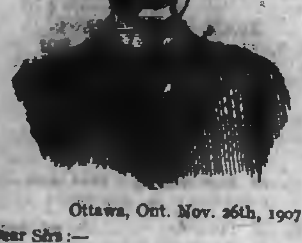
"FRUIT-A-TIVES" CURED HIM

Christopher D. Graham is a well known citizen of Ottawa—formerly in the City Hall and largely instrumental in forming the Ottawa Hunt Club. Mr. Graham's voluntary testimonial as to the great benefit he received from taking "Fruit-a-tives" will carry conviction.



Ottawa, Ont. Nov. 26th, 1907.

Dear Sirs:—

I have been a sufferer from Rheumatism for a long time—pains in my shoulder and joints practically all the time. I tried various treatments without benefit and then I was recommended by a friend to try "Fruit-a-tives." I took several boxes of the tablets and now, for a long time, I have been entirely free from all rheumatism and rheumatic pains.

I wish to state, also, that I suffered from haemorrhoids, or piles, for years, I used all kinds of ointments and treatment and nothing did me any good, but after taking "Fruit-a-tives" for my rheumatism I am entirely cured of these dreadful piles. (Sgd) C. D. GRAHAM.

The Daily Review

TUESDAY FEB. 11, 1908.

UNFAIR

"Hon. W. J. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, addressing the electors at Courtwright recently spoke of the three-fifths clause and was reported in the Sarnia Canadian as follows;

"Dealing with the three-fifths clause the Provincial Secretary declared that only when a sufficient body of public sentiment was behind legislation of this character could there be any hope of permanency and enforcement. Under the old system Local Option was adopted only to be repealed in a majority of cases. The amended law injured a measure of permanency in the system. The advances made by the temperance party were held and the disturbances and losses incidental to changing from one system to another and then back again were obviated."

When the Ontario Government in trying to excuse the three-fifths unfair [illegible], put forth the plea that to secure the enforcement of the law there must be behind it a large overplus of public opinion, they forgot something. They forgot that, should the law, through lack of enforcement, fall into disrepute its adherents would have to dwindle to two-fifths of the electorate, or less, for a complete vote is scarcely ever polled, before it could be repealed. If enforcement of a law carried by a majority is impossible, what kind of lawlessness would prevail in a community where less than two-fifths of the electorate could retain that legislation?

All this talk about enforcement is an acknowledgement of the law-breaking proclivity of the traffic. Nobody expects it to obey the law so long as disobeying it can be made profitable. The Government knows this and knows that whether the Local Option majority is one or a thousand the same preventive measures must be taken."—The Pioneer.

The above clipping from The Pioneer, the official Temperance journal of Toronto, does not do justice either to the three-fifths clause or to the motives that prompted it. The Pioneer, we fancy, will not deny that Mr. Whitney has given the province a strong, honest and stable government. His opinions on law making therefore are entitled to respect. Even he, however, does not pretend to be infallible. Instead of giving him credit therefore for his good work—a somewhat violent and we submit unfair attack is made upon him in the above article. No law is placed upon the statute books without due regard to public opinion. If public opinion as The Pioneer suggests, or rather persistently maintains is overwhelmingly in favor of Local Option there can never be any difficulty in complying with the three-fifths clause. This being the case that clause involves no hardship. Opposition to it, then, must be purely factional and really is so as in the Pioneer's comment. We bespeak for the Government greater sympathy and less faultfinding since indeed even in this very case the three-fifths clause has been found satisfactory in practice while the excellent administration of the government in general has been so freely admired. We make bold to ask the Pioneer if it would, considering the past, vote to replace Mr. Whitney and his cabinet by the former administration or by anything yet in sight?

NOT A MINUTE TOO SOON

"Mr. Seitz commends a removal to Canada, on the ground, for one thing, that they can then give the American forests forty years to reproduce themselves. The statement is a further hint to us, if any were needed, that whatever policy we adopt must be a policy that will not at the end of a generation leave our pulp areas in ruins. Mr. Seitz concludes his able paper in these words; 'If the timber land owned in Canada by American mills cannot be tapped, manufacturers will go to Canada and invest, and the tariff will come down. It is only a question who shall get there first.'"

The above clipping is from Thursday's issue of the Globe, and from an editorial on "The Pulp Situation." It is gratifying to note the patriotic course of the Globe in this matter. The pulp question has suddenly loomed into tremendous prominence in the U.S. All along the Opposition at Ottawa has been begging the Government to be rational and patriotic. Such hints as the above may help Mr. Borden to overcome the almost unaccountably stubborn opposition of Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Fielding to a pulpwood export tax.

BRIDGE

Kit in the Woman's Kingdom page of the Mail & Empire of Saturday last devotes a column and a half to "Women and Bridge." This game at one time bid fair to draw women into its net to such an extent that they could not resist its charms nor the accompanying fascination of playing for points. Fashion however seems to have a more imperious influence upon womankind and perhaps mankind also than even gambling and kindred habits. It has ordered a change.

Kit's description of the bridge face recalls Dore's representations of expectancy and horror in his pictures of "The Flood," etc. Public opinion has at last asserted itself and the conscience of bridge fiends is returning to the normal. The great crime of too much bridge is that it ruins not only the outward beauty of the young but much of their moral and mental loveliness as well.

There is moderation in all things or ought to be, and bridge so played is an innocent recreation, but played as a substitute for moral reflexions, reading and conversation it is not only exceedingly injurious—it is positively ruinous. Kit's hard knocks will no doubt do much good although the house of cards was nearly coming down of its own accord. That elderly ladies are fond of it is no excuse for the young. When they have played the game of life as their elders have done it will be time for them to fall back on cards as an innocent way of spending an hour or two which they are no longer physically fit to spend in the open air or in domestic work.

After all there is no joy like that of doing good and of trying faithfully to be good. In it if a girl will only look she will see the likeness of heaven and the peace of God which passeth all description. It is such things as these that too much bridge or too much of any other game tends to drive out of the reckoning and consideration both of men and women.

RELIEF FUNDS

Our exchanges contain full accounts of the prompt measures taken throughout Canada to relieve the widespread distress. Whatever our faults as Canadians are, and no doubt we have our share, we are not wanting in the milk of human kindness. It is a long time since the Dominion has suffered so severely and if it had not been for the mildness of the first half of the winter distress would have been even more general and appalling.

EDITORIAL NOTES

"Sales of timber in the West are being ventilated in the Ottawa Commons, and not to the credit of the Government. There are too many men in politics who start in poverty, and bloom out as millionaires."

The Bobcaygeon Independent may be said to be, literally, full of wisdom. Not that we think it excels itself in the foregoing. It is always fair to a government in power, but when it thinks that things have gone too far, it is not afraid to sayso.

"The important lesson to be learned from this winter's unprecedented distress amongst the poor is that the regular machinery available for relief purposes is not adequate to cope with such an emergency. Appeals to the public have brought a generous response, but much suffering had occurred before help could be afforded. The churches and charitable associations are doing nobly, but the organization is not as complete nor as effective as it might be. It is sincerely to be hoped that out of the present crisis will spring a decided improvement in this respect."

The above clipping from the Toronto News of recent date shows how acute distress is in that city. Blessed are those who are in constant touch with a food supply, on the farm. Farmers may not as a rule grow to be bloated monopolists in motor cars and be-furred great-coats, but they seldom strike the other extreme.

"On the motion to go into supply, Dr. Reid raised the question of the cost of the Hillsboro, P.E.I., bridge. The original estimate of the cost, he said, was $756,000, the cost to date has been $1,363,000, while accounts outstanding amounted to over $396,000. The claim of M. J. Haney for $900,000 was referred to Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, who made the original estimate, as arbitrator, and Dr. Reid feared he had been appointed to cover up a bad bungle."

Debates in the House of Commons seem to be one long string of revelations. Canadian newspapers are getting to look like the penny dreadfuls of the old land. People are getting so now that they are unable to take it all in. "Bungle and steal," describes our national public life as it is at present. A few missionaries detailed to work on the members of the House of Commons, might do a "power of good," unless, indeed, they too fell victims to greed and graft.

FROM HANSARD

Mr. Kemp; That is all I intended to say in regard to the St. John Gazette. The hon. minister, amongst other things, during the short time he has been in federal politics, has talked a great deal about campaign funds. He knows the exact amount of the Conservative campaign fund of 1904. If so he is wiser than any one else in that respect because I do not suppose that anybody else knows what the campaign fund was although he knows it down to a dollar.

Mr. Pugsley; Don't you believe yourself. There are many others who know it besides myself.

Mr. Kemp; I observe the statement of the hon. gentleman in regard to this matter. I made a reference to it in the city of Toronto a few weeks ago and after I had made a reference to it the hon. gentleman took to the city of St. John, got on the platform and said; I have not denied it. I did not know that a man could deny something of which he had no knowledge. I said a moment ago that no one had any knowledge in respect to the matter; I will repeat it. I know that he cannot produce anyone and if he does know anyone who has any knowledge on this subject he ought to produce him. In so far as my knowledge of this matter is concerned I may say that I look upon the proposition as one of the most preposterous and ridiculous that was ever made in this country. Talk about a party in opposition having a campaign fund. Let me direct the attention of the House to what happened in the Province of Ontario a few years ago in respect to the Provincial elections when it was proved and demonstrated that the total amount of money that was used in the campaign fund in Ontario in that election of 1896 or 1899 was $26,000.

Mr. Pugsley; Was that the Conservative fund?

Mr. Kemp; That was the Conservative fund, and it was during a political contest in Ontario that the whole facts were made public. I may say that in so far as a campaign fund is concerned, if the elections were carried on in other parts of the country with as great an amount of economy as they are in the Province of Ontario, if a cypher were taken off the figures that were mentioned by the hon. gentleman the statement would be nearer the truth. But, Mr. Speaker, I have referred to the statement which I made about this matter in the city of Toronto to the reply which was made by the hon. Minister of Public Works. I desire to refer to another matter. The hon. Minister of Public Works has made the statement in this country, on the hustings, at meetings of his partisan supporters, that in a certain county in the Province of New Brunswick there was spent the sum of $25,000, and he gave the names of the persons to whom this money was spent. A few weeks ago in the city of Toronto, as I have stated, I said, knowing that this money had been sent into a constituency and assuming, as we must assume, that the money was sent into that constituency for corrupt purposes, the hon. gentleman being Attorney-General of the province of New Brunswick should have prosecuted the parties that were guilty. The hon. gentleman met that statement by saying that he had only recently learned of the fact and yet Mr. Speaker, the hon. gentleman admits that he knew of the matter at the time of the Minister of Finance's by-election in Shelburne and Queens. But whether that is so or not, he says he is in possession of the facts. He knows all about them, he says, and surely it is his duty to lay information against the guilty parties and to prosecute them under the criminal law as was recently done under similar circumstances in the Province of Ontario. But, Mr. Speaker, the hon. gentleman (Mr. Pugsley) has chosen to deal with this matter in what appears to me to be a very frivolous fashion for a gentleman occupying the high and responsible position he does. He said:—

"If I started prosecutions the gaols would not be large enough to hold all the Tories of this country."

Now, Mr. Speaker, the hon. gentleman, who is a Minister of the Crown, makes a frivolous statement like that with respect to such a serious matter. I would suggest to him that he should go ahead and prosecute, and then when the gaols are filled he should let a few go on suspended sentence until there was room for them. Surely the Government with all its money, which it expends so lavishly, can provide gaol accommodation for all the criminals in the country. The hon. gentleman (Mr. Pugsley) has resorted to the lowest kind of a campaign in this matter; he has gone before public meetings of his partisan supporters and he has made statements which I challenge him to make in this House face to face with us."

Mr. Pugsley did not reply.

Havelock Had Train Every Five Minutes

After the Calm Came the Flood—as Regards Trains—C. P. R. Employee Hurt

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Feb. 11.—The C.P.R. on both divisions from here was blockaded by the storm last week, and for three days Havelock had no mail, freight or papers. But when they did come they came in a bunch, and for a while on Friday night Havelock had a passenger train every five minutes.

Mr. Wm. Goddard, a C.P.R. employee, was somewhat seriously hurt on Saturday, which will cause him to take a few weeks holidays. While engaged in coaling an engine the engine moved, catching him between the tender and the coal shutes, and inflicting several injuries. He is doing as well as can be expected.

STORIES OF SIR JOHN

Stories of Sir John A. Macdonald are becoming less common. Dr. Parkin's new "Life" recalls how on one occasion when he had been violently attacked in the columns of the "Globe for some lapse into intemperance, he went before a large audience and declared he knew that they would any day prefer "John A. drunk to George Brown sober." Dr. Parkin also prints the yarn about the late Hon. T. D'Arcy McGee. When McGee first joined his government, Sir John warned him that he (McGee) must reform his habits, since "no Cabinet could afford to carry two drunkards."

This biographer also recalls a famous passage at arms between Sir John and Principal Grant. The late principal was a great admirer of Sir John, but could not support all his actions and measures. They met at a social gathering one day and Sir John remarked:—"I wish that you would be a steady friend of mine." The Principal replied:—"But, Sir I have always supported you when you were right."

"My dear man," replied the humorous Sir John, with his usual merry twinkle of the eye, "I have no use for that species of friendship."

This excellent volume contains much that is as interesting as these stories and much that is more important. It does not overpraise and neither does it over-blame.—Canadian Courier.

AMUSEMENTS

To the usual capacity house Marks Bros. played "The Witch of Wall Street," in a manner which won the enthusiastic approval of the audience. The play is a drama in five acts and was presented by a large and capable cast, chief among which was May A. Bell Marks who gave a splendid rendition of Jean Ingleside and Marie Dubois. She was seen to much advantage in her different appearances on the stage and was given a most cordial reception by the audience.

Ivy Lyons, as Grace Leighton was natural and very pleasing in the part of Grace Leighton, the Banker's daughter, A. C. Baldwin gave a good portrayal of the role of Earl Leighton and E. W. Hubbard, as George Leighton his false step-brother was seen to advantage in the uncongenial role of the villian. Joe Lyons was amusing as Bryan Wanpringle a hustling drummer. Mazie Marks made a very wise little New York "newsy."

The specialties were very entertaining and consisted of illustrated songs, monologues and song and dance acts. The two picture songs, "Neath the Old Cherry Tree," and "In the Land of the Buffalo," were illustrated by particularly well painted and appropriate slides. The specialty hit was a crackerjack of a juvenile turn was by the two smartest kids that ever performed on local boards, the Gay Sisters. Their act alone was worth the money and they were recalled several times. Their singing of Morse and Drislane's song hit, "Crocodile Isle" was a vaudeville masterpiece, and would have done for pretty close to a top line on a big circuit. Lyons and Lyons are good singers and excellent dancers.

Reports Were Read Last Evening

At the Charlotte street church Epworth League meeting last evening, the reports of the recent convention held at Lindsay were read by Mrs. George and Miss Manning. The reports were very comprehensive and dealt interestingly with the different matters that were brought before the convention. The attendance at the meeting last night was large and a profitable time was spent.

MEMORIES RECALLED

Lines written upon reading a poem by Mr. S. McCamus of Shercock, County Cavan, Ireland, and recently published in the Peterborough Review:

A. McCamus a poet!
And we didn't know it!
And of the old sod
Where our fathers have trod!
Yes, a poet for sure
With a diction so pure,
Fine literary taste,
And a style most chaste.

O now, I am glad;
Though it does make me sad;
For the days of yore
And the old folk-lore
Come back to me.
Now again I see
The circle, the hearth
In the home of my birth
Where oft'n we did listen
While our young eyes would glisten.

To tales hum'rous and scarey
Of the ghost and the fairy,
And the fate that befell,
(So our fathers could tell)
The poor Paddy belated
On the journey ill-fated,
When the light in the bog
He followed agog
'Til bedraggled and torn
Most sad and folorn,
He was found by day-light
In a terrible plight,
In spite of the coat
He had turned inside out.

Then there's the lakes of Killarney
And the stone they called Blarney
That made the tongue slick
When you gave it a lick;
And the hedges and brooks
And the four-leaf shamrocks.
O yes, and we've heard
Of the song of the bird
And the flowers that bloom
In the land they called "home."
Exiled for a while
From the Emerald Isle
They were sojourners here
Where with hope and good cheer,
In this newer land,
With stout heart and strong hand,
Life's burdens they bore
'Til life's journey was o'er.

Dead! Yes, and gone home.
Ne'er again shall they roam;
No more burdens they bear,
Nor sorrow they share,
For they've reached the bright shore.
Where sorrow's no more.

So wherever we stray
For this may we pray
That our hearts may be pure,
So that we may secure
A home with the blest
In the land of sweet rest.

So we tender our friendship
And acknowledge our kinship
To our friend o'er the ocean
Whose poetic effusion
We have read and admired
And these lines have inspired.

REV. J. A. McCAMUS
Odessa, Ont., Canada, Feb. 5, 1908.

Rev. J. A. McCamus is a former resident of Keene, and his father was a native of Shercock, County Cavan, Ireland.

OBITUARY

The following obituary refers to the late J. A. Shaw, a former resident of Peterborough, and in from the Swift Current Sun, of Swift Current, Sask.:—

The funeral of the late J. A. Shaw took place on Saturday from the residence of his father-in-law, J. Y. Doonan. The funeral was largely attended and there were many floral emblems on the coffin, conspicuous among them being one of the Union of Railroad Operators, and one from the local lodge of Oddfellows. The Swift Current Lodge of Oddfellows marched before the hearse to the grave, where a short burial service was held. The service at the house was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Wright and Rev. Mr. Dillgleigh.

Mr. Shaw was born on June 24, 1883, in the town of Keene, county of Peterborough, Ontario. After attending the public school at Keene and the High school at Peterborough, he matriculated in arts at the Toronto University and commenced railroad work as an assistant, afterwards taking a position as operator at Cookshire, Que., and in the fall of 1902 came west, working successively in Swift Current as night operator, day operator, and station agent. During his stay in Swift Current he made many friends, and was universally respected. In October, 1905, he took the C.P.R. Co's agency at Claresholm, Alta., and in December of the same year he married Miss Minie Doonan, of Swift Current. During the winter of 1906 his health began to fail, he being forced to resign his position and go to California. On his return in July, 1907, though somewhat improved, he was still in poor health. In October he worked for three weeks on the C.P.R. at Notch Hill in the Rocky Mountains, but was obliged to give up and resided from that time in Calgary. Until within forty-eight hours of his death he was apparently in good health, but he took a sudden change for the worse and died on the 17th inst., his father, Dr. Shaw, of Regina, and father-in-law, Mr. J. Y. Doonan, of Swift Current, only reaching his bedside a few hours before his death. His mother and wife were in attendance on him from the time he began to reside in Calgary.

It is said on good authority that he became infected with consumption in the station at Claresholm, Alta., which was claimed to have been in a very unsanitary condition, eight other men having previously had the disease while employed there. Much sympathy is felt for his young widow and infant child, as well as for his sorrowing parents.

CHILDREN CURED BY ZAM-BUK

Mother also Benefits

Girl Had Scalp Disease

Mrs. L. Webster, of 519 Seigneur street, Montreal, says:—"Last summer my little girl contracted scalp disease at school. This took the form of bad gatherings, which broke out in the head, and we feared she would have a very bad head and probably lose her hair. After she had suffered about two weeks we heard of Zam-Buk, and purchased a box. Zam-Buk arrested the disease and prevented it from spreading, and in a very short time healed the sores, leaving the scalp free of any trace of this loathsome scalp trouble."

Boy Badly Scalded

"Since then I have had occasion to test the merits of Zam-Buk in my son's case. One day as I was lifting a pan of boiling water off the stove, my son Eddie ran towards me and knocked the pan upwards. The water went over his neck and scalded him very badly. It was a very awkward place on which to keep a plaster, and several things which we tried failed to give him relief. We then applied Zam-Buk. This acted like a charm, quickly drawing away the pain, and soon healed the scald."

Mother's Eye Wounded

Writing at another time, Mrs. Webster relates a peculiar accident. She says:—

"Not many weeks ago my little son, while playing indoors, accidentally struck me over the eye with a stick he was swinging about. I seemed to get the full force of the blow, and the result was an ugly gash just above the eye. This was quite painful, became inflamed and altogether was not any improvement to my general appearance. I was forced to remain in the house until healed. As luck would have it, the previous night I had just taken home a box of Zam-Buk, so it came in very useful. A few applications quite removed the soreness, drew out all inflammation and started healing. In four or five days the wound had closed up nicely, leaving only a faint red mark to show where the cut had been. This also soon disappeared. Zam-Buk is a most useful balm, and we always keep it handy for we have proved it an invaluable Household Remedy."

THE GREAT SKIN-CURE

Will Give Mr. Mahoney $300 In Settlement of all Claims

Board of Works Came to This Decision Last Night—Mr. Strickland Wants Access to His Property on George Street—Some Petitions Received.

The Board of Works has decided to pay Mr. D. Mahoney $300 in complete settlement of his claims to date in connection with the building up of the river front for which he had the contract. It is likely that Mr. Mahoney will accept this sum and that the matter is now definitely settled. At the meeting of the Board last night a statement from the city engineer was read, showing that $187.84 was due Mr. Mahoney, the itemized statement being as follows;

1214 cubic yards at 8 1-2c ...	103.19
1228 cubic yards at 11 1-2c	1383.22
Total	1,486.41
Already paid	1,298.57
Balance due	$187.84

According to Mr. Mahoney's figures there was nearly $500 coming to him and as it was realized that Mr. Mahoney had been working under certain disadvantages it was moved by Ald. Buller and seconded by Ald. Elliott that he be paid $300 in settlement of all claims to date. The motion carried without discussion.

Those present at the meeting were Ald. Phelan, chairman, Ald. Elliott, Tovey, Buller and Morgan, City Engineer Hay, City Solicitor Hall, Street Commissioner Evans and the City Clerk.

The order paper was well filled and the Board was in session for over two hours.

George Curtin wrote asking that the city pay him $2.00 as damages for a pole broken as a result of his horses running up on a snowbank on George St. near McDonnell on being frightened by a street car. One of the horses fell and broke the pole of the sleigh. No action was taken. It was pointed out that the accident would not have happened if the horses had not been frightened.

An account from Alfred Sherwood in connection with work done on a sewer on Pearl avenue evoked some discussion. The chairman pointed out that the corporation had not engaged Mr. Sherwood and it was decided not to pay the account. On motion of Ald. Elliott and Buller the action of the council of 1907 in awarding Mr. Stabler $13 in connection with the matter referred to by Mr. Sherwood was endorsed.

Mr. G. W. Hatton waited on the Board on behalf of Mr. H. Strickland. He said that Mr. Strickland owned a lot on George street south of the Matthews Co. At one time it was land but at present it was covered with water. Mr. Hatton asked that George street be widened at that point to give access to the property as it was impossible to reach it at the present time. The land has been flooded by the raising of the water as a result of the new dam. It is intended to fill in the property and bring it out of the water. Mr. Hatton asked that the corporation fill in the portion of the street that is now under water, thus giving access to Mr. Strickland's lot.

It was decided on motion of Ald. Elliott and Ald. Tovey that a special committee consisting of the chairman, Ald. Buller, Ald. Elliott and the City Engineer be appointed to visit the place in question and report to the committee after making an inspection.

Mr. Strickland was present with Mr. Hatton.

The Mayor was authorized to interview Mr. D. W. Dumble in connection with the purchase of a lot in the south end of the city required by the corporation in connection with the extension of George St.

A report was read from the City Engineer to the effect that certain repairs necessary to the Smith St. bridge.

On motion of Ald. Tovey and seconded by Ald. Elliott the City Engineer was authorized to secure the necessary material, and have the repairs made as soon as possible.

The estimated cost of the repairs is $275.

A petition was received from a number of ratepayers on Donegal street, asking that a sewer be constructed on that thoroughfare from Brock street to a point about 275 feet south of Brock street, as a local improvement.

The city engineer was authorized to look into the matter and make a report.

A resolution from the Board of Health was read recommending that a sewer be constructed on Rubidge street from Brock street 75 feet north of Kirk street.

The city engineer gave an explanation of the circumstances that had led the Board of Health to pass the resolution. It was decided to take no action at the present time.

A petition was received asking that a granolithic sidewalk be built on the east side of Margaret avenue from King to Charlotte. The petition will be dealt with later.

A report was received from the city engineer stating that it would be advisable to look into the agreement with the Peterborough Radial Railway Company regarding extensions of lines and the cost to be borne by the company regarding the removal of snow from the streets. No action was taken.

A petition was received from a number of ratepayers asking that the west end of Romaine street be snow ploughed.

On motion of Ald. Morgan and Ald. Tovey, the street commissioner was authorized to arrange with Mr. Nicholls towards having that part of Romaine street snow ploughed. It was pointed out that the petitioners were ratepayers and deserved consideration.

The city engineer was authorized to examine and report on the Park street drain. It appears that the drain is not working satisfactory in north Monaghan, and the township authorities have not paid much heed to requests to remedy the condition of the drain.

Aldermen Phelan, Elliott and Bradburn were appointed a committee to wait on the North Monaghan council in connection with the matter.

The chairman reported that he had seen Mr. Higgins in connection with the trouble at the gravel pit at the Hilliard farm and it was not necessary to take any action just at present. Mr. Higgins complained that a fence on his property had been undermined by the men taking out gravel.

Mr. E. G. Patterson wrote asking that a drain be kept open on the lane beside their stores building as when there was a thaw or a heavy rain storm the water came in on the floor of the building indicated.

Street Commissioner Evans said he had done his best to keep the drain open. Some times it was cleared out by the city's employees and again by the C.G.E.'s own men.

Ald. Tovey said he was sure Mr. Evans would do everything in his power to keep the drain working satisfactorily and the matter was allowed to drop.

Excellent Entertainment at Knox Church Last Evening—Fine Programme

The social and concert given last evening by the Young People's Society of Knox church last evening, was a great success and in every way most interesting and enjoyable. The attendance was large and, judging from the hearty applause that greeted each number, the excellent programme was thoroughly appreciated.

Rev. H. J. Keith acted as chairman, and opened by referring to the work of the society among the young people of the church. The social, literary and religious work were the different departments into which the work was divided.

The programme was as follows;

WATCH WAS STOLEN FROM MAN'S POCKET

There is some person who of late has made a practice of stealing from the dressing rooms of Brock street rink. One young man had the misfortune to lose a pair of boots the other night, while a more serious loss took place a few days ago. Mr. Herb Conroy while playing hockey had his watch and chain taken from his vest which was hanging in the dressing room. A search was made to recover the valuables, but all efforts were fruitless. The matter has been reported to the police who are making an investigation.

S. S. Meeting at St. Paul's Church

A meeting of the general committee in connection with the Sunday school canvas to be taken in the city will be held tonight at St. Paul's church at eight o'clock. All the Sunday schools in the city are asked to be represented as subcommittees will be appointed and general organization completed.

ZERO CHICKENS HATCHED OUT

Nine Eggs Shells Burst to Make Way for a Fluffy Brood of Nine

This is a rather late season of the year for chickens to be hatched. But despite the cold weather an industrious hen owned by Mr. Isidore Goselin, 163 Romaine street, hatched out nine little chicks. They are all active and very much alive.

SUFFAGETTE SUCCESS

A great Unionist victory and the gain of a seat was announced on Saturday with the return of Captain Morrison Bell as member for Mid-Devon, where a vacancy was caused by the appointment of Mr. H. T. Eve, Liberal, M.P., to a judgship. Captain Bell defeated Mr. C. R. Buxton, the Liberal, converting a former Liberal majority of 1,283 into a Unionist one of 559.

The election was fought entirely on the Tariff Reform question.

There was a violent outbreak of Radical rioting after the first silence and dismay at the result had passed. A Unionist was attacked by rowdies, and two of the leading Suffragettes were pelted, kicked and rolled in the mud. The Constitutional Club was attacked in the evening, and huge stones were hurled through all the windows.

A prominent Unionist worker was found drowned in a mill stream, marks of violence being found on the body.

Havelock Hotelmen Ask For And Receive Copy of Petition

Council Accedes to Their Request on the Advice of the Town Selicitor—High License By-law has Aroused Great Interest.

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Feb. 11.—At a meeting of the Town Council on Monday night last in the Council Chamber at which a large number of ratepayers were present. Mr. C. A. Ghent addressed the Council on behalf of his clients, Messrs. Armstrong, Dineen and McNicholl, proprietors of the local hotels, asking for the production of the high license petition that they might see whose names were signed to same.

He said he made the request believing that his clients were simply asking for their rights as citizens, as he thought that the petition on being received by the Council and filed, was public property and accessible to any ratepayer. He said he had been refused a copy.

A very long discussion was held on the matter. Messrs. Armstrong, McNicholl and Nolan addressed the council endorsing Mr. Ghent's request, while Mr. R. J. Graham, the instigator and father of the petition declared that he had a right to it if it was disposed with. The Council not knowing the legal rights of the affair, instructed the clerk to write the solicitor and get his advice on the matter.

On Friday night a special meeting of the Council was held at which the clerk read the solicitor's reply, which stated that Mr. Ghent's request should be acceded to and on Saturday Mr. Ghent received a copy for his clients.

At the Monday night meeting Constable Bulls' salary was increased from $35 to $40 per month.

A transient traders by-law received its three readings, was signed and sealed.

A resolution expressing the honor conferred on Havelock by the election of Reeve Thompson to the Wardenship of the county and congratulating him on his success, was passed unanimously.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid:—

D. Vansickle	$ .60
J. Cooney	.75
W. Parcels	.88

The Financial Situation

New York, Feb. 10.—Although the Presidential campaign of 1908 is just about beginning, Wall Street is already suffering from too much politics, a fact made plainly evident by the steady decline in prices during the past week, as also by the diminishing volume of business, both on the New York and Consolidated Exchanges. With the renewed attacks on corporate interests emanating from the White House and with onslaughts of a like virulent nature coming from the chief aspirant for Presidential honors on the Democratic side, to say nothing of the introduction of of legislation at Albany inimical to the interests of stock brokers, it is hardly surprising that Wall street is at present very much in the dumps. There have been however, other factors of a nature calculated to bring about such a condition of affairs. While money continues to rule as easy as the proverbial old shoe, the outlook is that from now on rates will tend to harden, chiefly on account of the demands from large corporations. Moreover, there is prospects that this country will before long be called upon to part with at least a portion of the enormous amount of gold which was imported from Europe during the late panic. Already the flow of money from interior cites, which for several weeks past has been practically on an unprecedented scale, is showing a pronounced falling off, so that there is a likelihood that the New York banks instead of still further increasing their reserves, will sooner or later commence to show a decrease in the item.

Figures that have come to light during the past week testify to the falling off in general business that has recently taken place. For instance, the bank exchanges of the principal cities of the country, which constitute an excellent barometer of general business conditions, show a total for the first week of February of only $2,130,830,409, which represents a decrease when compared with the corresponding period of last year of 33 per cent. New York, of course, shows the largest falling off though there have also been considerable decreases at Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburg and San Francisco. The fact that the railroads of the country have felt in marked degree the falling off in general business is emphasized by the publication of earnings for the month of December last. During that month sixty-five roads reported a decrease in net revenues of $6,657,604, or 18.68 per cent from the same month in 1906, while for six months the same number of roads show a falling off in net of $2,341,505, or 1.04 per cent. Among the roads reporting the largest decreases for December are the Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, Southern Railway, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, and Atchison. This indicates the losses were by no means confined to any one section, but were widespread throughout the United States. In view of the above showing and that fact that the opening months of the present year will in all probability make even a poorer showing than those referred to, the prevailing belief, that a number of roads will be compelled to reduce their dividends would appear to have considerable foundations.

This outlook in itself is gloomy enough but when to it is added, the reports of cuts in wages by some of the equipment companies growing out of the lack of orders, there now being 350,000 cars idle on the railroads it can readily be understood why the stock market at present is on the down grade. From time to time during the past week moderate rallies have taken place in the stock market, but these have invariably come from covering of short contracts. Very little outside buying has been in evidence, but on the contrary, moderate liquidations has occurred on several occasions, and brokers on both the New York and Consolidated Exchange are at present advising customers to exercise unusual conservatism in the making of new commitments on the long side of the account. In a word, pessimism rather than optimism now prevails in the financail district.

"Observer's" Charges Against Debating Club are Denied

To the Editor of the Review;

Dear Sir,—In your Saturday's issue you published a letter by "An Observer," who complains that socialistic views are being propagated in the Y.M.C.A. Debating Club. Let me tell you, Mr. Editor, that such is not the case. Amongst the various subjects which we debate there are only two which have a socialistic trend. Now Sir, "Observer" must be short-sighted, or he has spoken out of his turn. For the benefit of the public perhaps it would be as well to publish the programme which I enclose, so that it may be known we do not make the institution a place where socialistic principles are propagated. In dealing with the different subjects which have a political trend the economics that have been advanced have been from that grand old "Tory," John Ruskin, and the equally grand "Liberal" John Stuart Mill, and only once have I heard the name of Carl Marx quoted.

What is the matter with "Observer," perhaps he has a grievance. I have reason to suspect that he is one of our members. Now Sir if he has any pluck he should air his grievance before the members and not kow tow to other people. In closing, Sir, let me tell you that the Y.M.C.A. Debating Club recognize that the institution is not a political fighting ground but an organization for the development of the spiritual and moral side of a young man's life. Thanking you for this opportunity,

Yours truly,
W. G. COMMON,

A Long Tramp Through Blizzard

Mr. Robt. Bryans of Lindsay Accomplishes Remarkable Feat

Lindsay, Feb. 11.—Mr. Robt. Bryans, license commissioner, is no longer a young man, yet he is a good sample of Canadian virility, and apparently need not yet take a back seat when feats of endurance are being discussed.

Tuesday last—just before the last and worst blizzard—Mr. and Mrs. Bryans went to Fenelon Falls by the train to spend a day or two with Mr. and Mrs. Golden, who are old friends. Then came blockades which rendered them prisoners.

Having important business matters to attend to in town, Mr. Bryans essayed to get through yesterday with a team of horses, but had to give up at Powles' Corners a few miles south of the Falls, and instructing the driver to make his way back as best he might, Mr. Bryans set out to walk to Lindsay, following the railway track as well as he could in the blinding snow. Several times he thought he would have to give up, and once he came near falling asleep when he lay down in the snow behind a clump of trees to rest, but he pulled himself together and was in fairly good trim when Lindsay was reached. Many of the young men of our town would hesitate long before undertaking to duplicate Mr. Bryans' feat.

Indian Lay Down in Snow

Mariposa, Ont., Feb. 10.—Jerry Shilling, an Indian, celebrating at Lindsay yesterday, returned to Mariposa on a belated train in an intoxicated condition with several white companions. He started for the Indian camp about a mile from the station, but when about half way home he lay down and was not discovered till nine o'clock this morning. Both hands, feets and ears were frozen solid, but there are hopes of his recovery, though amputation may be necessary.

Peterboro' Lady Hurt in Toronto

Miss Cassie Hoxey Injured by Falling on Sidewalk

Toronto, Feb. 11.—On a visit to friends at 195 Shaw street, Miss Cassie Hoxey, a young lady from Peterborough, fell on the sidewalk last night on Shaw street and fractured her leg just below the knee. She was taken to the Western Hospital.

There is no person by the name of Hoxey in the Peterborough directory.

Dog Taxes are Nearly all Paid

Majority of the Canines are Safe for Another Year

Tax Collector Green has succeeded in gathering in nearly all the dog taxes for 1907. He has had a hard task getting the owners of canines to pay up but at last succeeded in getting everything fairly well settled. There were 181 dogs unpaid for on January 1st, but during the month the collector paid considerable attention to this phase of his department and has succeeded in getting the bulk of the taxes paid up.

Interesting Meeting of Court Stanley A.O.F. Last Evening

There was a good rally of members last night at the regular meeting of Court Stanley, A.O.F., held in the S.O.E. Hall. Bro. C. Hendry, C.R., was in the chair. Three candidates were duly initiated and one proposition was received for membership. Court Stanley was honored with a visit from Bro. Jones, of Court Abstinence, of Toronto, who gave a good address to the members on benefits derived in being a member of the Ancient Order of Foresters. The sympathy of the court was tendered Bro. Jones, who was called here on the serious illness of his son, and the wish of the court that he would speedily recover. Bros. Record, Sturmer and Hendry also gave addresses which were enjoyed by the members.

The Appalling Slaughter of Deer and Moose in Ontario

Large as was the number of deer and moose killed last year by sportsmen, the number slaughtered was far short of the natural increase. There would be no chance of the extermination of either deer or moose in Ontario if the killing of them was confined by sportsmen to the legitimate season. The great danger arises from the indiscriminate slaughter of these animals out of season.

Commenting on this, the Canadian Sportsman says: "We have repeatedly through these columns directed the attention of the Game Warden to sections of country where professional shooters were employed at so much per month to provide deer meat or moose meat to lumber camps. We outlined for him a section where tons of such meat had been sold by the Indians as cheap as 3c per lb. No official notice was taken of this information and their immunity from arrest caused the poachers to become bolder and bolder. A few efficient officers sent out in the close season would find ample opportunity to distinguish themselves and do at the same time an incalculable amount of good. The wolves are also a cause of trouble in many of the northern sections, and liberal though the bonus be, $15 per head, it does not seem to be sufficient to secure any number of them being killed. Laws on the statute books that are not enforced, have a tendency to bring all law into contempt and certainly there are a large number of people throughout Ontario that treat with the utmost contempt all mandates of the game department of the local Government."

Rev. Canon Davidson, M.A., Being Interviewed To-day

Expresses His Opinion of the Controversy Regarding Higher Criticism.

The Review republishes Canon Davidson's reply to the request for his opinion of this controversy, in order to correct any misapprehension that might arise from the typographical disarrangement of a line near the end of it in yesterday's issue.

"The Higher Criticism movement of to-day is deeply interesting, because through it we are given a modern view of the Bible and of its message, which calls to its aid all the helps of philosophic method and scientific research and throws a new and clearer light on much which was formerly obscure and unmeaning."

"The conclusions thus far reached (which do not pretend to be final) are of very different grades according to the reverence and religious viewpoint of the investigators. These conclusions are to be judged of on their merits and from their harmony with the great basic principles of Revelation, 'the faith once delivered to the Saints.'

"Insofar as the principles of Higher Criticism help us to avoid what is merely superstitious and mechanical, we may thankfully use them, but when they are employed to discredit living supernatural truth we promptly part company.

"While on the above grounds some of us may find Higher Criticism interesting, it is unfortunate that many are being unsettled in their faith by the revolutionary conclusions of extreme men and by a vague and utterly unfounded idea that somehow the authenticity of the Bible as the Word of God has been undermined. This is, of course, an entire mistake. The knowledge that a certain human element can be detected in the Bible only brings into more striking contrast the Divine element which remains unshaken. It is really a process of sifting the Divine kernel from the human husk.

"One can perhaps understand people being alarmed who, taking their stand, as it were, on the covers of the English Bible and everything contained in it, accept no other Divine helps as of any authoritative value. To them it may seem as if the foundations were rocking. But to us whose privileged eyes are opened to recognize and to use the Divinely Commissioned Church of the living God, holding in Her hands the open Bible to proclaim and explain the message contained, to such I say, there can be no cause whatever for alarm. Whatever new light God may allow to fall upon the Bible and however differently it may be regarded, the other witness, living, independent and Divine, remains to unite men to God and His Truth.

"It is also a great fact and a consoling one that the central truths revealed in the Bible, all those indeed which are of practical value in life, remain untouched by reverent and conservative criticism, which is lending to them a new interest, and to all practical intents and purposes the Bible is sure to remain the cherished Guide Book for all souls who desire to be guided on life's pilgrimage."

THE CARNEGIE LIBRARY

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I cannot agree with you too heartily in the Review's advocacy of the Carnegie Library project. What may I ask those men and women who are opposing it, and there are, I am sure, not many, do we think or does anybody think, of those towns and cities which have already accepted Mr. Carnegie's money and have profited by it, and have enabled him too do a good work. I see our Board of Trade has taken the matter up and it is to be hoped that their verdict will be favorable.

Yours, &c.,

KIND WORDS FROM SOUTH WARD

The Editor of The Review;

In your last Wednesday's issue of the Evening Review I was rather surprised to read a letter from one who signs as "Interested One" After giving the matter careful consideration I have come to the conclusion that the writer is some disgruntled and vindictive individual, who takes delight in venting his wrath, because the Conservative convention did not materialise to his of their way of thinking. In this twentieth century and enlightened age, people are wont to express their views in public affairs, and not to be coerced or bull dosed by hot heads who continually stir up dissension and strife, whenever the opportunity presents itself. To my mind, these parties are a nuisance and humbug to any community. Why "Interested One" should ask, through the medium of the press, if Mr. R. R. Gamey is coming to stump Peterborough at the coming elections is easily fathomed out. Now, Mr. Editor, surely we have had and heard enough of the member from Manitoulin, and with all due respects to that member of the Provincial Parliament do not defame this fair young city with a repetition of the scandal and rot of the late Ross cabinet. Surely we have had enough of this to last an age and a day. I am confident that if Mr. Gamey came here that it would only cause a bitter feeling, and cause many Liberals to blush with shame. In Mr. Burnham the Conservative convention have every reason to feel proud of the candidate chosen. He is a man who is immensely popular, energetic, and full of fight for a good cause, and lastly a gentleman who I believe, who will fight a clean and manly contest. Now, Mr. Editor, I have for the past sixteen years thrown in my lot with the Reform party. I do not hesitate to say that at the next election, I will give Mr. Burnham my hearty support and do all in my power to have him returned as member for the Ottawa House. If "Interested One" will put his shoulder to the wheel and stop throwing obstacles in the way, he will feel proud of the candidate chosen, and who will be returned by a decisive victory such as has never been known in the annals of the constituency of West Peterborough. There is considerable guessing who will be Mr. Burnham's opponent. Whoever he may be I trust that the candidates will make some arrangement ad lest as see if Peterborough can have one election without mud throwing. Keep Mr. Gamey on his own little island where he will hurt no one, and I can assure you, Mr. Editor, that Liberals and Conservatives alike will feel all the better by his absence. I must apologise for taking up so much of your valuable space. Permit me to remain,

Yours,
PRO-BONO PUBLICO

Was Caught After Years of Absence

Young Man Left City Owing a Police Court Fine But Was Arrested After Months of Freedom

No matter how long a person guilty of some offence, succeeds in evading the law, he is bound to be captured sooner or later. Wm. Wallace a former resident of this city was arrested last night for an offence he committed nearly a year ago. Last April Wallace was fined two dollars and costs amounting to $4.60 by His Worship, Magistrate Dumble, for being drunk and disorderly. He was given ten days in which to pay but in the meantime he left the city and was travelling through the States with Forepaugh and Sells Bros. big circus. He came here from Pittsburg yesterday evening and was stopping at the Queen's hotel when the police hear of it and Wallace was soon behind the bars. The fine had increased to $7.60 but the prisoner did not care to pay it so will sojourn at Castle Nesbitt for the next 10 days.

David Hartley Leaves To-morrow

For Kansas to Take Part in Big Walk

In conversation with the Review last evening Mr. David Hartley, the well-known long distance walker, said that he would likely leave tomorrow for Kansas City, where he will be one of the competitors in the big six days' walking contest to be conducted there commencing Feb 24th.. Through the financial assistance of some friends of Mr. Hartley, in addition to the receipts from the concert, he is able to take this trip. It is indeed an honor to Peterborough that it will be the only Canadian city that will be represented at the big walking contest. It is safe in predicting that the local walker will be a winner and will bring honor to the city he represents. Public spirited citizens desirous of seeing Peterborough advertised as it certainly will be, should assist Mr. Hartley in his enterprise.

Mr. Hartley has been constantly training for several weeks past, but the weather conditions have been anything but favorable for walking any distance. The walk will commence a week from next Monday. There will be about twenty entries, and they will walk twelve hours each day, from Monday morning until Saturday night.

Opening of the Basketball League

No. 1 Team Wins Exciting Game From No. 2.

The Y.M.C.A. senior class Basketball League opened last night with a game between teams Nos. 1 and 2, captained by Loomis and Turner respectively, the latter winning by a score of 16 to 11.

The play was hard all through and neither team could be picked as the winner till just before time, when Fred Hall made his team safe by some good shooting.

The following were the teams;—

No. 1—Loomis, Daly, Dinsdale, Ray Best, Dagnall.

No. 2.—Turner, Hall, Sutherland, McCarrell, Gillespie.

Next Friday at 9 p.m. teams Nos. 3 and 4 will play.

Sporting Comment.

The fans of Peterborough are anxiously awaiting for the arrangements for the Strathcona-Norwood game to be made. So far Norwood has failed to communicate with the champions, so nothing definite concernig the exhibitions is known. The Straths are very anxious to have the games played, but for some reason or other Norwood has failed to express their pleasure in the matter one way or another. Every local hockey enthusiastic would like to see Norwood and the Strathconas meet, and an unusually large crowd is sure to be on hand should the sevens ever come together in the Brock street rink.

THE RING

Tommy Burns is still the "American" pugilist to the United States newspapers. And will continue so till he loses a battle.—Toronto Globe.

London, Feb. 11.—The sporting and other morning newspapers comment mostly in terms of ridicule on the sorry display that Palmer made with Burns. The latter, after the contest, said that never in his life had he had such an easy fight. Palmer did not attempt to make an explanation of his defeat, saying merely that he must conclude that his days as a fighter were ended, and adding that he would quit the ring as a principal forever.

For saving a boy from drowning Constable Setter of the M. Division has been awarded a free pass to the baths for life by the Southwalk Borough Council.

McKERCHERS WANT TO PLAY

McKercher's hereby challenge Noble's Boarding House team to a friendly game of hockey at the Brock street rink, as soon as arrangements can be made. The line-up of McKercher's is as follows;

Goal—J. McCoy.
Point—W. Milliand.
Cover—H. Gibbs.
Centre—J. M. Watson.
Left—Gilly Kearns.
Right—B. Barclay,
Rover—J. King.

No Games at Brock Street

For the first time in along while there were no games at the Brock street rink last night. A practice game between the Chieftains and another seven having no particular connection with any club was to have taken place between five and six players, but as enough players did not show up the workout did not take place.

CURLING

Winnipeg, Feb. 11—The twentieth annual bonspeil of the Manitoba branch of the Royal Caledoian Curling Club opens here tomorrow iwth 130 rinks in attendance. Eastern Ontario is represented by Mr. J. W. Flavelle of Lindsay with his crack rink. Many American rinks arrived today from St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth and also a rink from Dawson City in the Yukon. The weather is very mild and it is likely the games scheduled for tomorrow will have to be postponed.

RUNNING

In an interview at Calgary, Art Burn stated that an article to the effect that Chandler was champion of the west and Burn would have to accept his terms for a twenty-five mile race was away off. He claims he has journeyed to the coast twice and beaten Chandler, the champion there in fifteen, ten and seven-mile runs. He challenges Chandler to run twenty-five miles in Calgary in one month's time and will give him two minutes' handicap. The reason of the race in Calgary, is to get the Winnipeg men Walker and Martin, to compete. The result of the race should be a final decision as to the western representatives for the Olympic games.

Peterborough to be Represented

At Bowling Tournament to be Held in Toronto

Toronto, Feb. 11.—Entries close next Saturday, Feb. 15th, for the C.B.A. tourney held in Toronto. Bowlers will be present and take part from many points in the United States and Canada. Entries are rolling in nicely and this year's tourney will exceed by far last year's inaugural effort. (Vancouver, B.C.; Winnipeg, Man.; Chicago, Ill.; Detroit, Mich.; Buffalo, N.Y.; Erie, Pa.; Newark, N.J.; Bay City, Mich.; Cincinnati, Ohio; Louisville, Ky., and London, Guelph, Berlin, Niagara Falls, Montreal, Ottawa, Waterloo, Hamilton, Peterborough, Orillia, Brantford, Owen Sound, Beamsville, Galt, Quebec City, and many other places yet to be heard from who are expected to enter. Toronto, of course, as predicted, will be represented by scores of teams, and this manifestation of local support augers well for a record number of contestants, which, combined with the classy field of entrants, leaves little else to be desired in this respect, save, possibly, the establishment of new world's records.

HOCKEY

Stratford defeated the Toronto Athletic Club in Toronto last night by 10-4. At half time the score stood 6-2.

Toronto won from Brantford in Brantford last night by 11-8. The game was a good one and Brnatford lead by 6-4 at half-time.

Injured by Falling into the Ash Pit

G.T.R. Engine Driver Victim of Painful Accident

Mr. Wm. Elliott, engine driver on the G.T.R., and brother of Mr. T. C. Elliott of this city, was the victim of a painful accident on Saturday afternoon at Belleville. Mr. Elliott's train runs between Madoc and Belleville, but on Saturday owing to the blockade on the road came to Peterborough with the snow plow. He again left here with the double header train for Belleville in the afternoon. On reaching that city he took his engine into the engine house. The building was very dark, and stepping down he walked towards another engine but not noticing where he went, he stepped into the ash pit, a drop about six feet. He fell with such force that he was so badly hurt that he was unable to get up. It was not for some time after that assistance came and he was carried out. It was found that he was badly bruised, but no bones were broken. He is at present confined to his home in Madoc where he is progressing favorably.

Is This the Cause of the Dogs' Deaths?

Citizen Claims That the Canines are Poisoned by Eating Paste

A local man claims to have discovered the answer to the "question" of "who is poisoning dogs in Peterborough." He says that the canines are not being done away with by any dog hater but that they are responsible for their own destruction. His theory is that the dogs eat the paste that falls on the ground when bills are being posted up and that the "sticker" is poisonous. This is a new view of the case and the theory does not seem improbable.

Business Brisk on the Market

Business on the market has been exceedingly brisk during the past few days. Seven loads of hay were offered for sale and nineteen and nineteen and twenty dollars per load was realized. Messrs. Stabler, Thornton had large shipments of hogs weighed at the scales today. They were sold to the George Matthews Co.

WEDDING BELLS

TEDFORD—DECK

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. Thos. Deck, Douro just east of the city limites, this afternoon at two o'clock, when his daughter Miss Olive Mabel Deck, was united in marriage to Mr. John Tedford. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. G. Potter, in the presence of about seventy-five guests. The bride, who was charmingly attired, was attended by Miss Lily Porter, of Toronto, and the groomsman was Mr. Tedford, a brother of the groom. The wedding march was played by Miss Mary Pratley.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served and the happy young couple received the congratulations of a host of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Tedford left on an evening train on a wedding trip to points west. The bride received many beautiful presents.

29 Vehicles at the Gates

The amount of traffic on the streets was illustrated today, when 29 sleighs and cutters were gathered on one side of the C.P.R. gates while they were down, allowing a freight to pass about 3.30 this afternoon. Such a large number under the same circumstances, according to a reliable authority, is probably unparalleled.

NOT WORDS BUT DEEDS

Are the Characteristics of Whitney Government.

Accused of Stealing Good Measures From Opposition — Mr. Harcourt Twitted With Inaction When In Office—Liberals at Ottawa Trying to Rob Ontario of Her Rights—Several Committees Appointed.

Toronto, Feb. 12.—The lack of ammunition in the Opposition debating ranks wherewith to bombard the Government was evidenced in the continuation of the debate on the speech from the throne yesterday. Hon. Richard Harcourt advocated advances in technical training, but he was neatly met by Mr. McGarry (South Renfrew), who pointed out that the Government had already taken action along that line and twitted Mr. Harcourt with his failure to do anything when he held the office of Minister of Education.

Mr. Smith (Sault Ste. Marie) who continues to-day, bemoaned the fact that the Government was "stealing" all the good measures away from the Opposition, and created much laughter from the Government benches by an unguarded statement that the Liberals "had a new suit of clothes for every day."

On motion of the Prime Minister, committees were appointed for the following purposes—To assist the Speaker in the care of the library; to strike the standing committees; to direct the expenditure of any sum set apart for art purposes.

Mr. Harcourt offered congratulations to the new members who moved and seconded the reply to the speech from the throne. His was to be a suggestive rather than a critical address, he said. The most important feature in the address from the throne, Mr. Harcourt declared, was its reference to further educational legislation and of increased grants to urban public schools.

He advocated that a portion of the proposed grant should go to the vocational or monotechnical school for the special teaching of trades.

There was, continued Mr. Harcourt, "a primrose path to the professions," while there was "not even a trail leading to a single trade."

He dealt at considerable length with statistics illustrating his point and concluded with the expression of his belief that the Federal Government through the Department of Trade and Commerce should make a grant to all the provinces for technical and educational education.

Mr. McGarry (South Renfrew) facetiously opened by confessing himself at a loss whether to sympathize with or congratulate the hon. member for Monck (Mr. Harcourt) on his loss of the Liberal leadership. He had wondered all the time he was speaking why Mr. Harcourt had totally neglected to do a thing along the lines he now ably advocated. As a result, Mr. McGarry said, the present Government was sending a special inspector throughout Ontario to cultivate interest in manual training and technical education. "The Government acts, while the gentlemen opposite talk," he observed.

Continuing, Mr. McGarry declared that the great issue before Ontario at the present time was Provincial Rights. The Dominion Government, he said, "was systematically endeavoring to defraud Ontario of her rights. "This," he continued, "was evidenced in the recent charters granted to electric corporations at Ottawa."

Mr. McGarry concluded by congratulating the Attorney-General on his advanced measure of law reform and the Minister of Mines on his administration of Northern Ontario.

Mr. C. N. Smith (Sault Ste. Marie) followed. He blamed the Government with stealing the Liberals clothes, and endeavored to make some capital out of alleged irregularities in the Department of Mines, but when asked by the Prime Minister to prefer a charge, declined to do so.

"Oh," said Mr. Smith, in reply to Mr. Whitney's challenge, "you'll find trouble enough without looking for it. Nobody denies that the present Prime Minister of Ontario is an honest man. We all admit it. But Ontario never had other than an honest Premier."

NINE BLOWN TO ATOMS

Terrible Explosion of Nitro-Glycerine at Vaudreuil, Que.

Tenth Man Fatally Injured—Disaster Occurred at Standard Explosive Works—Majority of Employes Were at Lunch Otherwise Loss of Life Would Have Been Appalling—Mutilated Beyond Recognition.

Montreal, Feb. 12.—Nine heads of families crushed and burned beyond all possible recognition, and one so seriously injured that he may die, is the sum total of the result of the terrible explosion which took place at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon on Ile Perrault, opposite Vaudreuil Station, 20 miles from this city.

It was the nitro-glycerine building and the two mixing rooms of the Standard Explosive Works where occurred the dreadful fatality which so greatly exercised the entire community, yesterday afternoon.

The dead are: Pierre Menard, Arthur Legault, Urgel Lauzon, Joseph Cayen, Joseph Roson, J. B. Robillard, N. Rousseau, S. Trepanier and Thos. Dunberry, while John Leduc seems to have been the one man badly injured.

The explosion occurred at noon, when most of the employes were outside the building, otherwise the loss of life would most likely have been much greater.

Were Blown to Atoms.

The nine victims of the explosion were inside the building, which was blown up. Their bodies were literally blown to atoms, and when recovered were so frightfully mutilated as to be beyond recognition. Several of the other buildings were damaged and the workmen who were in them in many cases had narrow escapes from death. Several doctors from Vaudreuil were quickly on the scene and they rendered aid to those who were suffering, while the more fortunate who escaped with slight wounds, assisted in the work of searching for the bodies of their dead companions in the debris of the wrecked buildings.

All of the victims of the accident resided in the neighborhood of the factory or in the little village of Vaudreuil, across the river. There were 300 employes in the works, but most of them were away at dinner at the time of the explosion. The shock was so great that it shook houses in the village of Vaudreuil and caused many of the inhabitants to rush from their houses in alarm. Windows were broken in many places and the ground for half a mile around shook as though an earthquake had occurred.

When the people of Vaudreuil realized what had happened there was a rush of friends and relatives of the workers for the wrecked plant. Women and boys hurried down the road to the factory, anxious to learn the fate of their loved ones. The names of the dead were obtained by taking a census of the living and getting the names of those who were in the building when the explosion occurred.

Last summer the powder house of the Standard company exploded, but on that occasion no lives were lost.

A Letter Written to Mr. Chas. McBride by "Low Down Hound"

Some Unknwn Person Communicates With Him Concerning Fire Insurance—Storm Causes Much Inconvenience—Many People Going and Coming to and From Lakefield.

Rev. John Broford and Mrs. Broford were in Barrie last week visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crawford were called away to Apsley on Saturday last, owing to the death of Mrs. Crawford's father, Mr. Payton Shewen.

Mrs. F. Clarke of New York, who has been visiting her father, Mr. R. C. Strickland, left for home on Monday last.

Miss Mina Sherin, who has been visiting friends in Millbrook, was called home suddenly on Saturday last, owing to the serious illness of her father, Mr. Samuel Sherin. We are glad to learn that Mr. Sherin is now progressing towards recovery.

Miss Hilda Kelly of the Cement Co., spent Sunday last in Peterborough visiting friends.

Miss Cora Lightfoot of the Cement Co., also spent Sunday at her home in Peterborough.

The late storm played havoc with people's feelings in this village. There was a Sabbath calmness about the streets, but it was not communicated to the breasts of the general public—Everyone was eager for news of the outside world.—Kingdoms might have been overturned, countries wiped out of existence, and most important of all, Thaw himself might have issued another thrilling and soul stirring manifesto to the public, calling upon them to deliver him from his uncongenial quarters in the asylum and none of us would have been the wiser—When the papers arrived, however, we found that the world had wagged on much the same as usual—Queen Amelie and her son were still in the land of the living, Portugal was still a kingdom, and the only complaint Thaw had given vent to was that he could not get his tobacco.

Miss Penny returned on Saturday last from a visit to her friend, Mrs Palmer, in Peterborough.

Local physicians have been having a hard time visiting their country patients. In some cases they have had to tie their horses to the fences and scramble as best they could through the snow fields to their destination.

Mr. H. Tackaberry was one of the unfortunates who was snowbound on his way to this village from Toronto last week. The train was held up by the drifts between Stouffville and Markham. The women and children were sheltered in the various farm houses along the route. Whilst all the men who felt vigorous enough for the job tramped through the drifts to Markham where they were hospitably entertained at the expense of the G.T.R.

Mrs. Roland Johnston who has been visiting relatives in Peterborough, returned home on Saturday last.

The tea and grand concert in connection with St. Andrew's church, Young's Point, will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 12. Tea will be served in the basement of the church from 5 to 7.30 p.m. The concert will be held in Heard's Hall, commencing at 8 p.m.

There will be a hockey match on Tuesday, Feb. 12th, between the Lakefield Intermediates team and the Y.M.C.A. of Peterborough. The game ought to be a good one.

Mr. and Mrs. Hawey, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wilson and the Misses Young were in the village on Monday last.

Mr. Chas. McBride of the Commercial House has received the subjoined letter from some low-down hound in the vicinity, who hadn't the manliness to put his name to the document. He desires to have it published in order to show what a cur his genial correspondent is.—Anonymity in the epistolary line is the usual resort of a coward. It is to be hoped that the publication of the letter will bring a sense of shame to the writer of it and deter him in future from giving such a vent to his spitefulness. The man must be a dastard, impure and simple. Banishment to Holland would be too good for him, although according to the school girl's theory it must be a good place for such creatures, being a low lying country.

Mr. Chas. McBride,

Dear Sir,—I am informed you have $1000 insurance on your household effects, which is three times their value. If a fire starts at the Commercial it will look suspicious. I will come forward then and see that the law is rigidly enforced. A word to the wise is sufficient.

As Yet Your Friend.

Miss Fitzgibbon of Toronto, who has been staying for a few days with her mother, Mrs. Chamberlain, left for home Monday last.

On Friday last Miss Fitzgibbon gave a talk to the pupils of the Public school on Lord Grey's project of a National Park on the historic battle ground of the Plains of Abraham.

Hard Time Looking for Place; Wanted to Establish Baths

Mr. Moran of Pittsburg, Couldn't get Premises for Turkish Baths—Peterborough Recommended to Him as Liveliest of Small Cities—Was Here for Three Days.

Mr. J. A. Morden of Pittsburg, Pa., left for Toronto today with present intentions of establishing Turkish baths in Peterborough. Not because he wouldn't like to try the experiment but for the simple reason that he is unable to secure a suitable location for the carrying out of the enterprise.

Mr. Morden was here for three days and when seen by the Review on Monday, requested that nothing be mentioned concerning the object of his visit until he had had a look around the city.

"I have heard of Peterborough as a good town," he said to a reporter this morning. "A friend of mine who was here some time ago, and was connected with the executive department of the "Lion and the Mouse," recommended it as the liviest of the smaller cities he had struck in Canada, and suggested the opening of bath parlors. It seems to me that the place is a trifle small, but still I think the baths might be made to pay."

He could not say whether or not he would return at a later date. He said he had much more difficulty than he thought he would have met with in trying to secure a suitable site. Mr. Morden is one of a syndicate controlling several Turkish and Russian baths and massage parlors in Pittsburg and Cincinatti.

Some Views Expressed on Carnegie Library Question

"What is your opinion of the Carnegie library question? Are you in favor of asking him for a grant for a free library?" were questions asked Mr. W. H. Hill by the Review today. "Yes, I am very much in favor of taking a grant of $30,000 from Mr. Carnegie," replied Mr. Hill. "There is not a man in Peterborough who would not accept the same amount if it were offered to him, and why should not the city?"

Mr. Hill thought that if Peterborough wanted a free library they would have to issue debentures for $30,000, and it would cost from three to five thousand dollars a year to maintain it. A great many people found fault with Carnegie, but he had amassed his wealth just the same as any other millionaire. He came to the United States from Scotland, England, Canada, and Ontario had all received a portion of his wealth. He did not think Peterborough would in any way be humbled in accepting a grant from Carnegie.

Mr. Jas. English in expressing his views, was utterly opposed to receiving Carnegie's money. He wouldn't advise it. He was of the opinion that it would bring bad luck to the city if Peterborough accepted his "gambled" money.

Mr. John Nugent was also spoken to on the matter, and was favorable to a Carnegie library being built in the city. Mr. Carnegie was a British subject, being a Scotchman by birth. He thought that poor people would be benefitted by a free library.

Peterborough Printer Given Position on Japanese Paper

Mr. G. A. Hamon of Examiner News Room to be Assistant Manager of Nagasaki Press—Interesting Circumstances Leading to His Being Tendered the Office.

In a short time Mr. G. A. Hamon an employe of the news room of the Examiner, leaves for Nagasaki, Japan, to take a position on the Nagasaki Press, a publication printed in English, and under the editorial direction of an English writer.

The editor of the paper, Mr. E. R. S. Pargon, and Mr. Hamon worked together on the same sheet, the Aldershot, Eng., News, and that accounts for the latter being offered the position of assistant manager of the Nagasaki Press. The present editor has been connected with the Press for five years. When the Japan-Russo war broke out he was filling the position which he has offered Mr. Hamon. The editor of the paper, a Mr. Lewis, went to the front as war correspondent for one of the leading London papers and has since accepted a permanent position on the editorial staff of the journal for which he was writing. The place he has requested Mr. Hamon to take is the one he was filling previous to the war. Mr. Hamon wired his acceptance of the position this morning and is waiting for a reply from Japan. In the communication he received it was stated that his passage would be paid from here to his destination in the land of the rising sun. He is now awaiting further instructions as to the trip and will probably leave about the end of the month. Mr. Hamon has been in Canada three years. For two years he was conected with a Hamilton jobbing house and has been in the employ of the Examiner for a year.

Nagasaki is a seaport town situated in the southern portion of Japan and has a big population. It is a calling place for many British and American trading vessels and among its citizens are a large number of Americans and some English. This accounts for the establishment there of the Nagasaki Press, which although it is under an English editor, employs Japs entirely in the mechanical department.

He Has a Ten Dollar Fringe

Lumberman With Growth Like Bath Towel Border is Out for the Money

A lumberman who is at present in the city is trying to make money on a peculiar wager. The conditions of the bet are this; He has to wear a beard for three weeks. This sounds quite simple but if you saw the way his beard grows, you could not fail to realize that there is considerable embarassament attached to his obligation. He does not grow a nice even full becoming whisker, but when he neglects to shave a solitary fringe like that worn by the orthodox stage Irishman loops out to hinder his chances from all standpoints. But the wager is on and the lumberman intends to win the money. He is out on the streets every day and makes no secret of the bet.

HIGHER CRITICISM

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I am pleased to see that the Review has reported the ideas of ministers on the Higher Criticism. The average man does not know what is being done to the Bible, but gets the idea that it is being disproved. Higher Criticism seems to me to mean that man, not God, is the ultimate authority in matters of faith. Surely this is not right. We either believe that God inspired men to write down His message to mankind, or that He failed to succeed in doing so. In the one case we have no message then at all. In the other, and, if my idea is correct, we do admit that God succeeded. If He succeeded, why need we worry over what we take to be errors, but which may not be errors at all. It look alike children teaching their teachers. However, I am open to instruction.

Yours, &c.,
IGNORANTIA.

POPULAR RIGHTS

The Japanese Immigration Treaty was first made and concluded and then put before Parliament to be inquired into. The French Treaty was handled in the same way. Taken in conjunction with Sir Wilfrid's refusal to produce public documents it all looks as if we were wearing a constitutional breakdown. A more direct defiance of parliamentary usage and popular rights could not well be believed. However it isn't done without reason. It is impossible for any Government to defend either treaty especially the former. The policy of silence under the lash in the House and of daring impropriety outside are we suppose the best ways to bluff the country into the belief that all is well. The bluff might go if it were not we all have to pay for itt. In that way we come in direct contact with the true situation. $130,000,000.00 or three times what it was under Conservative rule is the annual bill of expenses. A trade that with the exception of New Zealand's has the slowest rate of increase in the world and a yearly bill of costs that surpasses all rivals are two things that must sooner or later give us pause.

SALVATION ARMY IMMIGRATION

Last year the Army received applications to the number of 250,000 from English men and women wishing to emigrate, chiefly to Canada. They selected some 17,000 from these as fit and proper persons. The charge that the Army has rescued lowest England at the expense of higher Canada is evidently groundless. There is at present, whatever there used to be, a regularity and precision about the Army business methods that speaks well for the commercial talent of its officers. General Booth is certainly a wonderful man. But indeed, that may be said not only of him, but of the Army as a whole. The views of vanity, petty rivalry irreligious ambitions and other forms of meanness and self-seeking the Army appears to be free from. A deep abiding sense of responsibility to and simple faith in God and His Beloved Son, have displaced whatever of human weakness may have characterized the Army at first. We can excuse what some may think unnecessary noise in their religious services. But as a matter of fact, in many cases Army music is meritorious and devotional. It is a curious feature of this part of their work that their services like those of the Anglican High Church have become nearly altogether choral. Thus do extremes sometimes meet. If the Army succeeds in retaining the attention of immigrants after they come to Canada and then succeeds in making them better morally as well as more prosperous financially it will have done doubly great work for this country and one worthy of imitation by Government immigration agents.

PUNISHMENT OF CRIME

We have before us the first reading of "An act to amend the Criminal Code respecting assaults on women and children." We do not see in it any provision for the use of the cat in certain cases. Whipping is not a desirable form of punishment, it is true, but a fine or imprisonment works hardships usually on the wrong people. Mr. Dumble, K.C., has given it as his opinion that the refusal of parliament to permit magistrates to order flogging is most unwise. It is unreasonable to argue, as some do, that whipping is degrading. Criminals to whom it is proposed to apply the cat for certain crimes, cannot, morally, be injured by whipping or anything else. Solomon's maxim in such cases, if not in others, holds good. The lash has been proven to have a greater deterrent effect than any other known form of punishment.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The recital of the Quebec Bridge swindle, by Mr. Samuel Barker, M. pears in Hansard, the official record of Parliament, in another column, ought alone to be enough to drive any administration from power. The contract and subsequent guarantee by Parliament are fine specimens of business fitness and regard for the interests of —Mr. Parent.

The disposition of the Liberal press to reply to the onslaughts of the Opposition at Ottawa by alleging that when the Conservatives were in power they were just as corrupt, is disheartening. If our rulers have become so callous or so obtuse as to suppose that such answers are either effective or satisfying to the Canadian electorate, they must be far gone indeed. The real reason of it, however, is that the Laurier Government is guilty of the crimes charged, and seeing no way out of it, propose to cry "Thief! Thief!" like the cunning highwayman to distract public attention.

FROM HANSARD

"Mr. Samuel Barker (East Hamilton). • • • • Therefore the moment the government had been committed to that transcontinental railway project it became doubly important that every care should be taken in the construction of that bridge.

What was the condition of the Quebec Bridge Company at that time? Anybody who takes any interest in that question will find it fully set forth in the Act of 1903, chapter 54. There you will find the complete details of the financial position of the wonderful Quebec Bridge Company, which seems to have lived and prospered under the wing of this government. The Quebec Bridge and Railway Company was incorporated some 20 years ago with power to construct a bridge across the St. Lawrence river at or near Quebec. They were authorized to issue capital stock to the extent of $1,000,000 and they did not neglect in procuring their charter to have inserted that well known clause of which railway and bridge promoters are so fond, enabling the company to issue its stock as paid-up stock to persons who perform certain services for the company. Up to 1903 the company had received subscriptions for only $200,000 of the stock with which to construct this immense work and upon that stock, up to the autumn of 1903, these stock holders of this Quebec Bridge Company had paid only $65,585.70. Whether any of that $65,000 was paid in cash or whether it was all issued for services we do not know, but we do know that in the arrangement made in October, 1903, with this government not a word seems to have been said about the existence of that in money. In any case with that beggarly capital of $65,585.70 the company boldly started out to construct the greatest bridge the world has known; a bridge, Sir, estimated to cost between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000 apart from the loss by disaster which is alluded to in the speech from the Throne. Possibly they did not, as you may guess, rely much upon that paid up capital of theirs; that would hardly have paid the directors' fees, I fancy, during the time of the existence of this company.

They got bonuses from different sources; from the Province of Quebec, $250,000; from the city of Quebec, $300,000, and from the Dominion government, $374,353, a total in hand cash of $924,353, and in 1903 that money had all been spent except about $9,000. Out of nearly $1,000,000 which they had received as gifts they had in hand, apparently, about $9,000. They had constructed, according to the statement appearing in the statute to which I have referred, some approaches to the proposed bridge and they had finished the sub-structure and work had been begun on the superstructure. They had expended in part payment for the work done $914,862, out of the cash subsidies, thus having, to give the precise figures, $9,491 in hand, plus, of course, the little capital that existed. But they had not paid in full for all the work done; they were still, they say, in debt $779,550, which included some bonds they had sold. They had sold bonds for $472,000, and what do you suppose they they got for them? This great company, engaged in constructing this great work, sold these bonds for $288,279, just about sixty cents on the dollar and had a paid up capital of 86 cents for every $100 that the work required. It is a most extraordinary position for such a company, and I have no doubt that these bonds were never sold for cash at all; they were probably given over to some contractor at 60 cents on the dollar on account of his work. The company probably was in this position and the government knew it, because they had the statements before them. They were in debt $779,550 and they had assets, allowing the balance of the subsidies and the possibly paid up stock of $75,076, leaving their net debt, in October, 1903, $704,473.30. That is, the bridge company was on the wrong side by this amount, over $700,000, and had not one cent with which to proceed with the super-structure. They had to face a money market which was rapidly raising, and the Finance Minister knew that because he admitted it in his speeches upon the railway problem. The bridge, if they could built it at all, was likely to cost $6,000,000 or $7,000,000, or $8,000,000, and having regard to the possibility of an accident, such as has occurred, might cost $12,000,000. That was the position of this company when the government undertook to deal with it. The company was on the rocks, stranded, helpless, thoroughly bankrupt, and yet in that condition, and knowing well the importance of this great work, hon. gentlemen opposite undertook to guarantee the company.

One would have thought that would be the last thing that any sensible man would have imagined they could have been asked to do. I venture to say that there is not one hon. gentleman sitting behind the government who, if he had been asked under these conditions to advance the guarantee of nearly seven millions of money for that company, would have listened to it for one moment. I do not believe there is one hon. gentleman who would have held himself responsible to the people who were undertaking that guarantee, or who would have hesitated to take advantage of the condition into which that company at that time had fallen and assumed the work and built it as a national work. What an opportunity that was for the government. They had launched out on a great work which was to involve the country in some 150 millions of money. In the middle of that work was a great river requiring a great bridge. Here was an utterly bankrupt company with $65,000 of capital which apparently was not in existence, and they allow that company to continue in control of that work on which so much depended for the business interests of this country. They knew that they had only to say to Mr. Parent, the president of this Quebec Bridge Company that he could go on with the work if he chose, but he could not get any more public money and Mr. Parent would have come down and would have been glad to have the government take it off his hands, and the people would have been glad to return to this company their $65,000 threefold if they wanted it. It was a big question. This country would have been glad to get rid of the company almost on any terms; but Mr. Parent was a friend of the right hon. leader of this House, both a political and a personal friend, and he was able to come here to Ottawa and secure what I think he must have hardly expected. A very singular feature of the transaction occurred at that time. This House had been sitting for eight long months, from March until the end of October in that year, 1903. On the 19th of October the government entered into a contract with that Bridge Company which, with all the facts that I have stated, are set forth in this statute. That contract was signed by the hon. Finance Minister on behalf of Canada and by Mr. Parent on behalf of the bridge company. In that contract the government recited that the estimated further cost of the bridge including the debt owed by the company, was $6,868,882. The government made one stipulation; they stipulated that the bridge company should issue $200,000 more of stock, and have it paid up, so as to recoup to the company the discount on the bonds that they had issued; and on this bankrupt company agreeing to do that the government undertook to guarantee the securities of the company to the extent of $6,678,200.

Mr. Haggart—Did that include the bonds they had issued.

Mr. Barker—That included their debt only—not the bonds. The bonds were to stand out apparently but they were to make good to their own company the discount by issuing $200,000 of stock and getting it paid up. As I say, that contract was signed on the 19th of October by the hon Finance Minister and by the right hon. leader's political and personal friend, Mr. Parent, a partner of one of the right hon. gentleman's colleagues in the government. We can understand how Mr. Parent was able to introduce himself to the Finance Minister. Within five days after that agreement was signed, the Act confirming it was rushed through both Houses of parliament. Now, I would like to know if there is one hon. gentleman who sits behind the ministers who will dare to go before his constituents next year and justify or excuse that contract. I do not ask what they will do here, whether they will vote that it was all right; but I ask, can any hon. gentleman say in his heart that he will be prepared to go before his constituents next year and justify or excuse the government for entering into such an agreement as that with a bankrupt company lying on the rocks with not a dollar to bless itself with in connection with the greatest bridge in this world, costing millions? And that was done by the Finance Minister as perhaps he would buy a horse or a cow in a hurry."

Enjoyable "At Home" Held Last Evening

Under the Auspices of Mark St. Ladies' Aid—An Excellent Programme

A most enjoyable "At Home" was held last evening at Mark street church under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid. A large number of people gathered in the basement, which was very tastefully decorated with flags and bunting, and presented a very attractive appearance. The first part of the evening was spent in social intercourse, after which the pastor, Rev. C. H. Coon, took the chair and in a few brief remarks introduced the following programme:

Instrumental Solo—Miss A. Dixon.
Vocal Solo—Mr. Frank Pratt.
Reading—Mrs. J. Spiers.
Vocal Solo—Rev. C. H. Coon.
Reading—Mrs. J. Spiers.
Vocal Solo—Mr. F. Pratt.
Recitation—Mrs. A. A. Fowler.

After the programme refreshments were served and a very pleasant evening was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

ORGANIZING FOR CANVAS

House to House Visitation Committee Met—City Divided into Districts

The general committee representative of all the churches and Sunday schools met last night for the purpose of completing the organization and making arrangements for taking the religious census of the city. The work will be done on the afternoon of Wednesday, March 11th. At last night's meeting the city was divided into thirteen districts and a supervisor appointed for each, whose duty it will be to lay out the work for the visitors, see that they are supplied with the necessary information and cards and receive the returns.

Arrangements were made for obtaining the 300 visitors necessary to do the work and each church will be asked to supply its share. It was considered desirable that the names of the visitors should be in the hands of the secretary not later than Monday, the 16th inst.

Mr. R. Lees was chosen chairman of the committee and Mr. J. S. Knapman secretary.

Very Good Home Made Remedy

Anyone Can Prepare This Mixture Which is Said to Relieve Catarrh

The coming months will be a harvest for the doctors and patent medicine manufacturers unless great care is taken to keep the feet dry, also dress warmly.

This is the advice of a well-known authority and should be heeded by all who are subject to rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles and especially catarrh. While the latter is considered by most sufferers an incurable disease, there are few men or women who will fail to experience great relief from the following simple home prescription, and if taken in time it will prevent an attack of catarrh during the entire season.

Here is the prescription which any one can mix; Fluid Extract Dandelion one-half ounce. Compound Kargon one ounce. Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

These are mostly vegetable ingredients and can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy at small cost.

The Compound Kargon in this prescription acts directly upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys to make them filter and strain from the blood, the poisons that produce all forms of catarrhal affections. Relief is often felt even after the first few doses and it is seldom that the sufferer ever experiences a return attack within the year.

This prescription makes a splendid remedy for all forms of blood disorders and such symptoms as lame back, bladder weaknesses and rheumatism.

As this valuable, though simple, recipe comes from a thoroughly reliable source, it should be heeded by every afflicted reader.

THE YOUNG CONSERVATIVE CLUB

The Young Conservative Club is flourishing like the traditional green bay tree these days. More than fifty new members have been added this week and by the end of the week the roll will number six hundred. Even this number, however, is not enough and it is confidently predicted that the 1,000 mark will be passed within a month. On Thursday evening there will begin the Progressive Euchre tournament for which three valuable and useful prizes will be given. There will be a limited series of evenings at the end of which those having the winners' cards will be awarded the prizes. It is desirable that every competitor should be on time on Thursday evening as the reading of the rules governing the contest and making the draws will necessarily take some time. The president, Mr. Wm. Bullen, the vice-president, Mr. Wm. Gibbs, and Mr. Benton compose the special committee looking after the tournament. English papers will hereafter be found regularly on fyle at the rooms.

AMUSEMENTS

MARKS BROS.

Marks Bros. were greeted by a crowded house at the Grand Opera House last night and made a big hit in their presentation of "Woman Against Woman." The different roles were splendidly portrayed, May A. Bell Marks excelling as Bessie Barton. Arnold C. Baldwin as John Trissider, and Joe Lyons as Phil Trissider, John's father. "Woman Against Woman" has an exceptionally strong plot and abounds in heart interest and good comedy. There are many thrilling climaxes and some decidedly dramatic situations.

The specialties were numerous and high class. The illustrated songs, "When Our Firemen Face the Foe" and "Captain Baby Bunting," sung by May A. Bell Marks, were a great hit. Ralph Wordley in songs and dances was also a favorite.

"Under Two Flags" was given at the matinee this afternoon, and tonight the attraction will be "Hulda, the Girl From the West," a strong western melodrama.

WHEN KNIGHTHOOD WAS IN FLOWER.

In the course of the play "When Knighthood was in Flower," which comes to the "Grand" next Monday, Feb. 17th, the action centers about "Princess Mary Tudor," the madcap sister of King Henry the Eighth of England. This role is portrayed by Grace Merritt, who made such a great success of the same part last season. As "Princess Mary" she dances in and out of every scene, as changing as a summer sky, now haughty as only a royal princess can be, now wilful and defiant, again sweet and tender as becomes her, but always winsome, womanly, and lovable. Her gaiety is natural, her anger real, her love making true, and in the more serious third and fourth acts she displays a depth and versatility that is surprising. Joseph Selman has been chosen to support Miss Merritt as "Charles Brandon," Dorothy Lee is the "Jane Bolingbroke," Mary's companion, and the various other characters are entrusted to a company of unusual strength. Seemingly the production is one of superior excellence.

High School Pupils Assist In Relief of "Shacktown"

Norwood Students Send Money and Clothing to Toronto—Appointment of a Constable Agitates the Village—Annual Meeting of Board of Education.

Norwood, Feb. 10—The annual meeting of the Norwood Board of Education was held on Wednesday evening last, at 7.30. Present, Messrs. Waters, Finlay, Harrison, Cuffe, Webster, Doherty, Drain, Squire and Elliott.

Mr. Squire was appointed for the third time as chairman of the Board.

Mr. Wm. Heffernan made application through the chairman for refund of High School fees paid in 1907.

Moved by Messrs. Waters and Drain that the secretary refer Mr. Heffernan to the County Treasurer as the fees had been credited to the county council.

Mr. Squire read a communication from Mr. Lees, I.P.S. stating that the matter of retaining the Model School in Norwood had been brought before the county council and that a deputation had been appointed to wait on the Provincial Government on behalf of same.

The standing committees were drafted for the year as follows;

Executive Committee — Messrs. Squire, Webster, Robertson, Harrison Cuffe, Finlay, Waters, Doherty.

Property Committee—Messrs. Robertson, Harrison, Finlay, Doherty, Drain, Campbell, Anderson.

Finance Committee—Messrs. Finlay, Cuffe, Robertson, Harrison, Elliott, Webster.

Supply Committee —Messrs. Cuffe, Drain, Elliott, Harrison, Waters, Anderson.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the village at present over appointing a constable for the year.

At a meeting of the council on Wednesday night, Councillor R. S. Patterson moved, seconded by Councillor Elliott that Mr. James Johnston be appointed Constable, Sanitary Inspector, Caretaker of the Town Hall and Street Commissioner.

Councillor Robb supported the motion.

Since then considerable pressure has been brought to bear on the Council to get them to re-consider their action, the agitators of the movement claiming that a more strict optionist should be procured. However, a strong feeling is held by a great many in favor of Mr. Johnston, and another party are urging the council to stand by their action and go on and confirm the appointment. Mr. Johnston has been a resident of the village for a number of years and should now, at least, when the appointment has been made be sworn in and given an opportunity to prove that the council has made a wise choice. If the officer appointed, whoever it may be, fail in his duties he may be dismissed at any time. The salary for this office is $160 per year.

The hockey boys with a good bunch of enthusiasts who went to Peterborough last week to play a City League game had certainly a (High Life) time, as the train on which they were to come home on got stalled in the snow and they were compelled to stay in Peterborough till the first train came down on Friday.

The roads in this vicinity have by successive snow and wind storms become almost totally blocked up. Traffic is practically at a standstill.

At the regular monthly meeting of W.M.S. of the Methodist church last Wednesday afternoon a very pleasant surprise was in store for the much esteemed President, Mrs. (Rev.) Adams when she was made a life member by the other members of the Society. This is the first time the distinction has been given a member of the Society here and goes to show the esteem that Mrs. Adams is held in by her fellow workers. A beautiful gold pin, the emblem of the Society, also accompanied the life membership certificate. Mrs. Adams was so taken by surprise that she was only able to thank the ladies for their kindness, and said she would have another opportunity of saying a few words to the members of the Society.

A short time ago Mrs. J. S. Frry paid the necessary fee and became a life member and the ladies presented her with the emblamatical pin of the Society.

TO PREVENT ANY FURTHER BLOCKADES

C. P. R. Putting Snow-gates Along Track Between Peterborough to Toronto

Toronto, Feb. 12.—The C.P.R. sent a big cut-out plow east last night to widen the cuts between Locust Hill and Peterborough. The snow banks will be thrown well back from the tracks, so that in case of another blizzard it will be easier to clean the line. Also, there will be less danger of the cuts filling in again from a bad wind storm, as large snow fences are being built in Peterborough to prevent blockades.

Military Articles Should be Returned to the Sergeant Major

Owing to the many changes among the members of the 57th Regiment, between one drill season and another, military articles are often left at boarding houses and the homes of young men who leave the city. The officer commanding the regiment begs to request that any citizens of Peterborough, not members of the regiment, having in their possession any arms, clothing or equipment belonging to the regiment, shall hand same to Sergt.-Major Brittain at the drill hall, or notify him or any officer of the regiment, of their whereabouts. It is hardly necessary to mention that any one retaining military articles in their possession is liable to a severe penalty.

Sanitary Inspection Will be Carried out in North Monaghan

So Decides Board of Health of the Township—Important Meeting Held on Monday Night.

The Board of Health for the township of North Monaghan met in May's school house on Monday evening, Feb. 10th.

The members present were John Brown, reeve; Messrs. Payne, Harper, and Carew, members; G. W. Bennett, secretary; Dr. T. N. Greer, M.H.O., and Wm. Anderson, sanitary inspector.

On motion of Messrs. Harper and Carver, John Brown was appointed as chairman of the Board for 1908.

Dr. Greer, the M.H.O., of the township, presented his report of the sanitary condition of the township during the year. This report reads as follows:—To the chairman and members of the local Board of Health of the township of North Monaghan:—

Gentlemen,

In submitting my report for the year 1907, I wish to congratulate you on the comparative freedom from contagious disease enjoyed by the municipality during the year. Five cases of typhoid fever occurred in one family by polluted well water as shown caused by bacterialogical examination. Samples from the family well and from Fraserville school well were examined and reported on by Dr. Amy of the Provincial Board of Health as follows:—

"Both of these specimens show chemical pollution, probably from seepage from the surroundings. They are at the same time infected with bacteria of intestinal origin. and should not be used without previous boiling."

I had all probable sources of pollution removed and ordered both wells to be thoroughly cleaned. I have also sent other samples from these wells to Toronto for analysis and have received the following report;

"Both of the specimens show chemical pollution in the proportion of chlorine parts to the proportion of about eight per million for the district. The first sample should be regarded with suspicion and the second should not be used without previous boiling for it at the same time is infected with pollution of intestinal origin."

As No. 4 school gets its supply of drinking water from the Fraserville well, I ordered its use discontinued.

In this connection I would recommend a strict inspection in future of all school wells and other sources of water supply in the township and a more rigid enforcement of the law regarding the regular cleaning of all domestic wells, also a systematic inspection of all slaughter houses, piggeries, dairies, cheese factories, cow byres and other premises that may become unsanitary.

All cases of nuisances which were reported to me, I have promptly attended to.

T. N. GREER, M.D.
M.H.O.

On motion of Messrs. Payne and Harper,—This report was received and adopted and the secretary was ordered to have it published in the report of this meeting for the information of the residents of the township.

It was moved by Messrs. Carver and Harper, that the sanitary inspector of the township is hereby directed to make a careful inspection of all slaughter houses, piggeries, school wells and other sources of water supply milk dairies, cheese factories, cattle byres and any other places that may be in an unsanitary condition in the township at such times as may be required by the chairman or secretary of the Board or the Medical Health Officer and the sanitary inspector is hereby required to make after each inspection, a detailed report of the premises visited and the condition of the source in such form as may be required by the Medical Health Officer, who is hereby authorized to take such action in connection therewith as may be necessary to keep the township in a first-class sanitary condition and as far as possible free from all sources of contagion. This was carried.

On motion the secretary was directed to provide a sufficient number of forms for the purpose of making a report by the sanitary inspector.

An account amounting to $30 for services as Medical Health Officer for 1907, was presented from Dr. T. N. Greer. The account was passed.

The Board then adjourned until called by the chairman.

Taking Wires From Front And Wiring From the Rear

A gang of men in the employ of the Bell Telephone Company are busy today taking the telephone wires from the front of the buildings in the business portion of the city and wiring them from the rear. This plan was decided upon last fall.

The idea of having fewer wires on the front streets is a good one and will appeal to the business men of the city.

Work in connection with the Bell Telephone Company's new building on Hunter street is proceeding rapidly. The new switchboard has been installed and other operations of importance are being carried on.

MANY FARM LABORERS ARE WANTED

Lieut.-Col. Howells, of the Salvation Army, who was at the Parliament Buildings, Toronto, yesterday, stated that the Salvation Army was receiving applications for laborers from farmers, 32 having been received in yesterday's mail. During January 900 applications were received, and the unemployed in Toronto could have been sent to the farms, but many of them refused to go to work on farms. In accordance with the arrangement made last year with the British Columbia Legislature, the Army will commence this month to send English immigrants to the fruit ranches in British Columbia. On Feb. 20 450 will sail from Liverpool on the steamer Kensington, and in March 250 more will be sent out. These immigrants will be sent direct from Halifax to British Columbia and will be place among the ranchers in Okanagan and Kootenay Valleys. It is also anticipated that 1,000 immigrants will be placed in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

Commissioner Coombe will leave for England on March 5 to discuss general business with General Booth and particular attention will be paid to the Army's colonization schemes.

Popular Young Couple Married

Nuptials of Miss Mabel Perrin and Mr. Ira Dawson Both of Bailieboro

An event of much interest to the people of Bailieboro took place at the home of Mrs. Joseph Perrin, on Wednesday evening, February 5th at half-past five, it being the marriage of her only daughter, Mabel, to Mr. Ira Dawson, of Bailieboro, youngest son of Mr. Wm. Dawson. Immediately at the hour appointed the contracting parties took their places in the drawing room amid the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Minnie Dawson, cousin of the groom. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Harry Perrin of Smith's Falls. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Wetherall of Fraserville. Shortly after the marriage ceremony was over, and congratulations extended, the guests to the number of thirty, repaired to the dining room where a sumptuous wedding dinner was awaiting them. After doing justice to the inner man, the usual toasts were proposed and duly responded to in the usual way. The remainder of the evening was pleasantly spent in games and music. The bride looked charming in a pretty gown of white silk and wore the conventional veil and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Kathleen McCannus, was handsomely gowned in a pretty dress of silk and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The groom was supported by his cousin, Edmond Dawson. The groom's gift to the bride was a sunburst of pearls and to the bridesmaid a gold bracelet and to Miss Minnie Dawson a star of pearls and to the groomsman a pair of pearl cuff links. The bride received many beautiful wedding presents. The happy couple had to postpone a wedding trip arranged for owing to the railroads being entirely blocked with snow. They begin married life among exceptionally favorable circumstances and the Review joins with their many friends in Bailieboro and Peterborough in wishing them a long and happy married life.

BAD ACCIDENT

Tweed, Feb. 11.—Peter Windover, belt repairer at the Marlbank Cement Works, near here, had his arm caught in the coal belt and crushed to a jelly, and he was held in position with the belt grinding over his arm for perhaps half an hour until his fellow-workmen discovered the accident.

The Maitland street school of Strathroy caught fire yesterday, but little damage was done. The pupils were out in four minutes.

AMUSEMENTS

MARKS BROS.' AUDIENCES.

"Hulda, the Girl from the West," was the attraction at the Grand Opera House last night, and Marks Bros' capable company again scored a success. The play was an exceptionally good one and the different parts were delineated in a manner that was above criticism. The play abounded in the breeziness of the West, and many of the situations and climaxes were exceedingly dramatic. May A. Bell Marks in the role of Hulda was again a favorite and was given excellent support by the talented members of the company. The specialties were new and clever and added greatly to the show as a whole.

Yesterday afternoon the company gave a splendid presentation of that powerful drama, "Under Two Flags". The part of "Cigarette" was played with great ability by May A. Bell Marks.

Tonight's attraction will be "The Banker's Wife." There will be an entire change of specialties.

The Legislature at Toronto; Denial Made of Theft Charge

Mr. R. R. Gamey Brings to Light Some Opposition Errors.

Man From Manitoulin Retaliates For Mr. Smith's Short-Lived Triumph—Several Kinds of Honesty—Concessions of Public Lands—Upbuilding of Greater Ontario—Liberal "Old Clothes" Not Wanted.

Toronto, Feb. 13.—In a telling address in the Legislature yesterday Mr. R. R. Gamey effectually met and disposed of the plaint of Mr. C. W. Smith (Sault Ste. Marie) that the Government was "stealing the clothes of Liberalism." He set forth that the "clothes" worn by the "Liberalism" which existed in Ontario prior to the last general election were discredited garments, while the apparel of the sturdy, honest Liberalism of Provincial Rights days had been cast aside. Incidentally Hon. Nelson Monteith, Minister of Agriculture, made a brief statement to the effect that there was no foundation for the allegation that the department had paid $1,500 for a horse blind in both eyes, and another "charge" fell to the ground with a dull, sad thud.

In resuming the debate Mr. Smith (Sault Ste. Marie) facetiously tendered an apology to the Minister of Agriculture for having held him wholly responsible for the purchase of a blind mare for $1,500. The speaker had since learned that another member of the administration was present and assisted in the purchase of the decripid mare.

Hon. Mr. Whitney—"Sort of a mare's nest."

Mr. Smith—Possibly, if you stir it up."

Continuing, the member for the Soo pointed out that there was in Northern Ontario over 150,000 square miles of minerals and timber that were inaccessible and undeveloped. To open up this country he suggested to the Government the advisability of building two lines of railway from the great lakes north. Many of the immigrants, now a charge on the public, could be given employment on the work of construction, and the enterprise would more than pay for itself in opening up and developing a greater Ontario than has been.

Quoting statistics to show the export of pulpwood to the mills of the United States, Mr. Smith advocated the appointment of a Government commission to look into the whole matter, and to seek to develop the timber richness of the province along practical lines.

In concluding, Mr. Smith alluded to Mr. McKeown's query, "where is the Opposition's Moses?" "We don't want a Moses," declared Mr. Smith. "Moses lived for 120 years and then died outside the promised land. There is another figure in history we are interested in. There was a great Alexander of the past who conquered the world and wept because there were not others to conquer. We Liberals have our Alexander." (Opposition applause.)

Mr. R. R. Gamey (Manitoulin) alluded to the previous speaker's "pathetic plaint that in giving the settlers the mineral and timber rights of the north country the Government had stolen the Liberal clothes." Why, declared Mr. Gamey, it was the Liberal Government that took these rights from the settlers. (Government applause.)

"Talk about stealing their clothes!" reiterated Mr. Gamey. "Who would even pick up a suit of clothes like that that they lost—that was buried with them—in the early part of 1905. (Renewed applause.) There isn't an inmate of the Central Prison that wouldn't be ashamed to wear their clothes."

Continuing, Mr. Gamey said that the Conservatives had been twitted because they were proud of their honest Premier. Mr. Smith had declared that every Premier of Ontario had been honest.

"There is," he continued, "a kind of honesty that will keep a constituency vacant for two years. Well, that's the kind of honesty you had prior to 1905. There is a kind of honesty that would call the Legislature hurriedly and prematurely to close off an election trial in which a Minister of the crown was involved. That, too, is the kind of honesty you had under a Liberal Premier. Is the present Government stealing those clothes? There is an honesty that travels in the Minnie M.'s. My friend from the Soo will have heard of that." (Conservative applause.)

Continuing, Mr. Gamey took up the spruce and pulpwood questions the member for the Soo had alluded to. The present Government had, he said, decreed that all Ontario's pulpwood must be manufactured into pulp within the province. No stealing of old Liberal clothes there. The former Government had allowed the forests to be depleted to aid the mills of the United States. Moreover, they handed out fat concessions of the public lands to political favorites for mere songs."

Mr. Smith—"When and to whom?"

Mr. Gamey—"Just before the elections, to a certain Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., of Toronto. You may have heard of him. If you haven't, I have." (Laughter and applause.)

Mr. Gamey, proceeding, said the present Government had established a system by which all pine timber and other sales of the public domains must be made at public auction. Business principles now prevailed and the day of graft was over. No one was stealing the old clothes—nobody wanted them. It was well they should stay buried.

"If the great Alexander we have heard about," observed Mr. Gamey, "ever conquers, I have faith enough in him to think that he would never think of resurrecting the old clothes."

Mr. Gamey reviewed the administration of Hon. Mr. Cochrane, "its freedom from graft, its business principles and its great results for the province." He bespoke what had been done in laying new roads and encouraging the upbuilding of schools. This work would be carried on to a still greater extent in the future. "The present Minister of Mines," he concluded, "has consecrated himself to the upbuilding of a greater Ontario." (Government applause.)

Mr. Preston (Brant) moved the adjournment of the debate.

ATTACKED DETECTIVE.

Lawyer Makes Scathing Charges Against Police.

Detroit, Feb. 13.—The trial of Percy Bowin, the 18-year-old Canadian boy charged with the murder of Mrs. Welch, has been set for Feb. 24, but Mr. Kennedy, Bowin's attorney, says he cannot be ready before the March term of the recorder's court. Judge Phelan said that if necessary the trial would be postponed until March, as he would insist upon every opportunity being given the young man to prove his innocence.

The judge overruled Mr. Kennedy's motion to quash the information against Bowin on the ground that he had been induced to plead guilty in the police court by Captain of Detectives McDonnell. Mr. Kennedy violently assailed officials of the police department, accusing them of taking advantage of Bowin's youth and ignorance of legal matters, in an effort to railroad him to prison.

NORWAY IS SAFE.

Four European Powers Agree to Preserve Her Independence.

Paris, Feb. 13.—The treaty signed recently between France, Great Britain, Germany, Russia and Norway, the object of which is to guarantee the independence and territorial integrity of Norway, was made public yesterday.

It provides that Norway shall cede to no power any part of her territory, and the signators agreed to recognize and respect the integrity of Norway and to act in concert in her support in the event of her being menaced by any power. The life of the treaty is ten years, but it will remain in force for a second decade if it is not nullified within eight years of its inauguration.

The withdrawal of one of the signatory powers does not make it impossible for the others to renew the treaty.

FIRE AT NEW LISKEARD.

Coal Oil Stove Explosion Responsible For $15,000 Blaze.

New Liskeard, Feb. 13.—Fire, started by an explosion of a coal oil stove in the building of A. J. Coombe, tailor, did over $15,000 worth of damage to the neighborhood yesterday morning about 8 o'clock.

The damage to Coombe's premises is $6,000, with $2,800 insurance. The damage to his stock and household goods was $2,000. Others who suffered are: T. Hanington, barber, loss $500, no insurance; Gordon & Davies, butchers, loss $500, all covered; S. Jewell, barber, $500 on building, insured, household goods a total loss; Rymal & Son, grocers, loss $1,000, insured. Ten roomers who lived over the building lost everything.

The Jewell block was almost gutted, while the Coombe block was completely destroyed.

Six Bodies Recovered.

Montreal, Feb. 13.—Up to a late hour yesterday six bodies had been recovered from the ruins of the ill-fated powder works at Ile Perrault, the remains being those of Menard, Dumbarry, Roson, Rousseau, Legault and Narpe, leaving the bodies of Trepanier, Lauzon and Robillard still in the ruins and some believe that they may never be secured, or, rather, that they will not be in any kind of recognizable shape.

The funeral of these poor fellows will take place to-day, and it is announced that Bishop Emard of Valleyfield, the diocese in which Ile Perrault is located, will be present at the ceremony.

Bishop of Stepney said with reference to the Suffragists that some of their sex were trying their hardest to drive out any instinct of chivalry that there might be in men.

ELECTION ACT CHANGES

Ontario Will Adopt Much of Federal Procedure.

Whitney Government Stands Out For Clean Politics—Stricter Standard For Corrupt Practices — Trials of Election Cases—Indians May Vote —Temporary Absence Not a Disqualification—Severer Penalties.

Toronto, Feb. 8.—The determined effort of the Whitney Government to secure for the people of Ontario a clean and honorable expression of their will at the polls was evidenced in the character of the measure brought before the Legislature by Hon. J. J. Foy, the Attorney-General, at yesterday afternoon's short session of the House.

The bill in question, which is entitled "An Act respecting the election of members for the Legislative Assembly," provides among other things that any application for, or promise of a Government position, if done with a view to influencing an election, shall be deemed in law a corrupt practice, and shall be punishable as such. Other Government favors will be dealt with in like manner.

In his bill dealing with controverted elections Hon. Mr. Foy provides also that all election trials or appeals shall be concluded, notwithstanding dissolution of the Legislature or other causes. This is designed to do away with much of the pernicious "saw-off" evil, and to prevent the party in power choking off disclosures in the courts by terminating the Parliament. Heavy penalties for infraction of the act will be provided.

Other interesting clauses are the adoption of the Dominion ballot in its entirety, the requiring that the original voters' lists shall be used in polling booths and the abolition, in consequence, of the tendered ballot. The franchise is extended to Indians, except those who live among Indians or upon Indian reserves, and an Indian voter may accept money from the Indian fund without being disqualified. It is also provided that temporary absence from the municipality does not disqualify, even if the absence is not in pursuance of the voter's avocation. If a bona-fide voter finds he has been personated he is entitled to another ballot, which will be kept separate but counted.

Relative to the trial of election cases it is provided that any two judges of the Supreme Court of Ontario may conduct the trial, instead of a rota of special judges as at present.

On motion of Hon. Messrs. Foy and Whitney the bills were given a first reading.

By mutual consent the debate upon the speech from the throne was adjourned until Tuesday, many of the members, by reason of their trains being snowbound, not having reached the House.

TARIFF REFORM LOVE FEAST.

Protectionists More Than Satisfied With Progress Made.

London, Feb. 8.—The Tariff Reform League held its annual "love feast" here yesterday, and, judging from the enthusiasm of the fifteen hundred delegates in attendance, the protectionists are more than satisfied with the progress of the movement which Joseph Chamberlain himself declared in a message he sent to the meeting "has surpassed my most sanguine expectations."

Viscount Ridley, president of the League, made an address in which he referred to the wide support given the movement by the educated classes, and pointed out that the 2,186 vice-presidents of the League included sixty-five members of the new House of Commons, 170 members of the House of Lords, and 204 parliamentary candidates and former members of Parliament.

The principal resolution embodying the tariff reformers' "confession of fiscal faith," which was declared to be the official policy of the Unionist party, was carried by acclamation.

Wolf Hunt in France.

Paris, Feb. 8.—A great wolf hunt is being conducted by the people of the little villages round Dijon, situated on the outskirts of the forest lands.

Every night at sunset the inhabitants turn out with torches, lanterns, and picks for a battle. During the last few days the starving wolves have been leaving the forest and attacking the villages. Three days ago a man was attacked at night on the high road by what at first he took to be a dog. He had no light, but shouted at the beast and kicked him with his heavy hob-nailed boots, driving him off. The same night the farmyards were raided.

Thursday a little girl very nearly fell a victim. She was attacked by a great wolf within a hundred yards of her father's house. The father heard her call for help, and dashed a lantern which he carried, full in the face of the brute, which bolted.

The authorities have sent criers round the villages warning the inhabitants not to go out without lights after dark. So bold have the animals become, that even in Dijon itself—a town of 68,000 inhabitants, and some distance from the forest lands—there is a considerable anxiety.

Explosion Kills Three.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—Three men were fatally injured and several others seriously hurt as the result of an explosion of dynamite in the quarries of Doles & Shepard, in the suburb of Hawthorne yesterday.

Night Riders Burn Barns.

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 8.—A band of "night riders" burned two barns and 20,000 pounds of tobacco at Adams, Tenn., early yesterday. Two persons were wounded and a negro whipped.

During last year says a Home Office return there were 1,[illegible] fatal accidents in the mines and quarries of the United Kingdom, as compared [illegible] in 1906. The deaths numbered 1,[illegible] in 1907 and 1,142 in 1906.

BRITAIN CAN'T TAKE RISK.

If Weak Would Become Tremendous Temptation—Possible Invasion.

London, Feb. 8.—In connection with the recent reports of a serious difference among the Government's supporters in Parliament on the question of reducing naval expenditures, much importance is attached to a strong speech which Sir Edward Grey, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, made in the House of Commons last night, in reply to a suggestion from the Unionist side that it was to Great Britain's interest, as the greatest sea carrier in the world, that private property at sea should be immune from capture and that it was England's refusal to assent to the principle of immunity which hindered the disarmament proposal at the Hague Conference.

Sir Edward said that the Government could not consistently and with safety to the country take the risk proposed.

"The British Empire," he said, "is a tremendous obligation, but it might if we were weak, become a tremendous temptation. At the present time we have the good will of the world, but supposing the policy of immunity had been adopted and supposing that our navy should lose command of the sea; it would mean not only defeat but conquest.

In solemn tones, Sir Edward concluded his speech by pointing out the possibility of invasion, urging the nation to beware of acting in such a manner as to increase the risks of war and prolonging it indefinitely at a minimum risk to other powers.

SERIOUS FLOOD AT CORNWALL.

Mills Close Down, Gas Supply and Car Service Cut Off.

Cornwall, Feb. 8.—The water in the St. Lawrence has been stationery for the past two days, but at a few minutes before noon yesterday the ice gave away, and there was a shove, which smashed the upper gate at lock No. 17.

The dry dock was flooded, and the water rushed in a torrent. The bridge near the Canada mill was soon under water and the mill had to close down. At the Stormont mill the water went up about 9 feet in less than an hour. The employes had left for dinner before the shove occurred, and when they returned they found the mill shut down. The water was four feet deep on the floor of the finishing room and half way up the doors of the boilers. The water backed up in the Government sewer and the gas house was flooded, shutting off the town's supply. Several cellars in the front of the town were flooded and considerable damage was done.

The bay above the narrow passage in the river at the east end of the town is a solid field of ice, the enormous blocks being piled so high that they can be seen from the town above the canal banks. The water in the river seems to be almost as high as in the reach of the canal opposite the town, but there is no sign of it receding at present.

The street cars are tied up again, their power being cut off by the flood.

NOT WAR BUT BLUFF.

That Is the Condition of Armenian Frontier.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 8.—The reports of a Turkish mobilization in Armenia and threatened movements of troops on the Russian-Persian frontier, are admitted by the general staff. It is not known yet whether this action on the part of Turkey is directed against Russia, and measures so far taken by this country are confined to certain precautionary dispositions of units within the Caucasus.

Foreign diplomats here believe that Russia and Turkey are engaged in a game which neither is desirous of carrying to an extreme, although Turkey might be willing to go far, relying upon the supposed weakness of Russia, because of her quarrel with Austria over the Macedonian question. The prestige of M. Iswolsky, the Foreign Minister, has suffered severely on account of the defensive attitude that Russia has been compelled to assume in this matter, Austria's defection over Macedonia railroad construction and the failure to establish stable order in Persia, but the anticipated retirement of the Minister is attributed here more to the interior situation than to international influences.

France Calls Them Madmen.

Madrid, Feb. 8.—Senhor Franco does not believe that the murders of the King and crown prince resulted from an elaborate political plot; they were the acts of madmen instigated by a money bribe. The best proof of this is found in the fact that after the assassinations when the monarchy was passing through its critical hours, and the nation was without a Government, no serious attempt was made to proclaim a republic.

The ex-Premier will leave his son at a German university, and will probably reside in Switzerland.

Explosions Kill Two.

Kenora, Feb. 8.—Two distressing dynamite accidents occurred at Campbell's Camp at Kalmar. The foreman, James McHale, while attempting to explode a hole previously loaded, was killed. A second explosion caused the death of William Campbell of Winnipeg, and seriously injured Matin Affick, an American, and Alphonse Schork, a Swede. The men mistook their instructions, going to the wrong hole.

Bankrupt Banker at Queenstown.

Queenstown, Feb. 8.—A correspondent of the Associated Press last night boarded the Cunard Line steamer Campania and found Charles W. Morse of New York in the smoking-room enjoying a game of cards.

Boys to the Central.

Windsor, Feb. 8.—Wilfred Braziel and Charles Munro, the two boys who pleaded guilty to having broken into Asselin's shoe store, have been sentenced to six months in the Central Prison.

With a family Bible weighing eight pounds tied around her neck, Mrs. Ann Lippiatt, a widow of Almondsbury Hall, near Bristol, was found dead in a tank of water in her kitchen. Suicide was the verdict.

In the Commons at Ottawa; They Should be Canadians

Mr. Lancaster Would Have Only British Masters and Mates.

Members Express Fears of U. S. Retaliation—Nation's Vessels Should Be Officered by Its Own Citizens—Conspiracy in Restraint of Trade—Amendment to Rules of House—Elections Not Near.

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—In the House yesterday Mr. Maclean (Lunenburg) asked that the rules be amended by requiring that the two days' notice be given of the intention of any member to discuss any definite or substantive matter on a motion to go into committee of supply on ways and means. The object, he explained, was to prevent the House being taken by surprise.

It was, of course, an ancient right possessed by members to ventilate grievances on going into supply, but no harm could come from requiring notice.

R. L. Borden said the proposal would cut down to a considerable extent the privileges of the House. The present practice had been in effect in Great Britain for 800 years; there had been no very great evil attendant upon this practice since Confederation.

Mr. McIntyre, named as seconder, said as far as he had considered the resolution, he had not found himself favorable to it. He did not know but the Government to-day might be in opposition to-morrow. He would hesitate before taking away any of the privileges of Parliament, and he asked the mover to accept some other seconder.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said the rules had recently been amended after considerable thought, and this matter had not escaped his attention. He believed that it would be better to follow the old practice. Sir Wilfrid did not look for a change of Government in the near future.

"You may be taken by surprise," suggested W. F. Maclean.

"Or you may want two years' notice," said G. W. Foster.

Sir Wilfrid asked that the motion be withdrawn, and Mr. Maclean (Lunenburg) obeyed, observing that he did not agree with the reasons given by those opposed.

The Lumber Combine.

Mr. Schaffner (Souris) asked if the Government proposed to take action upon the finding of the committee appointed last session to investigate the lumber combine in the west. Mr. Aylesworth said the question was under provincial jurisdiction, and one of the Provincial Governments had already taken action.

Mr. Gervais (Montreal) introduced a bill to amend the Criminal Code with regard to conspiracy in restraint of trade. The rigorous application of the present statute had proved detrimental to certain classes of trade, said Mr. Gervais, and he proposed that commercial men should be allowed to come together to discuss trade matters with the same freedom as workingmen.

Claude Macdonell's bill to amend the Copyright Act was read a third time.

To-day the House will discuss the French treaty and marine estimates.

The bill of Mr. Lancaster (Lincoln) to amend the Canada Shipping Act by requiring that masters and mates on Canadian vessels on inland waters and coasting voyages much be British subjects, was read a second time in the House yesterday, but further consideration in committee of the whole was decided on, Mr. Brodeur expressing doubt that the Canadian Parliament had jurisdiction, and that the bill might conflict with the British Shipping Act. The Lancaster bill will again be taken up after the consideration of the general act.

Mr. Lancaster, in moving the second reading, said it was not an act of retaliation, but he urged its acceptance because it was a good thing for a nation to have its vessels officered by its own citizens.

Mr. McCarthy (Simcoe) was in sympathy with the bill if it would secure the object desired. It was time that we had a policy of Canada for Canadians in regard to our marine.

Dr. Reid (Grenville) said he knew American citizens, officers of Canadian vessels, who have never been domiciled in Canada.

Dr. Sproule supported the bill, but Mr. Pardee (Lambton) feared that it would bring further retaliation on the part of the United States. There were many marine officers who had taken out naturalization papers in the United States, but kept their domicile in Canada.

Mr. Maclean (Lunenburg), while expressing sympathy with the principle, would vote against the bill because in the Maritime Provinces it was impossible to obtain a full complement of officers for some ships.

Mr. Brodeur did not see why a difference should be made between sailors on inland waters and those operating sea-going ships. To his mind it was more urgent that sea-going ships, which might be requisitioned in case of war, should be officered by British subjects. It had been shown that out of 3,650 certificates issued to masters and mates on coasting, inland and minor waters, only seventy-nine were issued to men coming under the three years' domicile requirement, and of the seventy-nine only fourteen were issued to Americans.

Will Bring In a Bill.

Mr. Borden imagined we would have power to enact the clause in view of the fact that we had already required three years' domicile. Mr. Brodeur still doubted. He proposed to bring in a bill later in the session which would arrive at the object desired by Mr. Lancaster, and this would be submitted to the Home Government.

Mr. Sinclair (Guysboro) declared the bill was vicious and would irritate the Americans. He would confine restriction to the upper lakes. Mr. Borden said the British North America Act gave to the Parliament of Canada exclusive jurisdiction in respect to inland waters. It was a matter of importance to ascertain if an act of the Imperial Parliament repealed our own statutes regarding merchant shipping, and possibly it would be advisable to refer the question to the Supreme Court. On the bill being referred to committee of the whole, Mr. Brodeur read the opinion of Mr. Aylesworth, that it might conflict with the British Shipping Act, and he suggested that further consideration be deferred until his own bill was before the House.

The committee rose at 6 o'clock and the House adjourned.

BEAUTIES OF ST. LAWRENCE.

Mr. Gervais Brings Important Matter to Notice of the House.

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—The disastrous results that would follow the construction of a dam across the St. Lawrence near Cornwall were brought to the attention of the House yesterday by Mr. Gervais (Montreal), who moved for the correspondence between the Government and international waterways commission on one part and the St. Lawrence Power Co. and Long Sault Development Co. of the other part.

It would be an outrage, and Mr. Gervais, to permit the obstruction of the St. Lawrence, and there was a keen feeling throughout Eastern Canada that this piece of commercial vandalism should be prevented. Mr. Graham agreed the proposition would be a shock to every Canadian. Tourists from all parts of the world had glorified in the beauties of the river, and any attempt to mar it was bound to be resented. He doubted if the work could be done without jeopardizing property on the Canadian side by floods, and the Government would have to be satisfied regarding the property question, as well as navigation interests.

Mr. Gervais asked if the United States had the right to undertake work of this kind on international waterways, in view of existing treaties, and Mr. Graham said nothing would be allowed to interfere with international arrangements. The Canadian section of the international waterways commission was discussing the question seriously.

Mr. Borden asked whether the Government had statutory power to make arrangements, and Mr. Graham replied that the company would have to come to Ottawa for a charter.

Dr. Reid declared the proposition was monstrous, while George Taylor said any Government which sanctioned such work would itself be damned. Mr. Haggart was glad of Mr. Graham's assurance. Nothing should be done pending the report of the waterways commission. We had thousands of water powers, and nothing should be done to mar the beauty of this spot.

R. L. Borden said there was the further consideration that these water powers belonged to the people of Canada, and nothing should be done to exploit this great natural resource without consulting the people's representatives in Parliament.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier assured the House that the Government would not deal with the question till all interests had been consulted. The motion was carried.

Crushed by Falling Ice.

Barrie, Feb. 13.—At last the long-expected has happened, when a citizen, Angus McPherson, was very seriously injured yesterday by ice falling from the roof of the postoffice. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and hurried to the hospital, where every effort is being made to revive him.

This building was erected in 1884, and has ever since been a considerable source of anxiety to the local officials. While the crowd was awaiting the removal of Mr. McPherson, another lot of snow came crushing from the roof, but luckily no one was injured.

Mr. McPherson is a Canadian, unmarried, and belongs to Beaverton. He was a foreman in the lumber camps and had been in town for a couple of weeks at the Vespra House, waiting for the spring work to open in the north. He is not expected to recover.

Quebec Tercentennary.

Montreal, Feb. 13.—The great event which is to take place at Quebec next summer with a view to celebrating the three hundred anniversary of the foundation of the old City of Champlain, appears to be becoming popular on all sides.

Lord Mount Stephen has subscribed $1,000 towards the project of a national park being located on the battlefield, and yesterday Premier Gouin announced that at the coming session of the Legislature he will ask that body to vote $100,000 in order that the event may be worthy of the old city, and province.

It will also be remembered that Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. W. S. Fielding stated that the Dominion Government would also give a grant.

Condemned Defence Policy.

Sydney, N. S. W., Feb. 13.—(C.A.P.)—G. H. Reid roundly condemned Premier Deakin's defence policy and said Deakin's position in regard to the naval agreement with Great Britain humiliated Australia. Britain had done her duty magnificently, but Deakin, who had promised £200,000 a year for naval defence, was now endeavoring to devise means of getting money from the pockets of struggling British taxpayers. It was one of the meanest things ever attempted by Australia.

Feet Badly Frozen.

Brockville, Feb. 13.—William Read, a young Englishman employed by a farmer near Dublin, was brought to the hospital here yesterday for treatment.

During one of the cold snaps towards the end of January, he had both feet frozen by being exposed to the weather. One of the limbs is in a serious condition and will most likely require amputation.

Finish Diet Opens.

Helsingfors, Feb. 13.—The Finnish Diet was opened at the palace yesterday. The attitude of Finland in the present controversy with the throne is to be defined, and a number of important reforms will be acted upon.

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—Sir Charles Ross, head of the Ross Rifle Co., yesterday gave an absolute denial of a story that the Ross Rifle Co. was going out of business because of the Government's refusal of further orders for rifles.

TWENTY YEARS IN JAIL

Heavy Sentence For Man Who Blackmailed Sol Joel.

Tried to Obtain $80,000 From South African Financier—Remarkable Career of Crime and Fraud—Married to at Least Seven Women—Was Also a Deserter From the German Navy.

London, Feb. 13.—Carl Ludwig Von Veltheim, German-born, but a naturalized American, who posed as a baron, was sentenced yesterday to 20 years' penal servitude at the Old Bailey, having been convicted of attempting to blackmail Solly B. Joel, a wealthy London and South African financier and mine owner, out of $80,000.

Von Veltheim was arrested months ago in Paris and extradited to England. He has served in the German army and navy; was once in the Bulgarian army and has had many adventures in Australia, America and Japan. He went to Cape Town in 1897 and ten years ago shot and killed Wolfe Joel, a brother of Solly Joel, at that place. He was arrested and tried, pleaded self-defence and was acquitted. Some years afterward a body recovered from the Thames was identified as Von Veltheim by his wife, but later the adventurer was discovered serving in the Bechuanaland police.

Before sentence was passed on Von Veltheim, the police told a remarkable story of his career of crime and fraud. According to this recital Von Veltheim has committed bigamy with no less than seven women. This list includes a woman he married in 1904 at Yankton, South Dakota, and a young American woman in Paris by a mock priest.

The prisoner is alleged to have obtained a large sum of money from most of his "wives."

The police allegations against him include charges of theft and blackmail and the assertion that he is a deserter from the German navy.

MAN FIGHTS A MOB.

Four of His Lynchers May Die From Their Wounds.

Valdosta, Ga., Feb. 13.—Attacked by a mob of lynchers just across the Florida line, Jack Long, a white man, fought his assailants desperately, wounding ten of them and forcing the others to kill him in the fight.

Long was accused of killing James Sapp, a wealthy citizen. A son of Sapp had killed a brother of Long and escaped. Long saw the father of the slayer and shot him to death. Long was arrested and 50 men visited the prison and took the prisoner out to hang him. Long fought the mob to a standstill in the prison, but was knocked down by a mob.

He was beaten to death before he was finally hanged. Four of the members of the mob were wounded so badly that they may die.

Eagle Point Arrives.

Philadelphia, Feb. 13.—The Eagle Point arrived here shortly after two o'clock. The web cranshaft of the steamer broke during a violent storm and the ship rolled helplessly in the rough sea. It was found almost impossible to repair the damage, but Chief Engineer Jack took the engine apart bit by bit and practically remodeled it, finally putting it in such working order as to permit the steamer to proceed slowly.

There are 48 men in the crew, and in addition the steamer carried eight cattlemen. The fresh meat gave out and all hands were put on short rations. Capt. Lloyd said he was spoken twice and offered assistance, but declined the proffered aid with thanks, as he was confident that his engine room staff could effect the necessary repairs.

Anti-Home Rule Campaign.

Dublin, Feb. 13.—An appeal for a fund to maintain an anti-home rule campaign in Great Britain has been issued. It is signed by Lord Lansdowne, the Duke of Abercorn, the Marquis of Londonderry, the Marquis of Ormonde, Viscount Iveagh, Baron Ardilaun and other Irish Unionist peers.

The appeal describes the danger to the cause of union as imminent and asks for a large sum of money, so that the methods by which home rule as advocated by Gladstone was defeated, may be resumed.

Two Years For Eloper.

Woodstock, Feb. 13.—Thomas Roseellee, aged 26 years, was yesterday sentenced to two years in Kingston Penitentiary at hard labor, by Police Magistrate Ball, for stealing a quantity of furniture from George A. Leney of Stratford.

A charge of forgery was laid against the prisoner, but on this he was not convicted. Roseellee eloped with Leney's wife. He said that his crimes were committed for the woman's sake.

Jail For Suffragettes.

London, Feb. 13.—Nearly fifty women suffragettes who on Tuesday made a raid on the House of Commons were arraigned in the Police Court yesterday and sentenced to pay a fine or one month's imprisonment.

All but two of the women preferred to go to jail rather than pay the fine.

Rich Hill, Mo., Feb. 13.—Securing $12,000 in cash after dynamiting and totally wrecking the $9,000 building of the Farmers' & Mechanics' Bank in this city, five bandits, heavily armed, terrorized the town here yesterday, and, after exchanging shots with several armed citizens, escaped.

Danger Not Yet Over.

London, Feb. 13.—The Times yesterday published a long despatch reviewing events in Portugal. It says that the situation is improving daily and that the Government adheres to its policy of conciliating public opinion, but that it would be a mistake to consider all danger over.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

Celebrated Their 55th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Rich. Mowry, Sherbrooke St., Fifty-five Years Married

On Monday last Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mowry, Sherbrooke street, celebrated the fifty-fifth anniversary of their wedding. The occasion was not marked by a large gathering, only about ten of their most intimate friends being present at the residence of their daughter, Mrs. John Weir, Burnham street, East City. A sumptuous repast was partaken of, and an enjoyable time was spent.

Mr. and Mrs. Mowry are both in excellent health. They were the recipients of many hearty congratulations upon their reaching the 55th anniversary of their wedding. It was the wish of all that they would enjoy many more years of health and happiness together. Mr. and Mrs. Mowry were married in Peterborough in a house where the Quaker Oats Company mills now stand. They are long residents of the city, and have witnessed its growth from its infancy. Their many friends join in extending their congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Mowry.

SNOW SO DEEP THAT SHED WAS BURIED

A local cattle buyer was driving out in the country on a buying trip yesterday. He stated today that the roads were pretty good, but the snow is piled so high on the roadsides that it is impossible for two sleighs to pass each other without experiencing great difficulty. In one farm yard in Smith, he said that the snow is piled seventeen feet hight. The snow had drifted so badly that the driving shed was completely hidden from view. To get the sleighs from out the shed several hours were spent in shovelling away the snow.

Hastings May Get Industry

One day last fall a representative of Bird & Son, Parroid Roofing Manufacturers came to Hastings to look over available manufacturing sites for his firm and make a report to his company. This gentleman was shown the different sites available for manufacturing, and in due time made a report of his company. Last week another representative of this company was in town for further information regarding the possibilities of locating here, and seemed very favorably impressed with the natural advantages of the town for the particular requirements of his firm, and it looks as though a united effort on the part of the business men and council would bing this firm here.—Hastings Star.

Big Revival Will Likely Be Held in Peterborough

Churches Are Working in This Direction—Present Seems an Opportune Time.

A movement is on foot among the evangelical churches of the city to hold a big revival in Peterborough. It is felt that the present is a most opportune time in this connection and it is expected that a definite announcement will be made in a few days. It is proposed to have the revival non-sectarian and to have it conducted by one or more leading evangelists as has been done in other cities.

This statement is made that at the present time there is an unusual interest being taken by the residents of the city in matters spiritual and on this belief is based the expectation that if a revival is now held many would decide in favor of the Christian life. Especially among the young men there seems to exist a deeper interest in questions pertaining to religion than at any past time in the city's history.

Revival meetings properly conducted, would no doubt, be largely attended and result in a great awakening among the people.

More Views of Citizens on Carnegie Library Question

"It is a shame for citizens to talk of asking Carnegie for a grant of $30,000 for a public library when a building has already been offered the city that at a very small expense could be turned into a library that any place might well feel proud of." Such is Mr. Richard Hall's opinion on the Carnegie library question, told in conversation with the Review this morning. Continuing Mr. Hall remarked that citizens surely did not know what they were talking about when they spoke of accepting $30,000 from Carnegie. "Why it will cost the city $3,000 annually for Carnegie's grant," said Mr. Hall, "Whereas, the property of the Nicholls' estate could be fitted up for about seven thousand dollars. Give me that amount and I will soon make that store as fine a public library as any citizen would care to see."

Mr. Hall thought the property was in every way suitable for a library. It is three storeys high, well lighted and centrally located, the latter feature being particularly a good one and it would be convenient for almost everyone.

Mr. McFarlane Wilson when seen by the Review this morning favored asking Carnegie for a grant for a library, but was opposed to calling it the "Carnegie Library." He thought that it should be called the Nicholls Library.

Mr. Jas. English when seen, was utterly opposed to a Carnegie library. "I am opposed to the Carnegie library on general principles as a ratepayer. If we got $50,000 from Carnegie it would mean we would have to raise $5000 a year for all time to come. Let us be independent. Anyhow we should not go back on Mrs. Nicholls but try to do honor to her name for what she has done for us in the library and other directions. We would have to, I am told, have to have a cabinet erected to Carnegie. I am opposed to it."

Contract Let for Rosedale Section of the Trent Canal

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—The contract for the construction of the Rosedale section of the Trent Valley Canal has been awarded by the Department of Railways and Canals to the Randolph McDonald Company of Toronto, the lowest tenderers. Work on the section will be actively commenced in the spring.

The Rosedale section of the canal consists of the portion between Cameron and Balsam lakes. It will greatly reduce the distance by water between the two bodies indicated and will be about a mile and a half in length. In addition to the canal proper a lock and dam have to be constructed.

The Rev. Dr. Langfeldt On the Higher Criticism

In Response to a Request for His Opinion, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt Has Furnished the Review With the Following.

Christianity has well-night absorbed all that there is of philosophical value in evolution. It at least takes the friendly help of this principle to guide it in not a few of its inquiries and perplexities. But there has appeared on the stage another disturber of the theological peace, and a very persistent and troublesome one. It is the aspect of modern thought towards the Bible.

Higher Criticism is the battle cry of the theological war. It has become a serious question. How shall we deal with it? Is it wise to mention it in our pulpits and pastoral work? Through the press and platform, even when the pulpit is silent, it has come to the knowledge of our church members. They think something is being done with the Bible behind their backs. They will be glad to hear from us in some way what it is. They will be glad to know that they can still read their Bibles as the Word of God. They will be glad to have a word given them to reply to those who taunt them; "Where is your Bible?"

It will never do to have fears for the Bible. It has stood all assaults. It has gone through many fierce trials. It will be able to manage Higher Criticism.

It will not do either, to meet argument by mere dogmatism. Who will say "nay" if the critic demands the Bible to be submitted to him like any other ancient book? Who will say "nay" to him, if he brings to bear upon it the widest scholarship and the keenest research in determining its authorship and literary merits?

I am not going to boast of extensive reading in critical literature, but I have read, and read carefully enough to satisfy my own mind as to the spirit and conclusions of Higher Criticism. I confess that modern critical productions are to myself painful reading. My feelings is that if the traditional theory is a confusion and a mistake, if the earliest books of the Bible are the latest, and the latest and the earliest, if the facts of Bible history which for generations have taught us Divine truth more powerful than words, are in a great measure but legends or mythological embodiments of the truths, then the picture of God's dealing with men in the Old Testament, a picture that generations have gazed upon with delight and wonder, is not history at all.

But, whilst I presume if all approach the subject with this feeling of pain and reluctance, it will be rightly expected from us as lovers of the truth, that we keep our minds frankly open to the truth, and that we avoid as far as possible the blinding influences of prejudice.

It would certainly be prejudice in us, and mental dishonesty to take sides against the views of this modern analytical school without any examination of them.

It would be prejudice not to acknowledge the blessing they have brought to the Church in imparting a fresh and living interest to the study of the Bible, and in bringing her light to bear upon its interpretation.

It is not prejudice to hasten slowly and to hold by the established theory until it is disproven and displaced. Truth should not be, and is not, in danger from the Higher Criticism that takes the literature of the Old Testament as it stands and submits it to a thorough-going literary analysis. This should and must serve the interests of truth, and we must never forget that the truth, whatever it is, will yield a better moral result than any lie or any error however sacred.

I have not the space of your paper at my disposal to enter fully into a discussion of the difficulties of the accepted theory, and the modern theory, but I take the admitted facts of history, and I find the theory of the Biblical writers fits into its general trend naturally; the modern theory does not. I take abiding effects that must be accounted for. The Biblical theory accounts for them; the modern does not. I take the Jew with the Talmud and his traditions. The Bible therefore accounts for them; the modern does not.

I take the New Testament, Christ and His teachings, the Apostles and their teachings. The Biblical theory harmonizes with them. the theory of the Higher Critic does not.

Now, with all these, to me apparently insuperable objections, and others I have no time to mention, I see no other course than to reject the new theory until it shows far better reasons than it has shown for displacing the old.

But rejecting the theory does not preclude us from assimilating much of the light critics have thrown upon the Bible.

It will be a long time yet before the last word is spoken on the subject of Higher Criticism. In the meantime let us be sure of this, that Higher Criticism cannot destroy the Word of God. The power of God has been in and with His Word in the past; The power is very manifest in the present day, and will continue to the end. If ever facts are brought to light, let us honestly receive them, and wisely adjust our views of the Bible to the facts.

The modern view is not propagated by those who hate the Word, but by many who at least profess to revere it. Still the religious element has been left hitherto too much in the background by the critics. I feel that criticising is too scientifically cold. We wait for some man of large erudition in full sympathy with the great throbbing heart of the Bible, and living in the stream of a warm Christian life, to tell us the real meaning and value of this great movement.

Did Not Care to Give Opinion

Rev. J. G. Potter, B.A., pastor of St. Andrew's, when seen by the Review to-day, said he did not care to express an opinion on the higher criticism.

Tweed is Still on the Earth

Reports Exaggerated the Damage Done by the Recent Explosion

Tweed, Feb. 12.—Tweed is still on the face of the earth, notwithstanding the wild telegraphic reports circulated through many papers as to the great destruction wrought by the explosion of the 4th inst.

Unfortunately these reports were grossly exaggerated, as for instance the breaking of glass in windows, fully ninety per cent, was unharmed. Only two stores in the east side of Victoria street had any broken at all, and on the west side not one-half the plate glass was injured. Scores of dwelling houses, some of them situated in that portion of the village nearest the company's plant show no trace whatever of the shaking up. The openings made were quickly closed up and no suffering caused, as stated, neither was there any perishable foodstuff to perish.

Likewise the churches, which were said to be put out of business, suffered only slightly, and the idea of business being suspended is absurd.

Two buildings only of the plant were destroyed, and the heavy barricades situated between buildings proved so effective that the remaining buildings are practically intact. This much for the statement that twelve or fifteen buildings were destroyed.

It does seem too bad that writers will so draw upon their imagination as to put before the public such misleading and erroneous stories, when the truth would serve much better.

Snow Fell and Scared Horse

Animal Belonging to Mr. W. G. Howden Made a Short Dash This Morning

This morning at about 11:15 a horse belonging to Mr. W. G. Howden, the local cattle buyer, took a spirited dash down Hunter street. The animal hitched to a sleigh was standing in front of a Hunter street place of business, when some snow fell from the roof frightening it. It immediately circled round and made towards East City, being stopped however after a run of a couple of hundred yards. A blanket and robe were thrown out of the sleigh out no damage was done.

EXPERIENCES OF AN IMMIGRANT

Three years ago a polished English man wearing a tie-pin worth fifteen hundred dollars drifted into Toronto from the woods in Hastings county, Ontario. He had been looking over the rocks for precious stones and marble—both of which he found in large quantities. The stone was known as blue sodalite, and the marble was said to be better than the famous Carrara. Mr. Joseph Duveen, the English gentleman who for two weeks bunked among the backwoods farmers, prospecting with the axe and the pick, is the head of the celebrated firm of Duveen Bros., of London and New York, who hold the world's record for the purchase of works of high art. Recently in Paris Mr. Duveen bought the famous Kann collection of art treasures for several million dollars. A few days ago he arrived in New York to inspect American collections of Rembrandts. But in all his career of dealings in high art Mr. Duveen assured the writer that he never had so good a time as he had up in the woods of Hastings with a pick over his shoulder.—Courier.

TWO CASES OF LOCAL INTEREST AT TORONNTO

McWilliams vs. Dickson Co. is Being Tried—An Appeal Entered

The two following cases of local interest were tried at Osgoode Hall yesterday:—

Peterborough Hydraulic Power Co. vs. McAllister.—W. Nesbitt, K.C., and O'Connell, Peterborough, for defendants appealed from judgment of a Divisional Court (10 O.W.R. 694) allowing an appeal by the Ontario Bank (third parties) from judgment of Boyd, C. (10 O.W.R. 109), and dismissing the claim of the defendants against the bank. The action was for rent, and the claim over by defendants against the bank was for indemnity against the payment of the rent under an agreement between the defendants and the bank and by reason of the bank being, as alleged, assignees of the term. J. Bicknell, K.C., and A.B. Morine, for the Ontario Bank, opposed the appeal. Not finished.

McWilliams vs Dickson, of Peterborough.—G H Watson, K.C., and G. M. Roger (Peterborough) for defendants appealed from the report of the local Master at Peterborough dated 3rd September, 1907, on grounds that it was not warranted by the evidence, is contrary to law, and the evidence, ignores the judgment, is definite and incomplete that there was wrong and illegal receipt and acceptance of evidence improper and and wrongful rejection of evidence, and the report does not comply with the judgment, etc. R F McWilliams (Peterborough) and A R Clute, for plaintiffs, contra. Not concluded.

SPORTING NEWS

Lively Times in Hockey Circles Around Edmonton

Bill Crowley Resented a Hook in the Face and a Row Followed—Strathconas Refused to Continue and Edmonton Was Given the Game.

The following is from the Edmonton Journal:

Edmonton won the League game with Strathcona last night by the action of the Strathcona team in refusing to continue the game when the score was 3-3, after about twenty-five minutes of actual play.

The action of the Strathcona team was entirely unjustifiable and they departed greatly from the usual methods of gameness and sportsmanship and showed a streak of yellow that was almost incomprehensible. The incidents leading up to their departure from the ice and refusal to return were somewhat dramatic. The play from the face off was of the most strenuous character and players on both teams at times used their sticks like axes and showed a decided disposition to rough it and trips, hooks, slashes and heavy body checks being the order. Dunderdale of Strathcona had taken a prominent part and decorated the fence on two occasions.

Crowley had received a hook in the face that was the worst injury received during the entire contest. He said nothing, taking the punishment without a murmur bu when Dunderdale a few moments after exasperated him, he handed the Strathconaite a bunch of fives in the face that caused all the trouble.

Dunderdale was immediately carried off the ice by his team mates, and when he regained the dressing-room refused to continue the game with Crowley on the ice. The judge of play had awarded Crowley a two-minute rest and stayed with his decision and as a result the game was Edmonton's.

There was a mighty debate in the Strathcona dressing room. The Strathconites were divided, some wanting to continue and others declining with Crowley playing and the public were handed the nicest lemon possible. The temperature in the rink was low and the great unwashed sat for over an hour waiting the returns of the teams. Finally the referee announced that the game was off, and Whitcroft following hard on his heels advised the public to stay as there would be a game of some kind. After a very tedious delay there was a game of a kind.

In thirty minutes of an exhibition game Edmonton scored 12 to Strathcona's 2.

Further comment by the Journal is as follows:

What is the magic about Crowley's punch that makes the Strathcona team quit like a bunch of school boys. Had Elfie hit little "Kid" Boulton a punch would the Edmonton team have quit?

Crowley has in previous games given some questionable checks but last night his play was beyond reproach. He took the severest punishment meted out to any player on Edmonton or Strathcona ice this season. Did he lie down or refuse to continue. He said nothing and when play was recommenced; he played the game until Dunderdale got dirty then like any mortal he hit out, not with his stick but with his fists.

Strathcona, it is reported, is intending to move for his expulsion from the League. Battleford may or may not support them, but the Edmonton Hockey Club doubtless has no intention of being bluffed out of the services of this redoubtable player. He ics cover point whose se rvices in past seasons have been eagerly sought and if the Strathcona team wish to limit the area weight, size or ability of players, they can do so by forming a league of the "not over strong," disqualifying all players who really want the rubber when they go after it and, allowing only those tto play who are registered as being unable to qualify in the battle of life.

Would Train Runners Along Same Lines as Race Horses

Tom Eck, of Newmarket, the old-time trainer of athletes, skaters, and bicycle riders, has some decidedly interesting talk to hand out when he feels like it. The other day down at Tom Flanagan's he got on athletes and athletics and training.

"When I began training horses," says Mr. Eck, "my father told me always to let my horses have green grass every day, and I'd never have a horse go wrong. I made it a rule, and I never did have a horse get out of shape under my handling. When I began training men I thought the same thing ought to work. In the old days they used the old English idea of training. Athletes are no vegetables, much rare meat and any amount of dry, stale bread. It was stale bread three times a day, and ale to drink instead of water. Scores of athletes died of fever simply on account of that diet.

"I switched from that idea, gave my men plenty of fresh vegetables, whatever meat they wanted and then more vegetables. The result was that none of the men I handled went stale or became fever dried. I let them have ice cream and good clear water. Good water never hurts an athlete.

"Look at the way a trotting horse can repeat, running ten or twelve heats in a day, and all within three seconds or so of the same time. I've seen horses go out and do 2.06 1-4 in straight heats one after another. What man can run heat after heat in the same time? It's a matter of condition. A man has twice the endurance of a horse. Man is the strongest animal in the world. In six days a man can run a horse to death.

"If you could take your athletes and shut them up in a box stall, feed them within five minutes of the same time every day, give them nine hours a night of undisturbed sleep, work them under the supervision of men as smart as the men who train horses, and then sendt hem out to compete you'd have the greatest record-breakers in the world, and they'd be able to go out and repeat as often as you wanted them to.

"The only thing in which a man differs from a horse is that his brain is more active. He needs mental exercise, too, or he'll fret himself stale. When I had Jimmy Michael, the most nervous little bike rider in the world, I watched him all the time. I saw that he trained right, and I carefully picked out his amusements. Once I took Jimmy to see the 'Floradora' show six times in three weeks. He liked it andt hat kind of amusement was better than loafing around Manhattan Beach. A man with nothing to do but loaf and look for amusement will drink half a dozen bottles of ale a day, not because he wants it, but because he hasn't anything else to take up his time.

Eddie Howell Still Good One

Man Who Replaced Walter Miller Was All to the Bad

In its report of the Toronto-Brantford pro game, the Toronto News says:—

Schaeffer, who replaced Walter Miller, was distinctly a big, juicy "lemon." Miller is worth three Schaeffers, as the crowd took great pains to inform Capt. Brown. What little combination the Brantford forwards attempted the big chap seemed to take special delight in breaking up without any aid from the oppos-teram, and he was without doubt a huge handicap.

It is doubtful, however, if he or Mickus were carried at a bigger loss. The Dutchman between the nets was certainl yoff color, and in the second half failed to see anything in the shape of a round of rubber. The Toronto line did not shoot near as often as Brantford, but every shot was dead on, and this in some instances was enough for Mickus.

EDDIE HOWELL ON.

True to promise and report, the famous wood-chopper, "Cab" McDonald had taken up his skates and parted home, and in his place the Brantford management produced "Eddie" or "T" Howell, the famous Paris-Peterborough-Saulte Ste. Marie defence player, who a couple of seasons ago he was the king of O.H.A. defence players. Despite a short retirement from the game and the need of a little more practice, Eddie, in Dutch parlance, "was all to the mustard." His presence afforded great weight to the defence, and although he attempted little offensive work, he was strong in front of the nets, as the visitors found, and when he was adorning the fence they shoved in several goals. Eddie was greatly disgusted at the game put up by Mickus, and he has prevailed upon Brown to secure Jones, last season with the Soo in the International League.

B. Form Showed the Best Form

Won From C. Form by Garrison Finish—Score Was 4-3

By a spectacular garrison finish B. Form of the Collegiate Institute trimmed C Form in an exciting game at Brock street rink yesterday afternoon. Up to ten minutes of time the losers led by 3—1, but the winners finished very strong, finding the nets three times before the final bell. The score at that time stood 3—1 in favor of C Form.

O'Brien, Lees and Leahy starred for B. Form, while Laing and Armstrong were the most conspicuous for the losers.

Cameron gave good satisfaction as referee.

MILLER DOING GREAT WORK

Ex-Norwood Boy is Playing Fine Game at Left Wing for Edmonton

"Bill" Crowley writes from Edmonton to a Peterborough friend that "Jack" Miller, formerly with Norwood and Midland, is playing the best hockey he has ever played in his life. Miller is left wing for Edmonton and has decidedly made good at the position. Miller had his first hockey experience in Keene, where he was born, and ever since he was a mere kid has been a good player.

MANY UP-SETS ON ROADS IN THE COUNTRY

Pitch-holes, Cuts and Slides Make Travelling Unpleasant

People driving in from the country state that the roads were never in much worse condition. Pitch-holes, slides, cuts, make the lot of the traveller anything but pleasant; many upsets are reported. A Lakefield gentleman who was in the city today, told about a party of Lakefield people who drove to Young's Point last night to attend a concert there. They made the trip in a big sleigh and on the return journey had a bad upset. The sleigh went over suddenly and the occupants were thrown out and had an unpleasant experience in the soft snow. Fortunately none of them were injured.

A man who set out from Lakefield to Young's Point yesterday with some heavy machinery for a planing mill, loaded on a sleigh, had the hardest kind of a time in getting to his destination. It took over six hours to make the trip and it was with great difficulty that the load was kept from upsetting.

Pitch-holes on Country Roads

Thaw Has its Bad as Well as its Good Results

Although the present thaw has the great advantage of taking away much of the snow and putting ther oads in better condition for sleighing, it also has its drawbacks. The pitch-holes in many places along theo ountry roads are veritable valleys and those farmers bringing a heavy load to the city have to beo areful in teaming over the difficult places.

Valetta Dance an Enjoyable Event

Held Last Evening in Foresters' Hall—Many Present

One of the most enjoyable dances of the season was that which was held last evening in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, under the auspices of the Valetta Club. The Valetta Club is a new organization of young men and their dance last evening was the first they have given, but in the opinion of those present it is hoped that it be not the last one. About fifty couples were present and the evening was spent pleasantly in a programme of all the most enjoyable dances. Excellent music was provided. At midnight dainty refreshments were served. The committee in charge of the affair were Messrs. C. Delaney and E. McGrath and they deserve credit for the pleasing manner in which the arrangements were carried out.

Progressive Euchre At St. Peter's T.A.S.

The Ladies Entertain in a Most Enjoyable Manner

The gathering at St. Peter's T.A. S. rooms last evening was a notable one, there being the greatest crush in the history of the society's social functions. All agreed that it was one of the most enjoyable ever held in the T.A.S. rooms. It is not too much to say that there were as many pretty girls present as could be found at any similar event in the Dominion. Times may be bad but our youth and beauty do not look like it. As a pleasant means of uniting in good fellowship and mutual entertainment nothing more successful could be devised, but as the rule of the society seems to be modest as well as sweet smiles, we refrain from publishing the names of the ladies who did most to make the evening enjoyable.

The gentleman's prize was won by Mr. Markle, and the lady's prize, a gold four-leafed shamrock, was was won by Miss J. D. O'Brien.

ULCERATED LEG AND ANKLE

HEALED BY ZAM-BUK

A common result of an injury sometimes of even a tiny scratch is chronic ulceration, the skin disease that eats deepest into the tissue, and is most painful, weakening and obstinate. Ulcerations are brought on often (especially in the case of women) by excessive standing or kneeling. Mrs. J. E. Berryman of 91 Catharine St., N., Hamilton, Ont., says; "I was suffering for a number of weeks with a badly inflamed and ulcerated leg and ankle. I had used one remedy after another with no material benefit. My leg was swollen in some places to bursting and day and night I suffered severe pains. At this stage my husband prevailed upon me to leave off all other preparations and use Zam Buck. This I did, and was agreeably surprised for after a few applications the swelling in the leg was greatly reduced and the ulcer looked healthier. I persevered with Zam-Buck until the swelling was vanished and the pain and inflammation entirely removed. Zam-Buck has effected a cure when other remedies failed."

Zam-Buck also heals cuts, bruises, burns, running sores, eczema, boils, eruptions, scalp sores, itch, piles, chapped hands, and all diseases of the skin. Of all druggists and stores, 50c. box or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, postpaid on receipt of price. 3 boxes $1.25.

ITALIAN DIES AT ST. JOSEPH'S

Between six and seven this morning the death occurred of Pantaleone De Poalo, an Italian aged 51, and resident of Peterborough for about 5 years. Deceased was taken to the St. Joseph's Hospital about a week ago suffering from a severe attack of pulmonary trouble. For many years past he has been troubled with asthma and the disease finally settled on his lungs with fatal results. He was a laboring man and was well thought of by his fellow countrymen. He is survived at Chiete, St. Vito Province, Italy, by a wife and large family.

The funeral takes place tomorrow morning to St. Peter's cemetery. All arrangements in connection with the funeral are being made by Mr. Thos. Mulcolo.

Seven Boys Join Jr. Brotherhood

Impressive Service at St. Luke's Church Last Evening

At the evening service yesterday seven boys were admitted into membership with the Junior Chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew. After the sermon, in which Rev. Dr. Langfeldt had asked for the prayers of the congregation on behalf of those boys who had decided for the service of Christ, they came up to the altar rail, there the rector took their obligation and vow, they were formally admitted, the rector taking the candidate by the hand and saying; "I receive and admit you into the fellowship of this Brotherhood, and to a share in all its privileges and duties. May you have grace to copy the example of the blessed saint, whose name we bear, in bringing many of your brethren to the knowledge of Jesus Christ our Lord. Each member received the badge, a button with St. Andrew's Cross.

The officers are;—
Director—Edward Hanwell.
Vice-Director—Orlando Waterman.
Sec.-Treas.—Gillespie Stewart.

The meeting will be held every Sunday afternoon after Sunday school.

OF INTEREST TO ART LOVERS

"On motion of Mr. Whitney, seconded by Mr. Foy, Resolved, That a Select Committee be appointed to direct the expenditure of any sum set apart by the Estimates for Art purposes, to be composed as follows;—Mr. Speaker and Messrs. Whitney, Foy, Matheson, Hendrie, May, Harcourt and Preston (Brant)."

Amongst first readings of bills now before the Legislature is the above. Recent events have probably decided the Government to take this step. Heretofore the purchase of works of art has been left largely in the hands of Mr. Boyle the curator of the Archaeological Museum at Toronto.

NOTHING DOING AT POLICE COURT

The "nothing doing" sign still hangs out at the police court. February so far has certainly been a banner month in local police circles. Not for months has there been such falling off in the number of cases before Magistrate Dumble. The daily grind is no longer spoken of and idle men have ceased to make the police court their rendezvous. The stringency in the number of cases cannot be accounted for, unless it is that the usual frequenters have decided to turn over a new leaf. The county gaol is at present filled to its full accommodation, every cell being taken.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

NEW WAY to BE WELL

Healthfulness of Oranges.

The one lesson which most people never seem to learn is, how to guard their health.

We have been eating oranges since time immemorial, yet how many of us know that orange juice contains a medicinal principle which has a marked action on the stomach, bowels, kidneys and skin. Some physicians go so far as to say that they can cure the average case of Indigestion, Constipation, Biliousness and Dry Skin with orange juice and proper diet.

This can be easily proved to the satisfaction of any sufferer. Take the juice of one or two oranges every morning before breakfast, take one or two "Fruit-a-tives" every night at bed-time, exercise a reasonable care in diet, and the proof will be found in health.

The cure will be greatly assisted and hastened by taking "Fruit-a-tives" in conjunction with the orange juice. "Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices in which the medicinal principle of oranges, apples, figs and prunes are many times increased by the special way in which they are combined. Then tonics are added and the whole made into tablets. "Fruit-a-tives" may be obtained at all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price—50c a box—6 for $2.50. "Fruit-a-tives," Limited, Ottawa.

PRISON LABOR

The policy that has hitherto obtained regarding Prison Labour, in Ontario, has been superseded by an altogether different one of a much greater scope, free from the objectionable feature of competition with labour properly so-called, and of a more serviceable character. Hon. W. J. Hanna deserves the credit of this new departure as for the other extraordinary advance in the treatment of those formerly immured for long terms in the Mercer Reformatory. As in the case of all improvements we wonder that it has not been made before. It is inconceivable that men should aspire to governmental positions simply to pose as politicians. It is true that there has been some excuse for this, since apparently more votes could be got by political humbugging and trickery than by straight work for the good of the people. Once again the blame falls on the shoulders of those who fail to realize that the man who neglects his duty at the polls is directly and unequivocally putting a premium upon political dishonesty. The crook never fails to vote because he takes pay for so doing. So why should we wonder at political crime? With these few remarks we shall preapre to analyse this admirable and far-reaching reform. First of all comes the report of the Special Committee. It reports as follows:—

"The Special Committee appointed to investigate the question of prison labour, begs leave to present its report.

The situation which gave rise to the enquiry, which your committee has been conducting during the parliamentary recess, was fully outlined in the speech on prison labour delivered by the Provincial Secretary at the session of 1907. The situation was not of recent development. In fact, from the very year of the establishment of the Central Prison, the prison labour problem appears to have pressed itself upon the attention of the management. With varying degrees of success the various systems have been operated, but no one system has yet appeared to answer the requirements of the institution and afford satisfaction to free labor. It would appear from the records available, that up to the present time the industries of the Central Prison have been operated at a loss to the Province, while at all times they have afforded more or less serious competition to outside enterprises in the same line of industry."

It then proceeds to show that prisoners must be occupied in some employment. Then the employment should not be looked upon as a mere punishment, but should be of a useful and productive nature. Hitherto it has been the custom to turn out woodenware, supplies for hospitals, gaols, asylums, etc., and cordage. In the U.S. every branch of free industry was hurt by prison competition. The report of the committee (Jos. P. Downey, M.P.P., chairman) concludes as follows:—

"Your committee beg leave to make the following recommendations;—

1. That the property now known as the Central Prison be disposed of.
2. That an area of four hundred or five hundred acres, within a reasonable distance from the city of Toronto, and easily accessible by railway, be purchased.
3. That on this property a new prison be erected.
4. That this institution be known as the Provincial Reformatory of Ontario.
5. That what are known as the public account, contract and piece price systems of employment be discontinued, as work can be found for the inmates in the improvement and cultivation of the land, the caring and feeding of live stock, etc., and the making of such supplies as are necessary for the various public institutions of the province.
6. That in the equipment of the industrial departments regard be had for the development of the mechanical taste and manual dexterity of the inmates, rather than the specialization of labor and the rapid production of goods by machinery.
7. That the striped suits now worn by the inmates be abolished and that ordinary clothing of a uniform style and color be substituted therefor.
8. That what is known as the "dark cell" be abandoned, and detention cells, large and well lighted, but affording no view of the outside, be used for the confinement of disobedient or refractory inmates.
9. That as soon as practicable a system of technical education be introduced by the establishment of one school under a qualified instructor, and, if the experience warrants, that the system be extended.
10. That schools of letters, covering elementary subjects, be established, with a view later on to the adoption of a more advanced curriculum.
11. That calisthenics and military exercises be organized with the object of improving the physical condition of the inmates, and thus paving the way for their moral adjustment, but that anything in the nature of a public display be prohibited.
12. That a branch institution be located in Northern Ontario."

The forty-five pages of the finding are an exhaustive study of the subject at all points. It represents the farthest advance in Prison Reform yet made in Canada.

THE RECENT ART EXHIBIT

To the local branch of The Women's Art Association of Canada are due the thanks of Peterborough and vicinity for the recent exhibition of works of art at the old Bank of Montreal. It is gratifying to learn that two of the best water colors one a Weiland and the other a du Chattel found purchasers here. The persistent efforts of our ladies of artistic tastes have at last borne fruit. When people who were not there realise how much they missed by not being present they will resolve assuredly that next year will find them setting aside at least one day for "wandering amongst true works of art."

It is to be regretted that some of Israel's etchings did not remain in this city as they represent such a high standard of that branch of rat However the exhibition was in every way a success and it is to be hoped that Peterborough will have a similar one next year.

EDITORIAL NOTES

"Some new corrupt practices are defined, among them the act of a livery keeper or any other person who furnishes for hire, conveyances on polling day, knowing that they will be used to carry voters to the polls."

This is one of the provisions of the new provincial act respecting elections.

Our Liberal friends in the East Riding seem to be "Sayin' nuthin'" but are they "sawing wood?" It is more likely that they are shovelling snow. Mr. Finlay, M.P., has as good a record for his riding as any Liberal representative there has yet had and seems to be the favorite in the betting. Mr. Lang is a warrior of class as they say of horses. He has fought valiantly and long but age has probably reminded him that younger men will have their day. We have heard Mr. Johnston's name mentioned also. Not being of the right stripe however, we are no authorities on who is to be the man to lead the forlorn hope.

Bunch of Fives For the Masher

Last evening about 9.30 o'clock, a young man accosted a lady weighing 170 pounds, on Lansdowne street. His advances were rejected but the masher followed the lady and repeated his declarations of admiration. Suddenly the lady wheeled around and struck this man a terrific blow in the face, knocking him down and dazing him for a moment. Then she ran down the street until she met a gentleman acquaintance who escorted her home. The gallant man who received her fist is not likely to bother women again for a while.

From Report of the Royal Commission on Life Insurance

(Printed by Order of Parliament 1907)

"The People's Life Insurance Company was incorporated in 1892, by an act of the province of Ontario, 55 Vic. cap. 102, and carried on business in that province until October, 1905, when its business was consolidated or amalgamated with the business of the Home Life, under an arrangement whereby the management of the People's Life obtained control of the Home Life, and the latter company thereupon re-insured the former's policies. Under this Act of Incorporation the Peoples had no capital stock, and to provide funds to carry on the business was authorized to issue debentures amounting to $20,000. In 1894, by an amending Act, 57 Vic., cap. 99, the amount of authorized debentures was increased to $250,000.

In 1900 the management of the company passed under the control of the Dominion Permanent Loan and Savings Company, that company having acquired Peoples Life debentures in exchange for its own.

Messrs. Stratton, president; Coffee vice-president; Karn, Kloepfer and Holland were the directors of both companies.

In 1901 by a further amending Act 1, Edw. VII, cap. 96, the company was authorized to issue what was described as 'debenture stock,' not to exceed, without the consent of the Lieutenant Governor in Council, $250,000, which it was provided the company might, but need not, repay and which was to share ratably with outstanding debentures of the company in any distribution of the company's assets. Holders of debentures might, with the consent of the directors, exchange debentures for debenture stock.

In 1903 $105,850 of debenture stock was subscribed and paid in, and further debenture stock was issued from time to time, until at December 31, 1904, the paid-up debenture stock amounted to $250,550, and all the debentures of the company had then been retired.

The company's business had proven to be anything but profitable, the impairment of capital at that time amounting to $221,073.65, leaving assets according to this company's own showing of less than $30,000 to repay the debenture stock then outstanding. For some years the company seems to have been without any real manager or head and when the president assumed active control of the company's policy in November 1904, he found its position most unsatisfactory. He seems to have made many changes and in April 1905, he installed Mr. J. K. McCutcheon as manager, at a salary of $5000 per annum with an additional 1 per cent on the annual increase of premium.

The new manager examined the company's affairs particularly with respect to the field force, and concluded that the company's position was such that it was expedient to re-insure its contracts and in the process to create a larger corporation. He learned that Mr. Pattison, manager of the Home Life, was in the mind to negotiate, and he first proposed a simple re-insurance by the Home Life of the Peoples Life contracts. This offer, was, however refused. The negotiations continued and were directed towards the obtaining by the persons in active management and control of the Peoples Life the management and control of the Home Life.

It appears to your Commissioners that the refusal of Mr. Pattison to entertain the proposition of simple re-insurance was partly due to Mr. Pattison's state of health, partly to his desire to give up a failing insurance business and devote his attention to certain railway interests which he with others, including the president of the company, Mr. John Firstbrook, had acquired, and partly to the fact that the necessities of the Peoples Life afforded an opportunity to make this change with profit to himself and Mr. Firstbrook.

The fifteen year employment contracts with Messrs. Pattison and Firstbrook seem to have been made to do duty as a basis for negotiating a large money payment to Mr. Pattison for surrendering his position and obtaining the resignation of the president and other directors.

The earlier negotiations were between Mr. Pattison and Mr. McCutcheon and it was arranged that the capital stock standing in the names of Mr. Pattison, Mr. Firstbrook and the other local directors of the company should be turned over at $25 a share. The market value was then from $18 to $20 per share, and shares could be purchased at that figure. Mr. Pattison demanded a sum of about $110,000 in addition, which, in his evidence before the Commission he claimed to be the commuted value of the two fifteen-year contracts. The negotiations with Mr. Pattison, which had been commenced by Mr. McCutcheon, were continued by Mr. J. J. Warren, solicitor for the Peoples Life, and finally completed by Mr. J. R. Stratton, the president, who concluded the bargain with Pattison for $90,000 in addition to $25 per share for the director's stock.

A form of re-insurance agreement was prepared by Mr. Warren, to be submitted for approval at the regular quarterly meeting of the board of directors of the Home Life, Company, which was to be held on October 11, 1905, at 11 a.m. Various adjournments of this meeting were made, and the transaction was not completed until the following day, October 12, at 4 p.m., when the Directors of the Home Life, tendered their resignations and the new board was elected, J. R. Stratton, D. W. Karn, J. J. Warren, C. Kloepfer, J. R. McCutcheon, J. W. Lyons and J. L. Hughes taking the places of John Firstbrook, Dr. J. S. King, N. F. [illegible], Thomas Elliott, R. A. Wood and A. J. Pattison and three of the old board, Rev. Dr. Briggs, J. S. King and J. W. Curry being rejected.

An hour or two before this meeting Mr. Stratton obtained from the Traders Bank on his own cheque on the Bank of Montreal, Peterborough $90,000 in cash, being the amount which he had some six weeks or two months before agreed to pay Mr. Pattison in addition to the price of the stock the transfer of which he was to procure. He also had in cash $29,920 proceeds of a cheque of the Peoples Life with which to pay for the stock. He attended the meeting at the Home Life office and when the transaction was ready to be closed went with Mr. Pattison to the Traders Bank he says to pay over the money. Just before leaving the Home Life office or on his way to to bank he for the first time suggested that a reduction should be made in the money payment to which he had agreed. He says:

"I intimated to him that it was impossible, not probably, that the arrangement could be carried through if he insisted on $90,000.'

And again;

I told him I thought $80,000 would be all that could be at all arranged in connection with the matter.'

And that while Mr. Pattison thought that it should be carried through at $90,000 he finally accepted the smaller sum. Mr. Pattison says that he was told by Mr. Stratton that he would have to reduce the amount from $90,000 to $80,000 which was all that he would pay, and that without any discussion he decided to accept it. He then received $80,000 and $29,920 in addition for the stock, and executed an agreement to transfer to Mr. McCutcheon 1,164 shares of Home Life stock, to assign his contract with the Home Life and to procure an assignment of Mr. Firstbrook's contract. This agreement was expressed to be entered into by him 'for valuable consideration,' although the document had originally been drawn with a space left in which to insert the real consideration. Mr. Stratton kept $10,000, [illegible] of $90,000 in cash from the 12th to the 14th of October when he deposited it in the Bank of Montreal at Peterborough to the credit of his personal account, then over drawn to the extent of $16,000.

After the payment of the money the directors' meeting of October 12, 1905, was held, and after the new board was appointed the meeting was adjourned until Friday, October 13, at 2.30 p.m. when the minutes record that Messrs. Stratton, King, Briggs, Kloepfer, Hughes, Curry, Warren and McCutcheon attended and the reinsurance agreement between People's Life and the Home Life together with a contract with Mr. McCutcheon employing him as manager were approved.

Mr. McCutcheon's contract appointing him manager for ten years at a salary of $5,000 per annum and a "percentage of five per cent on the gross actual premiums collected by the company in each year, such percentage however, not to exceed the sum of $11,100 in any one year."

The agreement contained a proviso that "in case of the death of the said McCutcheon or the termination of this contract from any cause whatever the percentage payable to the said McCutcheon, as above mentioned, shall continue to be payable to him or his successors or assigns until the termination of the ten years above mentioned."

It was admitted that the understanding with Mr. McCutcheon was that his salary should be $5,000 per annum only, and that the percentage on premiums was to provide a fund with which to repay the amount paid to Mr. Pattison over and above the price of the stock. The computation was made on the basis that the sum was $90,000, but it was asserted that this was done before Mr. Pattison agreed to reduce it to $80,000. The agreement, therefore, created a liability against the Home Life Company, equivalent to $90,000, charged on the whole premium income of the company, a liability which was not shown in the company's annual return for 1905. Mr. McCutcheon, on the same day, assigned the moneys payable to him under this contract, except his salary of $5,000 per annum to the Traders' Bank, as security for $90,000, which the bank advanced to him on his demand note, with the assignment as collateral security. The amount of the loan was applied in payment of the amount advanced by the bank to Mr. Stratton the day before on his cheque on the Bank of Montreal, Peterborough, which cheque was thereupon returned to him. It was stated by Messrs. Stratton, Warren and McCutcheon that it was not intended that the Home Life Company should pay under this contract with Mr. McCutcheon in the shape of commissions on premium income more than the $80,000 which had actually been paid to Pattison, and that the reduction of the amount paid to him represented a real saving to the company rather than a personal profit to Mr. Stratton. In confirmation of that statement, a cheque dated October 12, 1905, for $10,000 was produced, drawn by Stratton on the Bank of Montreal, Peterborough, in favour of McCutcheon. This cheque was said by McCutcheon, to have been kept by him from the 13th or 14th October, 1905, until the date of the inquiry in the valut of the Home Life Company in an envelope sealed up and marked, "Personal property J. M. McC." He further stated that when the cheque was handed to him by Stratton, the latter said:—

"Your note is in the bank, $90,000; the matter has been arranged for $80,000. Now, here is the difference between $80,000 and $90,000. The loan is only a temporary loan in the bank. When that is rearranged you have this to apply on that which will reduce it in accordance with your contract of $80,000."

His explanation of the delay in applying the cheque on the indebtedness was that your commissioners were then engaged in the examination of insurance companies, and it was expected the Home Life would be called at any moment—an explanation obviously incorrect, as the commission was not appointed, until some months later. Stratton stated that he gave the cheque to McCutcheon to be applied at the time, and that it was arranged by Warren and McCutcheon that it was to be applied to the retirement of the note as it was only a temporary loan with the bank, that the rearrangement had not been carriedth rough at the time as it was intended to rearrange the whole matter so as to extend the payments to be made by the Home Life over fifteen or twenty years, instead of ten years, and it was still standing in that position, as there might be adverse criticism if the change were made while the commission was sitting. That the only reason the transaction was put through with the bank at $90,000 and permitted so to remain was that the papers had been drawn on the understanding that the sum would be paid, and it was not until the last moment that it was known that Mr. Pattison would accept the smaller sum, and it was thought better not to change the papers that had already been prepared. Warren stated that he did not know of the existence of the cheque at the time it was given; in fact he did not hear of it until some three or four months before the enquiry into the affairs of the company in Septemebr, 1906, and after the appointment of the commission. It was then mentioned in a discussion between himself, McCutcheon and Stratton, and he advised that nothing be done with the cheque until the work of the commission was finished. He says he was told by Mr. Stratton that it was "a cheque he had handed to Mr. McCutcheon in case anything should happen to him, so that Mr. McCutcheon could carry out the understanding between them, that he had been holding it and not applying it in case the bank should ask for payment on account of this temporary loan, he could turn it in that way, and stave things over for three or four months longer; and he understood that it was to be cashed at any time the bank made a call for money.'"

The statements of Stratton, McCutcheon and Pattison are not reconcilable with each other and are very unsatisfactory.

The trend of the evidence as first sumitted to the commission was cautiously confined to the terms of an arrangement involving the payment of $80,000 and no more. The production of the bank's security for an advance to McCutcheon being insisted upon by counsel prosecuting the inquiry, it became necessary to disclose the withdrawal from the bank of the additional $10,000; its retention by Stratton on the 13th of October; its deposit in his overdrawn bank account in Peterborough on the following day and the alleged origin and destiny of the cheque for $10,000.

The inference to be drawn from these transactions and the various accounts given of them by the participants are plain and obvious.

If the cheque was given to McCutcheon in October, which is doubtful, it was not, your commissioners are satisfied, intended that ultimately the company should pay less than the whole $90,000, or that any person but Stratton should have the ultimate benefit of the $10,000. Otherwise the $10,000 cash itself would have been immediately returned instead of being carried in Stratton's pocket during the whole of the 13th October, 1905, and taken to Peterborough and deposited there on the following day in his overdrawn account, and the demand note would have been drawn for $80,000 instead of $90,000. Very little importance should be attached to the circumstance that the paper had been prepared. The agreement with the bank could have been made to fit the altered condition by merely striking out "ninety" and inserting "eighty," or could have been entirely retyped as it was less than two folios long, and a whole day elapsed between the payment of Pattison and the completion of the arrangement with the bank.

It was stated by Stratton that the $10,000 would be returned and the transaction rearranged so as to extend the payments to be made by the company over a long period as soon as the work of the commission is completed.

Having regard to all the circumstances your commissioners are compelled to conclude that what really took place between Stratton and Pattison was that the former demanded and the latter conceded a share, to the extent of $10,000, in the moneys which were being paid to the latter and charged to the Home Life.'"

FROM HANSARD

RELEASE OF GILLIS.

Mr. Ward—by Mr. Taylor—asked;

1. Was a man named Gillis sentenced to be hanged some years ago at Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, for the murder of one, "Callahan."?

2. Was this prisoner's sentence commuted to imprisonment for life? If so, on what grounds?

3. Was this prisoner removed from Dorchester to Kingston penitentiary? If so, for what reason?

4. When did this removal take place and how long has this prisoner been confined at Kingston?

6. From what source did the request for his release come?

7. Upon whose recommendation was this prisoner released?

Hon. A. B. Aylesworth —Minister of Justice.

1. Yes; in January 1886.

2. The prisoner's sentence was so commuted. As to the grounds upon which such commutation proceeded, I am quite unable to answer, but the well established constitutional practice in that regard is that in general, the advice tendered to the Governor General in such cases is regarded as confidential, and not to be communicated even to parliament unless under very exceptional circumstances. Such circumstances would not appear to exist in the present case.

3. Yes, for disciplinary reasons.

4. In August 1894. He was in Kingston penitentiary until his release in July, 1907, after—in all—over twenty two years' actual imprisonment.

5. He was released. The reply to question 2 applies to the latter part of this question.

6. From several persons interested in the prisoner who, from time to time during several years, urged his release. It is not the practice to communicate the names of memorialists or petitioners in such cases.

7. Upon mine.

CHARTERING BANKS

"The Ottawa Parliament is at present talking about amendments to the Banking Act. Much of the trouble occasioned among the banks, has been caused by Parliament during the last few years granting charters for new banks, to any bunch of promoters who ask for them. A Parliament properly performing its duty to the public, would not have granted these charters."—Bobcaygeon Independent.

When Parliament was opened the wind had a velocity of fifty miles an hour. Ah, but wait till Mr. MacKay gets going.—Toronto News.

Mr. Jack Erskine Saves Lives Of Two Vancouver Ladies

Former Teller of Lacal Office of Bank of Commerce Porforms Gallant Rescue—A Double Calamity Averted.

The Vancouver B.C. World contains an account of the brave rescue of two young ladies by Mr. Jack Erskine of the Canadian Bank of Commerce in Vancouver, and formerly teller at the local office of the bank. Mr. Erskine is a Peterborough boy, his mother and two sisters residing on Concession street, East City.

The article is;

"Modesty alone was the reason that the name of Mr. Jack Erskine of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, did not appear in these columns yesterday in connection with the story of the narrow escape of two ladies from drowning in the new reservoir. It was announced that a skater had jumped into the reservoir, and, by the trick of treading water, had kept the ladies' heads up and thus prevented a double drowning. At the time the young man's name could not be ascertained, and it was today learned that the plucky preserver was Mr. Jack Erskine, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and to him is due the credit of having prevented what would have benn one of the saddest accidents of the new year."

The Jack Erskine referred to well known, and has many friends here, having for some time filled a position in the local branch of the Canadinn Bank of Commerce. He is a son of the late Mr. John Erskine, one of Peterborough's former merchants who conducted a large dry goods store on the south side of Hunter street, just east of George street.

Banquet at the Gilmour Church

There were over 300 in attendance at the Shredded Wheat Banquet at the Gilmour Memorial church last night including two bus loads from Peterborough. Music was furnished by the orchestra of the George St. Methodist church and Mr. J. H. Scriven of the George Street choir sang in splendid voice. Rev. Dr. Metzler of Bridgenorth acted as chairman and made an appropriate opening address.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Shredded Wheat Company and those assisting in the programme.

Just as one of the bus loads neared the parsonage the bus was upset throwing the occupants into the snow. Fortunately no one was injured.

REVIEW LETER BOX

COME ON, BOYS

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—The Conservative cause is all right and everything is going lovely but just let me send you the following, Mr. Editor;—

Am I a Conservative? Why do I not if so, interest myself in the welfare of my country? Why do not become a member of the Liberal-Conservative Association, and especially the Young Conservative Club?

Am I for retrenchment of the incubus of debt now on our country? Am I for unassisted emigration and exclusion of undesirable emigrants? Am I for our public domain for the people or the grafters? Am I for a just and accurate examination of all public papers? Has the Ontario Legislature acts and doings been in accord with the people as a whole? Has the acts of the Dominion Government been in accord with the grafters?

Am I justified in boldly standing out maintaining my rights as a citizen, helping those who desire the good and welfare of our bright land? Then I must be up and doing and join the club and association, and support Mr. Burnham and Mr. Bradburn.

OLD STAGER.

TAKE THE GRANT

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—As the matter of accepting a grant from Mr. Carnegie is being discussed in the local press, I might say that every movement for the public good of Peterborough has been well supported in the past, and the wonder is that this matter has not come up before when such places as Cornwall, Guelph and Brantford have good Public Libraries, to say nothing of less progressive places. Few, if any, of the working people are able to enjoy a library of their own; I therefor ethink we should spare no effort to obtain this grant and have a public library that will be a credit to the city.

Yours in earnest,
WORKINGMAN.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Editor Daily Review;

Sir,—It is with much satisfaction that I see the columns of your valuable paper thrown open for the discussion of the public library question. Having served as secretary of a library board in one of our Ontario cities during the erection of a library building, it was my privilege to carry on all the negotiations with Mr. Carnegie and having in this way gained some knowledge of the matter you will, I am sure excuse my adding a few words to the present discussion. Permit me in beginning to correct a few erroneous impressions that seem to have got abroad.

It has been said that it would be undignified for a city like Peterborough to go begging to Mr. Carnegie for money for any purpose. Now, no begging is necessary. Mr. Carnegie has made a plain business proposition in which he lays down two conditions on which a grant will be given us. These conditions are that the city shall furnish a site, and that the City Council will give a guarantee that a sum equal to at least one tenth of the grant will be expended annually in maintenance. There are no conditions. No begging is expected and there are no restrictions as to the source of the funds for maintenance. They may come from endowments, grants, personal donations or the city treasurer.

Again some writers and speakers have raised an objection on the grounds of a name saying that we cannot call the building both the Nichols and the Carnegie library. As may be gathered from what has already been said, Mr. Carnegie makes no reference to a name. Few, if any of the buildings that have been erected in Ontario are officially designated Carnegie Libraries. A number have a tablet somewhere in the building stating the fact that the building as erected at a certain time as a result of a gift generously donated, etc., but I know several buildings on which the name of Carnegie does not appear at all and he has made no complaint. In fact he has asked no questions nor made any suggestions in the matter. We will be free to call the buildings by any name that suits us.

Further, there has been a good deal of the usual cheap talk baout tainted money. Might it not be well Mr. Editor, for us to ask ourselves a few plain questions in this connection? Are we better than dozens of other places that have accepted this money? Are we of a higher intellectual type? Do we possess ethical standards that are superior to those of our neighbors? In some respects I believe we do excel our fellow-citizens of other similar cities: We can turn out a better crowd to see a hockey match and our police court records are said to be fully as long as those of towns of similar size. In the matter, however, of a high-class lecture we cannot get together nearly as large an audience as other places of half the size. Agents of our best literary periodicals say that Peterborough's subscription lists are by no means the longest in the province. When we look at facts like these we ought to consider very carefully whether or not we would be justified in putting on an air of superiority and refusing for our citizens a means of education and intellectual development that has been thankfully accepted by other places.

Apart from all these considerations are there any valid reasons for refusing this grant? Suppose we admit, what is far from true, that the money was stolen, as a few extremists would have us believe. If so from whom was it stolen? Most undoubtedly from the people of Canada and the United States to whom Mr. Carnegie sold his goods. Now is it not the privilege of every thief to make restitution if he desires? In all conscience then why deny to Mr. Carnegie this privilege if we do go so far as to believe that his money was stolen? If he took it from the people he is now giving it back, and who would prevent him?

It was my intention to have said something aboout the advantages to our laboring classes, and educational institutions of having a modern, well equipped and thoroughly efficient public library in our city, but I have already encroached too much on your valuable space. In conclusion, I wish to say that, in my opinion, the proper course for the City Council to pursue is to formally comply with Mr. Carnegie's conditions as outlined above, take steps for the formation of a regularly constituted Library Board under the terms of the Public Libraries Act, and then hand the matter over to the Board.

Thanking you for your indulgence,
I am, Yours, etc.,
RICHARD LEES.

Mr. Harry LaBelle Advance Man and Mr. Bert Peters Picture Singer

Mr. Harry LaBelle, advance agent for Green's Picture Show, which appears at the Grand for five days, commencing Tuesday, and a former member of the mechanical department of the Morning Times, is in the city today. Mr. LaBelle and his brother used to do an acrobatic turn of much merit which will be well remembered by a large number of Peterborough citizens. Another local boy who is connected with Green's show is Mr. Bert Peters, who has been seen here in vaudeville specialties with Mr. "Jack" Richards the advance representative for H. Wilmot Young's Repertoire Company. He is the singer of the illustrated songs.

Interesting Story of the Great Revival

Many Heard Rev. Mr. Davis at Park Street Church Last Night

Park street church was filled last night when Rev. Arthur Davis, of Picton, gave an interesting address on the "Welsh Revival." Rev. A. H. Brace occupied the chair and the speaker of the evening was listened to with great interest. Mr. Davis was present in Wales at the time of the great revival and had a most interesting story to tell. He related many incidents that came under his notice, and also told about the Torrey-Alexander evangelistic campaign in Australia.

A collection was taken up in aid of the building fund of the new Baptist church at Picton, and the sum of $13 was realized.

Three members of the Royal Irish Constabulary were severely mauled on Monday at Naas, County Kildare, by thirty disguised men, whom they attempted to prevent from cattle driving.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

A Chatham mother discovered a cat asleep on the face of her infant daughter Margaret, who had been slumbering in a mail cart. On pulling the cat away the child was found to be quite dead.

"Then people are not dying?" said Judge Willis at Southwark recently, on hearing that an undertaker's coachman had complained that trade was bad. "No, sir," it's too healthy," replied the witness.

Church steeples, built by the best known methods, revolved to a certain extent, said counsel at Westminster County Court recently. They followed the sun round to the extent of one-sixteenth to one-eighth of an inch.

The official peace negotiations in connection with the cotton dispute have been concluded, and the proposals now merely await the signatures of the chief officials of the Employers' Federation and the Cardroom Operatives' Amalgamation.

Williamsons Have Left the City at Last

Went to Detroit Mich. Yesterday Where They Will Reside in Future

The gypsy settlement on Stewart street has disbanded and the Williamson's are no longer residents of Peterborough. With all their earthly belongings they left the city yesterday for Detroit, Mich., where they will in future reside and where other members of the great family are living. They sold all their horses on Wednesday, letting some of them go at a minimum price in order that they could leave as quickly as possible. They earned their livelihood by horse trading, and the women went about the streets selling soap, laces and all other such articles that are usually sold by gypsies.

It will no doubt be pleasing news to the police authorities to learn that they have left Peterborough, for they have been a source of annoyance to them since their advent to the city. They have been in police court on numerous occasions, and each time have made promises to the Magistrate to leave town. They have been here since last fall, and during their stay have made themselves famous by their actions in police court circles.

Were Entertained by Mr. Cressman

Ushers and Collectors Spent an Enjoyable Evening

The young gentlemen who act as ushers and collectors at George street Methodist church, were entertained at the home of Mr. A. W. Cressman, Brock street, last evening. They spent a most enjoyable time, Mr. and Mrs. Cressman and family doing everything in their power to give their guests a good time. Refreshments were served and the evening spent in games, music and various amusements. The young men are deeply grateful to their hosts for the pleasant evening spent.

LISTEN TO THIS

Thousands Will Benefit if Statement Made is Only Partly True.

It may be that some persons will be inclined to doubt this statement made by an eminent authority at a recent meeting, that with a mixture of dandelion, kargon and sarsaparilla he would give prompt relief to any sufferer of rheumatism, or the usual forms of backache, caused by inactive, clogged kidneys, yet many cases of long standing that had been entirely relieved were cited to prove the truth of his assertion. The same authority further stated that many cases which failed to yield to the healing waters of the famous health resorts, or the usual remedies as prescribed, salicylate of soda potash, colchicum, etc.—were readily relieved by the use of his simple mixture—Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Take a teaspoonful dose after meals and at bedtime.

A well known druggist, when approached upon the subject, stated that while this prescription, as written, is new, the ingredients are continually prescribed by the best physicians and any good prescription pharmacy has them; they are inexpensive and harmless to use; and are mixed by shaking well in a bottle.

If the claims made for this mixture are only partly correct, it would seem that no sufferer here could afford to leave the prescription untried.

Dominion Government Trafficked in Promised Appointments.

Exposure of Improper Use of Federal Patronage in New Brunswick—Something About Mr. Pugsley—The Thin Red Line Scandal Revived by Appointment of Office of One of Its Notorious Operators.

Ottawa, Feb. 14.—The absence of Hon. William Pugsley in New Brunswick, where the provincial election is on, was seized upon by Mr. Crocket (York, N.B.) as the text for an attack on that Minister and a general review of the Robinson Ministry.

Mr. Crocket called attention to the improper use of Federal patronage in connection with the New Brunswick elections. It was well known, he said, that when Hon. William Pugsley ceased his exploitation of the Government of New Brunswick a few months ago, to turn his attention to the larger opportunities which this Government afforded, that he left a Government so thoroughly discredited that very few who formerly supported it would give it any countenance and that men of capacity and reputation could not be induced to join it. The Government which Mr. Pugsley handed over to Mr. Robinson, therefore, found itself in great difficulty.

Mr. Crocket went on to say that the Robinson Government held on till its statutory term had expired and when it was necessary to prepare for the elections, so discredited had Mr. Pugsley left the Government that it was impossible to procure candidates and again the patronage of the Government was called into play. Although in the last House the Provincial Government held three seats in the City of St. John, it was necessary in order to secure a ticket to offer another Federal office. It had been stated openly that Mayor Sears of St. John was slated for the position of postmaster of St. John.

Mr. Lemieux denied that any promise had been made Mayor Sears.

Mr. Crocket, however, thought Mr. Pugsley was capable of looking after the interests of the party in that section of the country.

In the County of York there had been a transaction. Although the Government held four seats there, it was unable to get four candidates in the county and was forced to go into Westmoreland for the claims agent of the I.C.R., who stipulated that he was to receive a portfolio and in the event of defeat was to be provided for by the Federal authorities.

In Kent a Federal Government employe had been induced to accept nomination. Mr. Crocket said in Queen's and Sudbury the Liberal candidate was going around with a Public Works engineer to influence the electors there.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that Mr. Crocket was evidently taking newspaper reports too seriously. He could assure the hon. member that Mayor Sears had not been promised the St. John postmastership.

"Will the Prime Minister say there is no intention whatever to appoint Mayor Sears to an office under this Government?" asked Mr. Crocket.

"So far as I know and am concerned there is none whatever, and I have something to say in these matters," replied Sir Wilfrid. "So far as I am aware, no promise or intimation of any kind has been made to Mr. Sears."

Sir Wilfrid also gave an unqualified denial to the report that another Liberal candidate had been promised the custom office in Fredericton.

Dr. Daniel enquired if it were not true that Dr. Ruddick of St. John had been appointed quarantine officer.

Mr. Fisher said it was true.

Dr. Daniel protested against this interference in local affairs. He was sure that when Mayor Sears read the Prime Minister's denial he would get after the Minister of Public Works and ask him who was to be believed in this matter. Notwithstanding Sir Wilfrid's denial there was evidently an understanding between Sears and Mr. Pugsley.

Mr. Crocket observed that this was no change at all. Postmaster Smith was charged with having attended a meeting of Liberal campaign workers. As to the postmaster of Woodstock, he had a letter from that official denying that he had spoken at public meetings in the Liberal cause.

Mr. Lemieux said that the postmaster in his letter declared he had never spoken at a meeting in his life. His name was Smith, and the candidate was a Mr. Smith, and the postmaster thought it might be the names were confused.

"Does the Postmaster-General think it likely that it was the Conservative candidate who attended the Liberal rally?" asked Mr. Borden amidst laughter.

George Fowler said that as to the denials, the Minister had made lots of them before.

Mr. Lancaster contrasted the case of Postmaster Smith with that of the postmaster at Beamsville, who had been dismissed for partizanship. The enquiry showed that all he had done was to remark, after the election, that Mr. Gibson, the Liberal candidate, was "in the soup."

Dr. Roche (Marquette) called attention to the despatch from Regina to the effect that R. E. A. Leach of the "Thin Red Line" notoriety, had been appointed by the Federal Government to superintend the distribution of seed grain in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Dr. Roche asked if Leach was the officer in charge of distribution or would be connected with it in any way.

"As far as I can gather, the despatch is in the main correct," replied Hon. Frank Oliver.

"If I am in order," Mr. Speaker called attention to the rule which forbids a member being interrogated giving more than a direct answer.

Mr. Foster asked if it was correct in regard to Leach, and the Minister said Leach was "employed in that connection."

"What's the matter with Wagner?" asked Mr. Bennett of Simcoe, but Mr. Oliver said as to him he did not know.

R. L. Borden questioned the Prime Minister as to some items of legislative program mentioned in the speech from the throne. There was a bill as to telegraph and telephone companies, boundaries of Manitoba, annuities, amendments to the Election Act and other bills.

Sir Wilfrid replied that the bill respecting telegraphs and telephones would probably be down next week. The election bill was about ready. The bill on annuities would be down on Monday. In re boundaries of Manitoba, the legislation of Manitoba had laid before the House a petition in which the position they had taken previously in regard to that and other matters had been materially altered, and it might be expected at no distant date.

Activity Among Signallers; Military Notes of Interest

The signalling corps of the 57th Regiment will commence spring drill in a few days. Arrangements are now being made in this connection and it is expected that there will be no difficulty in getting the members to turn out. It will not be necessary to bring in an instructor from an outside point this year, as a competent one can be had now in Peterborough. The members of the corps are greatly interested in their work, and there has been no difficulty in having the full complement of membership.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the 57th Regiment will be held within the next two weeks. The meeting will be a most important one, more so than usual in fact, as several important matters have to be decided. Among them is the proposition to have the annual trip to Quebec this summer. The regiment has been invited to visit the ancient capital on the occasion of tercentenary celebration and while the officers would like to accept the invitation, it is a question whether the financial condition of the corps would permit such a long trip.

SPORTING NEWS

Art. Burn Will Run at Boston

Vancouver, Feb. 13.—It is hardly likely that the challenge issued by Art Burns of Calgary, to Will Chandler, the Vancouver Athletic Club long-distance runner, offering the latter man a two-minute handicap in a twenty-five mile race at Calgary, will be accepted. The officials of the Vancouver Athletic Club have the challenge under consideration at present, but there is little probability of such a race. It is the intention of the club to send Chandler to Boston to run in the big Marathon race there on Good Friday, and if Chandler goes, he will not have time for a race with Burn before that. Burn proposes to run in the Boston race also, and he will be afforded an opportunity of making good his boast there.

Park Street Won From Grafters

The Park street hockey team defeated the Grafters last night by 3-1. At half-time both teams had scored once. Mr. George Shrecker gave good satisfaction as referee.

Game May be Played Here

But Kingston Would Prefer Meeting St. George's at Brockville

Kingston's victory last night over the St. George's creates a tie in the group and a play-off for the championship will be necessary. The managers of the teams could not agree last night in regard to the conditions under which the matter should be settled, and the OHA. will have to handle the question.

SUDDEN DEATH GAME

Manager Short of the Saints, is not willing to play home and home games for the reason that his players cannot get away for the long trip to Kingston. He would prefer to play a sudden death game at Port Hope or Peterborough. Kingston rather favor the home and home proposition but failing this would like to playoff at Belleville. They are opposed to Peterborough because it would mean that they would have to leave Kingston in the early morning to get there in time. Belleville is about half-way and the chances are that that place will be selected.—Toronto News.

The Date Has Been Chosen

Review—Examiner Game Will Take Place on Wednesday February 26th

Health, weather (and Examiner wind) permitting, the Review and Examiner teams will meet at the Brock street rink on Wednesday evening, February 26th. The public will be treated to the unique sight of seeing such famous sportsmen as Jas. Brewery Clarke, Beef Tea Huston, Josiah Greengoods Craig, Harry K. Thawpbald, Long Primer Robinson, Baseball Burridge, who will make a noise like a bull dog, and other notables endeavoring to harpoon the Review team.

The Examiner outfit had a practice last night and made a noise like an Otonabee farmer rolling turnips into the cellar. Josiah Craig was in charge and gave a finished exhibition of what a cross between a goal tender and an interrogation point can do on skates.

Watch for further particulars tomorrow.

Flavelle Wins the First Game

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 13.—Play in the 20th annual bonspiel of the Manitoba branch, R.C.C.C., opened this morning with a rush, the weather man having decided to smile on the gallants devoted to the "roarin game." The rinks hummed with curlers and their friends, and a holler lot of sportsmen could not be imagined. The spirit of the grand old game seemed to fairly enthuse everyone, and win or lose, the same good fellowship around the tee prevailed. It was, indeed, an auspicious opening for the great 'spiel.

In the Dingwall competition, Flavelle of Lindsay, won from Patton, of Assiniboines, in the opening game by 62 to 7.

FIRST EUCHRE CONTEST HELD

Large Crowd at Conservative Club Last Evening—Mr. J. McConkey, the Winner

The first of a series of euchre tournaments to be given by the Young Conservative Club was held last evening in their rooms, when a very large number were present and an enjoyable time was spent playing progressive euchre. The highest number of points was thirteen, obtained by Mr. John McConkey. There were several who obtained twelve, and the contest was an exceedingly close one. Great interest is being taken in these tournaments, and, judging from the large crowd that gathers each night at the rooms, the members are very enthusiastic in the Conservative cause.

The usual Saturday night smoker will be held tomorrow, when an excellent programme will be given.

"Vag," Must Leave the City at Once

Ed. Marlborough in Police Court This Morning—First Case in Many Days

At last the spell has been broken this morning, the second this month month there was a short session of the police court. Edward Marlborough was charged with being a vagrant and was given only a few hours to leave the city.

"Have you any money or work?" asked His Worship.

"Not in Peterborough, Your Honor," was the reply. "I had been working for the Toronto Construction Company, but came to town a few days ago, looking for another job."

Marlborough has been sleeping in the police station two or three nights this week.

"Get out of town right away," said His Worship. "If you are here tomorrow I will send you to Central Prison for six months." With many thanks to the Magistrate, Marlborough left the courtroom promising to leave the city at once.

The Legislature at Toronto To Give Square Deal ot All

Premier Whitney Says Ontario Will Escape Gerrymander.

Redistribution Measure an Inovation of Fairness—Mr. Hoyle Points Out Educational Progress Made—Activity of the Agricultural Department—Old Liberal Clothes Are Full of Holes, Says Mr. Hanna.

Toronto, Feb. 14.—Ontario is to have the first honest redistribution in her history. The information was given by the Provincial Prime Minister to Mr. T. H. Preston in the Legislature yesterday. But the member for Brant was not so successful in finding out the time of the general elections. He might conjecture, he was told.

Mr. Hoyle (North Ontario) made a splendid address, pointing out the progress the province had recently made. In agriculture alone the Government had sent out more information bulletins last year than the Liberals did in their whole 35 years of office. He cleverly twitted the Opposition on resurrecting their "old horse" and concluded amid Government applause.

Mr. Preston (Brant) resumed the debate by stating that the mover of the address was not quite fair in stating that prison labor competition was a legacy from the previous Government. "Had the late Government remained in office a little longer," said Mr. Preston, "no such legacy would have been left. The former Government was already well under way in dispensing with it, and the wooden ware contract had been abolished." But the new Government, he continued, had made a new contract in binder twine.

"Prompted by a useful lesson in East Hamilton," he added, "and prodded by the Labor organizations, a special committee was appointed to look into the matter. Then they discovered that there was no contract at the model Mansfield reformatory—"

Hon. Mr. Hanna—"Oh, yes, there were two of them, with a rate of 4 cents per hour."

Mr. Preston—"Well, that's a better rate than yours."

Hon. Mr. Hanna—"But ours was 41-2 cents on the same basis."

Mr. Preston said that Mansfield was just waiting the termination of these two contracts to abolish the system.

He added that it was a principle of the Liberals that the three-fifths local option clause should be repealed. Was the Government going "to steal these clothes, too?"

Hon. Mr. Hanna—"Too many holes in them."

This, Mr. Preston continued, was the last session of a Provincial Parliament.

The Premier—"How so?"

Mr. Preston—"Is it not?"

The Premier—"A general election is not necessary for two years yet."

Hon. Mr. Mackay—"Oh, no."

The Premier—"Let me explain. The statutory term of the present Parliament expires in March 1909, and it is not necessary to bring a Parliament together for 12 months after that time."

Mr. Preston—"Have I, then, the right to assume that there will be no general election this year?"

The Premier, laughing—"You have the right to surmise either way, making your own choice."

Proceeding, Mr. Preston said a redistribution was assured anyway. This was reasonable as there had not been a redistribution since 1894. He hoped it would be done by independent commission or by a committee fairly representing both parties.

The Premier—"I am surprised that there should be any doubt as to its fairness."

Mr. Preston—"The Prime Minister need not be, after what his party did at Ottawa."

The Premier—"Heretofore Ontario has never experienced anything but a gerrymander. A redistribution on fair and proper lines will be an inovation."

The member for Brant said it had been intimated in the press that Toronto was to have four additional members. He did not think this was warranted. Toronto was aided in representation by her press and the fact that several of the Cabinet Ministers resided in the city. It was also recognized that urban representation should be below rural representation.

After deprecating the prevalence of child labor and urging advanced prohibitive legislation along those lines, Mr. Preston turned his attention to educational affairs. He advocated the abolition of a fee in the high schools and all distinction between lower and high schools. It should be a continuous course and vocational courses should be provided for boys of 12 to 14 years. "It is a reflection on our educational system," said Mr. Preston, "that there are 20,000 young people in Ontario studying with an American correspondence school, and only 2,000 in our own technical schools." Mr. Preston hoped that the province would never concede to the Dominion Government the right to control technical education.

The Premier—"It will never do so."

Mr. Preston—"That's right. Do not sell your birthright for a grant, though I believe the Dominion ought to come to the aid of the province with a substantial grant."

Mr. Preston concluded by urging the inauguration of a course of moral training in the schools.

Mr. W. H. Hoyle (North Ontario) followed. Why was it, he asked, that in all his campaign the new Liberal leader had said nothing about the three-fifths local option clause? He sarcastically alluded to the plebiscites taken by the Dominion and Provincial Liberal Governments, when prohibition was carried by over three-fifths majority. And the Liberal leaders did nothing. They claimed that the expression of opinion wasn't strong enough. In church and state there was a call for a strong expression of public opinion on important changes.

"The church to which I belong requires a two-thirds majority," observes Mr. Hoyle.

"What's the name of that church?" put in the irrepressible Mr. Clarke (Northumberland) amid Opposition laughter.

"If my hon. friends," retorted Mr. Hoyle, "was more familiar with the character of the churches he would never ask that question." (Government applause.)

As to Mr. Preston's observations on education Mr. Hoyle had no quarrel with the manner or matter of his words. All that he advocated had been foreshadowed by the present Minister of Education in a speech at Brantford, and a Government bill was now in preparation along the lines indicated. The present Government had already doubled the grant to the technical schools.

Mr. Hoyle directed attention to the fact that during the last year the Agricultural Department had issued to the farmers of Ontario over three times as many bulletins as the Liberal Government had issued during the whole 35 years of its tenure of office. He declared the references of the member for the Soo to a blind horse was unfortunate.

"We tried the menagerie business in the past," he declared, "and we found it a lamentable failure. (Laughter.) I thought our friends over the way had had enough of the old horse and were glad to see it finally go to the glue factory, without trying to resurrect it." (Renewed laughter and applause.)

After Col. Atkinson (North Norfolk) had spoken briefly, Col. Hugh Clark (Centre Bruce) moved the adjournment of the debate.

MANY BIG ISSUES.

Ambassador Bryce Will Discuss Large Program With Canada.

Washington, Feb. 14.—Ambassador Bryce leaves for Ottawa to-morrow to take up with the Canadian administration the details of negotiations affecting Canada and the United States, which it is hoped to conclude and to embody in a treaty which will close all pending matters between the United and Great Britain.

Negotiations providing for the submission of the Newfoundland fisheries question to The Hague are already under way. The visit of Secretary Root to Ottawa some months ago paved the way for negotiations in which he is now engaged, and it is expected that Mr. Bryce will encounter comparatively little difficulty in reaching an understanding with the officials at Ottawa on points which remain to be settled.

The various questions which are to be made the basis for this treaty may be summarised as follows:

First—Transit free of duty of merchandise across portions of American and Canadian territory.

Second—Transit of merchandise without payment of duty until arrival at points in interior.

Third—Application of alien labor laws to citizens of the United States and of Canada.

Fourth—Reciprocal mine owning rights.

Fifth—Conveyance of American prisoners through Canadian territory, and vice versa.

Sixth—Reciprocal salvage and wrecking rights.

Seventh—Use of logging booms in St. John River.

Eighth—Disposition of certain pecuniary claims.

Ninth—Exemption of Canadians coming temporarily to United States from paying a head tax.

Tenth—Distribution of power from Niagara Falls.

It would afford the utmost gratification to the President and Secretary of State to see every question between the United States and Great Britain disposed of before the close of this administration, and while it is entirely possible that arbitration of the Newfoundland fisheries question may not be concluded, ratification of a treaty providing for its arbitration would be regarded as virtually disposing of that troublesome and longstanding contention.

FIGHT FOR A FORTUNE

Two Widows Battling For the Wealth of Ottawa Man.

Ottawa and Brockville Women Both Claim the Estate of the Late J. G. Warnock — Judge McDonald Appoints W. H. Brown and A. H. Swarts as Executors — A Strange Matrimonial Tangle.

Prescott, Feb. 14—Two women, both claiming to be the wife of the late J. G. Warnock, the Ottawa horseman, who died in Brockville recently, are fighting for the estate of the deceased, valued at $52,000. Warnock lived for many years at Ottawa with Agnes Wilson, who passed as his wife, and by whom he had four daughters.

Casting her adrift last October, he married Eva McCallum, his shop girl, and they came to Brockville. Warnock willed his four children each $5,000, and the balance to Mrs. Warnock No. 2. The first wife by that name promptly filed a caveat and her solicitors made application before Judge McDonald to have an administrator appointed pending litigation. This the judge to-day granted, appointing the executors, Messrs. W. H. Brown and A. H. Swarts of Brockville as special administrators, in a bond of $8,000.

An affidavit filed by Mrs. Eva Warnock, the alleged second wife, throws some interesting light on the matrimonial tangle. She states that before her marriage she caused careful enquiry to be made by the minister, who afterwards performed the ceremony, and swears that the clergyman satisfied himself and assured her that Agnes Wilson was not the lawful wife of James Gregory Warnock.

Continuing in the affidavit, she claimed to have seen a document executed by Agnes Wilson, in which she released all claims upon the deceased in consideration of $3,000, and certain household furniture. Agnes Wilson, or Mrs. Warnock No. 1, is said to be in possession of a certificate certifying to her marriage with Warnock at Ogdensburg, N. Y., in 1891. The Brockville widow is in deep mourning while the other alleged widow is making her home in Ottawa, where she instituted legal proceedings to annul the last will and testament of the dead horseman. Her daughters are living with her. The case is arousing great interest in the courts.

FELL 700 FEET.

Awful Fate of Two Men In Nova Scotia Mine Shaft.

North Sydney, N.S., Feb. 14.—Another mining horror in which two men were sent suddenly into eternity, occurred at the Winning pit of the Nova Scotia Steel & Coal Co. yesterday.

The victims are Malcolm Stuart, brother to Mayor Stuart, and also a member of the Town Council, and John Dorsey, ex-councillor. Both were underground managers in the Winning.

The accident occurred about seven o'clock yesterday morning when the men got into the cage. No sooner had they got into the big iron structure than through some defect a hook which held a strong wire rope to the cage became detached and they dropped with an awful crash nearly 700 feet below.

Both men were crushed beyond recognition.

Dorsey leaves a wife and 12 children; Stuart leaves a wife and one adopted child. Owing to the popularity of both men the town is cast in gloom over what is one of the worst mining accidents in its history.

FRANCO'S DECREE HOLDS.

Except Those Which May Offend the Public Dignity.

Lisbon, Feb. 14.—The Cabinet council has resolved not to rescind the dictatorial decrees promulgated during the last days of King Carlos' reign, except those considered offensive to the public dignity. This unexpected action of the Cabinet has caused the utmost astonishment.

The council of state has decided to pardon all the sailors imprisoned for the fleet mutiny in April, 1906. King Manuel, who presided, inserted the following at the beginning of the decree:

"It is my dearest wish to begin my reign by availing myself of the prerogative of pardon which the constitution give me."

Thick Neck Saves Life.

Toronto, Feb. 14.—William Salmon, aged about 50, attempted to commit suicide yesterday morning by cutting his throat with a razor. His landlady discovered him standing before his mirror. Had it not been for the heavy roll of fat in Salmon's neck he would have succeeded in completing the deed. He was removed to St. Michael's Hospital and will recover. Salmon was employed by the G.T.R. as a freight handler and had not been working steadily during the last six weeks.

In Receiver's Hands.

Lima, Ohio, Feb. 14.—On the petition of B. K. Russell, of the National Consolidated Oil Co., a million dollar concern, with outstanding bonds of $800,000, was placed in the hands of a receiver yesterday, George W. King being named. The receivership, it is stated, followed default upon semi-annual interest due on the bonds.

Mrs. Dowie Aspires.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—The Tribune says: Mrs. Jane Dowie aspires to her husband's place as head of the Christian Catholic Church, and believes she is destined to bring the warring factions at Zion together.

Montreal, Feb. 14.—The corporation of McGill University will bestow the honorary degree of LL.D. on Hon. James Bryce on Monday, Feb. 24. On the same day Mr. Bryce will speak at the Canadian Club.

TORONTO, Feb. 13.—The total receipts of live stock at the City Market, since Tuesday, as reported by the railways, were 157 carloads, composed of 2830 cattle, 1071 hogs, 1068 sheep and lambs, 220 calves and 2 horses.

Feeders and Stockers.

H. & W. Murby report not many stockers and feeders coming forward. The scarcity of butcher cattle up to this week made it hard to buy steers at all suitable at stocker or feeder prices. Murby bought 80 head this week at prices ranging from $3.25 to $3.60 for good 850 to 950-pound steers, and $3.60 to $4 for good 950 to 1000-pound steers.

Milkers and Springers.

There was a fair trade for milkers and springers of good quality, but the common, light strippers offered as milkers were slow sale at low prices. About 75 to 100 cows changed hands at $30 to $60 each. One very choice Holstein springer sold at $65.

Veal Calves.

The market for veal calves was again strong; that is, for good quality. Prices ranged from $4 to $7 per cwt.

Here's a Jewel for Somebody

Peterborough Young Lady of Many Charms is Looking for a Husband

A few days ago there appeared in the Review an item regarding a Millbrook bachelor, who is looking for a wife. Today the Review received the following letter from a Peterborough young lady, at any rate we think she must be a Peterborough girl or she would not have all the qualities enumerated.

To the Editor of the Review;

Sir,—I assure you there are many young ladies in the city who would willingly accept your offer. But the majority of the young men are unable to provide a comfortable home for a wife. It often happens in married life that a young wife has to turn out and work while the husband lounges around the house. I am just looking for a companion as I am getting tired of going out to work these cold mornings.

As for my description, I am 18 years old, five feet nine inches tall, very slender, with golden brown hair, hazel eyes, rosy complexion. I am passable, a good singer, a swell dancer, and exceedingly fond of pleasure. It will not be necessary to state my ability for work as I don't consider a companion a maid.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for this space.

Oldest Woman in the Dominion

Mrs. Argue Was Former Resident of Peterboro' County

Probably the oldest woman in Canada died on Wednesday, the 5th inst., at Nesbitt, Man., in the person of Mrs. Argue. Her maiden name was Margaret Jameson and she was born near the village of Pettigo, Fermanagh county, Ireland, on August 15th, 1800. She was married in Ireland and had one daughter, Mrs. Miller, Sr., with whom she was living at the time of her death. Mrs. Miller is 81 years old. After the death of her husband, Mrs. Argue emigrated to this country in 1843, and settled in the township of Cavan, Ont. In 1845 she married John Green, and moved to the township of Dummer, where 17 years were spent, and then two years in Turnbury. Having become a widow for the second time, she returned to Cavan and for the third time she entered the matrimonial state, this time being married to Henry Argue, of Millbrook. After their marriage they only lived a few months in Millbrook and then moved to Foss township near the Georgian Bay, where Mr. Argue died. She then went back to Turnberry to reside with her daughter. Her grandson, T. W. Miller, came out to Manitoba in 1882 and took up his present homestead south of Nesbitt, sending east for his mother and grandmother in 1886. According to family records Mrs. Argue would have been 108 years old next August, although several of her relatives claim she was in her 111th year. She was peaceful to the last, and it was clearly evident that death was due to advanced age only, as there were no evidences whatever of illness. Though in excellent health, with good appetite and spirits, her physical powers were not commensurate with these, and she had never left her bed since July, 1904. Her eyesight failed her in 1898, but her hearing remained good, practically up to the time of her death.—Manitoba Free Press.

To Build Town of Kimberly In the State of Nevada

Will Have to Pump Water Against Head of 1200 Feet—Important Engineering Work Being Conducted by Mr. Alexander Potter, of New York.

Mr. Alexander Potter, C.E., of New York, accompanied by his wife, is in the city for a short visit, the guest of his brother, Rev. J. G. Potter, B.A., pastor of St. Andrew's church. Mr. Potter, whose offices in the American metropolis, are at 143 Liberty avenue, is an engineer of wide experience and has been identified with many very important engineering operations. He is a consulting engineer by profession and holds that office in connection with the Giroux Consolidated Mines Company, which has rich copper and gold mining interests in Nevada, and Mexico respectively.

This is Mr. Potter's first visit in Peterborough for ten years, his professional duties requiring his attention to such an extent that he has found it impossible to spare the time to come here in the somewhat long interval since his last visit. While in the city he intends to visit the lift lock, which naturally has more than a passing attraction for him by reason of his calling, and other manufactories and places of interest. Mr. Potter has been engaged in the practice of his profession in New York for the past eighteen years and from the important work placed in his hands it will be easily seen that he has been more than ordinary successful.

A BIG CONTRACT

Mr. Potter is chief engineer in the construction of one of the biggest water softening and water filtration plants in America. The plant is being constructed at McKeesport, Pa., but operations in connection with the construction of the plant were postponed about a month ago, until next spring, owing to the cold weather necessitating a stay in the work. By the process employed the most refractory of water can be softened. A filtration and softening plant of a similar character is being constructed in New Orleans and there is one established in Columbus, O. and a small one at Oberlin, O. The only one in Canada is located at Winnipeg.

The water softening plant in connection with the plant at McKeesport consists of a series of granolithic walls the outside one being 190 feet in diameter, 24 feet high and 15 inches thick. The walls are all built of re-inforced concrete. The filters are mechanical gravity filters. By means of the filtration and water softening service the city can be supplied with absolutely pure water. The plant is situated right in the city and covers an are of about half an acre.

BUILDING A TOWN

But the filtration plant filters away to almost nothing compared with another mammoth proposition under way with Mr. Potter as head of the engineering work. Away down in rocky Nevada at Ely the Grioux Consolidated Mines Company have planned to build a town for their employees. All plans have been mapped out and the actual work of construction will take place in the spring. The town will be known as Kimberly and the drinking water supply will be secured from the Steptoe Creek having to be pumped against a head of 1200 feet and from a distance of twelve miles. Mr. Potter is engaged in the work of designing and constructing an hydro-electric power plant for the purpose of supplying power for pumping and other uses.

Accommodation for 5000 inhabitants will be provided. It is expected that 200 or 300 houses will be built this year. The waterworks system will be also installed in keeping with the size of the population. The town will be modern in every respect with a first class sewerage and sewerage disposal system.

Fox Ventures Close to The Habitations of Man

Seen in a Field Beside the Douro Road at Auburn on Tuesday Evening—An Unusual Occurrence

Foxes are not particularly plentiful in the vicinity of Peterborough, at any rate they do not venture very close to the city. Reynard is too wise generally to become too familiar with man and shows a decided preference for more congenial company.

In view of the above it was with considerable surprise that Mr. Bert Hayes saw a fox in a field, near Auburn on Tuesday evening. The animal did not notice him approaching along the road and was only a few yards away when it became aware of the presence of Mr. Hayes. When it noticed him the pace at which it made off would make the C.P.R. transcontinental flyer look slow. The field in which the fox was seen was beside the Douro road, and in close proximity to several dwelling houses.

Mr. Hayes says that the fox was an unusually fine one and would have been a fine prize for a hunter. It seems strange that the fox should approach so close to the haunts of man but perhaps there were hard times at home and the head of the house was on a search for relief.

"Ye Olde Tyme Concerte" Again Meets With Great Success

Third Presentation of This Interesting Entertainment at St. Andrew's—Audience Highly Pleased With the Programme—Those Who Took Part.

One of the most successful or probably to be more accurate three of the most successful entertainments ever given under the auspices of any local church society have been the presentation of "Ye Olde Tyme Concerte" under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Andrew's church. Too much credit cannot be given to Mrs. Chas. McClelland, the popular organist of St. Andrew's for making such a happy selection in the matter of an entertainment, it was Mrs. McClelland who originally suggested the holding of the old time concert, and a proof of her good judgment and the timeliness of her suggestion has been shown by the large and thoroughly appreciative audiences that have attended all of the three productions. Last night's concert was a repetition of the former successes, both from an artistic and numerical stand point. It is unnecessary to remark on the nature of "Ye Olde Tyme Concert," as in former comments on its interpretation this has been fully dealt with. Probably in the history of amateur entertainments in Peterborough none has ever been put on with the same measure of public approval that has favored the presentations of "Ye Olde Tyme Concerte." At last night's concert excellent solos and quartettes were contributed by the following;—Solos—Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Evans, Mr. Freeland and Mr. Thompson. Duets—Mr. and Mrs. Firth, and Mrs. Greenslade. Some splendidly rendered humorous quartettes were also highly appreciated.

Special mention should be made of the work of Miss Mowat as "Granny," who recited "Wee Wifie," in inimitably clever style. Another feature of the evening was an instrumental duet on the old spinnet by Mrs. McClelland and Mrs. Greenslade. This novel number was honored by much applause and an encore had to be given. Mr. Clarke's banjo solo, "The Blue Bells of Scotland," received a well merited recall.

The scenic investiture was quaint and appropriate, and the different parts were taken with a finish and comprehension due to careful rehearsal and an intelligent grasp of their possibilities.

Owing to their absence in England Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Devey were unable to assist in the entertainment and two others who took part in the previous entertainments, Mr. Hopwood and Mr. Moore were also unavoidably absent.

At the conclusion of the programme light refreshments of coffee and cake were served by the members of the Ladies' Aid Society.

The old grandfather's clock which is over 200 years old and which was a prominent feature of the stage settings was kindly loaned for the occasion by Messrs. Clarke & Son, the George street jewellers. The scenery which is the property of Mr. R. J. Devey, was loaned by Mr. Mr. H. Morphet, who has charge of it during the latter's absence from the city. The wigs for the make-up of those taking part were loaned by Mrs. Byrne, George street.

Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. MacFarlane of the Ladies' Aid Society are to be congratulated upon the great success of the three productions of "Ye Olde Tyme Concerte."

Tried to Kill His Wife; Then Committed Suicide

Special to The Review.

Toronto, Feb. 14—Jas. Feehely, 62 Euclid avenue, shot his wife this morning and then committed suicide by shooting himself in the brain. The woman is expected to recover. Feehely and his wife have not been on good terms for some time, owing to the man's dislike for work, and a week ago the woman who has been running a grocery store at the Euclid avenue address, ordered Feehely away from the place. Feehely made several attempts to be taken back but his wife refused to have anything to do with him. This morning he went to the house about nine o'clock and made a final request to be taken back, but his wife refused. Thereupon he whipped out a revolver, shot the woman and then turned the weapon on himself. The man has four children all by a first husband.

Burnt River Bridge Dam is Dangerous

Mr. Rogers, a Provincial Government surveyor, who has been employed in making a survey of the Belmont and Crow Lake districts for a new geological map to be issued by the Province, called on the Havelock Standard last week and complained of the very dangerous condition of the bridge at Burnt Dam, Belmont. Mr. Rogers thinks, and rightly, too, that the bridge at that place should be equipped with substantial railings at each side.

AMUSEMENTS

AN ENGAGEMENT OF NOTE.

A dramatic treat is in store for the play-goers of Peterborough. The Royal Alexandra, Toronto's leading theatre, will present "Diplomacy" at the Grand on Tuesday, February 25th. The management of the Grand and the local theatre-goers are to be congratulated on the engagement of one of the finest companies that has ever appeared before a Canadian audience.

TO-NIGHT

Foresters' Carnival at Brock Street Rink to-night. Ice is in first class condition. Fine prizes for best costumes.

GREEN'S MOVING PICTURES

Lovers of moving pictures will have a rare treat in the above attraction, which will open five night's engagement next week with the usual matinees, commencing Tuesday evening. This is the show that is creating a sensation in the moving picture world, and made such a reputation that Prof. Greene is now conceded by all to be the "Moving Picture King of Canada." The pictures are not of the ordinary type but they are the highest conception of the moving picture art, from the English, French and American producers. The varied collection shows the professor's happy faculty in measuring the needs of his patrons to a nicety, not one taste being neglected. One is swayed from pathos to laughter, from the instructive to the sensational, from the common-place to the imaginative and mysterious. The pictures are shown without the slightest flicker by a machine of the most recent make and as natural as life, accompanied by realistic sound effects, and each scene being explained by the professor, leaves nothing wanting. Mr. Morton V. Peters, who is a native of Peterborough, will render a number of songs at every performance, each illustrated by 24 art colored pictures. This young vocalist has gained the distinction of being the best singer of pictured melodies in the business, and has made a decided hit with Prof. Green during the engagement, which covers several months. Prices are within the reach of all. Adults 15 cents (reserved seats), children 10 cents, gallery 10 cents. Seats on sale at the theatre box office at usual hours.

Gun Club Holds Successful Dance —Death of Miss Agnes Fife

Special to The Review

Keene, Feb 11—Mr. Jas. Warner, Asphodel, visited friends in the village this week.

Miss Sadie Kempt left Wednesday to visit friends in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gillespie visited friends in this vcinty last week.

Misses Bella Miller and Bella Drummond returned on Monday from a week's visit in Peterborough.

Mr. A. A. Goodfellow, who is giving up farming and who is moving to Peterborough has advertised his sale of farm stock and implements for Feb. 266th.

Owing to the illness of Miss Margaret Miller, junior teacher of Keene public school, the principal has taught the children of both rooms for the last week or so.

Owing to the blockade last week no Toronto morning papers came for three days and on Saturday the papers for the last four days came together.

The Keene Gun Club held a dance in the town hall Friday evening. The cold weather and bad condition of the roads had the effect of causing the crowd to be ratherr small but a very pleasant evening was spent. Dancing stopped about 2.30 a.m. Miss Elmhirst and Bryce supplied the music and Mr. David Moore acted as master of ceremonies.

The death occurred on Monday at the Toronto General Hospital of Agnes, youngest daughter of Mr. James Fife, Otonabee. The funeral will be held from the family residence Wednesday at two o'clock. Interment will take place at Fife's cemetery. Besides her father, four brothers, Harvey, of Kootenay, B.C.; Richard, Edmonton Alta.; Stuart, Chas and George at home and two sisters, Elizabeth and Pheobe are left to mourn her loss. The deceased was very popular among a large circle of friends and was a member of Bethel Methodist church.

Much sympathy is expressed in the vicinity for Mr. Robert Carey, who had the misfortune to have his frame house and driving shed completely destroyed by fire early Sunday morning. Mr. Carey was the only occupant of the house and was awakened by the smell of smoke in hisbedroom. The flames had by this time gained such headway that he was only able to save his clothes and a small portion of bedroom furniture. There was a small insurance on the property.

Appointed to the Committees

The standing committees of the Ontario Legislature have been struck and Mr. T. E. Bradburn, representative for West Peterborough, has been placed on the following; Private Bills, Municipal Law, and Standing Bills. Mr. Anderson, M.P.P. for East Peterborough, has been placed on the following committees; Railways, Municipal Law, and Agriculture and Colonization.

Besides Mr. McGillicudy's humorous lecture on "The Four Johns," Misses Choate and Sisson and Mr. Scriver will contribute to the programme—Y.M.C.A. Saturday night. Two tickets for 25c

YOUNG COUPLE THROWN OUT OF A CUTTER

Exciting Runaway on George St. Yesterday Afternoon

An exciting runaway occurred on George street yesterday afternoon, when a horse belonging to a local livery made a lively spurt and threw the occupants of the cutter into the road. A young man from the West, who is visiting friends in the city, called to take a young lady friend out for a drive. On George street, near Smith street, the horse took fright at a pile of snow, and started off at a rate that would many a race horse look cheap. The young man was unable to hold the spirited animal, and he and his lady friend were thrown out. The horse ran straight for its stable. The shaft of the cutter was broken, but otherwise no serious damage was done. The occupants escaped unhurt and another outfit was telephoned for, but when it arrived the young lady refused to go home in it if her companion held the reins. Finally it was decided for her to drive home with the man from the livery, and her gentleman friend walked. Needless to say, it will be some time before this young couple will go driving again.

REVIEW LETTER BOX

TAKE IT, SAYS MR. DUMBLE

To the Editor of the Review;

Dear Sir,—The people of Peterborough are discussing the question of a public library. Nearly all the people of other communities have already settled this question, and in nearly every city and town in Ontario they point with pride to a handsome edifice called a "Carnegie Library." The latest library opened is at Belleville where the people accepted from Mr. Harry Corby the maker of "Corby's Whiskey," a very useful and handsome building to be used as a public library. The papers do not mention any hesitation on the part of the people in accepting the gift on the ground of "tainted money" —Corby's whiskey is said to be good whiskey.

Now, as to Peterborough, it will be admitted;

1. That a free public library is a desirable thing.
2. That we need one.
3. That if we don't get one it will be our own fault.

The Nicholas Estate years ago gave us $10,000 to support a library—this means an income of $400 a year.

The same Nicholls Estate recently very graciously gave us a splendid business property, worth about $15,000 —an untrammelled unconditional gift that means $600 more per annum.

The Ontario Government will give an annual grant of $180 a year. Here is an income of $1500 a year.

There is a man in the States who stands there with $25,000 or $30,000 in his outstretched hand which he offers us as a gift to erect a library building.

We have the site—the south east corner of the Central Park—opposite the Y.M.C.A. Here a building say 60 by 100 feet will take up very little room and will be an ornament to the Park.

Experience shows that to keep up a public library, cost of heating, salary, new books, etc. requires about ten per cent on the cost of the building. If we erect a $25,000 building the annual expenditure required by Carnegie will be $2500. I have shown that we already have from Government and Nicholls Estate an income of $1500 a year, all then required from the city is $1000 a year, to make up the Carnegie requirement of $2500. If the people want a library they must pay for what they want. Did the people refuse the $25,000 gift from the Nicholls Estate? Did Belleville refuse the Corby money? Should we refuse $25,000 from Carnegie? The people of Peterborough are a level headed people, not fools and they will not refuse the splendid public building which Carnegie so generously offers to erect and give them as a free gift. With our splendid Collegiate and Public Schools and the new Normal School with its 300 or 400 teacher pupils, dare we hesitate to complete our splendid educational equipment which will give us the proudest educational statues amongst the rising cities of the Dominion and that especially when others bear nearly three fourths of the entire expenditure.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
D. W. DUMBLE.

THE DEBATING CLUB

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Mr. W. G. Common in his reply to "An Observer," in respect to the Debating Club of the "Y," does not state correctly the programme of the Club, which has been followed. It is proposed for the 19th Feb. to discuss "Compulsory Arbitration," and the rest of the programme as laid down by the executive of the Club, may or may not be carried out.

Yours, &c.,

LEARN DRESS-MAKING BY MAIL In Your Spare Time at Home

We want our course to be in every home in Ontario where there are ladies, so have decided to give, direct to the public our [illegible] course in dressmaking, including our Ladies' Tailor System for wholesale price, $5.00

As there are a large number of people, especially dressmakers say you cannot learn by mail we will send system and first lesson (which teaches how to make a perfect fitting waist) [illegible] to any address in Ontario. After you are satisfied you can learn, send $6.00 and we will forward full course of lessons. Please do not send unless you wish to learn dressmaking; we are so sure anyone can learn that we guarantee to give $500 to anyone we cannot teach.

These lessons teach how to cut, fit and put together any garment from the plainest shirt waist suit to the most elaborate dress. This is the only course in Canada that the whole family can learn by one member taking it up. We have been in business for ten years, have taught over 7,000. Beware of imitations, as some have been [illegible] to copy our advs. and even claimed where they were not known to be the inventor of this course. No adv. is genuine without our $500.00 guarantee.

THE INSPECTION OF APPLES

English trade journals are beginning to wake up to the fact the the Ottawa administration is in its way quite a complete sort of humbug. Hon. Sidney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, has from time to time told the House how well managed everything was in his department and people believed it. Now we have more "revelations" as if each department of the administration was vieing with the other in seeing which could produce the greatest crop of blunders or scandals. These are strong words but what others can we use? Strenuous events require strenuous language as the Duke of Wellington remarked at Badajos. But to return to our subject. The inspection of apples for export has been so faulty that investigation by old country trade journals has revealed the fact that neglect, corruption and favoritism are rife even in barrels of apples. It is not long since that Mr. Fisher impatiently remarked in reply to a question in the House that the list of meat and fruit inspectors was so long that he would not undertake to read it aloud. He therefore simply laid it on the table. So here we have this strenuous expenditure not only at the expense of our pockets as taxpayers, but at the expense of our trade regulations and of our future in the British market. "Graft! Graft!" is the universal wail. It is impossible to suppose that all the Ministers at Ottawa are crooked but surely these that are not can scarcely be acquitted of the charge of incompetency. We saw what an effete and corrupt government could do at Toronto and we have seen how advisable it was to try a change. Prophecies were made as to the weakness of those who then aspired to power. They cause us to smile now when we think of them. The era of corruption in one case was ended and it must be ended in the other. The natural life of an administrataion would seem to be ten years (it is less in Great Britain and Ireland) or perhaps not so long. After that the administration begins to dote, to grow cynical, to become the victim of practical politicians and then to barefacedly rob the very people whom it presumes to represent.

EDITORIAL NOTES

It would seem advisable for the Provincial Government to look more closely to the enforcement of the game laws in the more distant parts of the province. Such things as supplying moosemeat to lumber camps at 5 cents a pound, or at any other price in the close season, should be impossible. Lenience to settlers who require food for their wives, their children and themselves might very well be shown, but a mere wanton and improper breaking of the law should not be permitted. It is bad both for the moose and the morals of the people.

Opposition to the proposed new Public Library is wearing down. In fact with Mr. Carnegie's name left out, the feeling of irritation is at once allayed. It shows what is in a name after all. The new library in Toronto is named the Public Reference Library, if we are not mistaken, and the casual spectator would not know that Carnegie ever had anything to do with it, from the outside. Possibly his name will not be ignored altogether. At the same time no one will propose to forget Mrs. Nicholls' bequest, and, of course, her name can never be forgotten in Peterborough.

The Rev. J. Noble Mackenzie thus describes his impressions on returning to the island of Santo in the New Hebrides after a furlough in Great Britain; "We had a royal welcome on our arrival. The Christian chief, and some of his men put off in canoes and were on board to greet us as soon as the ship anchored, while the rest of the people flocked to the beach and stood there awaiting our landing. On stepping ashore we were surrounded by hundreds pressing on us to shake hands. We could not help contrasting it with our advent, eleven years before. Then they were practically all naked savages; now, they were all clothed Christians. Things at the station were in splendid order. We never expected that our property would have been cared for so well in our absence. Our flock of goats had increased, and our fowl-yard was over-crowded. The roads and grounds were in better order than when we left. Hedges were trimmed, fences renewed and new outhouses built. The house had been left open without a door locked, and I had inadvertently left ten pounds in an open place, but everything was as safe as the bank. The services and daily school had been maintained by Philip, the teacher in charge. As a lad of twelve he came to us a heathen, and after instructing him for three years, he became a Christian, and took a four years' course at the training institution."

It might be suggested that Canada should sent out Mr. Oliver or Mr. Sifton to search the natives, if there are any timber limits in the island. There is nothing like taking them young. A few switching ballot-boxes and instructions how to escape punishment might very well be sent along with them. Also Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde as the Canadian political type now in power at Ottawa, would be a striking feature for introduction.

FROM HANSARD

Mr. Brodeur; Will my hon. friend be kind enough to give me the page for that?

Mr. Taylor; I will give you the pages for the corresponding expenditures in 1896. At page K—13 of the Auditor General's Report of 1896 it will be seen that this government purchased uniforms to the amount of $21.20 and at K—18 they expended $484.15, making a total of $505.35. This government purchased last year, for the "Aberdeen," as shows at page P—8, the following; From James Halliday, Halifax, officers uniforms, $11.25; blue jumpers and trousers, 30 at $3; flannel shirts, 30 at $1.50; blue collars, 30 at 10 cents; case, 50 cents, making a total of $547.50.

Mr. Bergeron; Is that by tender?

Mr. Taylor; No, not by tender. They divided the orders up among their political supporters. Then from M. B. Lane, Halifax, they purchased officers caps, 11 at $1.50 and sailors caps, 30 at $1.30, making $55.50. At page P—9 they purchased from W. & C. Silver, Halifax, overcoats, 5 at $28; reefers, 34 at $8.25; white coats 11-2 dozen at $12, and furlined coats 2 at $50 making $538.50 or a total expenditure for uniforms, for officers and men on this steamer of $1,241.50.

For the steamer "Champlain at page P—10, it will be seen that they paid on account of uniforms, $595 and for the "Druid," page P—12, $583.20. For the "Lady Laurier," page P—14; they bought of Thomas Brenton, Halifax, officers' uniforms, 12 at $25; sailors blue suits, 31 at $7.50; white suits, 34 at $3; flannel shirts, 31 at $1.50; collars 31 at 10 cents; case 50 cents, making $684.90. At page P—16 it will be seen that they went to W. & C. Silver, Halifax, and bought captain's uniform, $25; furlined coats, 2 at $50; overcoats 3 at $28; reefers, 4 at $8.25, white coats, 11-2 dozen at $12; making $557. or a total of $1,241.90 for the "Lady Laurier." Then, for the "Lansdowne," page P—17, there was an expenditure of $413.76. for the "Minto," page P—17, an expenditure of $138.50 and another at $140, and at page P—18 there was an expenditure of $125 and another one at $112.50. At page P—19 there is an expenditure of $322 and at page P—20 an expenditure of $148, making a total of $960. These expenditures were all divided up amongst certain political supporters, some of whom furnished two suits, some three and some half a dozen. Then, we have the "Montcalm" at page P—21. They bought uniforms, 10 at $25, 10 at $21; overcoat, $30; white coats, 12 at $1.50; blue trousers, 38 at $2.90; blue jumpers, 39 at $2.50; white duck suits, 39 at $2.50; white dickeys, 39 at $1.

RETURNED THE STOLEN BOOTS

Young Man Got Scared and Brought Them Back to the Rink

The thief who carried off the boots at the Brock street rink a week ago tonight, evidently got scared and thought that the best thing he could do was to return them. The morning when the rink men were sweeping they came across the boots in a corner of the dressing rooms upstairs. That they were just put there last night is proven by the fact that each morning since the theft the room has been closely searched and no traces of the stolen goods were to be seen. There was not a very large crowd at the rink last evening and the thief took advantage of the opportunity to return them.

LORD'S DAY ACT IN WINNIPEG

Several hundred more breakers of the Lord's Day Act have been put on the list by the Winnipeg police, including, it seems, paid church choir singers, men caught writing letters in hotels, janitors and undertakers. If this sort of thing keeps up long the jail population will be the largest part of the Western community.

Lieut-Col. Edwards Writes Interestingly of Edmonton

The Romance of a Modern City Situated at the Gateway of a Vast and But Little Known Country—Wheat Grown in the Far North.

Sir,—I have your letter expressing your kind appreciation of the letter I had sent you some time ago, and asking for something more. I can hardly refuse to comply with your courteous request.

On Monday last at the luncheon of the Canadian Club we had a very interesting address from J. K. Cornwall upon the "North Country." Edmonton has the romance which attaches to a modern city, built at the gateway of a vast and but little known country, which has not yet been opened to civilization; a country of great possibilities and great resources. Mr. Cornwall produced a sample of wheat grown in 1907 at Fort Vermillion on the Peace River, 750 miles north of the International boundary line, and 350 miles north of Edmonton. It was perfectly ripened and a beautiful sample of wheat. I enclose some of it so that you may judge for yourself. This seems extraordinary in a year when so much is heard of grain having been frozen before it was ripe at points further south. It is due in part to the longer daylight and in part to the fact that the isothermal lines, as they reach Alberta, turn sharply towards the north. Mr. Cornwall has been for many years engaged in the freighting and steamboat business, and he gave us some interesting information as to the means of transportation. From Edmonton the journey 100 miles north to Athabasca Landing is by waggon or sleigh over a comparatively good road. On the rivers which lie north of that point and extending to the Arctic ocean, where are at present steamers valued at $300,000. The Hudson Bay Co. is at present building a new steamer at the cost of $80,000. The Peace River which is 1,000 miles long, is navigable for 900 miles, with the exception of one point at Fort Vermillion, where there are falls resembling those of the Chaudiere Falls at Ottawa, but with a much larger volume of water. When the means of communication are improved, it may be expected that summer trips will be taken by travellers from Edmonton to the Arctic Ocean and back.

When moving the reply to the address, after the opening of the local House, Mr. Fletcher Bredin, M.L.A., produced a specimen of wheat grown in 1907 at Peace River crossing 350 miles north-west of Edmonton. It was fully matured and of the highest grade. It was sown on the 24th of April and cut on the 26th of August. The crop averaged 43 bushels to the acre from 115 acres. Even larger returns per acre than this and for larger areas were quite common in Southern Alberta, but a crop such as that referred to by Mr. Bredin grown so far north and in a season so unfavorable as that of 1907 is really remarkable.

I have today been speaking to a farmer who lives near Edmonton, and he has just returned from a trip to Ontario. He states that in Eastern Ontario about Kingston and the County of Renfrew, where he was visiting, he found the farmers very short of feed for their cattle; while here, as he puts it, the farmers have a surplus of everything. His statement is that there is plenty of seed grain in the country, and much more than sufficient for feed for cattle and hogs. He would not exchange with anyone in Ontario.

Last evening the new Y.M.C.A. building which has been erected at the cost of $60,000, was formally opened. The Lieutenant Governor and a large assemblage being present. The building is of four stories and is finely planned and furnished throughout. The gymnasium is large and well equipped. The two upper stories are devoted to dormitories, and these surpass anything I have ever seen anywhere else. Needless to say, the dormitories are all taken from the hour of opening the building.

When we hear accounts of the rough and stormy weather you are having in Ontario we have reason to congratulate ourselves on living in so fine a climate as that of Alberta. Instead of rain and snow storms which you have been subject to, we have had about six inches of snow and no rain whatever, while the average temperature here has probably been higher than with you. Brick work on the new Post Office was going on regularly until about a week or ten days ago. Concrete work is still being carried on vigorously at the Clover Bar Bridge of the G.T.P. Altogether we have had the finest fall and the finest winter up to the present that I have ever experienced anywhere.

Curling is carried on most vigorously here. There are 160 members and only 4 sheets of ice. To accommodate them all four games are scheduled each evening commencing at seven o'clock and ending at nine and four other games commencing at nine and ending at eleven or a little later. There has scarcely been a vacant ice since Christmas. The third trophy series is now being played.

The telephone question is attracting a great deal of attention just now. The council has voted to cancel the Lorimer contract as this Company is behind time in completing it, but it has not yet been decided what next is to be done. The representative of the Strowger Company of Chicago is pressing to have his system adopted. There is also some prospect of the Government taking over the system as it has done in Calgary, making it part of the provincial system.

The Post Office returns show to some extent the increasing business of Edmonton. The money orders issued at the local office for 1906 amounted to $96,461, and in 1907 to $166,430, an increase of 75 per cent. The money orders paid in 1906 amounted to $121,609 and in 1907 to 185,882, over 50 per cent increase. Today a mail is being despatched from Edmonton Post Office for the Hudsons Bay Forts in the north.

Last week I saw freight being loaded on wagons to be carried to Athabasca Landing. This week we have had two or three inches more of snow.

Yours sincerely,
E. B. EDWARDS

Happy Surprise for Friends; Mr. B. Lastar in Germany

Canadian Visitor Had Sent no Intimation of His Coming and Naturally His Relatives Were Surprised to See Him.

Mr. B. Laster, of Peterborough, gave some friends in Germany a happy surprise a few days ago. As is generally known, he is on a visit to the Fatherland after ten years of residence in Canada. Mr. Lastar had not notified his friends in Germany that he was coming and it was a big surprise to them when he called. When his sister-in-law opened the door in response to a knock a few days ag oand found Mr. Lastar there, it is unnecessary to add that she and the other members of the family were greatly surprised. They had no intimation that their relative from Canada was coming.

Mr. Louis Mendel has received a letter from Mr. Lastar, in which some interesting information is given about present day conditions in Germany.

Mr. Lastar is now visiting friends in Russia and expects to return to Canada in the near future.

5. Provision for taxation of county property for local improvements.

6. Opening of streets on the local improvement plan.

7 Repeal of the famous Conmee clauses.

The deputation consisted of Warden Vansickle of Wentworth county; County Clerk K. W. McKay, Elgin county; Mayor D'Arcy Scott, Ottawa; Mayor Kennedy, Owen Sound; President W. C. THE MAPLE LEAF FOREVER

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I notice Mr. Belcher's experiences in the Peterborough Review of the 11th inst., anent the different products of our Canadian maple, which I can fully corroborate. My old Highland mother always flavored the beer with a mild infusion of tea, made from the twigs of our Canadian hemlock. No sugar, syrup or vinegar made, to my mind, equals the product of the maple.

Yours, etc.,
A. R. KIDD.

ABOUT THOSE VALENTINES

Postmen Have Been Unusually Busy To-day — Did You Get One?

Have you received a valentine?

The postmen have delivered hundreds of them today and the bookstores have done a big business in the valentine line. The proprietors state that there has been a big demand for both the comics and sentimental varieties, largely in excess of previous years in fact. The increase in mail matter as a result of sending valentines on February 14th, is plainly in evidence at the post office. The dealers state that the demand is largely for valentines of the better class. The hideous caricatures do not appear to be wanted as much as in former years, although a number of them have have been sold.

LATE ROBERT HUNTER HAD RELATIVES HERE

Death of a Prominent Resident of Lindsay at Advanced Age

Mr. Robert Hunter died at his home Colborne street, Lindsay, on Sunday evening, aged about eighty years. He had been seriously ill for only three or four years, though he had been ailing for a great many yeras past.

The late Robert Hunter was born in County Donegal, Ireland and about 1832, when he was three or four years old, his parents came to Canada and settled in this district. His father, the late John Hunter, built the first white man's cabin in Verulam, of which township the Hunters were pioneers.

The late Robert Hunter lumbered in the Bobcaygeon district for many years. He was also lockmaster at Bobcaygeon for a time. About 31 or 32 years ago he came to Lindsay and here resided—a respected and esteemed resident—until his death. For a few years the deceased managed what is now the Chambers' Marble Works, but the most of his life in Lindsay he lived retired.

The deceased was a consistent and valued member of the Baptist church for over 40 years,—belonging first at Bobcaygeon and later to the church in Lindsay.

In politics Mr. Hunter was a Liberal-Conservative.

To the bereaved widow and other relatives surviving much sympathy will be extended. Mrs. Hunter is at present quite ill.

Among the near relatives surviving a brother, Mr. John Hunter, resides in Emily township and a sister, Mrs. W. H. Wrighton lives in Peterborough. Mr. John Hunter, Dunsford; Mr. Joseph Hunter, Bobcaygeon; Mr John Henry Hunter, Michigan; Mr. Garner Hunter, Emily; Mr. Wm. Hunter, Michigan; Mr. Lee Hunter, Verulam; Mr. Robert Hunter, Mich; Mr. Robert Hunter, Peterborough and Mr. W. S. Hunter, Verulam are nephews of deceased.

The funeral took place on Tuesday morning of this week. Service was conducted at the house by Rev. G. R. Welch, pastor of Lindsay Baptist church at ten o'clock. The remains were then taken to the C.P.R. station thence to Bobcaygeon for interment. —Lindsay Watchman-Warder.

George St. Choir Were Entertained

Pleasant Time Last Evening at Home of Dr. and Miss Morrow

The members of the George street choir to the number of about forty were pleasantly entertained last evening at the residence of Dr. and Miss Morrow, Dalhousie street. The evening was most enjoyably spent in games and music, after which dainty refreshments were served. The thanks of the choir were tendered the host and hostess for their kindness in a neat speech by Mr. Sidney Mitchell, and heartily concurred in by the other members by loud applause. The gathering broke up at midnight, after one of the most happy events in the history of the choir.

WEDDING BELLS

LEESON—ASHBY

A very pretty but quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Williams, Ottawa street, Havelock, on Tuesday of last week, 4th inst., when Miss Alice Ashby was united in marriage to Mr. Samuel Leeson of Campbellford. The bride was attired in a charming gown of cream crepe de chenne and carried a bouquet of white carnations. She was given away by Mr. Williams, and the house was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Rev. D. Balfour, pastor of the Methodist church, performed the ceremony, after which the guests adjourned to the dining room, where a delicious supper was served. The bride's going away costume was made of navy blue chiffon broadcloth with white picture hat.

Miss Minnie Williams played the wedding march, and the groom's gift to the bride was a pearl crescent.

Among the guests who were present were Miss Violet Ashby and Mr. Frank Post of Peterborough.

The happy couple will reside in Campbellford, and Mrs. Leeson's many friends in Havelock and vicinity will wish her every happiness.

THE TONIC OF HEALTH

Must be more than a stimulant—must be a food as well.

The "Best" Tonic is FERROZONE, which is both a food and a tonic; it aids digestion, promotes assimilation and converts food into blood, muscle, bone and nerves. No wonder it builds up the weak, makes them strong and vigorous!

FERROZONE
THE GREAT FOOD TONIC

FERROZONE contains exactly what your run-down system lacks. It supplies oxygen to purify the blood, phosphorus to develop the brain, iron to harden the muscles.

No combination of strength-giving, life-sustaining elements can surpass FERROZONE. Instant in effect, lasting in results, no medicine can benefit as much. You'll eat, sleep, think and feel better by using FERROZONE, which is a true tonic. Try it—now.

Ferrozone is sold everywhere in 50c boxes or six for $2.50. By mail to any address from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

Longboat Beats Shrubb's Record Does Ten Miles in 50.52 3-5

Boston, Feb. 14—Tom Longboat established his reputation as one of the greatest runners in the world in his ten-mile race against three men last night. He raced against Percy Sellen, Claude Pierce and Joe Cummings, three crack Canadian racers, and he not only easily defeated them, but he decisively beat the record made by Alfred Shrubb the world's professional champion, over the same track for the same distance, two months ago. Shrubb was also racing three men. He did the ten miles in 51.33. Longboat last night did it in 50.52 3-5. As he was running easily at the end of the race and apparently could have shaved off a second of his time had he been pressed. The fact that the world's indoor record for ten miles is 50.40 1-5 shows the speed with which he ran.

A crowd of nearly 3000 filled the Park Square Skating Rink to see the race. Longboat was as phlegmatic as usual and sauntered out on the track and started off at the pistol crack as though for a practice jaunt. Sellen was leading him by five yards at the end of his 3 1-3 miles relay but that bothered the Indian not at all. At the fourth mile he passed Pierce running easily and from that time he was never headed, although Pierce tried desperately to even up matters before he turned the race over to Cummings.

Cummings made the best showing of all the white men. From the time he took up the race until the last lap had been raced he plunged ahead in a vain effort to take the lead from the flying Indian. His magnificent spurt in the last lap brought him within a yard of Longboat, who breasted the tape at the same rugged gait that he had made for the whole race.

Some Further Information About the Big Press Game

Public is Making Ready to Give the Examiner Team the Hook — Good Musical Programme Being Arranged.

In the olden days when Rome was the ruling power in the world the principal amusement of the populace was contests between man and beast in which death itself was the climax that marked the victory or defeat. Thousands gathered in the vast amphitheatres to witness the so exciting combats, the death struggle that formed such an important part in the life of a great nation. But Rome fell and with its passing away a change took place in the people's amusements. The flight of centuries has brought many changes but, as the charred wood of the Indian's camp fire tells the story of a once mighty race that has almost ceased to exist, there occasionally is inscribed upon the scroll of present time the record of some event that links today with the ages that are past. The annual hockey match between the Review and Examiner teams is one of the events that recall "the gladiatorial contests of Rome's Imperial day," and if a cursory scrutiny is made it will be seen that this great annual combat bears some resemblance to the encounters of the Roman period. Man and beast fought then.

Is it not so yet?

We must modestly admit that the Review team will be composed of human beings while our opponents still have a touch of the simian nature, which was so prominent in their ancestors. And to make it more pronounced the Review team intends "making monkeys" of the Grit seven when February 28th comes around.

As announced yesterday the above is the date of the great press game and already there is a big demand for tickets. The Mayor of Loughland has wired for a half dozen seats and similar requests are coming in from many other quarters. There is some talk of enlarging the rink for the occasion in order to give larger scope for Josiah Greengoods Craig's pontoon steel blocks. To this Harry K. Ohawabald will no doubt utter a fervent "hair, hair," (peroxide blonde).

Commencing tomorrow the Examiner team will go into active training for the game and their dieting will be looked after with special detail. They will be fed as per the following schedule;

7 a.m.—Hot air.
12 o'clock a.m.—Heated atmosphere
6 p.m.—Warmed ozone.
12 p.m.—Oxygen, well done.

For variety between meals they will be given more hot air.

It is pleasing to note that they will not have to leave their own premises to secure their food, a plentiful supply being on hand at all times.

For the amusement of the hundreds who will attend the game arrangements have been made with a local band to supply the following programme of music, the different selections to be given as the Examiner players appear on the ice:

Josiah Greenwoods Craig—"We're the Greenest of the Green, the Grass and I."

Beef Tea Huston—"I'm just as green as I used to be."

Harry K. Ohawebald—"What makes the Sunset Red?"

James Brewery Clarke—"The Elephant's came in one by one."

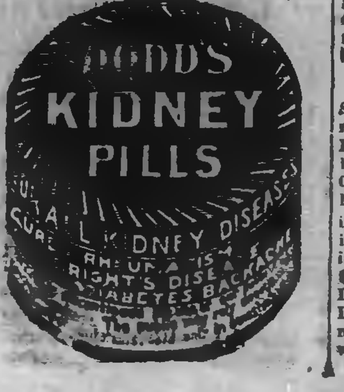
Harry Burridge—"I slid down the Bannister and the Nail was there."

Long Primer Robinson — "Man wants but little here below, but wants that little long."

Mr. Hennery—"They are Laying for me."

New and startling effects will be introduced in the scenic investiture of the players and an hour of rip-roaring enjoyment is promised.

The proceeds of the match will likely be donated to the Children's Aid Society.



Sporting Comment

Much interest is being taken in the coming Strathcona-All Star game to be played on Friday. If the ice is in good condition a splendid game is in store for the fans. The Strathcs have a seven that are playing mighty good hockey, but when they tackle the All Stars, they will have a very difficult proposition to deal with. The forward line particularly of the latter aggregation, looks good in print, and Quinn, Kempt, Ross and Dohery are a quartette that should give pretty nearly any of them a run for their money.

Tommy Burns gave the London Sporting Life a summary of the winnings of his various fights. Up to the Palmer incident, the Canadian had taken in purses in round figures $70,000, the sum ranging from $1 for his first battle with Fred Thornton in Detroit to the $18,000 for defeating Bill Squires. Burns won $22,000 in his two London mills with another $9,000 if he beats Jem Roche in Dublin on St. Patrick's Day. Sporting Life says Burns has been most fortunate in his theatrical affairs, his weekly earnings running between $1,250 and $1,750, which is the largest amount ever received by any boxer in the world, not even excepting John L. Sullivan, Jeffries or Jim Corbett, the latter of whom, it has been said, was the greatest money-getter in the theatrical boxing business. Burns gave the reason for changing his name that his mother did not like the boxing game.—Toronto World.

Left to Join Mr. Hartley in Kansas City

Mr. Fred Cooke, East City Will be With the Local Pedestrian During the Big Walk

Mr. Fred Cook, Driscoll Terrace st. East City, left yesterday for Kansas City, where he will join Mr. David Hartley. He will be in daily attendance upon the local pedestrian during the six-day walking contest, being held there, commencing Monday, February 24th. Mr. Cook has shown great interest in Mr. Hartley and has watched with pride his past achievements. He has every confidence in him and is sure that Peterborough's long distance walker will bring honor to the city he represents and head the list of contestants. Mr. Carter, of Toronto, brother-in-law of Mr. Hartley, will also be in Kansas city during the contest.

HOCKEY

Noble's accept the challenge of McKercher's, the game to be played at the Brock street rink on Thursday between 10 and 11 o'clock.

DIDN'T PLAY

The Rough Riders did not go to Norwood last night on account of the mild weather rendering the Norwood rink in a condition not fit for playing the game.

The young ladies' game that was to have been played Monday, has been postponed for a week on account of the poor condition of the ice.

THE COST OF GOOD HEALTH

Will be Lessened by the Timely Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

How much money is wasted on useless medicines. How much time is lost: how much pain endured simply because you do not find the right medicine to start with. Take the earnest advice of thousands who speak from experience in favor of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and you will save time, money and above all will find perfect health. Proof of this is found in the statement of Mr. J. A. Roberge, a well known resident of Lachine, Que., who says: "I am a boatman, and consequently exposed to all conditions of weather. This exposure began to tell on my health. The cold lead to weakness, loss of appetite, pains in the limbs and side. I tried several medicines but they did not help me. My condition was growing worse and a general breakdown threatened. I slept poorly at night and lost much in weight, and began to fear that I was drifting into chronic invalidism. One day while reading a newspaper I was attracted by the statement of a fellow sufferer who had been cured through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had spent much money without getting relief and I hated to spend more but the cure was so convincing that I decided to give these pills a trial. I am now more than thankful that I did so. After the first couple of weeks they began to help me and in seven weeks after I began the Pills I was as well as ever I had been. I am now convinced that had I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at the outset I would not only have been saved money as well."

Rich red blood is the cure for most of the ailments that afflict mankind. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new, rich blood. That is why they cure such common ailments as anaemia, indigestion, rheumatism, neuralgia, heart palpitation, erysipelas, skin troubles and the headaches backaches, sideaches and other ills of girlhood and womanhood. The pills are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine, Co, Brockville, Ont.

WOMAN'S POWER

The healthy woman, strong mentally and physically, whose ambition and magnetic influence urge men to deeds of grandeur and heroism; such women are all-powerful.

Weak, sick and ailing women have little ambition; their own troubles occupy all their thoughts. They dwell upon their pains, suffer from nervousness and headaches; often are extremely melancholy, and avoid society. For thirty years has been saving women from this awful condition.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Mrs. John Scott, 489 Grand Trunk St., Montreal, writes Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was very much run down in health from a female trouble, was thin, nervous, very weak, and suffered from bearing down pains. Indeed I did not care whether I lived or died.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me of all my troubles. I gained in flesh, and am free from backache, female trouble, sick headaches, and nervousness.

"I heartily recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for all women's ailments."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice.

First Issue is Highly Creditable

Canadian Dairyman and Farming World is Excellent Publication

The first number of the "Canadian Dairyman and Farming World," has just been issued from the new offices of the company at Peterborough. As has been previously noted the new publication is an amalgamation of the "Canadian Dairyman" and "Farming World," which have formerly been issued as separate publications. The first number of the new journal although got out under difficulties, is highly creditable. The cover, design is exceedingly handsome, the border being an artistic arrangement of colored maple leaves. It contains twenty-four pages of live agricultural matter, advertisements and illustrations.

The "Canadian Dairyman and Farming World," will be issued every Wednesday. An editorial announcement in the first issue is as follows:

In this, the first joint issue of The Canadian Dairyman and Farming World, we desire to say a few words about ourselves. The Canadian Dairyman and Farming World will be devoted to general farming. It will treat on every subject that is of interest to the general farmer including the breeding of stock, the cultivation of the soil, the orchard and garden and the farm home.

Dairying is the most important line of farming carried on in Canada. In Ontario alone there are 65,000 to 70,000 dairy farmers. These farmers depend upon dairying for their chief source of revenue. The great dairy interests, therefore, will be given special attention.

Every dairy farmer is interested in the breeding of horses and in the raising of hogs and poultry. Many of them keep a few sheep. They nearly all have orchards. Most of them have wives and children. Those who haven't, should have. All the various activities of the farm will, therefore, be treated in these columns.

It will be our object to speak and work in the interests of the general farmers of this country and particularly for the dairy farmers. We feel that a great responsibility rests upon the management of such a paper as the Canadian Dairyman and Farming World. It will be our constant and earnest effort to so conduct the policy of this publication that it will be deserving at all times of the hearty support and confidence of all our readers.

MAY BE TROUBLE

With the first of May some time away there is already some indications of trouble between the men and the bosses engaged in the building trade. There are many on both sides, however, who would like to see peace in this trade at least for a year.

At the present moment, however, this looks impossible, in view of the fact that the bricklayers are inclined to make a cut in the wages of the men.—Toronto Telegram.

In connection with the election of officers it was decided to have the election at this meeting, and it was moved that if there was any outstanding motion on the books contrary to this that it be rescinded.

The officers were elected as follows:—

It was finally moved by Mr. Switzer, and seconded by Mr. Mann, that Mr. Gillespie be appointed arbitrator of the board, and in the event of there being any dispute on account of him being a buyer, then the instructor should act.

PERSONAL

A very pleasant Valentine dance was given last evening by Miss Eva Nesbitt at the Court House. The large council chamber had been cleared of its desks and seats, and was gaily decorated with hearts and presented a very inviting appearance. Over seventy guests were present, and they thoroughly enjoyed the dancing. Supper was served in an alcove off the council chamber, and the valentine idea was carried out in the refreshments. The table was made pretty with decorations of hearts and candles, and shades. The guests voted Miss Nesbitt's valentine dance one of the niceat of the season.

Makes Love No More.

It happened at a public dance. He was a man of serious intentions and numerous attentions, and she was rich and weddable. They sat in the hall under the stairway. It was a nook for lovers. There was not a soul in sight, and he thought his golden opportunity had arrived. Down he flopped on his knees and clasped her hand.

"Dear one," he whispered, not very loud, but loud enough. "I have loved you with the whole strength and ardor of a man's nature when it is roused by all that is pure and good and lovely in woman, and I can no longer restrain my pent-up feelings. I must tell you what is in my heart, and assure you that never yet has woman heard from my lips the secrets that are throbbing and——"

Just then a rustle was heard on the stairs above them, and a card fastened to a thread swung down and dangled not two inches from the lover's nose. On it were these portentous words: "I'm a bit of a liar myself." Then the awful truth flashed upon him and he fled. As he went out of the door sixteen girls from the head of the stairs sent sixteen laughs out into the damp night after him. He makes no love at balls now.

PROTECTION AGAINST FIRE.

Safety of Public Buildings to Be Dealt With by Legislation.

Toronto, Feb. 15.—The brief session of the Legislature yesterday was devoted to wiping three questions by members off the order paper.

Mr. O. R. McCoig (West Kent) enquired: 1. Has the Government decided to grant fishing licenses to fishermen on the River Thames this year. 2. If, not, is it the intention of the Government to make any provision for granting licenses, to fish in Lake St. Clair, to those fishermen deprived of licenses on the River Thames?

Hon. Dr. Reaume, replying, said the Government had decided last year not to grant licenses for seine fishing on the River Thames for two years. Fishermen thus deprived of their licenses might procure licenses to fish in Lake St. Clair or elsewhere by an application in the usual way without special provisions.

Hon. A. G. Mackay asked: Does the Government intend, during this session, to introduce further legislation in the matter of guarding life in case of accidents through fire, imperfect construction relating to ingress, egress, or otherwise, in public buildings?

"The Government has under consideration," replied Hon. Mr. Matheson, "legislation governing moving picture exhibits and other matters."

"Is that any answer?" queried the Liberal leader.

"I think so," was the Provincial Treasurer's brief response.

Mr. J. A. Auld (South Essex) asked: When did the Government purchase the steamer "Lurline." 2. From whom. 3. What amount was paid. 4. In what year was the boat built. 5. Who inspected the hull before purchase. 6. What amount of repairs were made after purchase. 7. On what date was the steamer wrecked. 8. What effort was made to save the steamer. 9. Has the wreckage been sold, and if so, to whom, and for what amount. 10. What was the amount of insurance held, and has the insurance money been paid?

Hon. Dr. Reaume replied to the queries in order: 1, Oct. 4, 1907; 2, J. Walker; 3, $10,000; 4, 1888; 5, Wm. E. Redway; 6, none; 7, Oct. 26, 1907; 8, the services of the Molten Dredging Co. of Goderich were secured; 9, the engine and boiler were sold to the highest bidder for $850; 10, none.

Hon. Mr. Foy's measure respecting inquiries concerning public matters was put through its committee stage without discussion.

EXPLOSION AT SCHOOL.

Teacher and Sixty Children Fell Into Basement—Many Scalded.

Adrian, Mo., Feb. 15.—An explosion of a boiler in the basement of the public school yesterday tore away the floor of the primary department and precipitated a teacher and 60 pupils into the basement, burning and scalding many of them frightfully. The teacher and half of the pupils sustained severe injuries. Many of the children were taken out in an unconscious condition, and some of the larger boys engaged in the work of rescue were overcome by smoke.

A son of M. D. Spangler suffered the most serious injuries, his hands being blown almost off and his body scalded. Miss Maud Morgan, the teacher, was found under a pile of hot cinders and other rubbish. She was severely burned. The son of William Bullock was thrown through a window and severely cut. The older boys of the school jumped into the basement at the risk of their lives and continued their efforts at rescue until every child was found.

The cause of the explosion is unknown. The building is a two-storey brick, containing ten rooms. The property damage was $3,000.

CONVICT CONFESSES CRIME.

For Which a Court Interpreter Is Awaiting Trial.

Montreal, Feb. 15.—The peace and crown office safe at the court house was robbed of $1,700 in December and A. Hobeika, a Syrian court-house interpreter, is awaiting trial before the Court of King's Bench on a charge of being the thief.

J. A. St. Julien, his lawyer, announces that he has received a confession from a convict at St. Vincent de Paul that he committed the robbery. This man is George Pigeon, who was recently sentenced to serve seven years' imprisonment on various charges of robbery and forgery. Pigeon had only completed a five years' sentence a short time before and soon resorted to his old tricks.

Mr. St. Julien is going to investigate the confession.

Prince Expelled From France.

Paris, Feb. 15.—The Italian Prince De Forlosa, a well-known member of the Travelers' Club, has been expelled from France by a decree signed by Premier Clemenceau. The prince asserts that he is the victim of the intrigues of his personal enemies. On the other hand, the police states that the decree of expulsion was issued because their attention had been called to his mode of living, which was far beyond his means.

The prince has instructed the Maitre Clemenceau, brother of the Premier, to begin suit to rescind the decree.

Maritime Express Wrecked.

Moncton, N.B., Feb. 15.—The Maritime Express, No. 34, was wrecked one mile west of Memramcook yesterday. Part of the engine and the postal and Pullman cars are off the track. The cause is said to be a broken rail. The train was in charge of Driver Lightbody and Conductor John Berry. An auxiliary left here at 1 o'clock. No one was hurt. This makes five accidents in three days.

Hydrophobia Scare at Chippawa.

PLUCKY WOMAN FOILED.

Kidnapped Her Children, Drove Across River, and Was Arrested.

Detroit, Feb. 15.—Mrs. Bessie Rumble, who kidnapped her two children, Hazel, aged 7, and Winnifred, aged 5, from the Children's Aid Society in Chatham, Ont., last Friday and drove from Chatham to Robert's Landing, nearly 20 miles, in an open wagon, with the thermometer hovering around the zero mark, and then drove across the St. Clair River on the ice to the Michigan side, was arrested Thursday night by two immigration inspectors. With Mrs. Rumble were found her husband, Albert, who arrived in Detroit Thursday, and Miss Lizzie Siddle, aged 21, who landed in Detroit about three months ago.

The inspectors say they will all be deported.

Liquor Detective Acquitted.

Whitby, Ont., Feb. 15.—Christian Hansen was acquitted by Judge McCrimmon in the Criminal Court here last night on the charge of perjury. The case grew out of the prosecution of Donald Christie of Saint Field for selling liquor without a license.

Hansen is detective in the service of the Provincial Secretary's Department and bought native wine of Christie on Oct. 20 last while working in Brock Township, where local option is in force.

The trial occupied two days and many witnesses on each side were examined. There was strong corroboration of Hansen's story.

The York Education Committee has decided to dismiss its clerk, Mr. C. G. Rushworth, who was recently convicted with his wife of cruelty to two "adopted" children.

Milk Tests for Month of February

Number of Samples Below Standard is Somewhat Larger Than Usual

Mr. P. Downham has completed the milk tests for February, from samples collected by Sanitary Inspector Ball. Eight of the samples tested did not come up to the required percentage of 3.5 butter fat, which is a somewhat larger number than usual. This is accounted for by the fact that there are so many freshly calved cows at this season of year and their milk is not as rich as that of cows that have been milking for some time.

The following is the result of the tests:—

McFALL—BUCHAN

Mrs. Lottie Buchan of Peterborough, and Mr. N. A. McFall of Toronto, were united in the bond of matrimony on the afternoon of Wednesday, Feb. 13th, at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Thos. Harper, Toronto Junction. The ceremony was a very quiet one, and was performed by the Rev. R. Coorhand. The bride and groom left for a short trip after which they will take up their residence for a time at 168 Spadina avenue, Toronto.

The Outlook for the Peat Fuel Industry in Canada

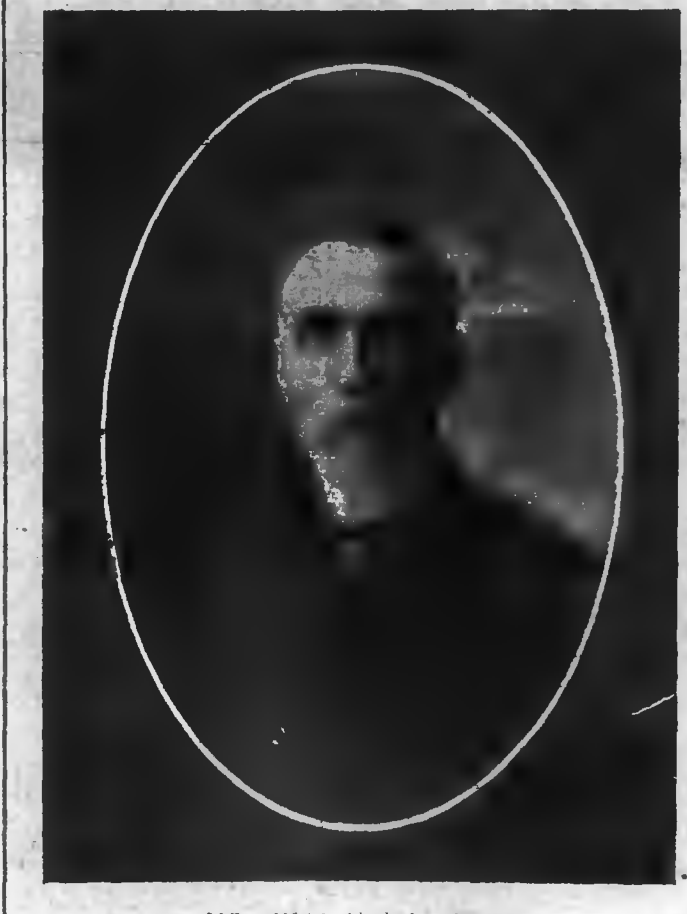
Mr. Ernest V. Moore Reads a Paper Before the Mining Section of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers.

On Thursday night last Mr. Ernest V. Moore, managing director of the Condensed Peat Fuel Co., read a lengthy and exhaustive paper on the history, the development and the present prospects of the peat fuel industry in Canada, before the Mining Section of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers. The paper was listened to by a number of Montreal's best engineers and commented upon favorably, particularly on the work that has been accomplished by Mr. Moore at his plant at Victoria Road, Ont. Considerable discussion took place on the use of the fuel in producing gas generators, which went to show that a prominent market for large quantities of peat apart from domestic use to which it has been confined heretofore was rapidly developing.

On the advice and through the courtesy of Dr. Porter, of McGill University, Mr. Moore obtained an interview with Dr. Hamel, the Dominion Director of Mines at Ottawa. Here sufficient importance is attached to the peat fuel industry that preparations are being made for extensive experiments to show that what is being done at present successfully and profitably in Europe and particularly in Germany and Sweden can be made equally profitable in Canada as the governing conditions are quite as favorable here to success.

Dr. Haamel commented very favorably on two of Mr. Moore's original devices for treating peat, expressing the opinion that in some ways he had bettered even the most advanced European methods. Mr. Moore is very confident that the coming year will see operations in a very much larger way than have been attempted heretofore. A process has been devised avoiding the almost insurmountable difficulties of former efforts and what is equally important a market is developing for the fuel where the drawbacks to the fuel for domestic purposes entirely disappear.

Will Give Lecture at Local Y. M. C. A. To-night



MR. THOS. McGILLICUDY

Mr. Thos. McGillicuddy of Toronto, will lecture tonight at the Y.M.C.A. on the "Four Johns," and a treat is in store for those who attend. Mr. McGillicuddy is a favorite speaker in Peterborough, and no doubt a big audience will hear him this evening. A quartette under the direction of Mr. J. H. Sraver of George street church will sing.

Axe Struck Twig and Cut Through Chopper's Toes

A lumberman by the name of Roe was brought to the Nicholls Hospital this morning with the great toe of his right foot practically amputated and three toes next to it being almost cut off too. Yesterday morning about nine o'clock he was chopping wood in the Cavendish Lumber Company's camp when the axe struck a twig and was deflected cutting through his boot and inflicting the injuries as stated. He was driven to the city and Dr. McClelland, who attended his injuries, found it necessary to amputate the great toe. The other three were left on, but may yet have to be amputated. Roe suffered considerable pain on his long journey but bore up well.

Busy Day at The Barracks

Col. and Mrs. Gaskin Will be in Peterborough Tomorrow

Tomorrow will be a big day in local Salvation Army services. Col. and Mrs. Gaskin of Toronto, general secretaries for Canada, will arrive tonight on the C.P.R. local from the west and will be met at the station by the local band and members of the Army. They will be escorted to the barracks where an open meeting will be held. Mrs. Gaskin will commission the League of Mercy members for 1908. This is a very interesting ceremony and a large number will be in attendance.

Three open meetings will be held tomorrow at which Col. Gaskin will give addresses. His subjects will be "Battlefield Stories," and in the evening, "A Study in Botany." He will also address the young people in the morning, and the bandsmen in the afternoon.

Col. and Mrs. Gaskin hold high places in the Salvation Army in Canada and their visit to Peterborough is creating considerable interest.

Walked into Peterborough

Mr. W. E. Chamberlain, who resides about four miles from the city, walked to town today rather than drive, as the road in that direction is in particularly bad shape. Mr. Chamberlain is only one of several living in the country who have found it necessary to foot it to the city.

Only Got 100 Yards

Mr. J. R. Sherwin, of Smith, Tells of Bad Condition of the Roads—Walked to the City

Mr. J. R. Sherwin, a Smith farmer, residing about five or six miles from the city says the country roads are in a very bad condition for travelling. According to Mr. Sherwin the snow is from three to four feet deep in many places and being very soft the horses sink down in it at every step. He started out from home this morning for market with a horse and cutter but only had proceeded about a hundred yards from his house when he took his horse and cutter back. He started for town on foot and walked most of the way.

Mr. Sherwin says if it freezes the sleighing will be good.

Few Vendors at To-day's Market

Rainy Weather Prevented Many From Coming to the City—Prices Were High

To-day's market was a scant one as far as the number of vendors were concerned. The rainy weather kept a large number of farmers from coming in, but those who did come received the highest prices for their produce. Eggs sold at thirty-three cents per dozen and butter brought 32 and 33 cents per pound. These last named household necessities were very scarce and were quickly picked up. There was a small quantity of fowl, principally chickens and they sold at one dollar per pair.

On the outside market, there were two or three sleighs. Beef by the quarter sold at five and six cents and pork brought nine and ten cents per pound.

A rehearsal for the cantata, "Trial by Jury" will be held at the Conservatory Music Hall tonight at eight o'clock. All those taking part are requested to be present and to bring their vocal scores.

GREEN'S MOVING PICTURES

The Kingston Whig of Feb. 12th has the following to say in referring to the above attraction which will open a five nights' engagement at the Grand Opera House here on Tuesday, Feb. 18:

"There was a very large and enthusiastic audience in attendance at the Green moving pictures at the Grand Opera House last evening. There was a magnificent production of scenes presented, the like of which has never been exhibited in this city in the past. People with all manner of tastes could be gratified—the artist, the traveller, the sailor and the minister—while scenes of everyday life were realistic in the extreme. "The Hero," or the rescue of a little child from a burning building in New York was a thrilling scene. "Early rounds with a Milkman in London" was a laughable production. Beautiful winter scenes in Switzerland were given, the grandeur of which could not be surpassed. "Baby's Day," showing mother's darling getting its morning bath. "Dumb Sagacity," showing a child caught by the tide saved by her pet dog. "Lost a Leg of Mutton," a comical English scene. "The Miner's Daughter" is as pathetic a romance as any touching stage production. The mine explosion was a vivid portrayal of the dangers of fire-damp in coal mining life. "The Star Road Race in Montreal," in which many of the leading sprinters of Canada took part was exciting, showing Longboat in the lead. The concluding scene was "Terrible Ted," the Novel Reading Kid, showing him rescuing an Indian maiden from a teddy bear, and the wiping out of the whole Indian tribe at midnight, a dream from which he was rudely awakened by his mother with a box on the ear."

RECEPTION AT GEORGE STREET

Members of Home Department Were Guests of Officers and Visitors

A function of a very pleasing character was the reception at George street Methodist Sunday school of the members of the home department by the department's officers and visitors. Mr. T. W. Robinson, the superintendent of the home department, occupied the chair and made a brief address.

A short programme of much merit was given consisting of vocal solos by Mr. J. H. Scriver, Mr. Walton, and Mrs. R. W. F. E. Davidson, and a reading by Mr. J. Johns. The Sunday school orchestra played several well rendered selections. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Pearson and Mr. S. Armstrong, superintendent of the Sunday school, made a few remarks, appropriate to the occasion.

Refreshments were served during the evening.

LITTLE GIRL FRIGHTENED

The usual Saturday runaway took place this morning when a horse belonging to a farmer by the name of Wilton, got frightened at a street car and made a dash along Charlotte street. The horse was tied to a telegraph pole and when the car was passing, broke the line with with which it was tied and ran away. A little girl who was in the cutter at the time had an exciting time of it until the horse was stopped, which was done when the animal had run about three hundred yards. The little girl escaped uninjured and no damage was done to the equippage.

Series of Sermons on Fulfilled Prophecies in Egypt

The Rev. Wm. Major, M.A., rector of All Saints' on being interviewed this morning with reference to the controversy now rife the world over concerning Higher Criticism, said: "I will preach on Sunday evening the fourth of a series of sermons now being given by me upon fulfilled prophecies in Egypt, which has for its object the refuting of Higher Criticism with respect to Ezekiel and Isaiah. You see excavations and discoveries in Egypt prove these books, especially Isaiah, to be historically correct, and not the mere allegories conveying formal truths which they are alleged to be by the higher critics."

Next Sunday evening Rev. Mr. Major gives the fourth sermon of his course on this subject, and in view of the general desire to know what Higher Criticism really is, and of the fact that a return to the calmness of established order is earnestly wished for by many, the sermon of the reverend gentleman will be fully reported by the Review on Monday, together with a short summary of the preceding sermons of the course. The recent Papal Encycycal against Modernism amy be said to be the climax of the warnings thrown out from time to time by the Pope to the faithful and to the world against being led away by new-fangled ideas of revelation and divine truth. The Modernist proper believes each man to be his own source of revelation, while the ancient, if such a word is permissable, believes that God has spoken to man through prophets, His divine Son, and otherwise by means of teachers.

Report on Wages Award; Employers Have Interests

Board of Investigation's Interesting Report in the Telegraphers' Case—Not to the Public's Advantage That Properties Should be Made Umprofitable.

The following which will appear in the February "Labor Gazette" is from the report of the Board of Investigation under the Lemieux Act composed of Prof. A. Shortt, J. G. O'Donoghue and W. Nesbitt, K. C., which recently adjusted the dispute between the Grand Trunk Railway and the Telegraph operators:—

"The Board were much impressed by the suggestions that the same Board had recommended a higher rate of pay to the telegraphers in the service of the Canadian Pacific than they were prepared to recommend in the present instance. We are glad to be able to report that the parties appreciated the reasons why the members of the Board could not in this instance see their way to the recommendation of any higher rate than that finally agreed upon between the parties, and we desire to put upon record some of the reasons why we came to this conclusion.

"We thought, under the present conditions, that the offer of the company in the matter of increase of wages was all that could be justified. There are many considerations entering into the question. In our view, there is the right of the men to receive a living wage, and that right is paramount. The workman is entitled to get a fair day's wage for a fair day's work. What, however, often seems to be ignored is that capital and labor are both necessary in order to produce a profit, whether it is in the operation of railways, in manufacturing, or in any other branch of trade. The aim of the worker should be to secure a fair share of this profit. But there is also to be considered the position of the man who advances the money to enable the undertaking to be carried on, which gives employment. He, too, is entitled to receive a return for his money and his risk. A hundred millions of the capital stock of the Grand Trunk Railway receives no dividend whatever. If such dividends on the preferred stock as are now being paid are still further reduced by the wages bill being increased, what must necessarily follow? The company cannot obtain further money for expansion, for it can be more remuneratively employed in other undertakings. This certainly would be a disadvantage to the vast numbers who find employment on railways. Then there is the constant demand of the public for the betterment of the service and equipment, for increase of facilities, the bettering of the roadbed and general improvement in the accommodations. These can only be obtained where the parties asked to advance the money can see some possibility of return for the advance. Our experience on a number of these boards has led us to the conclusion that there seems to be an oversight on the part of the public of two things. First that there is a continual demand for an increase of expenditure upon the part of the company for facilities, and, second, a continual demand for a reduction of the tariffs which furnish the monies necessary to provide these facilities and accommodations. The growth of earnings is not keeping pace proportionately with the growth of expenses. If the operating expenses and the wages to employes must be increased from time to time, and the public so demand, very serious consideration must be given to the proposals for the reduction of freight and passenger rates, inasmuch as every reduction directly affects the ability of the railways to pay the wages asked by their employees. There is no doubt that the cost of living has greatly increased and that the employees of a railway company are entitled to be better compensated to meet such increased cost, but surely they are not entitled to be compensated at the sole expense of people who have invested their money and would in return be deprived of their means of livelihood. The public should bear their share. The railway employee spends his money for the benefit of every other member of the community from farmer to manufacturer, and if the employee has to obtain more money to meet his increased cost of living, other classes of the community who receive the benefit of the money he spends should contribute their share towards enabling him to get the money he has to spend; and it is for the foregoing reasons that, under the present conditions, and having in view all the surrounding circumstances, we thought that the offer of increase made by the officials of the Grand Trunk Railway Company had gone as far as could be justified, though not necessarily to the limit which the telegraphers ought to receive under other circumstances. The deterring of the investment of capital in railway undertakings would certainly not be a benefit to the community at large, and if the property of lenders is to be practically confiscated between the demand of the public on the one side, and the demand of the employees on the other it must lead to a general reduction in wages, or a shrinkage in the number of employes with a much greater ultimate loss to labor. It has been suggested that this state of affairs may be met by the state becoming sole owner of the railways. To accomplish this the capital necessary to make railways and work them would still have to be found. The mere fact of state ownership does not bring capital down from the skies like the manna to the Israelites in the desert. If borrowed by the state, interest must be paid for it, and probably at a higher rate than the state now has to pay, for two reasons, first because of being larger borrowers; second, because of the risk incident to industrial undertakings. If raised by taxation, this would be nothing more than getting it from the collective resources of the country. The wages other than the living wages before referred to, which are paid by railway companies to their employees must therefore disguise it as we may, depend upon what a company earns after the interest on capital employed is paid. This may equally be said of all industrial and commercial undertakings, and no amount of vague philanthropic talk can alter this fact any more than it can alter the fact that two and two make four.

"The Hero of the Hour," is the third subject in the February programme of Sunday evening subjects given by the Rev. A. H. Brace at the Park street Baptist church. Hero worship has not yet ceased, and the hero of modern times is still lionized and the sturdy "Dare to be a Daniel," is not mere sentiment.

CHOIR GUESTS OF PASTOR

Rev. H. M. Manning Was Host at a Most Enjoyable Function Last Evening

Rev. H. M. Manning, pastor of the Charlotte street Methodist church, entertained the members of the choir last night at the parsonage. There were about 35 in attendance, and a very pleasant time was spent. The evening was spent in an informal manner. Games were played and refreshments served. A general good time was indulged in and the guests passed a hearty vote of thanks to their host for his hospitality.

Mr. Manning in replying dwelt on the difficult proposition a choir leader has in securing choristers and soloists, gave the choir some helpful words of encouragement and advice. He expressed the great pleasure he had in entertaining them.

THE CALL OF THE MUSKRAT

Thoughts of Bobcaygeon Editor go a Wandering in Strange Fields

The following is from the Bobcaygeon Independent;—Absorbed in contemplation of Sir Oliver Lodge's assurance that he had received messages from those beyond this life, the thoughts of this great journal drifted to wondering how fared its valued correspondents through the storms, and from that the thoughts glided to the Muskrat. Where was he? Ah! what was that? A Squeak! the call of the Muskrat for sure! In a moment this g. j. was as clearly in psychical communication with the Muskrat as if he were under the office window. Say, old boy, said he, don't you wish you had a house like mine? Not a draft, every inmate in his own base-burner, and all snug as bugs in a rug. No snowshovelling in ours. Let it drift, for it is all off with us till the summer sun glints over the dancing ripples of the Kawartha waters. You think you are getting it pretty rough, don't you? Well, you are mighty close to something rougher, and if your fur is at all thin you will have reason to wish it were thicker before the month is out. March will come in like a lion and go out like a lioness; you need not fear for any lamb or green peas about March, and the boys at the rink will have plenty of time to finish their schedule games, for the close of the curling rink will be the latest on record. Why, bless you, there will be snow and cold to the middle of April, and don't let a few days of warmth in May fool you too much, for there will be snow and cold into May. This Psychical game is quite an invention, isn't it? Was chatting with an old chum in New York the other day and he told me about the Thaw case. Doesn't the life of that sort of cattle make you sick? We are not too prudish as to morals in our colonies, but our domestic life is the essence of virtue compared with those sort of animals. Well, give us a psychic call whenever you feel like it. One rap, space and two raps, on your desk and my think-tank will get vibrating in harmony with the great thoughts from the shack by the river side. Call off your snow plows, take to snowshoes and work the psychic game. Throw another chunk into the stove, and thank your lucky stars that life is but a span anyway, and after life—well, no more snow drifts. Ta-ta.

To Hold Revival Park St. Church

Decision Reached at Quarterly Business Meeting

Park street Baptist church quarterly business meeting was held on Thursday night. Pastor Rev. A. H. Brace was in the chair, in the absence of the church clerk, Mr. F. G. Gillespie. Received the minutes of the quarter. The weekly offering secretary's report showed an advance of the last quarter's weekly income. A letter was received from Evangelist W. Pugsley, that his many engagement in the States prevented his visiting Peterborough. It was decided to hold revival services for two weeks in the near future. Reports by Mrs. Jos. Johnston of the Ladies' Aid and Mission Circle were very encouraging. Arrearage circulars will be sent out covering nine months, which will largely increased finances.

Excellent music was provided by the Grand Opera House orchestra. Mr. J. Fowler catered to the entire satisfaction of all.

NEEDLE RAN THROUGH PALM OF RIGHT HAND

Water St. Young Lady Victim of Painful Accident Yesterday

A young lady residing on Water street, was the victim of a painful accident yesterday afternoon. She was engaged sewing some goods when the needle she was using broke and in some way penetrated the palm of her right hand. So painful was it that she was unable to remove it without medical assistance. Dr. Halliday was called and had to chloroform the young lady before the needle could be removed. Today, although suffering considerably from the effects of the operation, she is progressing favorably, and no serious complications are anticipated.

ENGINES GO WRONG

A Singular Chapter of Accidents in Railroading.

Owing to a chapter of accidents, it reuired six engines to bring in train No. 5 over the C.P.R. from Montreal, yesterday morning. In the division between Montreal and Smith's Falls the eccentric of the first engine, which pulled out of Montreal on scheduled time, broke, and the train was stalled on the track until another engine was rushed up from the east. The cushion of the cylinder flew out of the second engine near Smith's Falls, and another engine was sent out, the train reaching Smith's Falls about three hours' late. When some distance up from Smith's Falls the third engine went "leaky" and the assistance of a fourth locomotive was sought. Near Leaside Junction the big Pacific locomotive, No. 1,102 went wrong, and a yard engine was then brought into service to pull the freight train into Toronto.

Had Served in Troops of Late Queen

Death of Mr. Peyton W. C. Shewn of Mount Julian Closes an Eventful Life

Mount Julian, Feb. 14.—We are sorry to record the death of Peyton W C Shewn, who passed away on the 6th of this month, after a lingering illness of three months, during which time he had the best of care from his devoted family. Although for some years he had lived in a very quiet way, at one time his life was very eventful.

He was born at Gosport, England, 1853, and was the second son of Col. E. T. P. Shewn, late of Queen Victoria's Royal Marine Light Infantry Corps, and was in that regiment when it rendered invaluable aid during the capture of the famous stronghold. "The Rock of Gibraltar," also serving with great distinction in the Abyssinia and Crimean wars, and the Indian Mutiny. His mother was Georgina Sophia Bell; the eldest daughter of Major Bell, of the 61st Regiment. He was sent to the Royal Naval School for 6 1-2 years, where he received an education to fit him for any position in life. After leaving school he obtained a lieutenant's commission in the Hampashira Militia Artillery, in which he served two years, leaving on the eve of his promotion to the rank of captain, to accompany his brother to Canada on a three months' trip. They landed at Quebec in May, 1871 and came direct to Peterborough, bringing their travels to a close by settling in the village of Apsley. He resigned his commission in the army, and, with the exception of a trip to his native land, he has always since lived in the County of Peterborough. He was appointed postmaster of Apsley after his marriage in 1875, and along with that position had a general store for four years, being at the same time in the municipal council of Burleigh, Chandos and Anstruther. Some time afterwards he received the clerkship of these united townships, which office he held until he removed to Mount Julian in 1900, where with his sons he engaged in the sawmill business. Since disposing of that he has been failing in health and has lived quietly at home.

His wife was Miss Annie Eastland, third daughter of the late Thomas Eastland, of Peterborough, who died in 1897, leaving four sons and five daughters.

Besides his family he leaves to mourn his loss one brother in India, and one in St. John's, N.B., and two sisters, Mrs. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Williams. The funeral service was held at his late home, which is on one of the prettiest spots at Mt. Julian, by the Methodist minister, Rev. Mr. Garbutt, and his remains were followed by several of the neighbors to Apsley English church cemetery, where a great number of people had gathered to pay their last respects to their friend of former years in joining in the service held by Rev. Mr. Wilkinson.

Nothing Did Good

Until She Tried "Fruit-a-tives"

Madame Rioux is the wife of M. Jos. Rioux, a wealthy manufacturer of lumber in St. Moise. Madame Rioux is greatly esteemed in her home town and her testimonial in favor of "Fruit-a-tives" carries conviction with it, as it is entirely unsolicited.

St. Moise, Quebec.

I have much pleasure in testifying to the marvelous good which I have received from the use of the famous tablets "Fruit-a-tives". I was a great sufferer for many years with serious liver disease and severe constipation. I had constant pain in the right side and in the back and these pains were severe and distressing. My digestion was very bad, with frequent headaches, and I became greatly run down in health. I took many kinds of liver pills and liver medicine without any benefit, and I was treated by several doctors but nothing did me any good, bloating continued. As soon as I began to take "Fruit-a-tives" I began to feel better, the dreadful pains in the right side and back were easier and when I had taken three boxes I was practically well. 150

SATURDAY, FEB. 15, 1908.

A RELIGIOUS WAVE

The gross materialism of the last quarter of a century, culminating sharp on time in a state of mental and moral anarchy, crookedness and every other species of meanness is very largely the result of the moral breakdown of so-called "superior people." Extremes meet without fail. It is a law as unvarying as a physical law. People who pride themselves upon their birth and station do well to do so, for, as a rule, it is all they and their imitators have to pride themselves upon. Any one coming in contact with people "of all classes" will soon find that of all these superior people" are the most easily "bought." What the reason is it would not be hard to say. At the first touch of desperation, whatever it may be about they scuttle to financial cover without regard even "to the women and children," who are supposed to be saved first always. Next in point of moral weakness come the driftlings, the poor drunken creatures that stand about looking for death or whiskey. It takes more to buy them, but not much more after all than in the other case. Between the two extremes rises the class that aims at decent living and wholesome conduct, and having no pretentions to bolster up or excessive appetites to gratify, it is under no particular temptation to gloss over crookedness, or to "No unsparingly for its own material advantage. From this body of ore comes ultimately the refined gold. The sweetest and purest, as well as the noblest and most heroic lives are not found in sealskin or satin, in jewels and finery, but in the quiet light of good motives and a calm strength of character. From them at intervals emanate the great movements that save mankind from returning to barbarism, that rescue civilization from dethronement and bring to naught ultimately the errors alike of the cunning hypocrite and the open mocker. One of these movements is almost upon us now. For months past the great hall of the University of Toronto has been the centre of a renewed religious life. Mott and Bryan are only two of the great lights of the new enthusiasm. Gradually the efforts of the "permanent force" have thus been seconded and supported until now we are at the edge of a mighty wave of moral and mental reform. The tide had ebbed. It has now flowed in again, bearing upon its breast new ideas, new aspirations, new hopes and new truths from the great ocean of eternity.

LANDMARKS

What is the local Historical Society doing about preserving the landmarks of the history of Peterborough? We are asking for information. It has now become a feature of Canadian historical work that historic evidences shall be preserved, not only contained those in the records of the various official bodies, epistolary correspondence, etc., but those that time can efface, those that exist in the form of old buildings, water-courses and sites now occupied by buildings. It is true that in Peterborough we have not many interesting or important records of historic occurrences, but some there are, and we hope that all evidence of them will not be removed so thoroughly that posterity or strangers may never know that Peterborough has some cherished memories. Tablets of simple and inexpensive form could be put in places where it is considered desirable to draw the attention of the passer-by to some circumstance or some event not of national interest, it is true, but certainly of local interest. "Here resided Robert and Charlotte Nicholls," might well be a tablet on the large stone house near St. Andrew's. History is made up of just such things, and in England, while international complications may receive more national notice, it is in parish reminiscences that the real strength of patriotism lies and makes the Britisher ever mindful of his rural or village home.

THE WAGES AWARD

It will be noticed that the report in another column of the wages award contains two rather contradictory paragraphs. One reads 'The workman is entitled to get a fair day's wage for a fair day's work.' Then follows at some little distance, the statement, it will be observed, "and it is for the foregoing reasons that under the present conditions and having in view all the surrounding circumstances we thought that the offer of increase made by the officials of the Grand Trunk Railway Company had gone as far as could be justified though not necessarily to the limit which the telegraphers ought to receive under other circumstances." The "other circumstances" are better business. That is what is set out in the preceding statement of the Board's argument. Now the contradiction that we allege to exist consists very plainly in this. The "living wage," is made at first a sine qua non and descanted upon accordingly. But later on it is modified as required by "other circumstances." Altogether we are of opinion that the finding is not up to the reputation of the members of the Board. It is inconclusive and partial in our opinion. Everything standing in the way of sufficient return to coax capital to invest is advised to stand aside. This does not appeal to us as a solution of the difficulty. It is better for the G.T.R. to close up shop than to keep a sweating shop. Altogether the advantages of Public Supervision or Ownership are made the more obvious. We do not wish to score a point for Mr. Borden by straining our conclusion and we do not think we have done so.

THE JAPANESE CASE AGAIN

The Japanese immigration trouble is to the fore again. British Columbia has passed the Natal Act, a proceeding urged upon the Dominion Government by Great Britain at the time Sir Wilfrid asked for participation in the Anglo-Japanese treaty. Sir Wilfrid deliberately and designedly ignored the warning lest the plans of the G.T.P. capitalists should be interfered with in getting cheap foreign labor. Now, we are in the tangle and what will get us out it is hard to say. Japan's promises or rather academic statement of her intentions, etc., have already come to naught. Japs are stealing in again. Steamship companies and Preston are once more at work abroad. The integrity of B.C. is threatened. It is all because of the conspiracy of the Government with the G.T.P. regardless of provincial rights and of our national standing.

EDITORIAL NOTES

We would have preferred to have Mr. Hanna handle the technical school question. His solution of the Prison Labour and Mercer Reformatory problems would indicate that it requires an equally strong and capable hand at the helm of technical and indeed all education if the hopes of the country are to be fulfilled and the wishes of the Conservative party successfully carried out. Such a man as Mr. Hanna has shown himself to be should not be hampered by mere considerations of departmental etiquette.

Mr. Fielding—I repeat the statement that no hon. member of this House has any rights in the procedure except what the majority choose to give them. (Derisive Opposition cheers.)

Mr. Foster—Have you any right to do it?

Mr. Fielding—Yes (Derisive cheering.)

Mr. Foster (with surprise) — You have!

Mr. Fielding—No public assembly can be conducted on any other principle than that the majority shall prevail. If it acts foolishly then it is a matter for public opinion. No member can have any right in the procedure of the House except what the majority affords it.

Mr. Foster—Well, I am very glad the hon. gentleman has come out more strongly than he has before.

Mr. Fielding—Is it true?

Mr. Foster—Absolutely not true. (Loud Opposition cheers.) The Minister in declaring that simply puts his foot on all history and the whole struggle for the rights of free speech.

This amazing confession of weakness by Mr. Fielding, is the logical finish into which the Opposition has forced the Laurier Government in the latter's scramble to avoid investigation and their consequent punishment.

Story of a Business Success

The February number of the "Dry Goods Review," contains the following interesting article;

"The visible assets of R. C. Braund when he arrived in Peterborough fifteen years ago were represented by the munificent sum of dollars and fifty cents. There were, however, in his possession invisible assets, else he would not now be the owner of a business averaging $1000 a week, growing steadily all the time, and city property worth possibly $25000. These invisible assets consisted of a stout heart, a sterling integrity and a determination to succeed.

That he was not in possession of a greater amount of this world's goods when he landed in Peterborough was not due to any spendthrift qualities, nor to lack of industry. He had been an officer in the Salvation Army, and as those who are familiar with the work and life of those so engaged know, the emoluments incidental to it are not conducive to a heavy bank account.

His invisible assets, in the shape of mental resources, however, have stood him in good stead, and by their aid he has built up a business totalling $50,000 a year, from a small beginning in one room in a corner of his residence.

His success stands unrivalled in a city in which the majority of the business houses have been developed from small beginnings. The story of his advancement reads like a romance and is not without its interest for those who, like him, are working to build up successful and prosperous businesses.

Mr. Braund, himself, attributes his success to his buying. He believes that this is altogether the most important end of the business. His schemes, however, for attracting the fickle goddess of success are many, and varied. He does not believing in following set rules and regulations, while admitting that there are fundamental business rules which no business man can afford to ignore.

As has been stated, he arrived in Peterborough with the last half of a five spot in his trousers' pocket. After he had been there a couple of days he was ready to return to Toronto, and would have done so, had his financial condition made it possible. But by this time his little hoard had dwindled to such an extent that he hadn't enough left to buy his ticket. He decided to make the best of the situation and remain —a decision which did not reflect any particular wisdom, since he could not get away.

His first "job," and one which he held for six months, was that of night operator in the office of the Bell Telephone Company, and he received 85 cents a night.

Such an income was productive of little or no financial gain, so he resigned his eleven-hour-a-day job to become the helper in a grocery store. Another half year was spent in this position, and he saved a little money, when he adopted a sensible course and married. Setting up housekeeping, however, was a serious drain on his financial resources. His wedding, though, marked the beginning of a new era in his career. He secured a small house on the corner where his large store now stands, and in a room opening on the street placed a small stock of groceries to begin with, getting the goods from his employer up town. It is a somewhat significant fact that Mr. Braund's business now exceeds considerably that of the store from which he secured the goods to get his start. He still continued to work up town, while his wife attended to the tiny store, so that his wages, together with the profits from the sale of his own goods, produced the capital with which he was able to add to his stock.

At the end of the next year he found that his business had grown to such an extent that it became necessary for him to give his own time to it, and in order to do this, he resigned his position and enlarged his store by taking in another room, and it was at this time that he added dry goods to his stock and this department has been gradually assuming larger proportions, until at the present time it is the most important end of his business, although he handles general lines.

A rule which he has adhered to rigidly throughout his business life has been to buy only such goods as he knew he could pay for within the time specified in which to secure the cash discount, which he has always taken advantage of, regardless of its amount, or the period. In this alone he has saved hundreds of dollars, which a less careful man would have lost.

His first store was an apartment about 20 by 12 feet in a corner of his dwelling, and his first week's business amounted to three dollars and fifteen cents. In six months he was doing a business of $100 a week, and in three years he bought the house. He had made, during the fourteen years since he commenced business seven additions to his store, which is now 86 by 35 feet, and two storeys in height and in it he does a business of $1000 a week on an average, and he states that it is still growing.

Mr. Braund, asked for his recipe for business success, stated his belief that the first requisite is honesty and truthfulness with the public. He always tells the customer, as nearly as he can, the quality of the goods he is selling.

In putting a price on his goods he takes into consideration, not only the cost but the value, in his estimation, to the purchaser. Because two articles happen to cost the same it does not necessarily follow that they should be marked to sell the same.

The problem of buying has been made a study with Mr. Braund, and he attributes his success very largely to the exercise of care in this important feature. He advises his fellow merchants to use their brains more in their buying. He claims that as a result of his care in buying, practically 100 per cent. of his stock is good and very little is carried over one season to the next.

Another factor contributing to his success is his selection of clerks. "I do not look around for the smoothest and most polished clerks," he remarked, "but I aim to get those upon whom I can rely, and who will endeavor to become part of the business, which they are assisting, and which furnishes the means of their subsistence." His clerks are allowed, and, in fact, encouraged, to look over all invoices and books in connection with the business. He places implicit faith in the honesty of his clerks, who are not engaged until he has satisfied himself that they are in possession of these qualifications.

Considerable advertising is done by Mr. Braund and the form which he favors is that of hand bills. He uses the newspapers, but not continuously. This is not because he does not believe in the efficacy of newspaper publicity under ordinary circumstances, but in his particular case he thinks the most direct results come from the hand bills on which he quotes prices, making a leader of an article of acknowledged merit at a price which will at once be recognized as extra value.

EXTRACTS FROM HANSARD

January 10th 1908.

"Mr. Taylor. And Sir John Macdonald when he made that statement told the truth. He was too poor to buy a horse and when he died his estate proved it. All that he left was simply a little fund collected for him by his friends a few years before his death. He did not have the millions that some of the Ministers and ex-Ministers have acquired since they came into power. He died poor and the other members of his Government either died poor or if still living are not in affluent circumstances. Look at the estates which ministers and ex-ministers have rolled up into the millions. They came in poor men and they are walking around to-day with their millions. How was the money made? These parties were satisfied then with attacking Sir John on his expenditure, but they made the country ring from one end to the country to the other because some of the officials of the Canadina Pacific Railway had made Lady Macdonald a present. Let me read from the Globe of July 10th, 1886. This was the mouthorgan of the then opposition—the Liberal party.

It has been rumoured for weeks that the directors of the Canadina Pacific Railway presented to Lady Macdonald a diamond necklace and other ornaments of great value. The lowest price stated was £5,000 sterling or $25,000; some put the price as high as $50,000. It was also rumored that the same gentlemen made a valuable settlement on Sir John Macdonald's daughter. In more than one instance it was stated that this was $250,000 in bonds of the Canadian Pacific Railway. We said nothing of these rumors until they had become so general. They had been tabled over all the platforms in the country by these lentlemen——

—that it became a duty to make such a statement as would enable Sir John Macdonald to contradict them if they were not true or should they prove true would enable the public to understand more fully the character of of the Premier and the nature of the gerat transaction in which he has eben engaged for some years. Sir John Macdonald's' friends have frequently asserted that he has never abused his position to put money in his own purse,——

That was proved when he died; he a poor man.

—that he disregards pecuniary advantages and that when he helps his supporters to defraud or plunder the public, he never takes any share of the booty for himself. He and his supporters may be a band of Corsairs, but he is, they say, a most generous unselfish chief.

Taht is what the Globe said of Sir John Macdonald and it was reiterated on every platform throughout the country and in this House as well.

Blairton Villager's Dream of Greatness May Yet be Realized

In all Probability the Iron Mines Will be Re-opened in the Spring—An Examination is Now Being Made—Ore Will be Shipped to the Canadian Soo

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Feb. 14—It is reported on good authority here that the Blairton Iron Mines will be re-opened once again in the spring of 1908 and that the small village which at one time promised to become a flourishing town will once more be known in the mining world for the vast amount of iron it will produce.

When a town, once lively and business like and well known for miles around has become quiet with nothing doing at all and has sunken into apparent obscurity all at once is surprised by this news that it may become known once more, there is great excitement among the inhabitants. This is the case with the small village of Blairton, once one of the most promising and rising villages in the district, when the iron mines were in operation but of late had been reduced to only a few inhabitants. But now those who reside in that small, yet picturesque village wear a smile on their faces and the hearts of the property owners in the place are filled with gladness, for in all probability the iron mines will be opened in the spring. The opening of the mines will affect many persons in Havelock as several men own property in the neighborhood of the village.

The Blairton iron mines are situated about eight miles from Havelock and about the same from Marmora. They are about three-quarters of a mile north of the Havelock-Marmora road. It is about three miles north of Blairton station. The mines which are in the near neighborhood of the village cover about 25 acres.

When the mines were in operation before, Blairton was one of the most prosperous and gayest towns to be seen. At that time there was a large population and although men and their families were continually flocking in, still there was a demand for laborers. The village soon grew from a few houses to fifty, some of them very large and of the latest design. Stores, blacksmith shops, harness shops and other buildings soon sprang up, as if by magic and it is said that a person who was away for a month did not know the village when he returned. Saw mills were scarce in the village and although there was plenty of timber lumber could not be cut fast enough to supply the demand.

A railway connected Blairton with the docks at Trent Bridge. This railway was kept in continual action even on Sunday for when there was no one to ship there was something else. Machinery for the mines was brought in daily and supplies of provisions and groceries could not be got in fast enough. On the whole it was hard to get goods to Blairton as it was to Cobalt when it first opened up. Nor was it all work for nearly every week during the summer there were excursions of some kind to Trent Bridge and from there to other points by steamboat. Every evening after working hours the lake nearby was crowded with boats filled with the happiest people that ever drew breath in this broad country of ours.

Although the school and church were of fair size they were not large enough to accommodate the large number that attended

But there is a fall to all greatness. The end must come and thus it was with Blairton, when operations at the mines were discontinued There was a general exodus of people and although quite a number remained, they kept gradually dwindling away, until now there are only a few left. There is no weekly excursion, no crowded church or school, no great demand for laborers, and as any person now visiting the place would say, "It is practically dead to the world."

But now it is stated on good authority that the mine will be opened again. Men have been employed at the mines examining it and seeing how much iron it contains and their report which will soon be sent to the company will likely be most favorable as it is thought that iron forms a large percentage of the rock.

When Healey Falls is developed there will be plenty of cheap power and the result will be an electric railway from Blairton to Havelock by which the ore will be carried to this place.

From Havelock it will be shipped by CPR. by the Georgian Bay grain route to Victoria Harbor where it will be sent by steamer to the Canadian Soo. The capitalists who have an option on the Blairton iron mines which are at present owned by Messrs. Pearce of Marmora, have made arrangements with a large steel manufacturing concern presumably that at the Canadian Soo by which the ore mined at Blairton will be bought from the company. A test has been made of its quality and it is pronounced to be of the proper constituents to satisfactorily work in with the Helen Mine ore which the company at the Soo would use in event of securing ore from Blairton.

Menwhile the citizens of Blairton and Havelock wait patiently for proceedings in the matter.

Carnival Was a Success Despite the Bad Weather

Large Number of Skaters and Wide Variety of Costumes at Canadian Order of Foresters' Carnival Last Night—Those Who Entered and the Prizewinners—Particulars of the Event.

In spite of the very inclement weather the 13th annual carnival of the Canadian Order of Foresters was a success in every way. A large number of skaters attired in costumes of almost every conceivable character were in attendance and the ice was in splendid condition when the unfavorable conditions are considered. A good sized gathering of spectators witnessed the carnival, and the 57th Regimental Band provided first-class music.

It is unfortunate that the weather conditions were not more favorable, for had they been there is no doubt that the attendance of both competitors and spectators would have been much larger. Under the circumstances however the event was a gratifying success. Caretaker Jack Thornbeck with his usual good judgment and cautiousness managed to beat out the inconsiderate weather man at his own game, and there was no complaint at all regarding the condition of the ice.

It is somewhat stereotyped to say "Owing to the large number of skaters in costume the judges had a hard time in selecting the prize winners," but nevertheless the expression applies to a nicety to their position last night. There was a confusing of excellent make-ups both fancy and comic and much originality was shown by those entering in the matter of costumes.

Shortly after eight o'clock the skaters began to arrive and in a little while the ice space presented a motley panorama of gayety and color.

The skating races proved interesting although the ice was not keen enough to permit of very fast time being made.

Needs Careful Consideration

Mr. W. H. Moore's Views on the Carnegie Library Proposition

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—The city should of course, have a good library, and a good and convenient building in which to house it, but it is not nearly so clear, that the Carnegie proposal is the one which the city should adopt to secure this end. The subject must indeed have careful consideration before the interminable debt, included in the offer, is incurred.

Suggestions are being made that the city should ask Mr. Carnegie for $30,000, and agree with him to raise by taxation yearly for ever, for upkeep of the library, ten per cent. upon this sum. These are his terms, and they will, if acceded to, create a perpetual annuity charge of $3,000, which based on the value of money at four and one-half per cent., will represent a capital of over $66,000, and at four per cent. of $75,000; and by the public offering for our debentures will be considered to and will in fact form a liability, to the extent of one or other of these amounts depending on which rate is used. I think it would be better to borrow the $30,000, on thirty or forty years' debentures and provide that the city shall make a suitable yearly grant, for maintenance, which with the other well-known sources of income, will place the library board in a prosperous condition. But it is eminently a case for calm thought, before involving ourselves with Mr. Carnegie's benevolence, carrying with it a never ending incumbrance. Most people like to know their debts are paid, sometime.

It will be understood I am not contending for a $30,000 grant; no more, no less, but am using this figuer for illustration only.

Your obedient servant,
W. H. MOORE.

THE AUBURN WHISTLE

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—The Examiner has a letter in it from somebody who fell asleep reading that paper and was woke up by the Auburn mills whistle. The person can't be very old, because in 1878 although the whistle was there, the mill was not going. Now, the complaint is that the whistle is too long. Well, it likely will not be long, long, for if the tariff smashers and timber wolves at Ottawa don't quit there will not be any work. Ninety-five per cent of the woollen mills have had to close their doors lately, and if it wasn't for Mr. Kendry being a smart man there would be no mill here and no whistle long or short to hurt north end. Instead of that there would be groans

The Wife Had Objections

Spirited Argument Between Married Woman and Young Girl

There were some high words for a time at the corner of George and Hunter street last night about eight o'clock, when an East City woman accused a young girl of alienating her husband's affections. A heated argument took place in which the married woman told in no uncertain language her opinion of her enemy.

HISTORY OF THE CANADIAN CLUB MOVEMENT

CHARLES R. McCULLOCH'S OFFICE
Where the Canadian Club idea was put forth on the evening of Dec. 6, 1892.

(Copyrighted, 1908, by M. Epstein.)

BY J. CASTELL HOPKINS, F. S. S.

(Without organized effort, without turmoil of a national conflict, without any special stirring of political life or feeling, the steady growth of Canadian Clubs throughout Canada, has at the beginning of 1908 assumed the form and force of a national movement. They have no very definite platform, no decided purpose of a political kind, no uniform aim excepting a desire for information. Yet in all the centres of Canadian life, these simple, unassuming, non-aggressive organizations have caused a stirring of the dust heaps of political thought, have aroused the keenest interest in various questions of moral, social or constitutional evolution, and have created a thirst for knowledge of public affairs which can only result—if the movement continues—in making the Canadian business and professional man of the future unusually broad in his views and singularly well informed in his facts.

JUDGE HARDY
President Canadian Club, Brantford

The initiation of such a movement is naturally a matter of importance and of just pride to those who contributed to its inception. Until very lately there was no doubt existing as to who deserved all the credit in this connection; recently claims have been made to a share in the honors. To Hamilton however, belongs the unquestioned credit of organizing the first Canadian Club which is still in existance, and to Mr. C. R. McCullough the honor of founding that Club. From Hamilton came the idea and ideal of a banding together of Canadians for the purpose of meeting once a month or oftener, to hear addresses from prominent men of all countries and of and of all opinions upon subjects with which they might be specially familiar. From Hamilton came the personal influences which resulted in Toronto's organization, and from the latter city came the plan of a mid-day luncheon held once a week which ensured the success of the struggling idea and carried it into accomplishment and popular practice. From this basis in Hamilton and Toronto the movement has spread in ten years' time to Montreal and Moncton to Halifax and St. John, to Winnipeg and Brandon, to Regina and Edmonton, to Victoria and Vancouver, to far-away Dawson City the northern outpost of Canadian development.

So far as the movement was originally a national one in the sense of being a faint striving after some form of indefinite 'nationalism' —as distinct from Imperial or British unity though not necessary hostile to that principle—there had been preceding efforts and even contemporary action. The National Club, of Toronto was formed in 1875, with Dr. Goldwin Smith as its president, Mr. W. H. Howand as one of its founders and the spirit of national independence as a sort of elastic environment—which is now only a memory. The St. Jean Baptiste Societies of French Canada have long had a place in the evolution of sentiment in Quebec. The League Nationale Canadienne is a latter-day product of French thought and the activities of Mr. Bourassa. The Canadian National League, in Montreal, was organized by Mr. W. D. Lightfall in 1893, at the very time the Hamilton Canadian Club was being formed, and letters describing the objects of each organization actually crossed in the mails. The League had the following platform;

"To advance and maintain our national unity and integrity to disseminate a spirit of patriotism, to promote an interest in citizenship, its duties and rights, to spread a knowledge of Canadian history and resources and other like objects."

As this league never had the luncheon or weekly meeting idea and is not now alive in its original form it cannot take any laurels from Hamilton. The recently made Guelph claim is a more important matter. It is now asserted in letters before me, and in newspaper correspondence, that a Canadian Club was formed there in 1888 by Mr. Malcolm MacCormick, B.A.; that it lasted several years; and that as the Hamilton Club was not organized until 1893, the former was really the parent organization. A banquet was held in Guelph on December 6th, last, to celebrate the nineteenth aniversary of the original Canadian Club, and amongst the guests were Professor McGillivray, of Kingston, and Mr. H. K. Cockin, of Guelph, who were toasted as honorary members of the club in its early history.

MR. CHARLES R. M'CULLOCH

As against this claim is the fact that the club was in any case out of existence when the Hamilton organization was founded; that Messrs. C. R. McCullough and W. Sanford Evans and other well-known pioneers in the Hamilton movement had never heard of such a club. That missionary efforts were made by the Council of Canadian Clubs in 1899 to organize a Club in Guelph and that Mr. Galbraith, of the Mercury of that city, promised his aid in the movement; that the institution founded in 1889 was more or less a literary society; that a Canadian Club was organized in Guelph on Feb. 14th, 1907, with Mr. G. C. Creelman, president of the Ontario Agricultural College as its president, and without any reference in the report of the Guelph Herald as to existence of a preceding club. The claim is, therefore, interesting but at present writing decidedly vague.

The Canadian Club in Hamilton was initiated at a meeting in the office of Mr. McCullough, on Dec. 6th, 1892. Those present were the convenor and Messrs. James Ferres, John T. Hall, George D. Fearman, W. Sanford Evans and Henry Carpenter. It was decided to form a society called the Canadian Club for the cultivation of Canadian patriotic sentiment and the study of Canadian history, literature, art and resources. There was to be no party politics in its composition or work and the delivery of addresses by representative men was to be vasional organization took place on Feb. 1st, 1893, and the officers were elected at a public meeting on Feb. 15th. They included Sanford Evans as president; James Ferres, Thomas Morrison jr., and Geo. Lynch-Staunton as vice-presidents; Stuart Livingston as literary correspondent; J. H. Land as treasurer, and C. R. McCullough as secretary. Some oft the pioneer members of the Club were Adam Brown, A. T. Freed, F. R. Hutton, Lieut.-Col. J. S. Hendrie, A. H. H. Heming, W. A. Sherwood, F. M. Pratt, Senator Sanford, the Rev. J. H. Long and R. E. A. Land. The presidents since organization have been as follows:—

LADY DRUMMOND
President Women's Canadian Club Montreal.

1893—W. Sanford Evans.
1894—Dr. D. G. Storms.
1895—C. R. McCullough.
1896—Stuart Livingston.
1897—Kirwan Martin.
1898—F. F. McPherson.
1899—Kirwan Martin.
1900—A. E. Manning.
1901—R. A. Robertson.
1902—J. S. Gordon.
1903—D. M. Cameron.
1904—D. M. Cameron.
1905—John T. Hall.
1906—J. H. Smith.

From Hamilton radiated an ever-increasing influence. Early members of the club, such as S. E. B. Morrison, moved to Ottawa, and no doubt aided in the formation of the club there. So with Mr. James Ferres in Montreal, Mr. J. P. Casey in St. Catharines, Mr. W. Brooks in Galt, and Mr. Sanford Evans in Toronto and afterwards Winnipeg. The club was incorporated on June 25, 1894, with the following as its announced platform, though the permanent room idea was abandoned after a brief trial.

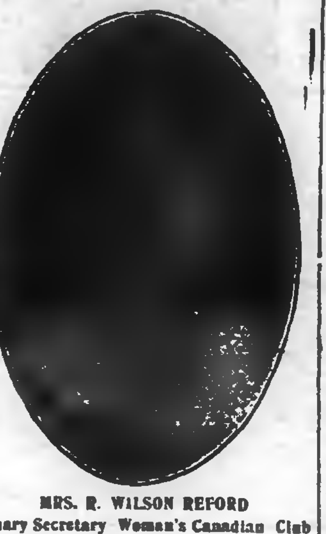
"The purpose of the club is the encouragement of the study of the history, literature, art, music and natural resources of Canada, the recognition of native worth and talent, the fostering of a patriotic sentiment, and the maintenance of club rooms or permanent headquarters, in premises owned or leased by the club."

Starting upon a small scale, the club soon had 700 members, though those figures are now greatly reduced. Its earlier speakers included many local men of high standing, and, later on, men of the rank of Sir Oliver Mowat, Hall Caine, and Sir Gilbert Parker addressed the organization. An exhibition of Canadian pictures was held, various essays were read covering a wide range of subjects, a steel flagstaff was presented to the city, and Mr. J. H. Smith initiated a plan for the flying of flags upon the schoolhouses of Wentworth County.

In 1897 Mr. Sanford Evans went to live in Toronto, and at once endeavored to organize a Canadian Club in that city. It was not an altogether easy task. A national sentiment or ideal which could be at once Canadian and British was not as yet understood and there was a tendency to look askance at the new "nationalism" as being a little dangerous. However Mr. Evans kept at it; some preliminary meetings were held in October and November, including a banquet of about a hundred persons, at which the speeches did not err on the side of Imperialism, and on Nov. 16 an organization meeting resulted in a constitution being adopted with the following principles;

"It is the purpose of the club to foster patriotism by encouraging the study of the institutions, history, arts, literature and resources of Canada and by endeavoring to unite Canadians in such work for the welfare and progress of the Dominion as may be desireable and expedient."

Mr. John A. Cooper was elected president, Messrs. Sanford Evans and Neil McCrimmon, vice-presidents, Mr. W. H. Moore, literary correspondent, Mr. A. H. Beaton, secretary, and Mr. C. A. B. Brown treasurer. The membership included men of all kinds of political and public thought and the roll for 1897-8 numbered 55; in 1907 it was about 1,200. In 1898 Mr. A. E. Huestis became secretary of the club, and remained in that capacity with great success until the past year when he was succeeded by Mr. J. H. W. Mackie. The club early adopted the principle of a weekly luncheon addressed by some representative Canadian or some prominent visitor, for a limited period of half an hour, and in 1903-4 commenced to publish its proceedings. The speakers during these years dealt with every conceivable variety of subject and personal opinion. Amongst the Canadian speakers were such men as the Hon. G. W. Ross, the Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, Colonel Denison, Mr. W. F. Maclean, M.P., Sir Sandford Fleming, Sir T. G. Shaughnessy, the Hon. J. Israel Tarte, the Hon. G. E. Foster, the Hon. Clifford Sifton, Mr. J. S. Ewart, K.C., Mr. H. B. Ames, M.P., Dr. Goldwin Smith, Mr. C. Marcil, M.P., Mr. C. M. Hays, Professor S. B. Leacock, Mr. B. E. Walker, Mr. J. S. Willison, Mr. H. Bourassa, M.P., the Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Mr. Ralph Smith, M.P., and Dr. W. F. Grenfell. Earl Grey was the guest of a special banquet on Nov. 29, 1906. From Great Britain came the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Rt. Hon. John Morley, the Rt. Hon. James Bryce, Dr. William Osler, H. Rider Haggard, M.P., General Booth, and Rudyard Kipling. Some United States speakers were Booker T. Washington, President Elliot of Harvard, James H. Eckels, and Andrew Carnegie. The presidents of the club during this period were as follows;



MRS. R. WILSON REFORD
Honary Secretary Woman's Canadian Club Montreal.

1898-9—W. Sanford Evans.
1899-00—George Wilkie.
1900-01—W. E. Rundle.
1901-2—S. Casey Wood.
1902-3—D. Bruce Macdonald.
1903-4—W. R. P. Parker.
1904-5—George A. Howell.
1905-6—E. R. Peacock.
1906-7—Mark H. Irish.
1907-8—John Turnbull.

An historical event was the banquet tendered to Mr. Aylesworth on Nov. 2, 1903, upon his return from the Alaskan Boundary Tribunal. The profound stirring of public opinion in that matter found expression in a tenseness of feeling regarding the dinner, which resulted afterwards in the formation of the Empire Club a a protest against the supposed spirit of the demonstration, and in grave fears at the time as to the outcome of the affair. In point of fact a huge British flag was prominent, the speech was moderate in tone, and the demonstration harmless. Since then, neither in Toronto nor elsewhere, has there been any talk of the Canadian Club, or clubs, being likely to foster any sentiment but the best Canadianism or to become anything but a medium for informing our people upon a wide range of public questions and problems of social development.

The influence of such organizations as those of Hamilton and Toronto could not but grow as the years passed by. A Canadian Club was formed at Galt by Messrs. A. R. Goldie and W. Brooks, and another in Ottawa in 1903, with Lieut.-Colonel A. P. Sherwood, C.M.G., as president. He was succeeded in 1904-5 by Mr. W. L. Mackenzie King, in 1905-6 by Dr. J. D. Courtney, in 1906-7 by Mr. Plunket B. Taylor, and in 1907-8 by Mr. H. P. Hill. An immense number of prominent men have addressed this club including many of those already mentioned and others, such as Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Earl of Dundonald, the Earl of Minto, Sir F. W. Borden, M.P., Sir Howard Vincent, Earl Grey, H.S.H. Prince Louis of Battenburg, Dr. W. H. Drummond, Sir Gilbert Parker, Mr. J. H. Choate,

Straus, United States Secretary of Commerce and Labor, was the speaker on July 14, 1907, as was Mr Kipling on Oct. 7. The club in Victoria had as its first president 1906-7, Mr. A. W. McCurdy, with Frank I Clark as secretary. This organization passed a strong resolution on Oct. 23rd, 1907, urging the first president and Pierre Beulac in 1906-7. Mr. W. T. Stead was a prominent speaker during 1907. Rudyard Kipling, the Bishop of Sligo and Donald Macmaster, K.C., were also guests during that year. The Winnipeg organization has been specially active. Mr. Lemieux Gives Explanation In the House of Commons

Changes in Postal Regulations Come Before the House.

Were Designed to Keep Out Undesirable Publications—Restrictons Relaxed on Legitimate Newspapers—National Spirit Developed — Mr. Clements Calls Attention to Immigration Question In Ontario.

Ottawa, Feb. 15.—On orders of the day being called yesterday afternoon in the House, Postmaster-General Lemieux rose to answer the enquiry of Mr. Armstrong (Lambton) as to changes in the postal regulations with regard to second-class matter. Up to July of last year, he said the postoffices of the two countries had an arrangement for carrying mail of this class at rates in effect in the country of origin. The Department found the number of newspapers and periodicals placing a heavy burden on the service, and besides a national spirit had developed in Canada and representatives went to Washington to arrange for a change in the regulations, with the result that rates on this class were increased to 4 cents a pound.

The rate had been one-half-a-cent and Canada had been a great sufferer because of classification of United States authorities, which recognized a type of newspaper which, according to our ideas, was not a newspaper. New regulations were brought into effect last year, but he found that the great trouble was not the daily newspapers, and it was decided to relax the regulations by giving legitimate daily newspapers of both countries access to the mails at the rate of one cent a pound.

Mr. Armstrong asked what object was gained by not giving the same rate to the weekly or semi-weekly papers.

Purged of Nasty Literature.

Mr. Lemieux said the postoffice was obliged to accept only such weeklies and periodicals as came under our classification. By this classification the country had been purged of a great deal of nasty literature. He went on to say that on representations being made last year, that the new regulations worked a hardship on magazine publishers, inasmuch as subscriptions were fixed at a rate to cover the old postage, it was decided to remit the difference in postage up to the first of this year.

Claude Macdonell mentioned the practice of United States publishers, of sending in loose leaves to be bound in Canada under the regulations. These bore the imprint of a Canadian publisher, but only the binding was done here, and this practice was unjust to the Canadian printing trade.

Mr. Lemieux said the rate on this class was raised in May last.

Dr. Worthington (Sherbrooke) thought there should be an exception in favor of technical magazines, but the Postmaster-General pointed out that those could be sent to Canada and remailed to subscribers at the rate of one cent a pound.

The Opposition leader referred to the decision to reimburse the magazine publishers for their extra outlay on postage. If that were the proper method, might it not be applied in the case of the manufacturer, whose business was injured by a change in the tariff.

Mr. Borden did not think there had been any change in the character of some of the United States dailies entering Canada, and hoped when the Postmaster-General attempted to reform regulations again he would give the matter full consideration.

David Henderson (Halton) hoped that when the Postmaster-General reduced the rate on drop letters in cities he would also consider rural municipalities.

Unsuitable Immigration.

Mr. Clements of West Kent drew attention to the class of immigration to Western Ontario.

He alluded to the return moved for by Mr. Gordon, to which Y. S. Waugh, the immigration agent in Kent, told of an immigrant who, when asked if he could talk, said "no," as he had never seen a cow. He said he had opposed the North Atlantic Trading Co.'s contract and on the same principle he opposed large expenditure for immigration to Ontario. There should be no misrepresentation to intending immigrants. For himself he had all sympathy for the pitiful condition of many of those misguided immigrants. "We could have taken care of a few," said Mr. Clements, "but when they come in by the carload it becomes a serious matter."

Kind Words For Mr. Waugh.

Mr. Gordon of East Kent read a number of letters from immigrants near Chatham highly recommending the efforts of Agent Waugh. Mr. Gordon even congratulated the Department of the Interior and its agents on placing the large number they had last year.

Mr. Clements asked if the hon. member approved of placing the large number that were dumped into Kent County.

Mr. Gordon replied that he was credibly informed a large number had been placed by others than the Government agent.

Uriah Wilson referred to G. Miller, an extremely partisan Liberal, who had last year received $200 for placing immigrants, and who, it was said, had taken money from persons for procuring them help. Mr. Wilson also criticized the alleged action of Agent Miller in neglecting to look after a number of immigrants who had arrived in Napanee upon a wet and stormy night.

J. S. H. Bergeron criticised the translation of titles of private and public acts of Parliament. He quoted several instances which bore out his complaint of lack of uniformity.

Mr. Borden also cited instances of lack of uniformity of rendering in the translation of titles.

Sir Wilfrid admitted there was lack of uniformity, but observed that translations could not be got to agree on the correct rendering of certain words or phrases.

Mr. Borden suggested that at least they might get together and agree upon terms.

Mr. Leich's Appointment.

Dr. Roche (Marquette) again called attention to the appointment of R. E. G. Leich in connection with the distribution of seed grain in Alberta and Saskatchewan and asked what his duties were to be.

Mr. Oliver said Leich was inspector of Dominion land agencies and could ascertain who were the real homesteaders. For that reason it was thought he might be placed in charge of seed grain distribution.

Dr. Thompson gave verbal notice that on Friday next he would discuss the treaty-making powers of the Dominion and move on going into supply that Canada be consulted on all matters affecting her interests.

The House spent the evening in committee of supply, but progress was slow. Mr. Jackson (Elgin) described a trip of a couple of Cabinet Ministers, accompanied by a score of Liberal politicians, to bye-elections meetings. They used the Government cruiser Vigilant.

Mr. Bennett feared the Government would want people to pay for horses and carriages for their election campaigns. Had the Vigilant a piano on board Being answered in the negative, Mr. Bennett said the Minister was behind the times, for Mr. Hyman, who was a merry soul, had one on the Government yacht Paeny, together with a mahogany table costing $100, and other elaborate furniture.

By what right did the Government use the people's cruisers for their election expeditions asked Dr. Sproule.

"By right of majority," suggested Bennett.

"The majority on cruiser," added Dr. Sproule.

Then the item under consideration passed.

At the request of Claude Macdonell the Hamilton Radial Electric Railway Co. bill was laid over till Monday. The bill was down for consideration in committee of the whole.

An act to incorporate the Ruthenian Catholic Mission of the Order of St. Basil the Great in Canada was finally passed.

Quebec Bridge Damage.

Ottawa, Feb. 15.—Senator Landry called attention of the Upper Chamber to the report from Quebec that the main pier of Quebec bridge was liable to damages by ice, owing to the fact that the wreck of superstructure was still adhering to it.

Hon. Mr. Scott said he would bring the matter to the attention of his colleagues. If the company did not take steps to protect the pier, which cost a good deal of money, the Government should do something.

Roblin Defends Purchase.

Winnipeg, Feb. 15.—In a sensational speech in the Legislature Hon. R. P. Roblin made a bitter attack on Rev. Dr. Duval, pastor of the Presbyterion Church, for stating in an interview that the Government paid too much for the Bell telephone system.

He stated that Expert Dagger, who had first made the charge, was discharged by the Government for incompetency.

Appeal For Autocracy.

Moscow, Feb. 15.—The nobility, in congress assembled in Moscow yesterday, adopted, by an overwhelming majority, a Loyalist address to the Emperor, dwelling upon the dangers of the present system of Government and concluding with a virtual appeal for the restoration of autocracy.

Smallpox at Vancouver.

Vancouver, B.C., Feb. 15.—Two cases of suspected smallpox were removed to the city pesthouse yesterday from a Water street boardinghouse frequented by longshoremen. The authorities took prompt and vigorous measures to prevent the spread of the disease.

EMMA GOLDMAN AT MONTREAL.

Says Carlos Was Oppressor and Had to Be Removed.

Montreal, Feb. 15.—The famous anarchist, Emma Goldman, showed up here yesterday to the great surprise of her friends, but they at once started in to organize a demonstration. She will deliver three lectures, two in Yiddish and one on Sunday next in English.

Miss Goldman started in to say that while she did not approve of the murder of King Carlos, that monarch had placed himself against the people and had to be removed. All oppressors of the people and robbers of the constitution will, she opines, suffer in the same way.

Carlos Escaped Bomb.

Lisbon, Feb. 15.—It has been learned that a bomb was found under the landing stage where King Carlos landed on the day of the assassination. It had failed to explode because of a defect in the fuse.

A number of persons have called at the late home of Bulca, one of the dead assassins, to give money to his mother-in-law for the support of his children.

Shortly before the crime Bulca had competed with the King in a shooting match, beating His Majesty by several points.

Back to Jail Again.

London, Feb. 15.—Mrs. Pankhurst, the well-known leader of the women suffragists, and the other delegates of the organization who were arrested Thursday when they attempted to make a demonstration in the House of Commons, all went to jail yesterday for a term of six weeks rather than give sureties for their good behavior.

Woman Run Over.

Ottawa, Feb. 15.—Grand Trunk mixed train No. 81, going east from Golden Lake to Madawaska at 11.20 o'clock yesterday morning, ran over and crushed the body of a woman lying on the tracks eight miles from Killaloe. It is at present difficult to identify the woman.

Cordite Inspector's Suicide.

London, Feb. 15.—(C.A.P.)—Capt. J. H. Thompson, chief inspector of explosives, who was special commissioner on cordite in Canada in 1891, committed suicide. He suffered from nervous trouble.

Dean of New York Fire Fighters Meets Death in Dark Cellar

Heroic Fire Chief Goes to Death Through Trap Door.

Grand Old Man of New York Fire Department Drowned—Fought His Way Through Smoke and Deadly Fumes — Firemen Made Gallant Effort to Save Their Leader—Blaze Cost $50,000.

New York, Feb. 5.—Deputy Chief Charles W. Kruger, known for many years as "The Grand Old Man of the Fire Department," lost his life yesterday while leading his men in a desperate fight against flames in Canal street.

While working his way cautiously through a cellar filled with smoke and gases, Kruger plunged through a trap door into a sub-basement filled with water. He was dead when taken out, but in the few minutes which elapsed between the time the old man fell and his body was drawn out, more than a score of men had risked their own lives in an effort to save that of their leader.

"I knew it would happen this way," said one of Kruger's men when the chief's body was being carried away. "I have been to many fires with him. He was always in the lead. He never said, 'Boys go into that place or this place,' he always led us himself. He said, 'Boys follow me.' And that's just what he said this time when he led us into that basement."

36 Years a Fire-Fighter.

Kruger was 57 years old, and had been a member of the department for 36 years. Several years ago Kruger was acting chief of the department for a time while Chief Croker was temporarily under suspension.

The fire started at 217 Canal street and before it had been subdued swept that building from basement to roof, spread to two buildings adjoining, routed the tenants from several surrounding tenement houses and threatened the Church of the Most Precious Blood, in Baxter street.

It was after the flames in the upper part of the building had been brought under control, that Kruger took his men to the basement. A great pile of excelsior in bales was blazing furiously, and attempts to reach it with streams from the street had been unsuccessful. After several attempts to get at the fire from the outside, Kruger asked permission of Chief Croker to take his men through the basement of 215 and cut a hole through the wall to 217, where the fire was burning. Croker consented, and a moment later, with a dozen men behind him, Kruger plunged into the cellar.

The place was filled with smoke, and the deadly fumes of illuminating gas which flowed from broken or melted pipes, but the men pressed cautiously forward in the darkness. Just in the middle of the cellar Kruger stepped on a trap and plunged into six feet of water in the sub-basement.

Heroic Work.

Then began a desperate fight in the gas-filled cellar to save the chief. He could do little to help himself, and when Battalion Chief Galvin plunged into the dark hole and raised the old man's head above the surface he was unconscious. It required the combined efforts of twenty firemen, weakened as they were by breathing smoke and gas, to draw Galvin, who still clung to Kruger's body, from the pit.

The property loss as a result of the fire is placed at $50,000.

Farmer Shot Dead.

Huntington, W.Va., Feb. 15.—Because of his interference with the plans for the marriage of his sister, Henry Bean, a prosperous young farmer living at Prichard, was shot through the head and instantly killed by Virgil Haman, the young woman's fiance. HOWLED AT SPEAKER.

Japanese Members Caused a Riot In House of Representatives.

Tokio, Feb. 14.—After an exciting debate lasting six hours, which developed into a riot on the floor of the House of Representatives, the financial budget was passed by a majority of 192. Speaking on both sides occupied a long time, and towards the last they howled at the chair and charged favoritism, the Opposition members demanding an apology.

The chair suspended the session for half an hour, and upon resuming the chair apologized handsomely to the Opposition.

Impressive speeches were made during the debate, all making a point of the feature that more than one-half of the budget was expended in armaments. It was also urged that the financial measures of the Government did not contain provisions to prevent an outflow of gold, while the balance of trade had a tendency against Japan, fear being expressed that the basis of the gold reserve might be endangered. Upon the side of the Ministry the principal speakers eloquently argued that it was both unwise and dangerous to publicly discuss the nation's finances from a pessimistic standpoint, thereby creating unnecessary alarm abroad. He called attention to the natural resources of Japan, which were only awaiting development by cheap capital.

JAPS IN QUARANTINE.

As a Result a Conflict Over the Natal Act Will Follow.

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 14.—A conflict in the courts over the Natal Act seems imminent. One hundred and seventy Japs are now being detained in quarantine here. Failing to pass educational test in the new act, they are likely to be excluded. Should this happen the action of the provincial authorities a conflict will result.

The Japanese consul will not only claim rights under the treaty, but also that their arrival and detention in quarantine happened two days before the Natal Act passed, the act does not apply.

The steamship companies are also likely to refuse to accept the rejected immigrants, the companies being under the Federal and not the Provincial immigration regulations. The penalty is $500, imprisonment in default for violation of the act by immigrant or person or corporation assisting him to evade it.

Martin Roasts Laurier.

Victoria, B.C., Feb. 14—The Laurier and McBride Governments on the Asiatic question were roundly condemned by former Attorney-General Joseph Martin before a crowded meeting of the Asiatic Exclusion League last night.

Martin declared Laurier should have given notice of the abrogation of the treaty when Japan last year broke her pledge given by Nosse, when the Japanese treaty was adopted. Lemieux's assurances contained no definite promise by Japan. The Ottawa Government was flim-flammed by Baron Hayashi's letter.

Premier Laurier should accept Chamberlain's advice and pass the Federal Natal Act. He declines to do this, and disallows the British Columbia Natal Act to please his corporation and commercial friends.

McBride was blamed for retaining office after the refusal of Dunsmuir to assent to last year's act. The Speaker was wrong in deciding the official actions of a Lieutenant-Governor could not be discussed in the House. Finally both Ottawa and Victoria Governments should be turned out.

Archbishop Obdurate.

Montreal, Feb. 14.—Since Archbishop Bruchesi placed the ban on mixed marriages, eighteen applications have been made to him for dispensations. Miss De Lery Macdonald, unable to secure a dispensation to be married to A. Shepherd by a Catholic priest, will be married by a Protestant minister, and the ceremony will take place during the Lenten season, a time proscribed by the Catholic Church. Miss Macdonald is a relative of Sir W. C. Macdonald, the tobacco king.

Nova Scotia Legislature.

Halifax, N.S., Feb. 14.—The Provincial Legislature opened yesterday afternoon. The Lieutenant-Governor's speech was not lengthy. It referred to the past year as "one of continued general prosperity throughout the Dominion, and to Nova Scotia's success as having rewarded the industry of the people.

There was nothing in the nature of new legislation proposed.

Asphyxiated While Thieving.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 14.—Martha Brady and John Bertolet were asphyxiated here Wednesday while trying to extract money from a quarter-in-the-slot meter which had been wrenched from its fastenings. The man had been drinking heavily.

SHOT WIFE, THEN HIMSELF.

Domestic Tragedy at Toronto—Woman May Recover.

Toronto, Feb. 15.—Jas. Feehely, 30 years of age, shot and seriously wounded his wife, and then turning his weapon upon himself, put a bullet in his head at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The woman will recover.

The double shooting took place over a little grocery store purchased and kept by the woman at 63 Euclid avenue. Feehely had been ordered out of the place by his wife a week ago Wednesday becaus he was ruining the business by his discourteous treatment of customers, and strained family relations.

He appeared at the grocery store yesterday morning. Shaking hands with Dorwen Turner, his wife's 18-year-old son by a former marriage, he bade him good-bye, saying that he was going away. He was sober and the youth noticed nothing unusual in his behavior.

He then went upstairs to see his wife, who was still in bed. Entering he pleaded with her to allow him to return to the household, but was refused. He argued for some time, sitting on the foot of the bed. At last he said, "I am on the street. Will you not take me in and save my life?"

She replied that he was a young man and could work. She said that they could not get along together. He had been turned out four times previously. He rose as if to go, buttoning up his coat. His wife turned her back upon him, and a moment later she was shot.

A Marrying Scoundrel.

Berlin, Feb. 15.—A bogus American, "Colonel" Schiemangk, has been sentenced by the Criminal Court to three years' imprisonment, the loss of his civil rights for five years after his release, and to perpetual police supervision, as well as to pay a fine of $300, Schiemangk having been convicted of wholesale marriage swindles by means of advertisement, whereby he succeeded in obtaining considerable sums of money from women.

Schiemangk was born in Germany, but served in the First Artillery, U.S.A. He was promoted to non-commissioned officer, but finally deserted. He is an accomplished linguist.

During last year says a Home Office return ,there were 1.556 fatal accidents in the mines and quarries of the United Kingdom. as compared 1,065 in 1906. The deths numbered 1,239 in 1907 and 1.142 in 1906.

Courier Lithographing Co. at Buffalo Suffer $250,000 Loss.

Times' Pressroom Also Extensively Damaged—Several Explosions During the Fire—Big Blaze at Athens Destroys Three Large Stores—Two Residences Burned—Bank In Danger—Theatre Panic.

Buffalo, N.Y., Feb. 15.—Fire which broke out on the fourth floor of the plant of the Courier Lithographing Co., 197 Main street, and extending through to 204 Washington street, yesterday, caused a loss estimated at $250,000. The plant is one of the largest of its kind in the country. Just after the fire was discovered there was a series of explosions, supposed to have resulted from the fire communicating with certain explosives used in the art department.

The press department of The Buffalo Evening Times adjoining was damaged to the extent of $30,000. The Evening News has offered The Times the use of its presses and The Times will be run off to-day from The News' presses.

Besides the large quantity of valuable machinery in The Courier building the company had just finished the plates for a $180,000 contract for circus posters, and these were in an annex which was wrecked.

The Baker-Jones Printing Co. suffered a loss of $50,000, and the R. H. Thompson Paper Co. $10,000.

Brockville, Feb. 15.—Thursday night at 11 o'clock the village of Athens, the home of A. E. Donovan, M.P.P., suffered a $30,000 loss by fire in the heart of its business district. The fire started in a tinshop, and before long three fine stores and two dwellings were destroyed, together with their contents.

The Farmers' Bank was damaged also. The loss will total about $30,000. All the buildings were the property of William Parish, a retired merchant of that place.

Medicine Hat, Alta., Feb. 15.—Thursday night fire broke out in the Edison Theatre, causing a panic. The building was entirely gutted, and damage was done to about the extent of $2,000. Charles Ness, the owner of the threatre, who was operating the moving picture machine, was badly injured.

Willie and the Whumps.

By W. F. BRYAN.

Copyright, 1907, by M. M. Cunningham.

"What are whumps?" demanded William, his infant soul thirsting for information.

"Whumps," replied Tim Mason, "are beings like men, but they are all clockwork inside."

"That winds up?" interrupted Willie. "Winds up with a key?"

"With a big key," assented Mason with inspiration. "They steal little boys and make the little boys wind them up every half hour day and night. When the little boys are so tired that they can't wind any more they eat them and then steal some more little boys."

"Clocks don't eat," scoffed the infant scientist.

"You have to oil them, don't you?" defended Tim. "That's it," he went on as Willie nodded assent. "They only eat very fat little boys."

Willie glanced at his own plump person and then looked up in alarm. "Can they run fast—faster'n me?" he demanded.

"How fast can you run?" demanded Tim, with a glance at the oval path around the lawn. Accepting the hint, Willie traversed the oval as rapidly as his pudgy feet could carry him.

"They can run three times as fast as that," declared Tim. "Come to think it over, some of the whumps can run three and a half times faster."

"Then I won't run away into the woods again," promised Willie, and he trotted solemnly around the corner of the house to play in the sand heap in the back yard.

Bess Farley dimpled deliciously as he disappeared.

"It was all I could do to keep my face straight," she said, with a laugh. "I don't think we will lose Willie again as long as we stay in camp. It was an inspiration, Tim, but what would the president say?"

"I'd go to join the nature fakirs," was the laughing reply; "but, at any rate, I shall not have to waste afternoons hunting for Willie that might be far more pleasantly spent on the porch with his sister. Getting lost in the woods eight times in two weeks betokens that the wanderlust is becoming a habit with the youthful William."

"A habit to be checked only by the whumps," assented Bess. "Let's walk as far as the spring and see if we can see any of the curious beasts. I suppose I need fear no danger?"

She glanced complacently at her slender outlines, and Mason smiled. "You wouldn't grease one pinion of one wheel of a whump," he said. "So let us pursue the whumps to their lair."

Together they left the camp and pushed into the woods—those woods which so irresistibly attracted Bess Farley's small brother. It was Willie's first season in camp, and his voyage of exploration invariably resulted in lost bearings and a rescue party. Confident that the fabulous whumps would keep the youngsters at home, Tim and Bess made their way to the spring with no thought of Willie. But his sand toys soon palled upon the boy, and his active mind sought fresh employment. He wandered over to the edge of the inviting woods and gazed lovingly into the cool green pastures.

In the trees the squirrels chatted, and he could hear the frogs croaking solemnly in the marsh just beyond the road. Perhaps if he was very cautious he might evade the dreaded whumps. He was such a little fellow, he might be able to hide if they chanced his way.

There was a lovely big green bullfrog in the marsh. Perhaps even now he was sitting on a tuft of grass fairly begging a small boy to throw stones at him. With the delightful feeling of adventure Willie cast discretion to the wind and slipped into the shady spaces.

But no big frog was amiably waiting to become a target. Willie could hear them croaking, but not even a baby frog offered itself to his aim, and the boy wandered on. He found a new charm in the woods, since at any moment he might be called upon to flee from a whump, and he pressed onward.

Suddenly his heart stood still for one awful instant. From the bushes just beyond came a sound of voices suddenly raised in hue and cry. Willie dodged behind the bush, scarcely daring to breathe lest his respirations bring about his discovery, but the sounds died away in the distance, and, growing bolder, Willie crept forward and beheld the lair of the whumps.

It was a rather inviting spot, not at all what one would expect in the clockwork beasts. Three white tents were pitched in a little glade opening to the [illegible]. On the shore were boats and canoes, while about the tents were easy chairs of rustic manufacture.

The only fearful object was a kettle swinging from a tripod over the fire. This probably contained the last victim of the whumps' canabalistic tendencies, and Willie shuddered as he thought how narrowly he had escaped a similar fate. He was still congratulating himself upon his safety when without warning some of the whumps burst into the open, and Willie's blood chilled as he saw that they bore as captives Bess and Tim. The latter were brave. They were both laughing and joking and trying to pretend that they did not care, but that was all make believe, Willie knew.

One of the whumps forced Bess into a chair and another forced upon her a reddish drink that they drew from a bottle submerged in the spring. That must be poison that they gave their victims to render them unconscious. One dreadful little moment Willie hesitated, then he burst into the open.

"Please, Mr. Whump!" he called, precipitating himself upon the man who was trying to make his sister drink. "Please don't kill Bess! Let her go and take me. I'll wind you up. Honest I will. You don't want her. She is such a skinny thing."

A roar of laughter greeted his appearance, and Bess blushed redly at his personal allusion. The campers were puzzled, but in French Mason explained the bugbear that had been created to keep Willie out of the woods.

"It's a shame to tease him," cried Bess, touched by the boy's willingness to sacrifice himself for her. "These are not whumps, Willie."

"Yes, they are," he insisted. "I can hear the clockwork ticking." He was clinging to the leg of Bess' captor, Jim Brace, and after one quick glance the biggest of the whumps caught the situation. "He hears Brace's dollar watch," he explained as he rolled in the grass in his glee and his fellows howled with delight. That dollar watch had been a standing joke ever since they had come in camp.

Brace smiled as a sudden thought struck him. "I am a whump," he admitted. "I am the chief, or mug whump. There is but one means of escape from my awful power. It is well known that whumps never eat persons who are married or engaged to be married. I must ask this lady if she is a bride or a bride to be."

"Neither," said Bess firmly, with a defiant glance at Tim. She knew that the boat club boys had guessed Tim's admiration for her. Indeed, it was an open secret to all. When the boat club boys had caught sight of the pair making their way to the spring and had laughingly captured them and carried them off to camp she had been rather glad of the interruption, for Tim for the hundredth time had been pleading his cause. She liked him—to herself she confessed that she loved him—but she was unwilling to assent to an engagement. This seemed painfully like a forced issue.

But Willie was determined to save her life. "You can be engaged," he insisted, with a glance at Tim. "Please, Bess, for my sake." "And mine, too," pleaded Tim, leaning against the chair. "Please, dear." Bess looked at Brace. "I am engaged," she said to the mug whump.

When the cheering had subsided and every one had shaken hands with Tim, Brace turned to Willie.

"In consideration of the great service you have rendered one of our members," he said solemnly, "I as mug whump tender you the freedom of the forest. You will not even have to wind my watch, which is an all day job for a grown man."

"I'm so glad," said Willie beamingly, and Bess and Tim silently echoed the sentiment.

A Kaffir and a Beating.

Just as a Kaffir is slow in locating pain which is being experienced in his own body, so is he slow in imagining what others are suffering. A grownup Kaffir related, says Dudley Kidd in "Savage Childhood," that when he was a child his father threatened him with a beating if he did something or other.

The child was puzzled as to what sort of thing a beating might be, for, although he had often seen his bigger brothers beaten, his imagination was unable to work on the sight and reconstruct the experience of these others into terms of his own senses.

When his father threatened him, therefore, he simply laughed, for he had not the remotest idea of how a beating really felt. It took a very short time for the young gentleman to extend the boundaries of his knowledge.

Swift retribution followed the unpardonable sin of showing disrespect to his father. As the children go about entirely bare, there was no delay for preparation. The father took a stick and applied it vigorously, "according to directions," and with entire success.

"When the tears and smarting were over," said the Kaffir in his old age, "I sat down and thought it over. 'Well,' I said to myself, 'now I know what father means by a beating. I don't know what is the reason of it; but, anyhow, I know what sort of a thing a beating is.' I often laugh when I think how stupid I was before that."

To Clean the Bath.

If the enamel is not worn it can be beautifully cleaned by scouring well with a cloth moistened in turpentine and dipped in salt. See that the bath is quite dry before you apply the turpentine. Rinse with warm water several times.

Brass which is badly discolored should first of all be washed in hot soapsuds to which some ordinary washing soda has been added and then have a good rubbing with a paste of whiting and paraffin. It can then be polished in the usual way with brass paste, and a beautiful luster will be the result.

VOICE CULTURE.

An Arabian Recipe For Improving the Quality of the Voice.

"I do not remember your name, but I have never forgotten the sound of your voice," said one woman to another when they met recently after a casual meeting on a summer vacation. The voice in question was very soft and very lovely, with a peculiarly pleasing intonation, which made it quite distinctive.

Of course every one knows that lovely women ought to have lovely voices, but not every one knows that women can do very, very much to improve the voice and that oftentimes its harshness or nasal sound is due to carelessness.

Sarah Bernhardt's wonderful voice is one of the secrets of her phenomenal success. She tells in her memories of a visit to the palace of the beautiful Empress Eugenie and the shock it gave her when that wonderfully beautiful woman spoke. "That rough, hard voice coming from that brilliant woman gave me a shock," she writes. "From that moment I felt ill at ease with her in spite of her graciousness and kindness."

The teachers in some of the modern religious schools hold that the voice is an indication of the soul. Unquestionably it is influenced by thought, for high minded folk who think deeply and beautifully have well modulated and sonorous voices with a pleasing sound.

It is absurd to strain our voices as we do in cities by talking against so much noise. No wonder the average voice is shrill, hard, nasal and unpleasant. But the greatest injury done the voice is through improper breathing, and this again affects the entire health. Paying attention to this, therefore, with the thought of improving the voice, will benefit the entire system. It is a good plan to listen carefully to voices about you and critically at your own, practicing deep and regular breathing and such sounds as are round and full and deep. It is rarely necessary to talk as loud as the average woman does, and one should learn not to talk at all in the streets where there is such a rush and roar of noise. Learn to enunciate clearly and distinctly, a thing which few women do. Do not mumble your words or "swallow" them, but say them precisely and clearly.

The nasal sound so often noticeable in women's voices is due to adenoids, which are a growth of tissue back of the nose, preventing a full, free circulation of air through the nostrils and cause, in addition to the harm to the voice, ear and throat, troubles in numbers of ways. These growths ought to be removed. In time the nasal and throat spray will come to be as esteemed an article on the dressing table as the tooth wash and brush are now.

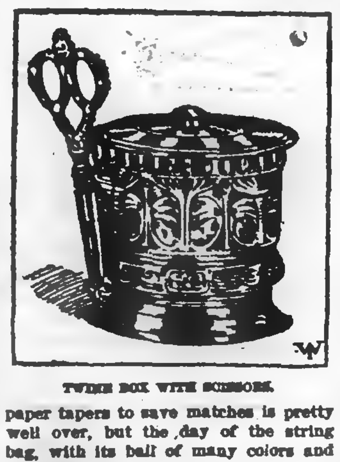
Lemon juice and sugar will clear the voice. Singers often eat an apple just before singing, as this helps also to clear the voice.

SMALL ECONOMIES.

A Smart String Box of Pressed Brass For Library Table.

None of the inconsistencies of woman are more amusing than her inconsistent economies.

Some women who ride in their carriages still cut up old bedspreads to make wash cloths, and others who can afford to drive automobiles don't have cream for their oatmeal in the morning. To be sure, the day of making paper tapers to save matches is pretty well over, but the day of the string bag, with its ball of many colors and myriad knots or, worse still, with its impenetrable tangle of miscellaneous pieces, is by no means past.



TWINE BOX WITH SCISSORS.

Sometimes a little piece of string—just a little piece, mind you—but one that is clean and continuous, is so sorely needed. Sometimes one doesn't really want to carry a package tied with part white and part striped like a stick of peppermint candy or a barber pole, but the family string bag offers no better.

Then there are other times when one is already late for an engagement and the piece of string which looked long enough won't quite reach. This situation has really tragic possibilities. Without seeming to encourage reckless extravagance one might perhaps suggest that a whole new ball of twine all in one piece and color can be purchased for 10 cents.

If little things really make a financial difference in a household, the string bag is a commendable economy, but if there are eighteen dollar hats and strawberries out of season then why not have string by the ball and even new white wrapping paper and fresh tissue paper kept in a convenient place.

To encourage the string ball idea there are string boxes with small scissors for clipping the twine. Some are made of leather. That shown in the cut is of pressed brass and would be a welcome addition to a library table.

"CAN'T AFFORD IT."

A Common Phrase on the Tip of Every Person's Tongue.

"If there is one phrase current more than any other today it is 'Can't afford it.' There seems a sort of contagion in it," protested an energetic minded woman at a luncheon of college alumnae in reply to her friend's complaint. The friend, by the way, is mistress of much the larger means and revenues.

"I object to the expression quite as much as you do, I'm sure, but the fact is painfully true," came the continued remonstrance. "Few of us can afford much of anything outside the necessities of life nowadays. I have paid only $100 for my tailor made gown this winter, and I must give up that fifteen dollar course of literature lectures I wanted so much to hear. There is something terribly real about the present hard times."

"People are more easily frightened than hurt," said the first speaker crisply. "It may be that some of us are not ordering clothes and food so lavishly as formerly, but very few of us are going about cold or hungry. As with almost everything else, there is a humorous side to the present condition of things. 'Hard times' exist as a fact perhaps, but also as a fad. We timid ones have most of us fallen into the sympathetic go-like-a-flock-of-sheep habit of commiserating with one another over the cost of living. There ought to be the making of more sensible men and women out of it all. The stronger natures will meet the present conditions of high prices by studying simplicity"—

"Not the vaunted 'simple life,'" interposed the other defensively. "You remember the author of 'From a College Window' says that is a most absurdly uneconomical plan."

"No, not the high art simple life," was the good humored admission, "but the simplicity which looks to food values in carbon and nitrogen instead of pandering to taste or fashion, which looks to utility in dress instead of quick perishable futility in the way of gossamer fabrics, beautiful though they be. One might say," she added as everybody started to rise from the luncheon table, "'Seek you first the kingdom of simplicity, distinguish finely between essentials and nonessentials, and all things necessary shall be added unto you.' The cry of 'Can't afford it!' adds influence to influence and fear to fear."

A JAPANESE TOILET.

How Women Make Beautiful In the Far East.

The Japanese college girl entertained the fudge party with oriental reminiscences.

"On every holiday," she said, "the Japanese maiden must rise and have her toilet finished before the sun looks over Fujiyama, our sacred mountain.

"And what a toilet! The long, coarse black tresses are washed, combed and greased till the head shines like a knob of polished black marble. The cheeks are rouged a fine pink. The throat, neck and bosom are powdered, but at the nape of the neck there are left three lines of the original brown skin in accordance with the rules of Japanese cosmetic art.

"With charcoal she rounds and lengthens her eyebrows. She reddens her lips with cherry paste, adding a gilt diamond to the center of the pouting lower lip. She puts on eight fresh garments, and she ties her obi, or great sash, in a symbolic knot. Her socks—she doesn't wear stockings—are very white and pure, and her clogs are lacquered till they shine like a silk hat.

"Now she is ready to set out. She fills her silk tobacco pouch, thrusts her pipe in her girdle, puts six paper handkerchiefs up her wide sleeve and sallies forth, turning her toes in and waving her fan with a demure grace."

HOUSEWIFE HINTS.

Emery powder and oil made into a paste is an excellent mixture to clean steel. Rub on well and polish, after which rub with an oiled rag and then polish up again with a clean duster.

To freshen stale cake dip it for a second in cold milk and then rebake it in a rather cool oven. Cake that has been treated in this way will taste as if it had been newly baked and may be eaten by any one. Stale bread may be treated in the same way.

To clean white marble put a lump of soda about the size of an egg into a pot containing half a pint of water and a tablespoonful of soft soap. Stand this pot in a pan of boiling water on the fire till the mixture boils. While it is hot paint it on the marble. Leave it for a day or two and then wash it off with warm water and a clean flannel.

Antique cut glass requires special handling if the brilliancy of the glass is to be retained and the ordinary periodical wash in hot soapsuds—which is usually meted out to the contents of the china and glass cupboard—is not sufficient. Only tepid water should be used to clean the articles, a lather being made on a stiff brush with good soap, and this should be worked into the design so as to clear the interstices of dust, the glass being then immediately enveloped in sawdust, absorbing all the damp. Finally a cloth should be used to give a polish.

Will Save Time.

If powdered silver polish is sewed into small bags of flannel which are moistened before using it will save much time for the cleaner.

A number of these bags, which should be about 3 by 5 inches, can be run up on the machine at one time, filled with the polish and kept in the table drawer until ready for use.

In cleaning repousse silver this is a specially good idea, as it does away with the necessity of using a brush to get the powder out of the carvings.

Humor

THROUGH WITH RUM.

Time to Quit When Stuff Steals Away Man's Senses.

"I'm through with the drink thing forever," remarked the smooth faced man with the little nub of a cigar in that same tone that the hero uses down at the Cleveland theater when he says: "Yes, I'm goin' away from hyah forevah!" The smooth faced man was just that positive about it.

"Nope," he said as he brushed the ashes off his coat lapel, "the rum proposition leads only to mortification and ruin. When a man gets so he pushes the button and doesn't know it, when it comes to a situation like that, it's time"—

"Wait!" broke in the little chap with the flat top soft hat. "Just pause and slip back up the track about a car length! When you tell anything kindly begin at the table of contents, then go to chapter 1, and so on, will yuh? You talk like a busted down phonograph."

"As I was about to say," went on the man with the nub of a cigar, just as if no one had stopped him, "when we got through settling the street railway question and a few other matters of moment that had to be disposed of before the bunch broke away last night it was lacking just a few minutes of being 2:30 o'clock. When I got home I says to myself, 'Why wake up little wifey when she needs the sleep?'

"Acting on that suggestion, I took off my shoes just before I started to climb up the steps to our front porch, wondering to myself all the time how much of a discount I'd be able to deduct from the time I came home when I spoke of it at the breakfast table next morning.

"I walked up to the door just as quietly as a cat—and then rang the doorbell! Yep, I just pressed the dinky little electric button, and then I came in. I had my key in my pocket all the time! It wasn't more 'n a minute till my wife opened the door and saw me standing there, shoes in hand.

A MATRIMONIAL TIP.

Beware of the Time When the Novelty Shall Wear Off.

What are the critical years of married life? Just those when, novelty quite gone, manners are apt to deteriorate and interest abate. It has been stated as a psychological fact that in the life of every married man comes a moment when with a goose fleshly shudder he realizes that the face opposite to him at the breakfast table is the face that will always be there, and the monotony of the prospect appalls him. Be that as it may, most women will agree that the toothpick heralds disenchantment and that the first wedding anniversary passed unnoticed is the tocsin of doom.

As a rule, one of a couple ardently desires to retain the interest, admiration and warm affection of the other. When the wish is mutual, bliss is fulfilled. The case of that couple calls for no comment.

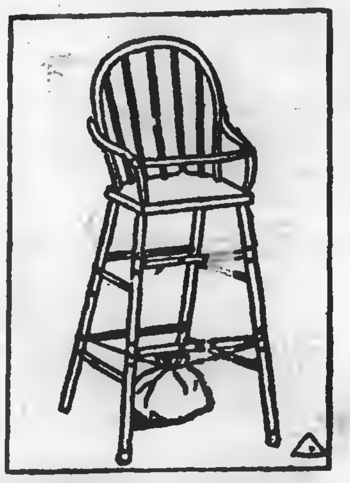
The men who disappoint their partners are mostly those with surface refinement, who cease tactful ways, small attentions and good manners, because, when these have secured the object of their desire, to retain them seems not worth the trouble. Women who live to see husbands out of love and vainly regret it are generally not the unlovely, but the unintelligent. A cold woman who sets a value on herself and her approbation appears often enough better worth pleasing than a dense, warm hearted treasure who blurts out all she feels, for nothing bores the average man so much as this.

At the risk of seeming cynical the complete mutual understanding of any man and wife, however loving, may be doubted. On the main points they may not have an interest apart, but in the essentially masculine and feminine phases of character there will be reserves or difficulties always.

FOR BABY'S HIGH CHAIR.

Ballast Made of a Weighted Flannel Bag.

A contributor to the "Discovery" columns of Good Housekeeping sent the following very practical suggestion to this magazine: After watching our strong baby boy sway his high chair almost to the point of capsizing I made a bag of cloth or canton flannel matching in color the woodwork of the chair and finished it at the top with the usual casing and strong ribbon drawstrings. In this bag was put a flatiron, and thus heavily weighted the bag was tied to the rounds of the chair. Not even the most athletic of boy babies could overturn a chair so anchored, and this knowledge may come as a blessed relief to some anxious mother who is called suddenly out of the room when baby is in his high chair.



HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

Old fashioned onion sirup, which is especially good for hoarseness and sore throat, is made of minced onions, a tablespoonful of cider vinegar and half a cupful of boiling molasses.

For breaking up a cold there is nothing better than hot lemonade taken upon retiring. This is made by putting the juice of two lemons in a pint of hot water. Boil one minute. Sweeten to taste and drink as hot as possible.

The fumes of burned camphor will instantly relieve cold in the head. Put a piece of camphor the size of an egg in an old saucer. Set it on fire and after burning a few moments blow out the flame and inhale the fumes.

To relieve a bad headache try a cloth wrung out in hot water and vinegar and laid across the forehead as hot as can be borne. It is an excellent remedy. Another good plan is to bathe the nape of the neck with hot water and cologne.

When overheated as a result of exercising do not drink cold water or any kind of a cooling liquid; also do not make the mistake of lying down right away, especially in a draft, but keep moving about until you become a little cooled off.

Household Helps.

To clean a clothesline boil it in soapsuds containing soda, then rinse and hang it out to dry.

When using valuable vases for table decoration fill with sand. This makes them stand firmly, and they are less liable to be knocked over and broken.

The old saying that a housekeeper is known by her sink is even more true of her ash bin. Nothing is more truly the mark of a sloven than an unsightly garbage box in the back yard.

If when salt and flour bags are emptied you will put them in the clothes hamper to be washed and boiled out you will always have a supply of jelly strainers. The salt bag is just the thing for the odd glasses of jelly made all during the season.

HISTORY OF THE CANADIAN CLUB MOVEMENT

Mulock, Sir John Murray and Mr. Kipling.

The Canadian Club at St. John, was formed on Feb. 6, 1907, with Mr. W. E. Tarte as president and G. A. Henderson, secretary. Its most notable speakers were the Governor General, Hon. H. J. Tweedle, Lieutenant-Governor, on Forestry; President R. A. Falconer of Toronto University; Dr. G. R. Parkin and Professor Leacock. The Halifax Club was formed the day after the one at St. John, with Mr. G. A. Campbell as president and J. A. Chisholm as secretary. Lord Grey, Mr. Justice Russell, J. S. Willison, the Rev. J. A. Macdonald, Professor Leacock, the Rev. Dr. Magill, President Falconer and the Hon. G. P. Graham, were its chief speakers. The club at Vancouver, B.C. was organized on Aug. 22, 1906, with F. C. Wade, K.C., as president; G. H. Cowan, KC as literary correspondent; and J. N. Ellis as secretary. Lord Grey's address on Sept. 25, 1906, was the most notable event in its history. The Hon. O. S. Straus, United States Secretary of Commerce and Labor, was the speaker on July 14, 1907, as was Mr. Kipling on Oct. 7. The club in Victoria had as its first president 1906-7 Mr. A. W. McCurdy with Frank I. Clark as secretary. This organization passed a strong resolution on Oct. 23, 1907, urging the provincial government to see that the Union Jack was kept floating over all schoolhouses and under the initiative of its secretary invitations were sent to Sir J. A. Swettenham, the retiring Governor of Jamaica, to address Canadian Clubs at Calgary,

The progress of the movement in its widespread but detached way, evolved the idea of combination. Messrs. C. R. McCullough and Sanford Evans were the first to make an effort along this line but they were met by two or three serious difficulties. What someone has called the genius of the Canadian Clubs seemed to lie largely in the direction of perfect independence of one another and in complete freedom from the trammels of organized lines of thought or action—outside of the one general principle of Canadianism. Another obstacle, lying below the surface was the question of including the organization in the United States. The formation of these latter concerns had been proceeding for some time, and in 1904 they were nearly equal in number to those of Canada. New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Buffalo Cleveland, Pittsburg, Rochester, Cincinnati and St. Louis had established Canadian Clubs or societies and many of their members were very properly citizens of the Republic, with national ideals of a naturally different character from those of the membership in Canada. It was a grave problem to some Canadians as to how far this influence would be beneficial in any combination such as was proposed. The first and preliminary action was taken in 1899 when a League of Canadian Clubs was formed with Hamilton, Toronto and Galt as the membership and a provincial council consisting of W. Sanford Evans, Toronto, as president. A. R. Goldie, Galt as vice-president, and C. R. McCullough of Hamilton as secretary-treasurer. Other clubs gradually came into the United States. organizations. At a conference held in Niagara Falls during the summer of 1906 representatives were present from Hamilton, Montreal, London, Toronto, Ottawa, and Vancouver, as well as from Boston, Buffalo, Cincinnati and some other United States points. Mr. C. R. McCullough was elected chairman of the General Council of Canadian Clubs and Societies, as it was now called with John Cousins of Cincinnati as secretary, H. C. Monk, of Montreal, as vice-chairman for Canada, and A. R. Minard of Boston as vice-chairman for the United States. Dr. J. D. Wilson, of London, was secretary for Canada, and Gordon F. Matthews of Buffalo, secretary for the United States. For some reason or other the Toronto Club took slight interest in the gathering and only two or three representatives were present out of its large membership.

MR. W. E. EARLE
President Canadian Club, St. John, N. B.

It may be added here that the most active organizations in the United States are those of New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Pittsburg. Under the presidency for some years of Dr. Neil Macphatter, and the active efforts of W. T. Rooson, now of Montreal, the club in New York did good service in promoting international friendship —especially by its annual banquets. Boston was soon more conspicuous in this work, and since organization in 1900 its dinners have been frequent, with many distinguished speakers present. Amongst them were Sir C. Tupper, Senator J. V. Ellis, the Hon. Geo. E. Foster, Sir Frederick Borden, C. G. D. Roberts, the Hon. Clifford Sifton, Charles Marcil and the Hon. R. Lemieux. Its presidents included Dr. R. H. Upham, 1900 and 1901; H. W. Patterson, 1902 and 1903; J. F. Masters, 1904 and 1905; C. F. McIntyre, 1906 and 1907. The Canadian Society of Philadelphia was organized in 1901 with Mr. Thomas Martindale as first president and during the four succeeding years. Mr. W. A. Higginbotham was elected in 1906-7. Mr. W. T. Rolph is secretary of the club and has been so for six years. In Pittsburg the president of the Canadian Society for 1907 was Dr. J. Holton Robinson and the secretary W. M. Thompson. A Canadian Club was formed at Houston, Texas, on Feb. 21, 1906, with W. W. Anderson as president and J S C Adamson, as secretary. In the far-away capital of Mexico a Canadian Commercial Club was formed in 1904 with J. H. McLeod as president. He was succeeded by C. T. Ambridge in 1906 —and by A. R. Dobson in 1907 with A. D. W. Leach as secretary. In London, England, it may be added a Canadian society was formed some years ago with 400 members. and a committee under the chairmanship of Mr. Barlow Cumberland, who was then living in London. It has since done excellent service in keeping Canada before the British public In all these American organizations the primary object was to keep alive memories of the Canadian home country and to improve relations with the United States through an extension of knowledge concerning Canada.

MR M. DOUGLAS
President Canadian Club, Woodstock, Ont

One more development of the movement must be mentioned. In the earlier organization gatherings, and practically without exception at the succeeding meetings of these clubs, in Canada, women were excluded — both from attendance and membership. In the autumn of 1907 action was taken to remedy this omission by the formation of Women's Canadian Clubs. Almost simultaneously and without concerted action, Montreal and Winnipeg organized Women's Clubs with in each case a large and representative membership The inaugural luncheon of the Montreal Club was held on Dec. 12 with Lady Drummond in the chair; with an inspiring address from Lord Grey, who urged support to the proposed Champlain tercentenary celebration, and read a telegram from the King, promising a donation of 100 guineas toward that object; and with a very numerous attendance. The officers previously elected included Lady Drummond, as president, Madame Dandurand as vice-president, Mrs. Walton as Hon. Treasurer, and Mrs. R. Wilson Reford as Hon. Secretary. In Winnipeg the inaugural luncheon was held on Dec. 14 with Mrs. W. Sanford Evans president, in the chair, an attendance of over 200, and addresses by the Hon. T. Mayne Daly of Winnipeg and John Kendrick Bangs, of New York.

In conclusion it must be said that the influence of this Canadian Club movement has so far been entirely good. For the future its value to this young nation will depend upon the same course being followed and absolute independence of thought adhered to by all the clubs in every connection. Propagan of every kind will no doubt be strictly avoided —religious or moral, National or Imperial, Provincial or Municipal. Canadian Clubs should hold in the realms of popular sentiment something of the detached yet influential position which the Governor General holds within the Canadian Commonwealth. With them lies discussion not decision. They constitute in fact, the one arena in Canada where the people can and should hear all sides of great questions dealt with by able men of many countries of every Province of the Dominion, of every part of the Empire. They form a very real University of and for the people.

Victoria, B.C., Feb. 13.—A conflict in the courts over the Natal Act seems imminent. One hundred and seventy Japs are now being detained in quarantine here. Failing to pass the educational test in the new act they are likely to be excluded. Should this happen the action of the provincial authorities a conflict will result.

EXTENSION OF ADVERTISING

The managers of the Baltimore theatres have signed an agreement to discontinue the use of window lithographs and to confine their efforts at publicity to advertisements in the newspapers and displays upon large leased billboards. At present with the exception of one theatre, all spend much money upon picture displays in store windows. They also pay for "snipes" —the small cards nailed upon dead walls, piles of debris, empty houses and fence posts. In addition they give up hundreds of passes each week for the privilege of making such displays. It is asserted that many of the passes distributed reach the hands of ticket speculators who sell them in cigar stores and on the streets. This interferes with the regular sale of tickets and subjects theatregoers to importunity and annoyance.

"We are tired of paying lithograph bills and distributing passes," said one manager. " Such advertising is almost entirely useless. It is much more profitable to spend the money in the newspapers. This always brings returns."

Conditions similar to those in the theatrical business at present existed may years ago in the publishing field, recalled Newspaperdom, when reviews of new books and small advertisements were expected to accomplish everything desirable or profitable for the newly-issued volume. Today we find very little of this narrow atmosphere abroad nad large announcements of books, particularly novels, are frequently seen in our ewspapers. Nor have the advertisers of periodicals failed to discern the wisdom of such announcements .The aid which is given to their publicity by reviews of books may be ample, but to depend upon it entirely to increase circulation is business foolishness, since the attention given is in each instance the reviewer's opinion, not the points which the advertiser desires to present to the public, hence the necessity of purchasing one's own space for active and conservative announcement.

RUINING THE ROADS

Running a heavy automobile at the rate of from twenty to forty miles an hour over a macadamized road is a bad thing for the road. So declares the state engineer of New York, Mr. Skene, in his annual report. Within the last six years the state has spent a couple of million dollars macadamizing a thousand miles or so of its main highways. Macadam will not last forever, of course, but these roads are not lasting as long as they should. and those which are most extensively utilized by automobiles are deteriorating the fastest. In some sections of the state automobiles are about as numerous as other wheeled vehicles, and some of these machines are very heavy. The damage of which complaint is made is done in two ways. First, there is the suction of the broad rubber tire upon the finely comminated material of the wearing surface and bindser, causing it to be displaced. In the second place the heavy machines carry chains and other non-skidding devices upon their wheels, and the effect of these is to pick holes in the road surface. So injurious have these non-skidding devices been proven to be that the New York City Park Board does not allow automobiles to which they are attached to enter upon the park roadways. That some limitation is necessary for the protection of the roadway is evident. The New York law at the present time restricts automobiles to twenty miles an hour outside of town limits. If automobilists were to live up to this speed limit the reason for complaint would largely disappear. Twenty miles an hour is, however, a mere crawl to the majority of automobilists, and the law is practically a dead letter. It would be possible to enforce it if the punishment was made, not a fine, but detention of the machine for a period varying with the offence. That seems to be about the only way in which persistent violators of the law may be made to undowrstand that the ing surface and binder, causing it to ways and the condition of the highways themselves must not be abused simply because mechanical ingenuity has provided an easy way of so doing.

EXPERIENCES OF AN IMMIGRANT

Three years ago a polished English man wearing a tie-pin worth fifteen hundred dollars drifted into Toronto from the woods in Hastings county, Ontario. He had been looking over the rocks for precious stones and marble—both of which he found in large quantities. The stone was known as blue sodalite, and the marble was said to be better than the famous Carrara. Mr. Joseph Duveen, the English gentleman who for two weeks bunked among the backwoods farmers, prospecting with the axe and the pick, is the head of the celebrated firm of Duveen Bros., of London and New York, who hold the world's record for the purchase of works of high art. Recently in Paris Mr. Duveen bought the famous Kanne collection of art treasures for several million dollars. A few days ago he arrived in New York to inspect American collections of Rembrandts. But in all his career of dealings in high art Mr. Duveen assured the writer that he never had so good a time, as he had up in the woods of Hastings with a pick over his shoulder.—Courier.

DR. J. D. WILSON
President Canadian Club, London, Ont.

While driving home in a dogcart from Leatherhed Station Mr. F. W. Phillips, of Stoke d'Abernon, Surrey, was thrown out through his horse bolting and killed.

An inquest was held at Moulton Chapel, Lincolnshire, on a boy named Stanley Bradford, who was scalded to death by falling into a vat of hot beer in a brewery.

REPORTED ON PRISON REFORM

Many Changes Proposed in Connection With Institutions in Ontario

After report of the special Legislature Committee on Prison Labor has been completed, after visiting many institutions in the United States, they came to conclusions which led to the following recommendations;

1. That the property now known as the Central Prison be disposed of.
2. That an area of 400 or 500 acres, within a reasonable distance from the City of Toronto, and easily accessible by railway, be purchased.
3. That on this property a new prison be erected.
4. That this institution be known as the Provincial Reformatory of Ontario.
5. That what are known as the public account, contract and piece price systems of employment be discontinued, as work can be found for the inmates in the improvement and cultivation of the land, the caring and feeding of live stock, etc., and the making of such supplies as are necessary for the various public institutions of the province.
6. That in the equipment of the industrial department regard be had for the development of the mechanican taste and manual dexterity of the inmates, rather than the specialization of labor and the rapid production of goods by machinery.
7. That the striped suit now worn by the inmates be abolished, and that ordinary clothing of a uniform style and color be substituted therefor.
8. That what is known as the "dark cell" be abandoned, and detention cells, large and well lighted but affording no view of the outside, be used for the confinement of disobedient or refractory inmates.
9. That as soon as practicable a system of technical education be introduced by the established merit of one school under the qualified instructor, and, of the experience warrants, that the system be extended.
10. That schools of letters, covering elementary subjects, be established, with a view later on to the adoption of a more advanced curriculum.
11. That calisthenics and military exercises be organized with the object of improving the physical condition of the inmates, and thus paving the way for their moral adjustment, but that anything in the nature of a public display be prohibited.
12. That a branch institution be located in northern Ontario.

THE EVENING PAPER

"I confess that it gives me a sympathetic pleasure to see some spectacled dame appear at her sitting room window, as I pass in the afternoon, unfold her evening paper, just picked up from the doorstep, and settle down serenely to the consolation it unfailingly affords. What a relief to her lonely hours is the coming of this constant gossipy visitor. It is a yet more touching spectacle to chance upon a bright young girl reading aloud, to her rapt and placid grandfather, the columns which even with the help of lenses he finds it painful to peruse. How pleasantly spent the hour for both!" —J. T. Trowbridge, in The Outlook.

The Weather of the West

Prairie Correspondent Tells of the Sahara Like Temperature Out There

A local merchant received a letter from Western Canada today in which the western sympathized with the easterners on account of the cold weather we are having here. According to the cheerful correspondent balmy breezes of an almost tropical character are at present soothingly blowing over the prairies. One portion of the letter reads; "We have been going about in our bare feet the last few weeks."

After that the optimism of the west may be taken with a grain of salt.

Rather Unpleasant This; Terrorized by the Women

Suffragettes Give British Cabinet Ministers a Lively Time.

Asquith Guarded by Detectives—Prefer to Be Silly Rather Than Criminal, Says Leader — Now Raising Money For Campaign by Self-denial Week—Lady Get Recruits For Army.

London, Feb. 17.—Whatever the result to their cause may be the suffragettes have captured the attention of the entire country. No day passes without a demonstration of some sort, usually having its sequel in the police courts. Sixty-three suffragettes have gone to jail this week for 40 days each.

All the Cabinet Ministers live in terror. Asquith, who is the special bete noir of the women, never ventures upon the street unless accompanied by two detectives. His colleagues seek to avoid recognition in public places, like undetected thieves.

The last batch of arrests was really rather outrageous. A band of 13 suffragettes started from Caxton Hall to take a petition to Westminster. They did not go in procession, but attempted to walk the sidewalks like ordinary pedestrians. A crowd who had been expecting some such movement followed and the police gobbled up the women before they had gone a hundred yards, and they were by no means gentle about it. These women had committed no offence, but the magistrate before whom they were taken ordered them to furnish recognizances to keep the peace or go to jail for six weeks. They all went to prison.

The suffragettes especially resent the insinuation that they are lacking in a sense of humor. This is a libel on some of the leaders. Chrystabel Parkhurst, who is the greatest individual inspiration in the crusade, says frankly: "Of course we are ridiculous. But what can we do? The movement would be ignored for another half century unless we compelled attention somehow. We must be either criminal or silly. Men under like circumstances would be criminal. We prefer to be silly."

The suffragettes have decreed a self-denial week, beginning yesterday, to raise funds for the campaign. They have adopted many curious expedients. One woman makes "Vote for Women" marmalade. Another takes a barrel organ about the streets. Others collect subscriptions at the railway stations. Others make five-minute speeches between the acts at the theatres and music halls and pass around collection boxes. Hundreds will bombard friends with subscription cards. Boarding-housekeepers will fine men boarders who mention the suffragettes at table. Dozens of girls will walk to work and send their omnibus fares to the fund. Well-to-do women are expected to contribute a week's income and abjure luxuries for the benefit of the crusade.

The woman question has broken out in one place where it was least expected. The Government is officially utilizing the services of a woman recruiting sergeant for the British army.

Two Dead and Seven Hurt; Result of Railroad Wreck

G.T.R. Train Wrecked Five Miles East of Ottawa.

Broken Rail the Cause — Engineer Died at His Post—Clung to Brake as Engine Shot Through the Air—Probably Saved Other Lives on the Train—The Cars Caught Fire—Were Put Out by Snow.

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—By an unexplained breaking of an 80-pound rail on the Grand Trunk Railway at 10.15 Saturday night, the regular train, No. 27, from Montreal to Ottawa, was derailed five miles east of the capital.

Engineer Alfred Parks of Ottawa East and Fireman Wm. Robertson Martin of 238 Frank street, Ottawa, were killed. They were both scalded to death.

Rural Dean Taylor of Aylmer and Mrs. Taylor were badly shaken up, and are in the hospital. Conductor A. J. Leamy, Ottawa, sustained severe cuts about the head. Baggageman I. C. Moore, Ottawa, had his hands badly cut. Expressman F. M. Griffiths, Ottawa, got his hand lacerated and leg bruised, while J. N. McIntosh, Ottawa, had a leg injured slightly. A. D. McBride was severely shaken up.

Died at His Post.

Engineer Parks stuck to his post heroically, and as the engine shot through the air shut off the steam and put on the brakes, thus saving the twenty-one passengers most miraculously. Then he left his cab and crawled out fatally injured. He died at the Ottawa hospital at 6 o'clock yesterday morning.

The fireman's body was found lying in the snow with life extinct. He was 34 years of age and married but four months.

The rail which caused the accident is in Superintendent Donaldson's office. The break is a clear one, with no sign of any previous weakness whatever. The edges of the fracture are rounded where the wheels of the engine struck. The forward truck of the last coach, the parlor car, left the rails and made a temporary hospital for the wounded. The engine ad all the other cars were overturned. Fire broke out in the forward cars, but were extinguished with snow, of which a heavy gale was blowing. The crew did admirable work.

The train was running on time and had entered the one and one-half mile straight stretch of track east of the N. Y. & O. diamond. The banks on either side, where the derailment occurred, were level, and the engine and three coaches skidded fifty yards over the snow-covered ground. The tender of the engine jumped first.

G. W. Riley of Montreal, an old-time telegrapher and a passenger on the train, walked back to Carlsbad and telegraphed to Ottawa. A bevy of doctors and wrecking machinery was sent out immediately.

The damage to the rolling stock is but $1,000.

PLUMBERS INDICTED.

New Orleans Grand Jury After Illegal Combines.

New Orleans, Feb. 17.—Fifty-four master plumbers and three plumbing firms were indicted by a Federal grand jury, on charges of violating the Sherman anti-trust law.

The indictments make a total of over 125 indictments in two days, under the Sherman Act. Seventy-two labor union representatives, members of the dock and cotton council having been indicted.

The master plumbers are charged with conspiring to restrain a New Orleans plumbing manufactory from selling goods to a local hardware firm. All the plumbers indicted are members of the Master Plumbers' Association.

Foolhardy Sailor Killed.

Victoria, B.C., Feb. 17.—In a spirit of bravado, a half-intoxicated sailor, at an early hour yesterday morning, undertook to walk the telephone wires between two of the 100 feet posts on Government street. When discovered in midair by the police, who were attracted by the man's singing, an alarm was turned in for the fire department, who spread nets in order to save the man's life should he fall. He however, made the trip all right and had descended to within 25 feet of the pavement, when he missed his footing and fell to the sidewalk, fracturing his skull and dying a few hours later at the hospital.

Hanged In His Cell.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 17.—After being pursued for more than ten years by detectives, the search taking them three times around the world, Karl Rapp, who was being held here to await a further hearing charged with setting fire to a factory and dwelling in Roswig, Germany, in 1898, was found dead in his cell at Moyamensing Prison yesterday, having committed suicide by hanging with strips of bed clothing to the bars of the cell.

Love Race and Country.

Rome, Feb. 17.—(C.A.P.)—Rome Osservatore Romano interviewed Dr. Begin, who said: "We French-Canadians are still French. We love our native country. Although we have no reason to regret British rule, which grants us a broad regime of complete and absolute liberty, we are attracted towards those who are our brothers in language and origin, and so we have received many of our co-religionists expelled from France."

Hit With Iron Pin.

Stratford, Feb. 17.—A serious accident befell Arthur Jones, day foreman at the G.T.R. roundhouse, Saturday evening. He was superintending a piece of work when a pin which a workman was driving flew up and struck him in the face. The pin became dislodged when the helper made an inaccurate drive. Mr. Jones' nose was broken and his face otherwise disfigured by the flying piece of iron.

AFTER THE SHOPLIFTERS.

Respectable Thieves Will Not Be Allowed to Escape In Future.

New York, Feb. 17.—A number of large retail drygoods merchants have banded together to prevent prominent social connections from saving a woman detected in "shoplifting" from public prosecution.

"Store detectives generally spot professional shoplifters as soon as they enter the store," said a drygoods man Saturday. "But you can't do anything with a so-called respectable shoplifter unless you catch her with the goods. And then, as is usually the case, she has prominent relatives, or her father and mother are well-known socially, she sends for them, and the case is never heard of."

A number of large drygoods merchants met the other day and decided to engage Martin W. Littleton to prosecute all cases. All of these men agreed that as soon as a woman was arrested or detected shoplifting they would immediately have the case taken out of their hands, no matter how much they were appealed to by the woman's relatives and friends. District Attorney Jerome has been spoken to, and has expressed his readiness to do all he can to assist the merchants, it was said.

CARS PASSED OVER BOY.

Who Emerged Unscathed — A Runaway's Adventure.

Stratford, Feb. 17.—To lie beneath the rails near the Grand Trunk station here while eight cars thundered by was the unique experience of Eli Dion, a 14-year-old lad of Penetang, who has recently been released from St. John's Industrial School, Toronto. He had been under a three-year sentence, but was released after having served two years and sent to a farm near Seaforth.

Becoming tired of the dull monotony of rural life he filled his knapsack and decamped via a Grand Trunk freight train. Arriving at Stratford the boy attempted to leave the train while it was moving by the station and in so doing fell underneath the cars. Conductor Hayne, who stood on the platform of the caboose, is authority for the statement that at least eight cars passed over the boy. When the tail end of the freight disappeared from view the precocious Eli slowly rose from his crouching position and with merely a sprained ankle made a hasty retreat.

He was captured by the station officials and arraigned in the Police Court on a charge of vagrancy. He was remanded to jail.

FOUR MEN ARRESTED.

Serious Case of Assault on Young Woman at Kingston.

Kingston, Feb. 17.—On Saturday night a girl came to the police station and complained that four young men whose names she gave, assaulted her in or near Soward's coal yard. She alleged that she was seized by the throat and prevented making a noise. The marks on her body are evidence that she had been cruelly treated.

The police then went in pursuit of the accused quartette, arrested them and they are now held in the station pending developments in the Police Court to-day.

Their names are James Brickwood, "Reddy" Devine, Mozier and Crozier. Complaints have been made by girls lately that they have been followed in lonely places by young men and at times accosted by young men and few have been willing for some time to go out on the streets alone.

Want Captain Released.

New York, Feb. 17.—More than one hundred and fifty members of the American Association of Masters, Mates and Pilots met in this city last night to start a widespread appeal to save Capt. W. H. Van Schaick from prison.

Petitions asking President Roosevelt for clemency will be sent throughout the country for signatures.

It will be urged that public sentiment does not demand the imprisonment of the captain of the General Slocum, by the burning of which more than a thousand persons met their death.

Capt. Van Schaick was sentenced to ten years in Sing Sing, but a stay of sentence was secured pending the result of an appeal to the higher court. Last week the sentence was upheld.

The captain is 76 years of age, and has been living on a farm.

Traffic at St. John.

St. John, N.B., Feb. 17.—Up to date 51 winter port steamers have filed their papers at the custom house.

The cargo valuation shows as follows: Value Canadian goods, $7,680,273; value foreign goods, $3,367,144; total value, $11,047,317.

The total value for first 11 winter port steamers for last season was $9,289,462, which shows an increase of $1,757,855. The amount of grain gone forward in 51 steamers is 3,218,371 bushels. For the year 1906-7, 6,764,499 bushels went forward.

The number of cattle gone forward up-to-date is 9,252; sheep, 2,368; horses, 13. Sixty-four steamships have arrived with a tonnage of 246,960.

Stratford School Crisis.

Stratford, Feb. 17.—The finance committee of the city council have decided not to issue debentures for the proposed new $60,000 school until the present financial conditions have changed. The school board, however, declare that something must be done to relieve overcrowding in schools, and may demand that a by-law be submitted to the people.

Farmer's Loss by Fire.

Mount Albert, Feb. 17.—The outbuildings and barn belonging to Jacob Hopkins, a well-known farmer in East Gwillimbury, were totally destroyed by fire on Friday night, the work, it is believed, of an incendiary. All of his crop remaining, as well as his stock, was completely destroyed. The amount of insurance, if any, carried is not known.

A land company from St. Paul is said to have purchased 10,000 acres of C.N.R. lands at $10 per acre in Manitoba. [illegible]

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Mme. Emma Chatel, Valleyfield, Bellerive, Quebec, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I want to tell you that without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I would not be alive. For months I suffered with painful and irregular periods and inflammation of the feminine organs. Doctors could do nothing for me, and said I must submit to an operation because I had a tumor.

"One of my cousins advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as it had cured her.

"I did so and now I have no pain and am entirely cured. Your remedy is deserving of great praise."

TORNADO SWEEPS TYLER.

Death List May Reach Twelve—Scores Injured.

Tyler, Texas, Feb. 15.—Tyler was swept by the most disastrous tornado in its history before daylight yesterday. Coming from the southwest, the storm swept over the main residential quarter of the city, leaving a trail of death and devastation.

The known dead in Tyler are C. A. Francis, agent of the Dallas News, and his wife and baby, an aged negro, Mose Lee. Francis' body was found a hundred yards from his wrecked home. The body of his child was found in the street. Mrs. Francis was in the wreckage of the building.

Six seriously injured persons are reported. The death list in Tyler may reach a dozen, and the injured will probably aggregate two score.

Twelve buildings were wrecked. In the confusion it is difficult to compile an accurate list of the casualties.

Wires are down in all directions from Tyler, but reports from farmers are that farmhouses all around Tyler were blown down.

It is impossible to ascertain the loss of life in the rural regions, but it is known that the tornado swept everything clean for a distance of five miles. Three miles from town the wind demolished the home of Irwin Franklin, severely injuring Franklin, his wife and their four children. The tornado tore a path through Tyler, 100 feet wide. Buildings, telephone and electric light poles were laid flat in the storm's path, while great damage was done in other parts of the city.

Little Towns Wiped Out.

Hattiesburg, Miss., Feb. 15.—A tornado passed over Jones County, north of here yesterday and three small towns, Mossville, Laurel and Nose, are reported blown away.

The noon northbound passenger train got a few miles north of Laurel and could not proceed because of the wreckage, and returned to Laurel. The passengers said they saw half a dozen dead negroes, but could not estimate the probable number dead. At Service, Miss., near Laurel, the home of Ike Holloway, white, was blown away and two of his children killed.

Boy's Head Cut Off.

Prince Albert, Sask., Feb. 15.—Earl McLeod, the 8-year-old son of J. D. McLeod, proprietor of the Prince Albert Hotel, was instantly killed yesterday morning. He went to the station on his father's 'bus and while the driver was checking trunks, the horses started up. The lad could not hold them, and as the 'bus overturned the edge struck the top of the boy's head, cutting it off.

A Double Elopement.

By ANNE HEILMAN.

Copyrighted, 1907, by C. H. Sutcliffe.

Hester Blake finished sweeping the snow from her front porch and then looked dubiously at the huge drifts lying across the road and the slaty sky above.

"They won't come," she assured herself. "Cousin Emma 'll never venture out such a day as this. It'll be the first Christmas I've ever spent alone." She sighed unconsciously as she re-entered the silent house.

Mrs. Blake lived in the outskirts of the village of Clifton. She kept a boy to do the chores, had a cow and chickens and lived in a comfortable way on a tiny income. She was "Aunt Hester" to all the young people of her acquaintance, which was considerable, for she was popular, this worn woman of fifty. Her sad blue eyes and faded brown hair had a compelling charm even under the rusty black hat which she wore in winter and summer alike, and when she smiled your heart went out to her. You could have told her your most intimate troubles, sure of a tender understanding and sympathy and that the confidence would go no further.

The bright, shiny little kitchen had the incipient smells of good things for dinner in it, and Mrs. Blake set to adding yet another savory odor.

"Might as well finish getting the dinner now I've started it," ran on her low monotone. She talked to herself for company. "Mercy me—sleigh bells!" hastily opening the door. "Charlie Brock and Elvie Lee of all people! Hurry in and I'll get you some hot coffee. It'll heat you up. Why, Elvie, what was your father thinking of to let you ride out in such weather?"

"Father doesn't know anything about it," faltered Elvie miserably.

Mrs. Blake's glance went from one to the other as she poured the steaming coffee. There were little humorous, intelligent creases in her face. "You are running away," she said.

Elvira hung her head and began to cry.

"Don't scold her, Aunt Hester," burst out Charlie. "It wasn't her fault. I asked her to go."

"Well, what's she crying about?" questioned Mrs. Blake severely. "Didn't she consent, or did you carry her away by force, Charlie?"

"Of course he didn't," protested Elvira. "I said I'd go, but I wish I hadn't. I was sorry right after we'd started, and I—I, made Charlie stop here instead of going to the minister's. I ought to go back home. I know father 'll be worried." And her lip began to quiver again.

"Well, he won't be worried long," said Charlie, turning from the window. "He's coming down the road now."

Elvira sprang to her feet.

"Don't let him come in, Aunt Hester!" she cried excitedly. "He'll be mad at Charlie!"

"Let him!" fiercely from Charlie. "I don't know's I care."

"Don't say anything hateful to him," pleaded the girl piteously, "will you, Charlie?"

"Don't worry, Elvie," replied the boy soothingly. "I won't hurt him."

"I didn't mean that!" cried Elvie, trembling and clinging to him. "I don't want him to hurt you!"

"Would you care, Elvie?"

Elvira sobbed hysterically, her face against his coat.

"Of course I'd care"—in muffled tones—"you know I'd care."

Meanwhile Mrs. Blake watched the floundering horse far down the road.

"He'll be here directly," she warned. "You'd better get ahead of him."

But Elvie shrank back.

"I don't want to run away," she wailed, still clinging to her lover.

Over her head Charlie looked with despairing eyes at the older woman. With swift determination to help him, she took the girl's trembling hands in hers. "Elvie," she demanded, "do you love Charlie Brock?"

"Of course I do," answered Elvie, looking at her in surprise.

"Well, then, I don't know's I ought to advise it, but your mother's dead, and your pa'll never let you marry Charlie, because he's too poor, but that's no reason for separatin' young hearts. You've both got love and health and strength, and, Elvie, you're twenty-four and ought to know your own mind, and if you love Charlie and ain't got the courage to stand up in front of the minister, why, just stay here and let your father take you back home. But if you want to marry him you'll go now and have the words said before your father can pull his horse out of the drift, and I'll get my wraps and go with you."

As she disappeared into the adjoining room Elvie looked up into her lover's face. "I'll do it, Charlie," she whispered. "Aunt Hester's right. She always is. I'll go—wherever you go."

"On second thoughts I've determined to stay and have it out with the squire," said Mrs. Blake as she bustled the young people out to the cutter and wrapped a warm rug around the trembling girl. "Don't worry, Elvie. I'll make it all right with your father. Mind you come straight back here for your dinner," she urged smilingly as they drove rapidly away.

But when Elvira's father faced her at her own fireside a few minutes later there was no smile on her tired face.

"Yes, I helped them," she said defiantly, breaking the silence of thirty years.

"It wasn't your business," Squire Lee blustered, but she stopped him with quiet dignity.

"Yes, it was, Samuel. It was my business not to let Elvira spoil her life as you spoiled yours, for you ain't been happy any more'n I have. I ain't sayin' that Elvie's mother wa'n't a good woman, but the Lord makes two people for each other and puts them into this world to meet and marry and die together, and if they go against his plannin' they suffer."

He started eagerly to speak, but she went on rapidly.

"I didn't have enough money for you, and you shilly shallied between me and Lida and finally married her without sayin' a word to any one, and so at last I married Isaac. He was a good husband." A sudden impulse of loyalty toward the dead surged within her.

"Hetty," a joyous warmth breaking into the squire's voice—"Hetty, you said—you said 'any more'n you were.' Do you mean that you've cared, too, all these years? Have you, Hetty?" with compelling eyes on hers.

"Yes," she answered simply. "I've cared. And there hasn't been a day in all these years when I've seen you growing harder and harder that I ain't said to myself, 'He'd been different if he'd married the woman he loved.' Elvie's just like you. She'd keep Charlie off and on, and some day she'd go and marry somebody else and be miserable."

"I didn't mean her to be miserable," the squire stammered slowly. A great wonder held him fast. Was this the quiet, self repressed woman who all these years had sat across the aisle from him every Sunday morning in church, this slender, vibrant creature trembling in the might of her demand for happiness for his motherless girl? Was this the woman whom he had believed without feeling?

"Hetty!" he cried and held out his hand.

She took it and stood looking sadly up at him.

"Hetty, I didn't think you cared in that way. I thought you hated me for the way I'd treated you after goin' with you for two years. I never thought you missed me as I've missed you all these years. I'd give them all only to live over the two happy years when we kept company. How different"—

"You've remembered!" the widow cried, and her wan cheeks flushed. "I'm very lonesome here, Samuel, but I won't be any more when I know you've remembered. Now go out and put up your horse. Tommy's away for the holidays, and I'm all alone. The young folks are comin' back here for dinner, and you must join us, sociable like, and forgive them for runnin' away."

"Hetty," pleaded the squire, the light of determination in his eyes, "let's run away too! My horse is better'n Charlie's. We'll get to the parsonage most as quick as they do. Here, put on your wraps!" he commanded.

"No, no, Samuel"—her face flaming—"not after the way I talked. It looks as though I was hintin'"—

"We've wasted altogether too much time already, Hetty. Put this scarf over your ears. It's too cold for a bunnit."

"Oh, Samuel, we're too old to be so foolish!" she faltered.

"We're not too old to love," he assured her as he tied on the scarf.

Happiness.

Many people go through life dissatisfied and unhappy because they do not have what their neighbors have. They allow themselves to be constantly nettled by comparing themselves with others better off.

Now, about as poor business as one can engage in is to go through life with one's eyes so fixed upon what others have that he cannot enjoy his own.

Everywhere we see prosperous people who are making a great deal of money, and yet they are dissatisfied, discontended, unhappy, restless. They rove about from place to place, trying to find pleasure in this thing or that, but always disappointed. They think if they could only get somewhere else than where they are, do something else than what they are doing, if they could only go abroad, travel over different countries in a touring car or in an automobile, they would be happy. Their eyes are always focused upon something in dreamland instead of something in the land of reality.

They mistake the very nature of happiness. They put the emphasis on the wrong things.

The secret of happiness is not in your fortune, but in your heart. It does not consist of having, but in being. It is a condition of mind.—Success Magazine.

Very Neighborly.

"Good afternoon," said Mrs. Nagg, with icy politeness, to her next door neighbor. "Would you mind not looking out when my visitors are passing? It makes the place look vulgar."

"Thought they were brokers' men," replied Mrs. Snapp pleasantly. "You and your sister, or charwoman, or whatever she is, are not the kind that men visitors run after much, are you?"

"Better than some people whose 'usbins have run away from them," observed her neighbor.

"What do you mean, ma'am?"

"I name no names; their 'usbins may be in prison or they may not. 'Ave you seen my doormat, by the bye? I missed it yesterday."

"When I become a thief, ma'am, I'll steal something that's clean."

"Well, I must go," said Mrs. Nagg cordially. "I wish I could stop, but I've got to call on a lady."

"And so, of course, you feel awkward. Going to ask for a place as cook, perhaps. Well, I shan't keep you, ma'am. Good evening!"—London Scraps.

Smooth Progress a Surrender.

London, Feb. 17.—(C.A.P.)—The Standard refers lengthily to the announcement of progress of the United States-British arbitration treaty, which it says will be received with uncomfortable misgiving in Canada and Britain.

"From past experiences in dealings with Washington it is natural to infer that smooth progress means surrender," says The Standard. It points out that if we make a bad bargain for the colonies the precedent set Ottawa in the recent treaty with France may not receive a welcome. It sincerely hopes that Bryce, with whom Root played as a cat with a mouse on the Newfoundland question, will not be permitted by Sir Edward Grey to undo by superfluous concessions to the United States the good impression produced in the Dominion by the satisfactory solution to the Japanese immigration problem

WHEAT GROWN AT POINTS FAR IN THE NORTH

Sample Received From Col. Edwards Can be Seen at This Office

The great possibilities for agricultural development in the "Peace River district," several hundred miles north of Edmonton, are shown by a sample of wheat which the river has just received from Col. E. B. Edwards, of Edmonton. The wheat was grown last year at Fort Vermillion, 750 miles north of the international boundary line, and 350 miles north of Edmonton.

The wheat received from Col. Edwards is fully matured and is equal to that grown in the most fertile districts of the province of Ontario.

The sample can be seen at the Review Office. Anyone interested is invited to call and see it.

ATTEMPTED MURDER IN GRENADA W. I. I.

From a copy of the St. George's Chronicle of Grenada, West Indies, sent by Dr. F. F. Hatton to relatives here we learn that the colony has been thrown into a state of excitement and apprehension by the attempted murder of the government treasurer and his assistant by a colored clerk. It seems that of recent years the policy of developing education amongst the negroes has carried its penalty with it. They are partaking of the same spirit of unrest that is arising in the East Indies amongst the negroes of the U.S. and amongst the still more incensed Japanese. The vicious and unexpected nature of the attack and the sympathy of the crowd with their fellow negro has caused profound alarm. The alleged wrong was wholly unimportant. The negro had been sent out to see if excise duties were being avoided by the townsmen. Agitators gradually fanned this order into a slight upon the negro. The Gazette devotes four pages to the event.

The Examiner and Mr. Burnham

Some little time ago the Examiner undertook to make nasty insinuations regarding the manner in which Mr. Burnham was nominated at the recent great Conservative convention held here. It charged him with bribing delegates and knifing friends. No evidence was offered. Mr. Burnham promptly accepted the challenge through the Review, put in a straight and unequivocal denial and demanded that in fairness the Examiner retract or make good its statement. It did neither and there the matter rested until the Review quoted part of the famous Report of the Royal Commission on Life Insurance which it will be remembered was a commission appointed by the present parliament at Ottawa to investigate life insurance companies. The part of the report published in the Review was a full, fair and complete recital of the investigation of the People's Life and Home Life Cos., in which Mr. J. R. Stratton ex-M.P.P. was deeply interested. Last week we quoted some three or four full pages of the official report laying the whole statement fairly before the public. We shall now confine ourselves to a few interesting extracts:

"The fifteen-year employment contracts with Messrs. Pattison and Firstbrook seem to have been made to do duty as a basis for negotiating a large money payment to Mr. Pattison for surrendering his position and obtaining the resignation of the president and other directors."

* * * * *

Mr. Pattison demanded a sum of about $110,000 in addition, which in his evidence before the Commission he claimed to be the commuted value of the two fifteen-year contracts. The negotiations with Mr. Pattison which had been commenced by Mr. McCutcheon were continued by Mr. J. J. Warner, solicitor for the People's Life and finally completed by Mr. J. R. Stratton the president who concluded the bargain with Pattison for $90,000 in addition to $25 per share for the directors' stock.

* * * * *

Mr. Pattison says he was told by Mr. Stratton that he would have to reduce the amount from $90,000 to $80,000 which was all that he would pay and that without any discussion he decided to accept it.

* * * * *

Mr. Stratton kept $10,000 the balance of the $90,000 in cash from the 12th until 14th of October when he deposited it in the Bank of Montreal at Peterborough to the credit of his own personal account then overdrawn to the extent of $16,000.

* * * * *

The statements of Stratton, McCutcheon and Pattison are not reconcilable with each other and are very unsatisfactory.

The trend of the evidence as first submitted to the Commission was cautiously confined to the terms of an arrangement involving the payment of $80,000 and no more. The production of the bank's security for an advance to Mr. McCutcheon being insisted upon by counsel prosecuting the inquiry, it became necessary to disclose the withdrawal from the bank of the additional $10,000; its retention by Stratton on the 13th of October, its deposit in his overdrawn bank account in Peterborough on the following day and the alleged origin and destiny of the cheque for $10,000.

The inference to be drawn from these transactions and the various accounts given of them by the participants are plain and obvious.

If the cheque was given to Mr. McCutcheon in October which is doubtful, it was not your commissioners are satisfied, intended that ultimately the company should pay less than the whole $90,000, or that any person but Stratton should have the ultimate benefit of the $10,000. Otherwise the $10,000 cash itself would have been immediately returned instead of being carried in Stratton's pocket during the whole of the 13th October, 1906, and taken to Peterborough and deposited there on the following day in his own overdrawn account and the demand note would have been drawn for $80,000 instead of $90,000. Very little importance should be attached to the circumstance that the papers had been prepared. The agreement with the bank could have been made to fit the altered condition by merely striking out 'ninety' and inserting 'eighty' or could have been entirely retyped as it was less than two folios long, and a whole day elapsed between the payment of Pattison and the completion of the arrangement with the bank.

It was stated by Stratton that the $10,000 would be returned and the transaction rearranged so as to extend the payments to be made by the company over a longer period as soon as the work of the Commission is completed. Having regard to all the circumstances, your Commissioners are compelled to conclude that what really took place between Stratton and Pattison was that the former demanded and the latter conceded a share to the extent of $10,000 in the moneys which were being paid to the latter and charged to the Home Life." If the Examiner wants something to discourse upon there it is. Notwithstanding Mr. Burnham's straight denial neither then nor now has the Examiner come back with details merely repeating its general allegation of bribery and knifing. If the Examiner proposes to conduct a campaign of cowardly assertion not backed up by one single detail of the sort alleged, it may rest assured the public will judge accordingly. The Review will meet every attack with extracts which will furnish nice, quiet Sunday reading quite as nice as the Examiner's recent article on the holy Sabbath day. We do not make statements, or quote them, which we are not prepared to back up. A direct charge such as the Examiner makes against Mr. Burnham without one single allegation of fact to support it, will result in a way that will surprise the Examiner some day. "People in glass houses should never throw stones."

Mr. Burnham has heretofore as we have said, replied to the Examiner's allegations of "bribing delegates and knifing friends" by a straight denial but he is now prepared to go farther in an effort to induce the Examiner to be fair and specify. He further affirms that he did not canvass or ask the support or vote of any elector or delegate whatever, previous to the convention, let alone seeking to bribe him. This ought to give the Examiner ample opportunity to specify. We are glad of the chance of giving the lie to these unwarranted rumors and of publishing official records which will give the Examiner as well as the public plenty of material to pause and think over.

The Horse Wandered Along Without Driver's Guidance

A young man wile returning from the south end on Friday night, was somewhat surprised when near the point where the street branches off from Lake street to Little Lake cemetery to meet a horse and cutter, apparently without a driver. The animal was wandering along at its own gait, and, as far as the young man could see when a little distance away, there was no one in the cutter. When the vehicle came up beside him, however, he noticed that there was a man lying down on the seat. The lines were wrapped around the dashboard, and the driver was, in the vernacular of the street, "dead to the world." A few yards further on the gentleman met a police constable, who enquired if a horse and cutter had been met a few minutes before. On receiving a reply in the affirmative, the officer further explained that he had seen the outfit passing and had followed it up, not knowing if the driver was dead, or "dead drunk," or what was wrong. The young man gave his opinion that it was a case of too much corn juice, and the policeman gave up the pursuit, coming to the conclusion that the horse would bring his slumbering master home all right.

It was fortunate that the night was not as cold as some previous ones, or the intoxicated driver would have been in danger of freezing to death.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION

New York, Feb. 17—Wall Street appears to be gradually emerging from the slough of despond into which it was recently thrust by the repeated attacks made upon it by those in high political places in the State and nation. Toward the close of the past wek pessimism gave way to a decidedly more hopeful feeling, which was not only reflected in a material increase in business in the stock market, but also in a sharp recovery in prices from those that had previously prevailed. The action of the directors of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads in declaring their customary dividends, whereas fears had been enterrtained that reductions would take place in both the instances, did much to inspire confidence, but of more farreaching importance perhaps was the pronounced success attending the offering of $50,000,000 4 1-2 per cent. bonds by the city of New York. The opening of bids disclosed that there were over eleven hundred bidders for these bonds and that the average price offered for the same was about 104; moreover, that a syndicate headed by J. Pierpont Morgan, had offered to take the entire lot at a figure considerably in excess of 103.

This incident proves conclusively that the investment deman for first-class securities is still very much alive. Additional evidence in this connection is afforded by the fact that during the week there has been a pronounced revival in the buying of "odd lots" of dividend paying stocks, both on the New York Stock and Consolidated Stock Exchange. Commission brokers on these Exchanges have reported orders of this description from investors throughout the country, and while most of the recovery that has taken place in the stock market has been due to covering of short contracts, purchases of the character described have played an importat part in bringing this about. This movement is merely in extenuation of the investment demand that followed the paic of last fall, and which was prompted by the exceedingly low prices then prevailing, which so materially enhanced the yields to investors. As illustrating the extent to which this movement has gone, the figures of the Pennsylvania railroad company are highly interested. During the year ending January 1, 1908, the number of shareholders in that company increased no less than 16,570 over 1907, to a total of 57,226. Innumerable other instances might be cited in this connection, but this one will suffice to show that, despite the numerous onslaughts to which all corporate interests have been subjected, investors are still keenly alive to the many bargains now prevailing in the stock market.

Apart from the fact that money still continues practically a drug in the market, and ignoring the present declining tendency of railroad earnings and the possibility of some dividend reductions in addition to those already announced, there are a number of factors in the situation which prompt a more hopeful feeling concerning the general investment and speculative situation than has prevailed of late. Conspicuous among these are indications of a moderate improvement in the iron and steel trade, which is generally regarded as the barometer of business conditions in all branches. Still another encouraging feature is the healthy state of the country's foreign commerce, as reflected in the exports from the United States. In practically all the leading commodities there is an increase shown over the same period last year, among the most notable case in point being cotton, the value of the exports of which for the period referred to amounted to $76,687,000 compared with $69,990,000 in January, 1907, and $38,992,000 in January 1906. It will thus be observed that our exports of cotton last month were more than double those of two years ago. Considerations such as these have done much to dispell the gloom that has recently pervaded the finacial situation and account for the better tone that prevailed in the stock market at the end of the week just closed.

GREEN'S MOVING PICTURES

Extracts from Kingston News;—

"Prof. Green is one of the pioneers of the moving picture business in Canada, and has made his name a household property in many of the big centres of the Dominion. The pictures last night were photographically perfect and perfected with an entire absence of the disagreeable flicker so common and pronounced in the average vitagraphic photograph. The light was powerful, and the operating done by Prof. Green himself, was artistic perfection, without a blunder to jar the nerves of his large audience. The illustrated melodies were indeed fine, both singer and picture being artistic in the highest sense. Mr. Barton V. Peters in the illustrated songs is conceded by the theatre-goers to be the best singer in his line that has ever appeared in our city. His voice is a pleasing high baritone, full of resonance of considerable range, and his enunciation perfect. Each song was beautifully illustrated." Mr. Peters is a native of Peterborough, and his many friends will be pleased to hear of his success during his engagement with Prof. Green. Prof. Green opens a five nights' engagement at the Grand (tomorrow), Tuesday, Feb. 18th.

SOME NOTES ABOUT THE PRESS GAME

Which Takes Place on February 26th—Peculiarities of Some of the Players

When the Review team gets through with the Examiner on the night of February 26th, the Grit outfit will look like a pair of patent leather boots on which the patent has expired.

* * *

If Jim Clark ever loses his job on the Examiner he has the satisfaction of having the knowledge that his experience on the Examiner hockey team will fit him for a position as a wood chopper in any lumber camp where strenuous work is called for.

* * *

It will be back to the tall cornstalks of Otonabee for B. T. Huston, when the big press game is over.

* * *

The Examiner team may go to Lindsay to play a seven picked from the newspaper offices in that town. If they go they should be sent in crates, the way other lemons are shipped.

* * *

In order that the public may not be confused as to the identity of the players we hasten to explain that Jas. Drury Clarke is the fair-haired boy with the sylph-like form who will play point for the Grit seven.

* * *

A young lady, who is aware of the roaming qualities of Josiah Greenwoods Craig's affections, states that he should be played at "rover" instead of in goal. His Sunday night experience will qualify him for the former position.

* * *

A local theatrical man is anxious to secure moving pictures of the game. In order that he may not be disappointed we give him the tip that no one on the Examiner team is fast enough to qualify for a place in a moving picture.

* * *

It is said that the residents of "Hogan's" Alley will be out in full force to see the game.

* * *

Mr. Hennery is of the opinion that a win for the Examiner team would be something to crow over.

* * *

Little curls of scarlet, little spots of red,
On a certain player add brightness to his head.

* * *

"What I know about hockey is the subject of a book recently issued by Harry Burridge. On examination we find that it consists of an illustrated cover and two blank pages.

* * *

The great bartered Hutchinson will not be seen on the Examiner team this year. "Hutch" wires to the manager of the Review team as follows: "Hope you trim the Lemonville brigade badly. They are now a bunch of dubs."

* * *

A small boy says the game will resemble a fruit social owing to the presence of the seven lemons constituting the Examiner team.

* * *

One of the attractions of the game will be B. T. Huston's attempts to handle a hockey stick. He will do it about as gracefully as an artist trying to manage an ice-pick.

* * *

After Long Premier Robinson has been in the game for about twenty minutes he will bear a striking resemblance to a joke turned upside down.

HOGANNISMS.

Say this on your piano. Professional copies may be secured from the publishers. The air is O'Reilly." Everybody is expected to sing it at the Examiner-Review game.

Here it is:

"John Hogan, John Hogan, you're the hero of all my slogan,
An a sleuth you're so wise, you should wear a disguise
Though the paper you work for you well advertise;
John Hogan, John Hogan, 'twas you helped the cop run a rogue in
With the handcuffs you're king and I'm honored to sing
Of so famous a man as John Hogan."

Between times Prof. Hobanni Hogganni will do a handcuff turn. He will also explain "How I got stung" in connection with his police station experiences.

There is no possible chance of Hogan batching a place on the team, but as he has specially requested to be allowed to be conspicuous, he will hold the sticks in the timers' box.

As he is shovelling off the ice at half time Hogan will explain how he scooped the Review.

Much Interest in Skating Races

Robson and Heffernan Meet at Brock St. Rink Tomorrow Night

The skating championship of Ontario will be decided at the Brock street rink tomorrow night, when F. J. Robson, of Toronto, champion of Canada, and C. D. Heffernan, holder of the Canadian two mile record, will meet. The announcement that these two fast ones are to meet has attracted great interest, and the rink should be packed to the doors. Robson and Heffernan will meet in half mile, one mile and two mile events, the competitor winning two out of the three events to be adjudged the winner. In addition to the above events there will be a mile (open) race for boys under eighteen years of age, for a gold medal ,and a mile race open to the county of Peterborough.

The band will be in attendance and there will be skating between the racing events.

The Games on Friday Night

Bridgenorth and Quakers to play After Straths. all Star Game

On Friday night after the Strathcona-All Star game a match will be played between Bridgenorth and the Quakers. These teams appear to be matched and been longing all season for an opportunity to clash. The contest should be an interesting one.

Everybody knows the calibre of the Strathconas and All Star sevens. The Straths by winning the championship have shown themselves to be the best septette in the City League and the the match between them and the Stars is certain to be a close one. The game should be the best contested one of the season.

GOT CONFUSED IN THE NAMES

A gentleman whose interest in the theatre is not a particularly deep one, was discussing with his family a day or two ago, the theatrical attractions that have been in Peterborough this season, and passing some remarks on what was in store in the line of amusements.

"There's a good show coming on Monday," he said.

"What is it?" asked one of his daughters.

"When Chivalry was in Bloom," was the prompt reply, and paterfamilias failed to see where the laugh came in.

Lieut.-Col. Bogg of Picton, retiring secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Agricultural Society, after 26 years' service was presented with a purse of $100 yesterday.

Played With Matches and Burned Sofa

Residence of Mr. Jos. Gray Had Close Call From Being Destroyed

A disastrous fire was narrowly averted last evening at the home of Mr. Jos. Gray, corner McDonnell and Park Sts. Mr. and Mrs. Gray went to church leaving their two small children in the house. During their parents' absence the little tots played with matches with the result that the sofa took fire. When the children found that they could not put the blaze out they ran to the door and a gentleman who was passing by at the time sent in the alarm. The fire brigade soon arrived and with little difficulty succeeded in putting out the conflagration. The sofa was scorched considerably but otherwise little damage was done.

OBITUARY

THOS. GREER.

Dr. Johnston received a telegram today informing him that a former well known resident of Otonabee had passed away in Dunkirk, N.Y., in the person of Mr. Thos. Greer.

The remains are expected to arrive in the city tonight and interment will take place in Little Lake Cemetery.

Camel's Milk.

Camel's milk is said to be not only very palatable, but also extremely strengthening and nourishing.

Old Fogy.

Old fogy means an old military pensioner. The term comes from the old pensioners of Edinburgh castle, whose chief business was to fire the guns or assist in quelling street riots.

Effect of an Iceberg.

Newfoundland has at times a peculiar visitor, which is thus described: "The occasional grounding of an immense iceberg a short distance from the shore produces an astonishing local climatic change during its stay, preventing the ripening of crops and garden fruits, but presenting at sunset magnificent prismatic or iridescent effects."

Smelling Salts.

Smelling salts are a prolific cause of deafness. All strong and pungent odors, particularly those which act on the secretory processes, should be avoided as far as possible.

Hot Sand.

A sand bag will hold heat better than anything else. A woolen stocking filled with fine sand and heated in an oven will retain warmth twice as long as a water bag or a brick.

The Spanish Peasant.

The Spanish peasant works every day and dances half the night and yet eats only his black bread, onion and watermelon. The Smyrna porter eats only a little fruit and some olives, yet he carries with ease his load of 200 pounds.

Old Helmets.

Many helmets of the fourteenth century were provided with door visors, opening laterally on hinges.

Books in Russia.

In Russia many scientific and miscellaneous books are not allowed to be sold, simply on account of a few objectionable lines, but if any one needs the book he can send a letter, with 80 kopecks, and get special permission to order a copy.

The First Envelope.

The first envelope ever made is kept in the British museum.

Jethou Island.

Jethou, one of the Channel islands, is the smallest inhabited island in Europe, and in its entire length and breadth of about three square miles it has but one inhabited house. It has a population of about seven, is without roads of any sort and has no mail.

The Microscope.

Frequent use of the microscope is said to prevent nearsightedness. Watchmakers are seldom afflicted with it.

Cattle in Belgium.

In Belgium breeders are obliged to keep a record of all cattle raised by them, and each animal has a registered trade number, which is engraved on the ring fastened to its ear.

Plum Pudding.

The plum pudding was unknown in England until the middle of the eighteenth century.

ALL LONDON IS SNEEZING.

King Edward Successfully Dodges Influenza—Premier Is Ill.

London, Feb. 17.—Influenza is raging in London. The Prime Minister, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, has been confined to his bed for three days, and the Right Hon. Augustine Birrell, the Chief Secretary for Ireland, is also suffering from an attack. Several courts have been closed because the judges are down with the influenza, and many prominent people are included in the sick list.

The prevalence of the disease was the cause of the King's unexpected visit to Brighton, as great alarm was felt lest he should catch the malady. There are certain things that King Edward dreads, and he has an abnormal fear of influenza. He will avoid the slightest risk of infection, no matter at what inconvenience to himself.

It is a matter of court etiquette, as originally instituted by George III., that no one about the sovereign shall ever complain of illness or confess to it except when absolutely necessary. King Edward has kept this up strictly, but when anybody has the least symptom of influenza he has asked that immediate mention be made of the fact, and that the person so afflicted withdraw until absolutely well again.

HARTWICK'S MUFFS REMOVED.

Old Wife Murderer Took Some Nourishment—Fed With a Spoon.

London, Feb. 17.—James Hartwick, the alleged wife murderer, will be brought into court this morning, if it is necessary to carry him. His preliminary hearing on the charge of having done his wife to death will commence at 11 o'clock.

So far as can be learned Hartwick will not be represented by counsel. He has not been visited recently by any relatives and he has no means at his disposal to secure legal representation. It is probable, however, that when he comes before a judge a counsel will be appointed.

Hartwick's mental condition has apparently changed but little. If anything he is less violent, and Saturday the "muffs," which were placed on his hands were taken off. He has not since evidenced a desire to tear off his clothing. Yesterday morning he took a drink of milk and some porridge when it was offered to him. He would not feed himself, however, and one of the turnkeys had to hold a spoon to his lips.

King Not Disqualified.

Montreal, Feb. 17—Dr. L. H. Davidson declares that the accusation to the effect that the King has forfeited the crown because he attended a Roman Catholic place of worship during the King Carlos obsequies is so much rubbish. He said:

"The act speaks of communion with the Church of Rome. There is no communion established by attending a Roman Catholic church in connection with a funeral. Many of our Roman Catholic fellow citizens of Montreal, for instance, attend Protestant funerals. Would anybody say that because of that they have had communion with the Protestant church? The thing is absurd. Communion means alliance; it means that one has joined the communion and participated in its life and work.

"I am sorry this matter was brought up at all. The King of England attended this Roman Catholic church as a matter of courtesy. Why should he be criticized for so doing?"

Held Up Sunday Editions.

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—Some of the big United States papers this week ran against an unexpected snag in the amended postal regulations. The Sunday editions were not allowed to come into Canada as "dailies" and obtain the concessions as such. The original regulations were framed to exclude some of this very class of matter, and the postal authorities consider the big Sunday paper as a "weekly."

The Canadian Government officials hold that as separate subscription lists are made out for these and as they are not part of the regular daily editions they are not under the favored amendment and must be fully prepaid for entry.

Cobalt Clerk Suicides.

Cobalt, Feb. 17.—Fred Anders, a clerk in the Cobalt freight office of the T. & N. O. Railway, shot and killed himself at 12.30 p. m. Saturday.

Anders sent a bullet from a 32-calibre Smith & Wesson revolver into his head and died within half an hour. The remaining five chambers were loaded.

He was found about a quarter to one by W. H. Hickey, the local manager of the freight department, and Charles Reekin.

He left a note directing that his body be forwarded to E. B. White, Grand Rapids, Mich.

He was 33 years of age and a widower. No cause is known for his act.

Shot During Quarrel.

Hattiesburg, Miss., Feb. 17.—As a result of a quarrel over the payment of $2,500, J. F. Wider, a wealthy sawmill operator, president of the Mississippi Pipe Association, and one of the leading lumbermen of the south, shot and killed W. L. Booth Saturday at Epp's Station on the Gulf and Ship Island Railroad.

Booth was a real estate dealer of Dallas, Texas. A special train with the sheriff and Wider's lawyer left for Epps Saturday evening.

New Japanese Minister.

New York, Feb. 17.—Baron Takahira, the new Japanese ambassador, arrived yesterday on the Etruria and declared that war between the United States and Japan would be the most inhuman event in the history of the world and was too "hellish" to be brought off.

Rev. Thomas Spurgeon Resigns.

London, Feb. 17.—Rev. Thomas Spurgeon, pastor of the Metropolitan Tabernacle, has made definite his resignation of the pastorate, which was postponed from March last year. His health is still poor.

Two cases of smallpox were isolated in Vancouver yesterday.

Dr. MacKendrick has been elected president of Galt Horse Show.

FLOODS AT PITTSBURG

Millions of Dollars' Damage Done in the City.

Miles of Streets Submerged — Great Loss of Live Stock—Thousands of Persons Living in Upper Stories of Houses—Suffering Intense and Widespread — Lewiston Reservoir In Danger.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 17.—After reaching 30 7-10ths feet at noon yesterday and remaining at that stage for three hours, the high water in the rivers is now slowly receding.

The danger mark in this city is 22 feet.

The damage and suffering caused by the flood is widespread. A remarkable feature, however, is that as far as is known, there has been no sacrifice of human life.

Live stock has perished in considerable numbers. Miles of territory in Greater Pittsburg and vicinity are submerged and thousands of business houses in the downtown portion of Pittsburg are attempting to clear their cellars of water.

The actual monetary damage, it is believed, will amount to several million dollars.

The suffering caused by the high water is intense. Thousands of persons are living in the upper floors of their homes, the lower portions of which are filled with water.

Floods at Dayton.

Dayton, Ohio, Feb. 17.—Latest news from the north is to the effect that the Lewiston reservoir has not broken, although its banks are overflowing and there is danger of a collapse. Already thousands of dollars damage has been done in this city, several of the low-lying residence districts being under water. Rescue of a dozen families had to be made by boats yesterday, and a further rise will imperil scores more.

White City, a pleasure resort, is entirely under water, and its buildings may be carried down the river.

PORT HOOD VERDICT.

Explosion of Powder Ignited Gas in Mine—Boss Dismissed.

Port Hood, C.B., Feb. 17.—The verdict of the coroner's jury in the mine explosion of Feb. 7, which caused the death of ten men, was, in effect, that the disaster was caused by the explosion of some explosive mixture.

Since the close of the inquest another examination of the mine was made on Saturday, when Manager McLellan discovered an empty powder can completely shattered. Above the spot where the can was found there was a large hole in the roof, and timbers were blown away.

At this point the man who was most disfigured was found, and it is now believed that this discovery explains the cause of the explosion; first, powder, and then a small amount of gas along the level ignited.

Stewart, the fire boss has been dismissed, and it is said other heads will drop.

Almost Victims of Coal Gas.

Smith's Falls, Feb. 17.—The family of Rev. N. B. Topping of Perth had a very narrow escape from asphyxiation by coal gas a few nights ago. Mrs. Topping and one of her daughters awakened about the same time. Miss Topping could neither move nor speak, and it was with the greatest difficulty Mrs. Topping succeeded in reaching a window. Though in a half-dazed condition she managed to break a pane of glass and the sweep of fresh air partially revived her just as she felt consciousness leaving her. By almost a superhuman effort she aroused some of the other members of the family, and by their united efforts all were taken into the air and their lives were saved. Two of her sons were unconscious for some time, and all were very ill, but are gradually recovering. The dampers of a coal stove had been shut too closely and this accounted for the gas being in the house.

Family Nearly Wiped Out.

Hamilton, Feb. 17.—Another case of asphyxiation that nearly cost the lives of the three young children of S. Schreiber, 15 York street, was discovered yesterday.

Early in the morning Mr. Schreiber got up and lighted a gas stove in the room where his three children were sleeping. He then returned to his own room for a Sunday nap.

A short time after one of the children tottered into his parent's room complaining that he was very ill. Investigation revealed the fact that the other two children were lying unconscious in their room. An alarm was given, and by the prompt response of Constable Yanxley and others aid was obtained and the children were all brought around. The stove that caused the trouble did not have any chimney.

Seven Killed in Collision.

Toledo, Ohio, Feb. 17.—Seven people were killed and a dozen injured when a Big Four passenger train struck a Toledo and Western electric car at the Michigan Central crossing in West Toledo Saturday night.

The conductor stopped at the crossing to flag the car across. Seeing the train coming he motioned to the motorman to stop, but the signal was misunderstood, for the car came ahead and the collision followed.

One Auto Breaks Down.

Utica, N.Y., Feb. 17.—The French Moto Bloc, competing in the New York to Paris automobile contest, which left Albany early Saturday, was towed into this city last night with a smashed engine. The car must undergo extensive repairs before it can resume the journey.

It became disabled four miles east of this city.

Lecture on "the Four Johns" Was Greatly Enjoyed—Clever Delineation of Character

The lecture and entertainment at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday night was interesting and much enjoyed by a large number of people. Miss Choate, Peterborough's talented and popular violinist, rendered a selection in her usual beautiful manner and received a very hearty encore to which she responded. Mr. J. H. Scriver sang, "Mary of Argyle," in good voice, and was heartily applauded. Mr. H. W. Cooke, the chairman, then introduced the lecturer, Mr. Thomas McGillicudy of Toronto. Mr. McGil- that the name John was used by him in a sincere sense, that John meant the average man. There was only one John in reality. Each man was a separate entity, an individual. No personality was repeated. Every man must bear his own burden. Yet after all, in each man there were two Johns. There was the spiritual John and the natural John. John at his best and John at his worst. But Dr. Wendel Holmes had claimed that there were three Johns in every John. There was the John that people that thought John was, there was the John that John thought John really was. To these three Johns the lecturer added a fourth. The John that John might be. He then took each of the four Johns in detail and by argument and a number of apt illustrations which varied from the quaintly humorous to the pathetic and heroic made a thorough delineation of human character. The lecture was decidedly humorous and at the same time most interesting and uplifting.

COL. GASKINS ADDRESSED BIG CROWDS

Interesting Meeting at S. A. Barracks Yesterday—Lecture To-night by Capt. Hurd

Yesterday was a big day in local Salvation Army circles. The corps was honored with a visit from Col. and Mrs. Gaskins, general secretaries of the Army for the Dominion of Canada. They arrived from Toronto on Saturday evening, and were welcomed at the depot by the band who escorted them to the barracks, where Mrs. Gaskins commissioned the members of the League of Mercy.

The attendance at the meetings yesterday was the largest that have been in the barracks for some time, over five hundred being present last night. At the holiness meeting yesterday morning, Col. Gaskins addressed a large gathering. In the afternoon another big crowd assembled, and Col. Gaskins in an interesting and instructive manner held the attention of his audience with "Stories of the Battlefield." He spoke of his own hardships, his struggles against sin and his final victory for Christ.

At evening service which was a very bright and attractive one, Col. Gaskins again delivered an earnest and helpful discourse. His subject was "A Study in Botany." There were two converts as a result of Col. Gaskin's appeal, and his address will long be remembered as being productive of much good. Mrs. Gaskins took an active part in all the services during the day and led the meetings.

Capt. Hurd, the travelling financial secretary for Quebec and Eastern Ontario, was present yesterday, and tonight will give an address on "Paying the fare," a true story of a life in London. Tonight will be Capt. Hurd's farewell to Peterborough. He is retiring from his present office and will go to Newfoundland on a six weeks' furlough. The address will be illustrated by fifty views and an excellent programme of music will be rendered by the band.

WOLF HUNTS

Wolf hunts seem to be pretty much of a farce. The widely-advertised C.P.R. expeditions for the extermination of this destructive pest have heretofore resulted in the death of one or two wolves, never more. The wolves are more successful in their hunts. They pull down the deer relentlessly, and as they are rapidly increasing in numbers things look bad for the deer. Primarily the extreme cunning of the wolf is at the bottom of the trouble. He can't be trapped or poisoned. It is difficult to shoot him. So probably the only recourse will be the old-fashioned one of putting salt on his tail. If however a hunter's prowess came to be known by the number of wolf-scalps he had taken instead of having both the human and the ordinary wolf attacking the deer we might have man and the doglike beast attacking each other.

Societies for the preservation of game are many but they are not equal to the present occasion apparently.

THE EXAMINER VERSUS THE FARMER

The Examiner editorially condemns the idea of a rural mail delivery. True to the theories for which it and those for whom it stands politically, would sacrifice and have sacrificed Canada, it would block all consideration of Mr. Borden's comprehensive and feasible letter delivery to the more thickly-settled rural districts. Had the Examiner been, alive (and as usual kicking) at the time of the proposed inauguration of city deliveries it would no doubt have pointed out just as lucidly the impossibility of delivering letters there at 2 cents apiece, four times, three, or even twice a day. This pessimistic, unprogressive way of looking at things is not only unprofitable, it is worse. It tends to discourage all progress, enterprise and development. The Quebec Bridge seems to weigh heavily upon the Examiner and has produced in it doubtless, a species of nightmare. It reminds one of the Irishman who ate a pound cake before going to bed. "Glory be!" he exclaimed, "that it wasn't two pounds." Citing figures is like quoting scripture. If not done fairly it does great harm. Are we to understand from the Examiner's argument that the U. S. contemplates giving up purely rural mail delivery because of its enormous expense? If so we can inform it that its figures "do lie." President Roosevelt regards the inauguration and extension of rural mail delivery in the U.S. as the greatest measure of internal policy of his whole term of office. The expense was and is great but the returns direct and indirect are much greater. It is not proposed by Mr. Borden to have a delivery in the more sparsely settled districts. The desirability of having it in the more thickly settled districts is however, obvious. Germany and the U. S. have solved the difficulty. With us its adoption is a matter of mere calculation. Our contemporary could not well condemn the whole scheme more strongly than it does, but let us assure it that while rural delivery might be, as it forecasts, an expensive toy, or a dismal failure, in the hands of the Laurier administration, it would be quite a different thing under the management of Mr. Borden, in whose lexicon there is no such word as "fail." We repeat that we do not advocate rural mail delivery under Laurier. It would be merely one more link in the chain of national destruction. It is enough to discourage even an optimist to see soup-kitchens and poverty raising their ghastly forms again but do not be deceived. The Conservatives will shortly change all that. Meanwhile let us give the farmer a change even as everything hitherto has been given to the G.T.P. and the greedy middleman.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Globe is now delving into its springe ditorial barrel for "casuals" on the wild goose question, the stray, fog, the owl (Grit), the mountain hen, then land shark, aerial ice-bergs and other things kept to fill in when it doesn't want to express opinions on Parliamentary or other measures.

"A number of students from Laval University, Montreal, who visited Ottawa, were compelled to give up spoons and other silverware belonging to the Russell House, after they had boarded the train for home."

Thus we see that educational training is no substitute for morals and common sense.

The end of the agitation in favor of what is known as Producer Gas is in sight:

"A report on producer gas has been prepared by experts under the direction of the hydro-electric commission, and is being considered by the commission and the government preparatory to being submitted to the house.

Because of the agitation on behalf of gas as being a cheaper motive power than electric energy from Niagara Falls or other water powers, and in view of the efforts of the opposition to discredit the government's cheap power policy by such companies, the question has been gone into thoroughly and the report is said to show that electricity is about 25 per cent. cheaper than producer gas.

"Well, brothers," said the sombre-visaged man, rising in their midst, "this is my first attendance, but I am a Socialist almost by nature, and I think I can understand, from the previous speakers what you want. In the first place, you want a realm where everyone has to be good by law."

"We do! we do!" cried half a dozen long-haired young men in turndown collars.

The speaker continued; "Where food and clothing gave no trouble, and money does not exist."

"That's it! That's what we want."

"Where everyone goes to worship on Sunday, and regular hours are kept, week in, week out."

"Yes, that's it!"

"Well, I myself have just come from such a place——"

"Where? What is it called?"

"It's a place called prison," he said, and resumed his seat.

We have always had the feeling that this is what Socialism really meant.

FROM HANSARD

January 10, 1908.

Then we come to the fellows who are getting a rake-off. On P—95 I find an expenditure with F. L. Brooks & Company, of Montreal, amounting to $50,679.50. I thought that after the investigation into the transaction of these men in the Public Accounts Committee last session, the Government would have done with them. It was proved in that committee, both in the accounts of Merwin and Brooks that somebody was getting a rakeoff through middlemen who purchased for the Government. The country lost thousands of dollars by this. We paid Brooks and Company $50,679.

Mr. Foster—Any tender?

Mr. Taylor—No. On P—98, George T. Merwin got $50,641.50. Then we had a company organized here. I do not known who was in that company, I do not know whether any of the Ministers was in it or not, but I am credibly informed that there is an ex-Minister in it. I am referring to the Canadian Fog Signal Company, Limited, which was formerly Thomas L. Wilson. This company was paid $238,162 for automatic gas and bell buoys. Formerly, it was Thomas L. Wilson; now it is a company organized here in Ottawa, and I am credibly informed that the ex-Minister of the Interior is a member of that firm. Altogether, they purchased lighthouse supplies last year to the amount of $476,018, and a great share of the amount is purchased from Brooks and Merwin and this new Ottawa company formerly Wilson.

Mr. Foster—Where does Strubbe come in?

Mr. Taylor—I did not bother with Strubbe. His account is not very heavy this year. I want the Minister to explain in detail why these enormous increases have taken place in every branch of his department. Why has he furnished the sailors on these Dominion steamers clothing to the extent of $12,673 last year, when the clothing was furnished at $595 when we were in power? Why, has an expenditure of $51,616 been incurred for travelling expenses by the minister and his officials, when that account in 1896 amounted to only $9,767? Why did nine Dominion steamers cost $610,000 last year, while the same number of steamers—not the same steamers, but the same number—cost only $150,519 in 1896?—an increase of $459,560. Then I want him to explain why it costs $25 per month per man to feed the sailors on the "Lady aurier" and the "Aberdeen?" And how does the Minister justify himself, as an economic minister, in allowing his officers to make such expenditures as I have read—$18 for a butcher's block, $35 for a lavatory, and all these other expenditures for table cutlery and supplies? I have given the minister the page for every item, and I hope that when the committee resumes after six o'clock, he will give us the explanation.

Havelock Wants and Will Have More Electric Power

Some Interesting Reminiscences of the Days When Streets and Shops of the Railroad Town Were Lighted by Coal Oil Lamps—History of the Havelock Electric Company.

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Feb. 17—The heather is on fire at Havelock over the development of Healey Falls and everywhere every person is booming the proposition.

Electric power is what they are after and what they mean to have. They are very well satisfied indeed, with the benefit the village has derived from the electric power supplied by the Havelock Electric Company, and when they see the good that is done they crave for more electric power.

The people are as much excited as when electric power was first introduced to this community and for this reason the writer would like to recall some reminiscences of the first and only electric power that has been supplied to the ever prosperous and growing railway town, Havelock.

The citizens of Havelock can easily recall the "dark days" or rather dak night of this town when they were afraid to leave their homes at night without carrying some light as the streets were so dark that a person spent more time in the ditches than on the sidewalk.

Havelock did indeed look a dull and gloomy place to visitors with the streets as dark as they could possibly be and the business places lighted with dingy old oil lamps that gave out just enough light for a person to find his way into the shops and out again. The town did for a time try to light the streets with oil lamps but they proved a bad failure indeed. But Havelock was not doomed to always remain a place of darkness, for it contained a number of citizens who were always working for the interests of the town. They saw this was a needed improvement and accordingly set to the task of improving the village by giving it electric lights.

Situated about seven miles northeast of Havelock, between Round and Belmont Lakes, is a beautiful little river which in the spring of the year, overflowed its banks, thus giving the adjoining lands moisture enough so that the growth in these parts was luxuriant. This little river that caused the adjoining country to be one of beauty and wealth was destined to be of great value in the building up of Havelock, when the Havelock Electric Light and Power Company got behind the project. This river named now, has in its course a beautiful fall where the water drops over a rocky ledge for about twenty feet and then goes rushing on to Belmont Lake.

At this fall, where, in the spring, the spray splashes far into the air and where the mist glimmers in the sunshine, the instigators of the Havelock Electri Light Company determined to see if they could not better the interests of Havelock by electric light. They knew when they began there were many difficulties to contend with before the project could be carried through and this is why they did not implicate many of the villagers in the scheme until Havelock was being supplied with electric power.

The following gentlemen composed the Havelock Electric Light Company at first and had to supply all the funds for putting the plant in operation; Dr. Jos. Holdcroft, J. W. Bryans, Alex. Rose, T. H. Curtis and Wm. Matthison.

To these men who composed the Havelock Electric Light Company, the people of Havelock owe a great deal, for did they not go down in their pockets for the funds that furthered the interests of all Havelock and when they supplied them, they did not know whether they would ever recover them or not.

The village is now well lighted and presents a splendid appearance at night with the business places and dwelling homes gayly lighted with dazzling lights at a very moderate cost.

But, though the citizens of Havelock are proud of the electric lights and the company, they wish for more powers to induce factories to spring up in our midst, for electric railroads and to benefit the country in other ways.

THE GEORGIAN BAY CANAL

The following article, written by a resident of Peterborough, Mr. N. A. Howard Moore, deals with a subject that is of vital importance at the present time. Much has been written on the matter but Review readers will find in this article many points that have not been touched upon in the past.

The Georgian Bay Canal or rather the Montreal, Ottawa and Georgian Bay Ship Canal as its correct title should be, will no doubt be built in the near future, and a little information about this great undertaking would be of interest to readers of your valuable paper.

The project was started many years ago by an Ottawa engineer named McLeod Stewart, and no doubt would have been completed now had the Conservative party been in power, and Canada would be reaping the benefit of increased transportation facilities to the seaboard; besides having a means of ingress to the great lakes, wholly inside Canadian territory, in event of any warlike demonstration, she would be wholly independent of any power, which may occupy the country to the south of us. As far back as August 27th, 1899, the New York Sun, a paper recognized the world over as unfriendly to all British interests, says; "If they (the Canadians) devise a method by which the British navy would be able in the case of war to swarm into the great lakes and bombard Chicago and our other lake ports, they would be foolish not to do so." As a military undertaking the Sun again says; "The circumstances of main importance is that the Georgian Bay Canal is promoted as a military measure and has been for two years under consideration both by the Dominion Parliament and by the Imperial Government of Great Britain, as a means of access to the great lakes for the British in case of war between that country and the United States." Now that the differences are to be settled amicably by diplomatic process of negotiations and a treaty entered into by all the parties concerned, Great Britain, United States and Canada, and there will now be no danger of there ever being trouble from a martial invasion of either power against the other. But there is another kind of invasion which our cousins to the south of us, are nothing loath to take advantage of, even our most vested rights, commercially, and then refuse to adjust them until almost forced to.

The M.O.G.B. Ship Canal route was surveyed as far back as 1856, by Mr. Walter Stanley. Mr. McLeod Stewart, advocated this course for many years. Mr. E. P. Bueder, M. Inst., C.E., made a survey from Georgian Bay to Lake Nipissing in 1879. In 1899 Mr. Harry McLeod, C. E., made a survey of the summit section from Lake Nipissing to Talon Lake on the Upper Mattawa river. Mr. McLeod made surveys for the Department of Railways and Canals in 1899 and 1900 from Deschene Lake to St. Anne's, including the locks at Deschennes and Chaudierre Falls at Ottawa—omitting the Grenville to Carillon Canal. In the autumn of 1900 Mr. McLeod commenced the survey of the Rocher Fendu channel and the Calumette channel on each side of Calumette Island. This stretch comprises the most difficult portion of the Ottawa River.

All of Mr. MacLeod's surveys and estimates agree with those made by former engineers. They made an estimate on the canal of $73,000,000. Mr. MacLeod in his estimates placed the depth at 20 feet (eight feet more drought than the former estimates) substituted steel for wood gates, and widened the base of excavation to 300 feet in certain places, and made additional provision for regulating the flood water. These additions made by Mr. McLeod's estimates brought the figures up to $80,000,000. Now the depth proposed is 22 feet draft, which will increase the expense to the country to $100,000,000. This is warranted in view of the fact that the limit in freight carrying boats has been reached. And even with unlimited depth it will not pay to construct freight carriers for lake service alone, any larger than the present size recently attained. The facts are that with a haul of less than a 1000 miles the running expenses and fixed charges for ships over 480 feet long, 52 feet wide and 19 feet draft increase more rapidly than the profits from increase of carrying capacity.

The only reason for constructing waterways more than 21 feet deep would be to accommodate foreign commerce between foreign and lake ports and vice versa. Such a canal as proposed would take a steamer or barge that can be made to profitably navigate the lakes right down to the seaboard without any transfer or obstruction, there to transfer to ocean steamers for England and the continent.

The necessity for the building of this ship canal is obvious when you consider what needs there are for transport, and the lack of means or rather the inadequate means of means of transport to the seaboard through Canadian channels. Why should we not have the carrying of all the grain, ore, and other merchandise from the American north-west as well as our own.

Let us look for a moment at the amount of produce exported by the States of the north-west, which centre on Chicago and Duluth. The population, area, and grains are as follows;

Population	23,500,000
Area, sq.m.	1,160,000
Oats	225,500,000
Wheat	284,000,000
Corn	533,600,000

Animals, on the hoof, or manufactured into canned or pickled meats, are;

Swin, head	15,000,000
Cattle, head	12,000,000

Of the above amount about 15,250,000 tons go from Chicago, and other lake ports to Atlantic ports, via rail and water routes. Considering the advantages of the Ottawa navigation routes over the other routes, with a shorter distance by way of above canal of 500 miles, and a saving of one and one-quarter cents per bushel on grains, there is not the least doubt but what we would get at least one-half of all the freight which is now being shipped by way of Buffalo, and other Lake Erie routes, or about 7,500,000 tons, but if we compare the 26 million tons of traffic which passed through the Soo canal last year with above and allow that the Georgian Bay Canal would receive one-half, which no doubt is a very low estimate, we would receive at least 13 million tons of traffic and add our 9,000,000 tons from the Canadian north-west the canal would reap a revenue from the start.

Other sources of traffic which would pour their freight through this waterway are; The export of beef, hogs, products, cheese and butter in 1900 amounted to 7,574,000 tons, of which the bulk originated at Chicago, and the district west of the Great Lakes. This is all high class freight, and no doubt special steamers would be built on purpose to handle this freight. The southern or gulf route is too hot, but the cooler route via the Ottawa River and canal would no doubt draw all this trade that way.

The lumber industry of the North Ottawa district represents in pine alone in annual freight is not less than two million tons of sawn lumber. Under present conditions all except that which is carried by the Ottawa and Champlain canals, has to be hauled by rail, and rail charges from Western Ontario to Montreal are high. The opening of this waterway would mean cheaper rates, and open the market of the great lakes, to the Ottawa Valley lumbermen. The importance of that market may be judged from the fact that nine lakeports received in 1896 over 2,750,000 tons of sawn lumber. Cordwood represents one-quarter as great as the freight of all other kinds of lumber put together. The output, without any increased cut of pine, will probably not fall short of 5,000,000 tons yearly, the bulk of which would be moved by navigation. Cheap transportation will render merchantable from the whole of this district vast quantities of birch, maple, hemlock, tamarac, ash, oak, etc., and rough lumber, which, under the present conditions cannot be moved, and which will find a ready market in the country about and west of the Great Lakes.

Pulpwood.—Mills in operation or in course of construction, between the Soo and Ottawa, for the manufacture of pulp, have a capacity of 1,000 tons daily. This is chiefly for export, and with the reduction in cost, and possibility of direct shipment, would result in an unusually increased production, to at least one million tons per annum, and would mostly pass through the canal. With regard to iron, the output of iron from Lake Superior was in 1900, 16,000,000 tons, and has literally created the great shipping and shipbuilding industries of the Great Lakes. Even with the present canal accommodation of 14 feet draft, and restricted lock accommodation, direct shipments are contemplated from Chicago, not only to Liverpool, but to Rio de Janeiro. It is a notable fact that the steamers now being constructed for lake and ocean commerce through the existing Canadian canals, are for 20 foot draft, builders considering it more economical to lighten the carriers to 14 feet, through the canals than to undertake transportation on the lakes with ships of only 14 feet draft. If this is the case, when special vessels have to be constructed, on what a different scale would this have to be done if a canal was constructed open, not only to ships that can float on the lakes, but also to merchant steamers on the high seas when lightened at Montreal and Quebec? And does this not illustrate the great need of a greater shipping outlet to the Great Lakes?

The canal will be a means of bringing the coal of Nova Scotia mines into competition with the American product. The shipment of coal from Nova Scotia has hitherto not ascended the St. Lawrence to any extent above Montreal, to which port the shipments amounted to about 700,000 tons annually. The loss and expense of transhipment have prevented the Canadian and American coal coming in competition above Montreal. With the Ottawa waterway open, the Canadian product will have a better chance to compete with the coal from the United States. All the Lake Huron and Georgian Bay ports are closer to Montreal by four hundred miles by the Ottawa route than by the St. Lawrence. Every mile travelled west is a mile into the territory of American coal shippers, but a journey of 400 miles up the Ottawa brings the coal carrier within a few miles of Sudbury, and 200 miles more would land him at the "Soo." There is also no reason why grain could not be shipped from Fort William to Sydney, there stored and shipped all the year round, and it would be 1,000 miles nearer Liverpool than it would be at New York, and the vessel could be sure of a return cargo of coal.

PRESTON IS A LIVE TOWN

Mr. Chas. H. Sawle is Getting Along Fine in That Place

Mr. Charles H. Sawle, editor and manager of the Preston "Progress," and a former city editor of the Review, returned to Preston today after spending Saturday and Sunday in the city. Mr. Sawle was delegated by the Preston town council to come to Peterborough and secure information about the local Waterworks Department, as Preston is contemplating municipal ownership of its waterworks system.

Mr. Sawle states that Preston is one of the best towns in Ontario and that it is going ahead rapidly. To make the "Progress" the best weekly in Ontario is Mr. Sawle's aim, and the many improvements made in that paper recently show that this ambition will soon be realized.

Mr. Sawle was warmly greeted by his many friends here.

The Huron steam laundry at Goderich was damaged by fire last night.

In 1907 Canada's exports to Great Britain decreased $8,713,849, and those to the United States increased $10,149,547.

Hard Times in Old Country; What is Thought About Canada

Mr. Archibald, who Has Returned From Trip to Scotland, Tells of Conditions—The Atlantic Was on its Bad Behavior and Made Things Interesting on Return Trip—485 Passengers Delayed in New York

Mr. A. W. Archibald, Chamberlain street, and an employee of the Best Stove Company, has returned to the city after a six weeks' visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Archibald, Newmilnes, Ayrshire, Scotland. On December 14th he and his wife and child left Peterborough for Philadelphia, where his wife and child remained during his absence, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Connal. Mr. Archibald's visit was the result of a communication telling him of the serious illness of his mother.

He reached New York, the sailing port, on January 10th, and was delayed there for five days by reason of the fact that the "Lusitania" of the Cunard Line, the vessel on which he was to sail, was overbooked 485 passengers. The booking communications having come in to such an extent from different parts of Canada and the United States that the correspondence for passages became greater than the steamships company could handle. There was quite a panic among a great many of the passengers when it was known that the delay could not be avoided. However, the delayed passengers were transferred to the "Columbia" of the White Star Line and during their stay in New York all their expenses were paid by the Cunard Line.

LOTS OF MAIL.

It was a mighty rough passage from New York to Plymouth, England, where the "Columbia" stopped to leave off 5,000 bags of mail. After leaving Plymouth she made for Cherbourg, France, where 2,000 more bags were put off. The mail consignment taken altogether was the largest one ever carried by the Columbia. Five hundred Italians bound for the land of sunshine for the winter also landed at Cherbourg to make further connections for Italy. From Cherbourg to make further connections for Italy. From Cherbourg the "Columbia" sailed to Southampton, England, reaching there Christmas eve. London was reached Christmas morning. The day after Christmas Mr. Archibald arrived at his home and had a most felicitous time with his parents and brother and his three sisters.

HARD TIMES.

On all sides in the Old Country there are evidences of hard times, Mr. Archibald stated. The roseate illusions of Canada have completely faded away. Every returning vessel brings home some disconsolate persons who had left the old land in hopes of coming back under totally different circumstances. For the last five years the great possibilities of making a fortune in Canada had been the talk but at present nothing is told of the many advantages of "The Lady of the Snows." Those returning to the Old Country are principally of the laboring class. As there is nothing for them to do there the depression is absolutely painful. Soup kitchens are being opened up in many places and rich families are doing a noble work of relief.

In New York and Philadelphia Mr. Archibald noticed that conditions were even worse and poverty was noticed everywhere.

ROUGH WEATHER COMING BACK

The return trip on the Columbia was made under the greatest difficulties. From the very first day until New York harbor was reached, a day and a half behind scheduled time, it was a continual round of unpleasantness. The ocean rocked and roared to such an extent that on the first day only four out of the 300 passengers on board sat down at the supper table, the other 296 being seasick. The passage was the worst the vessel had had to make in eleven years. On one occasion the crow's nest, or lookout, was so badly frozen over that the lookout man found it impossible to walk down it and had to be lowered by means of a rope. When a hundred miles from New York, where the ship was anchored for inspection, the anchor was lost in 68 fathoms of water, the chain holding it snapping, and it was eight hours before it was recovered. From the mouth of the Hudson to New York the river was choked with ice, the farthest out it has been frozen for years. Mr. Archibald was naturally glad when he landed on land, the rough weather and hard voyage losing all interest after the novelty had worn off, and becoming absolutely irksome and monotonous.

Young Man Victim of Hold-up On Simcoe St. Last Night

A daring hold-up took place last evening between nine and ten o'clock at the corner of Simcoe and Bethune streets, when one of Peterborough's well known young men had a thrilling experience with two ruffians. The young man was going west when he was met and accosted by two fellows who hailed with "Good-night," and then one of them hit him a blow in the side. "What do you mean?" they were asked.

"This is what we mean," said one of them, and with the above words he pointed a revolver at the young man's face. They then drew back and started to run as if scared at what they had done. Their caps were pulled down over their face, and it was impossible to get a good description of them.

The affair was reported to the police. Constables Mahanry and Newhall watched the midnight trains on the C.P.R. last night but no traces of the hold-up men were found.

Left City to Secure Some Assistance

Financial Stringency Affects the Business of a Local Lawyer

Current and persistent rumors have rendered it unnecessary longer to maintain silence regarding the reported financial embarassment of Mr. A. E. Dixon of the legal firm of Messrs. Edmison and Dixon. Mr. Edmison, it is understood, is in no way mixed up with Mr. Dixon's misfortunes, which are due to as it is thought unwise speculation in mining properties, etc. Efforts made in Toronto to straighten out his difficulties were unsuccessful owing to the hard times and he went on to New York with the same object in view. He is expected home early in the week. It may be said that his relatives in the west are immensely wealthy and if so disposed could easily wipe out the small balance against him of $10,000.

Entered the Stable and Stabbed Horse

On the night of Jan. 12th, Mr. Geo. G. Hendren's stable was entered by some party who nearly ruined one of his black horses by stabbing it with a knife. On Jan. 29th, while Mr. Hendren and his family were attending the Oddfellow's concert, some miscreant entered his furniture store and did considerable damage to a quantity of goods with a knife. It is to be hoped that the party who is guilty of such despicable conduct will be speedily caught and punished.—Lakefield News.

Letters to The Editor

The Review Does Not Hold Itself Responsible for Opinions Expressed by Correspondents

THE DEBATING CLUB

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—I notice in a recent issue of the Review in reply to "An Observer," a letter written by Mr. W. G. Common, re the Y.M.C.A. Debating Club. I am informed on the best of authority that Mr. Common has not been near the Y.M.C.A. Debating Club since Dec. 18th, and he knows only from hearsay what was done, and the programme which he has sent you to be published, has not been adhered to. The programme for January and February has been all changed and not carried out as stated in your issue. It was as follows;—

Jan. 8—Election night.

Jan. 22—"Introduction of Budget," by Minister of Finance.

Feb. 5—"The Bill for the Nationalization of Telephones," withdrawn and a resolution favoring Municipal Control of Public Utilities, introduced instead.

Feb. 19—It is proposed to bring in a bill for "Compulsory Arbitration in all Labor Disputes," and then dissolve the Mock Parliament. The subject of the debate for March 4th (is as solve the Mock Parliament.

The subject of the debate for March 4th, is as you will see by Mr. Common's programme, resolved, "That Equality of Opportunity is impossible under Existing Circumstances." These are all of a socialistic trend.

Now, Mr. Editor, I am not a member of the Debating Club, nor am I a member of the Y.M.C.A., but I am a sympathizer of its objects, but not of some of the actions of some of its members. It is a well known fact that Mr. Common is an avowed Socialist, and some of his associates whom I could name, but will not do so until they "kowtow" too.

The Y.M.C.A. Debating Club should be "an organization for the development of the spiritual and moral side of a young man's life." Is it? I will leave that for others to answer. I have no axe to grind, nor any grievance to mend, but I wish to tell Mr. Common that my informant gives me to understand that there were arguments pro and con of a socialistic tendency on Dec. the 5th on Dec. 4th there was no question of the doctrine preached being anything else, and the proposed debate on Feb. 22nd, and March 4th, are both planks in the socialistic platform. Evidently, Mr. Common is short-sighted, or he cannot read. The programme was not carried out, and he evidently does not take your valuable paper, or he would not have written such a letter to hoodwink the reading public. It is a well-known fact that socialists are subtle in propogating their doctrines and use every opportunity to do so they can. But Canadians do not take kindly to these doctrines, and in fact do not want it at all. They believe in all that is good but we know as well as any one that if the socialists had their way tomorrow they would rule with a rod of iron, even more autocratic than the Czar of Russia. Men who make statements which they cannot prove should never attempt to answer those who have black and white before them, and quote from it. Let Mr. Common go to your office, Mr. Editor, and read the reports of your valuable paper for Dec. 5th, Jan. 23rd, and Feb. 6th, and he will see that what I have stated is correct.

I am, Dear Sir, truly
"AN OBSERVER."

THE GAME LAWS

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I have noticed in your timely comment on the slaughter of game (moose particularly referred to) in our adjoining counties, and the use of the meat at five cents per pound by the lumbering firms in their shanties. I would, as an old hunter who hunts for the outing and sport call the attention of the Ontario Game Commission, and the Ontario Government through your columns to the wholesale slaughter of our deer in our own county by wolves with the idea of their considering the advisability of increasing the bounty for wolves. This season the deer have been killed in their yards without a chance of escape, owing to the great depth of snow in the woods, said to be four feet on the level. At this time of year, when the does are carrying their young, it is painful to think of the poor defenceless creatures, two and three lives sacrificed for one, and the natural increase so very materially ended for good. The bounty should be at least fifty dollars per head for wolves for some years, even if it cost the people $5000 a year, and a hundred wolves are difficult to get in any one year. It is the least that could be done for the hundreds of licencees who pay some $10,000 per year for the privilege of hunting, many of whom now never see a deer. Wolves multiply very rapidly if not killed off. Fifty dollars would be an incentive to settlers to spend weeks trying to kill or capture these creatures. And I am told the best time to get them is when they are about to whelp. The local game association should take the matter up.

Yours, etc.,
G. W. HATTON.

Tells us How to Make Mixture

Splendid Remedy for Stomach and Kidneys and Rheumatism

"The people here do not drink enough water to keep healthy," exclaimed a well-known authority. "The numerous cases of stomach trouble, kidney and bladder diseases and rheumatism are mainly due to the fact that the drinking of water, nature's greatest medicine, has been neglected.

Stop loading your stomach with patent medicines and cure-alls; but get on the water waggon. If you are really sick, why, of course, take the proper medicine—plain common vegetable treatment, which will not shatter the nerves or ruin the stomach."

When requested for such a prescription for the cure of rheumatism and kidney trouble the answer was: "You must make the kidneys do their work; they are the filters of the blood. They must be made to strain out of the blood the waste matter and acids that cause rheumatism; the urine must be neutralized so it will no longer be a source of irritation to the bladder, and, most of all, you must keep these acids from forming in the stomach. This is the cause of stomach trouble and poor digestion. For these conditions I would suggest the following prescription, which is composed of only vegetable ingredients, which can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy. Any one can mix them by shaking well in a bottle. Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. To be taken in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime, but don't forget the water. Drink plenty and often." This valuable information and simple prescription should be posted up in each household and used at the first sign of an attack of rheumatism, backache or urinary trouble, no matter how slight.

Rev. Dr. Wilson Has Passed Away

Death of Native of Otonabee Who Held High Position in New York City

The death occurred at Atlanta, Georgia, on Friday of Rev. Dr. Wilson, field superintendent of the Christian and Missionary Alliance of New York City. Dr. Wilson was well known in Peterborough and his death will be learned of with regret. He was attending a convention at Atlanta, when he was stricken with pneumonia and death came quickly. He was born in Otonabee township about seventy years ago and educated at Trinity College, Toronto and afterwards became curate of St. George's church, Kingston. He had been in New York for the past twenty years and occupied a high position in religious circles in that city. He had visited Peterborough several times, the last time about two years ago when he spoke at Bethany tabernacle. He was a talented speaker and a man of great strength of character.

Sudden Death of Dr. Fisher

Brother of Peterborough Man Passes Away in Toronto

Toronto, Feb. 17—At his residence, 18 St. Patrick street, Dr. J. H. Fisher, passed away suddenly on Saturday. The doctor had had a slight touch of influenza but was sufficiently recovered to be able to attend to his practice on Thursday, making his usual visits. On Friday he was not so well, and on Saturday morning blood poisoning developed, and with such rapidity that he died in the afternoon. The death of the doctor will be mourned by a large number of friends and particularly by residents of the locality in which he for so many years lived and practised. Dr. Fisher came originally from the County of Durham, where the family is settled. He leaves a widow, one daughter, and a son, Mr. Harold Fisher, of the law firm of Murphy and Fisher, Ottawa.

The late Dr. Fisher was well known to many in Peterborough, having resided at Bailieboro for several years. A brother, Mr. W. Fisher, resides on Water street in this city.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF RHEUMATISM

THE CAUSE An excess of uric acid and ureates are deposited in the tissues of the body and joints, causing aches and pains which are called rheumatic.

All the various causes of rheumatism, such as the acute, articular, muscular and gout, have the same common cause—Uric Acid.

To effect a satisfactory cure the uric acid must be removed. This can only be done by introducing into the circulation a remedy which will dissolve the uric acid and stimulate the action of the excretory organs.

No Case That Ferrozone Can't Cure

The remarkable success of Ferrozone is due to the fact that it attacks the disease in the blood. It goes right to the root and cause of the trouble.

Ferrozone is a perfect solvent for uric acid and quickly destroys its evil effect. It stimulates and quickens the sluggish circulation and drives every trace of rheumatic poison out of the system.

Rheumatism Can't Last if FERROZONE is Used.

We have conclusive proof of this. The strongest possible endorsements from people who have been cured after all else failed. If you suffer from rheumatism yourself, or in case you have a friend or relative subject to this disease, read the following—they tell their own tale.

LIFE-LONG CRIPPLE CURED

Mr. Louis Noll, 15 Fulton street, New York, N. Y., writes: "Ever since boyhood I have been a sufferer from rheumatism. My joints were twisted and swollen, and the pain at times was really intense. I used gallons of liniments, vapor baths, and other treatments, but was first noticeably relieved by Ferrozone. It cured me perfectly after taking twelve boxes."

Mr. Henry Heer, Pharmacist, 23 Eldridge Ave., New York, vouches for Mr. Noll's absolute cure. He says: "Mr. Noll has been freed from chronic rheumatism by Ferrozone. For years he has not been so well, and today shows no signs of rheumatic trouble. It is a pleasure to recommend Ferrozone."

The BEST remedy for rheumatism that science has produced is Ferrozone—it is unquestionably the only sure and lasting cure. Sold everywhere by druggists. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50—by mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. POLSON & CO., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

FERROZONE, THE ONE SURE CURE.

What is Happening at Ottawa; A Chance for the Students

Employ Them on Public Works Says F. D. Monk, M.P.

Profitable Way of Encouraging Technical Education—Fear of Selection on Political Lines—Hamilton Radial Bill Before House of Commons—Mr. Foster Gets After Partisans—Immigration Problem Discussed.

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—When the bill of the Hamilton Radial Electric Railway Co. was called in the House yesterday the Minister of Railways asked that it stand.

"This is an important bill," he said, "and there are certain points in connection with it that are now under consideration."

Mr. Lennox (Simcoe) objected to the report of the railway committee, which had not stated the grounds upon which the preamble was amended. He moved that the bill be referred back.

Mr. Graham thought his suggestion would answer and the bill stood over.

Active Partisans.

Mr. Foster read a telegram he had just received from New Brunswick, complaining of further interference by the Government officials in elections in that province. The message stated that A. E. Leblanc, traveling passenger agent of the I.C.R., was actively canvassing for the Liberal candidates and had announced that he would open a committee room for one of them and keep it open day and night until the election.

Another I.C.R. employe, Henry Leblanc, was also actively canvassing in the Liberal interests and denouncing Conservatives. Mr. Foster asked that the Minister of Railways and Canals look into the matter.

"I shall certainly cause enquiries to be made," Mr. Graham replied.

Mr. Brodeur informed Mr. Lefurgey that an agent (Mr. Bastedo) has been appointed by the Government with power to discuss with representatives of the various local Governments affected, the question of relative rights and jurisdiction with respect to fisheries.

Ross Rifle Figures.

A question by Col. Worthington elicited from the Minister of Militia the information that 32,500 Ross rifles manufactured to date, 23,091 are "on store charge" and 9,409 have been issued as follows: To permanent force 3,015, to the militia 4,635, and to rifle associations 1,757. Of the rifles in store 16,017 are in Quebec, 1,532 in Halifax, 1,069 in Winnipeg, 1,120 in Toronto, 1,004 in other military headquarters.

"Give the student a chance to earn a dollar by employing him on public works," was the burden of F. D. Monk's plea in the House last night. He moved that "in the execution of public works requiring technical knowledge the Government should, as far as possible, utilize the services of young men engaged in the pursuit of technical studies in our Canadian institutions so as to permit of their applying with profit during their vacations, the knowledge acquired by them during the period of tuition."

The member for Jacques Cartier argued that this would be a profitable way of encouraging technical education, but there was the danger that the selection would be made on political lines.

Dr. Reid (Grenville) asserted that for positions requiring technical knowledge men were chosen who were not qualified, but were simply loaded on the country because of their political activities.

Mr. Brodeur said the Government had encouraged technical education by the employment of students, while Andrew Broder (Dundas) would not put a student in charge of a public work. The superintendent should be a man of thorough, practical knowledge, while students might be employed under him.

Mr. Monk would, however, prefer a student to a political heeler, who did nothing but smoke a cigar and draw his pay.

Mr. Templeman said the resolution was acceptable, but the application was not happy. He claimed that students were given positions whenever vacancies occurred. Thirty were employed on the geological survey last vacation. The motion was adopted.

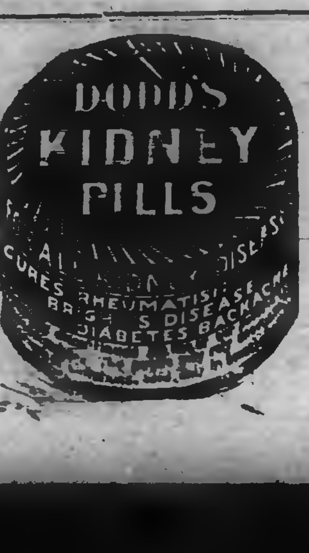
The debate on Mr. Cockshutt's resolution to discontinue the policy of assisted immigration was taken up by Uriah Wilson (Lennox and Addington). No special privileges for any class of immigrants was the sum of Mr. Wilson's idea of the question, and he strongly condemned the bringing in of illiterate Russians.

Mr. Johnstone's amendment having declared that the present regulations were a sufficient protection, Mr. Wilson moved in amendment to the amendment "That Canada's policy should include a more careful selection of the sources from which immigration shall be sought, a more rigid inspection of immigrants and the abolition of the bonus system, except under very exceptional circumstances, and for the purpose of obtaining particularly desirable classes of settlers."

Dr. Cash adjourned the debate and the House rose at 11 o'clock.

Two cases of smallpox were isolated in Vancouver yesterday.

Dr. MacKendrick has been elected president of Galt Horse Show.



MINERS IMPRISONED

Twenty-Eight Men Caught by Breaking of Dam.

Rush of Mud Blocked Gangway—Rescuers Worked Hard All Day—Entombed Men Still Alive—Sounds of Digging and Also a Shot Heard—Feared That Some May Have Been Smothered.

Pottsville, Pa., Feb. 18.—Twenty-eight miners were imprisoned in the Midvale Colliery, near Mount Carmel yesterday by the breaking of a dam of water which had formed in a drift which caused a rush of mud into the gangway where the men were at work. All day long a party of rescuers endeavored to reach the entombed men, and about 8 p.m. they were given encouragement by sounds of digging from the inside. Later a shot was also heard, indicating that the men were at work to effect their own rescue and also giving assurance that the air is good.

Among the men entombed are a number of experienced miners, and it is believed that it will be possible to effect the rescue of all the men unless some of them should have met death by being smothered in the rush of mud when the dam broke through the gangway. Seven of the number are Americans.

BRYCE AT OTTAWA.

Will Discuss Several Important Questions With Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—His Excellency Right Hon. James Bryce, British ambassador to the United States, arrived in Ottawa yesterday on the second of his annual visits to the Canadian capital. He was met at the Central station by Chief Justice Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Col. Hanbury Williams and Lord Lascelles, A.D.C., and will be the guest of Their Excellencies Earl and Countess Grey at Government House for a week. On Tuesday of next week Mr. Bryce will be the guest of honor at the annual banquet of the Canadian Club of Montreal.

The terms are also to be settled under which Canada and Newfoundland will join with the United States in the reference to The Hague Tribunal concerning the rights of United States fishermen in the waters of British North America, under the treaty of 1818.

Car of Whisky Broken Open.

London, Feb. 18.—The police are working on what is expected to be the greatest round-up of car thieves in the history of the G.T.R.

Recently a car of whisky was broken into and from arrests which followed information was obtained that will probably implicate a number of G.T.R. men.

Perry Sinclair and Joseph Lanahan have been arrested and other arrests will follow shortly. Lanahan was released on $2,000 bail at the Police Court yesterday morning and Sinclair was committed to jail.

Discrediting Sunday Law.

Winnipeg, Feb. 18.—The Lord's Day Alliance have disavowed responsibility for the house-to-house crusade to enforce the Sabbath Day Act, and the police commissioners decided not to attempt further petty prosecutions. This decision was the climax of action brought by 600 people into the Police Court last week and stirred the whole city to resentment. The Day Alliance claim the police were unnecessarily severe in order to render the law ridiculous in Winnipeg.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Feb. 17.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards West End Market the receipts of live stock for the week ending Feb. 15 were 2347 cattle, 1000 sheep and lambs, 5000 hogs and 279 calves. The offerings this morning were 1200 cattle, 200 sheep and lambs, 2100 hogs and 150 calves.

Choice beeves sold at 5¼c to 5¾c; good at 4½c to 5c; fair at 3¾c to 4½c; common at 3¼c to 3¾c, and inferior at 2¾c to 3c per lb. Cables from Liverpool on Saturday reported trade in cattle very slow, and noted a decline in prices of ½c per lb. for Canadian steers, with sales at 11½c to 11¾c per lb.

The condition of the market for sheep and lambs remains unchanged, the feeling being firm, owing to the continued limited supplies coming forward, for which there is a keen demand for local consumption, as many butchers prefer the fresh-killed stock to the frozen. Sales of choice lambs were made at 6¼c to 6½c; good at 6c to 6c, and common at 5¾c to 5½c, while the best sheep brought 4c to 4½c; fair, 3¾c to 3¾c, and culls, 3c to 3½c per lb.

Receipts of hogs were large, and altho the demand for the same was good, a weak feeling prevailed in the market, and outside prices were 25c per 100 lbs. lower than on Wednesday last, and the prospects are that a further decline will take place of 10c to 25c per 100 lbs., later on in the week. An active trade was done today, and sales of selected lots were made at $6 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars.

Another Tragedy in a Peaceful Rural District

Mysterious Shooting Affair on Farm Near Dunnville.

Nine-Year-Old Boy Shot Dead—Found by His Brothers With Bullet Wound In Breast — Revolver Lay Near at Hand—No Trace of Blood—Supposed to Have Been an Accident—Was the Cook.

Dunnville, Feb. 18.—A mysterious shooting affair occurred in South Cayuga Township about six miles from here about noon yesterday, resulting in the death of Richard McBay, aged 9 years.

The farm where the tragedy occurred is owned by George McBay, a carpenter, who lives with his wife in Buffalo, leaving his three sons aged about 17, 14 and 9, to take care of the stock and shift for themselves.

The story told by the eldest boy is that Richard was the cook and was left at the house to get dinner, while he and his brother went out to work. He says he gave the little fellow a shake by the shoulder, telling him to do his work better and left him. When the two boys returned, at nine, they found dinner partly ready, but Richard was nowhere to be seen. In searching they found his body still warm in the bedroom where all three boys slept, the two eldest boys on the bed, the youngest in a shakedown on the floor. A small revolver, which was kept under the pillow, lay on the bed some six feet away.

Dr. Door, coroner of Dunnville, was called by telephone and visited the home. He said there was no trace of blood anywhere, but a small bullet hole in the centre of the breast, through the breast bone, showed the cause of the boy's death. The clothing was burnt and the flesh about the wound showing the fatal shot had been fired at close range. How it all happened no one can tell.

The boys say they had not quarreled and think he was handling the revolver and shot himself by accident. It is probable an inquest will be held.

OUTRAGE BY NIGHT RIDERS.

Whipped Judge and City Marshal—Fired Hundreds of Shots.

Eddysville, Ky., Feb. 18.—Three hundred night riders galloped into Eddysville at 1 o'clock yesterday morning, aroused inhabitants by firing hundreds of rifle shots, took the men from their homes and whipped them severely, and then dashed away before daylight, threatening to return later. Those whipped were: Police Judge C. W. Rucker, Leslie Woods, former city marshal; Bress Fralick, deputy city marshal; Grace Robertson, a saloon porter, and six negroes. The riders were well drilled and well armed. The home of Judge Rucker was riddled with bullets.

North Carolina's Speed.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The official report of the trial of the new armored cruiser North Carolina, off the Virginia Capes, Saturday night, confirms the statement in the press despatches that she averaged approximately 22.48 knots in her four-hour speed trial.

The acceptance of the cruiser by the Government is now guaranteed.

Although the speed made by the North Carolina is the best ever made by an American armored cruiser, English-built vessels of the same class have made much better records, running up to 24 knots an hour, and one of them, the Duke of Edinburgh, it was estimated, would make 27.75 knots.

Seven Suffer From Fire.

Toronto, Feb. 18.—Fire damaged a row of shops and houses at the corner of Spadina avenue and Adelaide street, yesterday morning. The blaze broke out in the grocery store of Joseph Woldenger, 388 West Adelaide street, and spreading rapidly to adjacent properties did damage estimated at $7,000. The detailed losses follow: Isaac Hewitt, dwellings, damaged, $1,000; Jos. Woldenger, grocery stock, $5,000; T. L. Wong laundry, $150; George Querrie, butcher, $200; William Garson, furniture, $300; Martin Loftus, furniture, $50; Charles Tolhurst, furniture, $50.

Will Plead Self-Defence.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 18.—In the defence of Beech Hargis, who, it is believed, will be indicted soon for the murder of his father Judge James Hargis, the expenses will be paid out of the $50,000 which is the boy's share of his father's large estate.

Counsel for young Hargis will claim self-defence, asserting that his father choked him and knocked out several teeth before the son fired.

Plotted to Reinstate Franco.

Paris, Feb. 18.—Senor Sebastio Magalhies Lima, a Portuguese Republican, who is now in exile in Paris, has made public a letter received from a friend in Lisbon, in which it is set forth that the followers of former Premier Franco plotted to reinstate their leader, but that they failed on account of the refusal of the leading officers of the army to support the movement.

Reared In "Godless Community."

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 18.—On the plea that Edward Turner, condemned wife-murderer, has been reared in a Godless community, seventy-five citizens of Breathitt County, Ky., have sent letters and petitions to Governor Patterson of Tennessee, pleading for a commutation of his death sentence.

Longshoremen Want More.

Montreal, Feb. 18.—A Quebec despatch states that longshoremen of that port will demand an increase of 5 cents an hour at the opening of navigation. Their rates are already the highest of any port in North America.

PETITIONS ARE FLOWING IN.

Legislature Has Record Short Sitting—Visit Guelph To-morrow.

Toronto, Feb. 18.—A bare quorum of members stood in the Legislative Chamber yesterday while the Speaker read prayers. The only business done besides the presenting of petitions was the first reading of a bill to amend the Lines and Fence Act, by Mr. Hoyle (North Ontario).

The present session has almost a record in petitions. In length, breadth, thickness and depth they surpass all previous efforts. Day after day they continue to pour in. Last year the obnoxious clause 606 in the Municipal Act is the subject of an enormous amount of autographing. Church and temperance organizations of all kinds are represented in these expressions of opinion.

The House adjourned to meet at 3 o'clock to-day, when the debate on the address will be resumed by Lieut.-Col. Clark. No night session is possible, as the university reception interferes. To-morrow the visit to Guelph O.A.C. interferes and will require adjournment until Thursday.

Premier Whitney is anxious to close the debate on Thursday, and some say he is sanguine enough to hope that a night session on Thursday may finish it. The flow of oratory from both sides of the House has by no means abated and it will not be surprising if the debate goes over till next week.

The private bills committee will meet at 11.30 this morning for organization. T. B. Lucas will probably be re-elected chairman. Four minor bills are down for consideration by the committee on Thursday morning.

Col. Munro will ask for an order of the House for a return showing the amount of losses caused by fire in the Province of Ontario during the years 1900 to 1907 inclusive, as reported to the Department of Insurance; the amount of such losses reported to have been caused by incendiarism; the amount of such losses caused by lightning.

Curator Boyle Gets Medal.

Toronto, Feb. 18.—Curator Boyle of the Provincial Museum has gone to Auburn, N.Y., where he is to-day to be presented with the Cornplanter medal as a recognition of his services in Indian research. The presentation is to be made by the New York Historical Society.

Cornplanter was an Indian chief, whose fame places him beside Tecumseh, Pontiac and Red Jacket. The medal called after him is awarded once in two years. It has been given only twice before this year. George J. S. Clark of New York received it in 1904, and Rev. Dr. Beauchamp of Syracuse received it in 1906.

Home Office Suspicious.

London, Feb. 18.—The report that Robert Caldwell, the American who gained considerable notoriety as a witness during the recent hearing in London of the Druce case, had been committed to an asylum in the United States, came as a surprise here.

It is understood that a representative of the British Home office will make an independent investigation of the alleged commitment in New York. If this agent is satisfied of the genuineness of Caldwell's insanity the extradition proceedings against him on a charge of perjury will be stopped; otherwise steps will be taken to have the ruling of the court set aside.

$60,000 Jewel Robbery.

Berlin, Feb. 18.—A pearl necklace and pin of much beauty, valued at $60,000, have been stolen from the Countess Von Wartenslében. Upon her return from the opera Saturday evening she placed the necklace and pin in a jewel case in her dressing-room and then went to supper. Returning in about half an hour she found that the necklace and pin were missing.

The necklace was composed of exceptionally large pearls, the string measuring five feet in length.

Floods In Indiana.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 18.—Floods continue in Southern Indiana. The weather has turned clear and cold, which will check the rapid rise in streams, but the water is not yet at a standstill. At Petersburg the White and Patoka rivers are higher than since 1875, and thousands of acres of wheat lands are submerged. Schools have closed and trains have ceased running. The Ohio at Evansville is now 34 feet, and is rising 2 inches an hour.

Committed For Assault.

Kingston, Feb. 18.—The assault case came up in the Police Court yesterday, when the girl Topping, aged 17, told the story of her wrongs on Saturday night at the hands of James Brickwood, Michael Devine, James Crozier and Joseph Mosier. After hearing her evidence the magistrate committed the accused to stand their trial at the next assizes, and placed their bail at $2,000 each. No bail was offered.

Finds Husband a Suicide.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 18.—For the second time within eight months, Mrs. Caroline D. Sellers on Sunday returned from church to find a member of her family dead from a self-inflicted bullet wound. It was her husband, Henry D. Sellers, a leading real estate broker. The first suicide was that of her son, Henry D. Sellers, aged 22, early last summer.

Fire Follows Explosions.

Camden, N.J., Feb. 18.—Following a series of explosions in which several workmen were injured, fire yesterday badly damaged the varnish and paint plant of the N. Z. Graves Co. Eight dwellings adjoining the plant were almost entirely destroyed. Several firemen were slightly injured by exploding benzine. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

Smallpox at Moncton.

St. John, N.B., Feb. 18.—Smallpox which has been prevalent in certain districts of New Brunswick during the winter, has practically disappeared, excepting in Moncton, where it seems to have gained new vigor. During the past few days seven cases have developed, six of the victims being school children.

BISHOP SCORES FARMERS.

Says They Are Too Stingy In Support of the Church.

Hamilton, Feb. 18.—With all the vigor of which he is capable and in a sermon that bristled at times with stinging sarcasm, the Lord Bishop of Niagara, Right Rev. J. P. DuMoulin, preaching at St. Thomas' Church Sunday night flayed the wealthy farmers of the Niagara Peninsula for their niggardly contributions to the church. He also took a rap at Hamilton business men, who, he said, when the clergy called, squirmed and showed a desire to get rid of them, promising an answer that never arrived. Many of the clergy, he declared, could not live honestly on the miserable pittance doled out to them. His lordship was preaching in support of the laymen's movement, and he did not mince his words in denouncing the stingy farmers.

After quoting statistics to show how small the contributions were, he said: "That is the record of our returns to Almighty God for His benefits. Although this diocese is rich beyond comparison its returns are the poorest. This has been stated time and again and it makes no impression whatever. It falls on deaf ears. I have had pastor after pastor leave the diocese because they could not live an honest life, that is to say, no man with a family that God had blessed him with can live on $60 a year doled out in coppers and silver pieces when it pleases the wardens and church officials to dole it out. That is invariably their reply when they came into my office with their resignation. 'I can't live on the stipend doled out to me.'

"Let me tell you that the wealthy and prosperous farmers of the diocese of Niagara, the southern peninsula particularly, and throughout the prosperous north, think they have discharged every obligation if they give $5 and are surprised if they give $10, that they think they should be translated to a place beyond the angels."

His lordship declared that he had not uttered a word that he could not substantiate with plain cold facts.

HORRORS OF SWEATSHOPS.

Father Vaughan Gives Instances of Conditions In London.

London, Feb. 18.—Father Bernard Vaughan, a brother of the late Cardinal Vaughan, preaching in the Jesuit Church here, during the course of a powerful plea in behalf of the bill which will come before the House of Commons this week, against "sweat shops," gave a graphic illustration of the manner in which the poor workers in the east end of London are compelled to live.

In a small room, he said, that ought to be occupied by no more than two persons, there were twelve machines working all day and late in the evening. Then the machines were removed and straw mattresses laid on the floor, men being admitted to sleep.

At 2.30 in the morning, these men were turned into the streets and the room re-let to another set of sleepers, who were also driven out at 6.30 a.m. on the return of the machine workers.

Edison Saves a Life.

West Orange, N.J., Feb. 18.—J. F. Randolph, treasurer of the Edison Manufacturing Co., of which Thomas A. Edison is president, committed suicide yesterday by shooting.

That Mrs. Randolph did not follow her husband to death was due to the prompt and determined action of Mr. Edison. When he reached the house, Mrs. Randolph was hysterical, crying out that she would kill herself. He came upon her as she was about to throw herself from a second storey window, seized her, and, after a hard struggle, succeeded in pulling her back to a place of safety.

Stork on Train.

Brockville, Feb. 18.—During the recent storm, while a R., W. & O. Railroad train was stalled in the snowdrifts near Richland, the stork made his appearance in a coach, and a bright, healthy baby was born. There was no physician aboard the train, and when a doctor arrived through the storm the lady passengers had taken care of the little one, which was wrapped in a flannel petticoat. Mother and child proceeded north in the storm.

Child's Clothes Afire.

Brockville, Feb. 18.—Florence Wilder, aged four years, residing on a farm near Pulaski, was fatally burned while left temporarily alone with a younger child. Her cries attracted Miss Ivo Coon, who rushed into the house and found Florence with her clothes on fire. She caught the child up in her arms and placed her in a huge snowdrift, thereby extinguishing the flames, but not before nearly every particle of clothing was burned off.

The wearing of hats in parliament by the members may be traced back to the time when those who were summoned to legislate, or, rather, to authorise the king to make levies, came in wearing helmets, which were not easily removed.

Linoleum.

It stands to reason that soap or alkali will ruin the varnish on linoleum. Heat the water to wash the linoleum, adding a tablespoonful of kerosene to each gallon of water. Wash with a woolen cloth which scrubs up the dust and dirt. Woolen can be wrung very dry, and all moisture can be taken up with the same cloth. It saves linoleum to wash it in this manner.

No Costumes, No Scenery, But the Play Was Put on Train Was Snowbound and When "Knighthood Was in Flower" Was Given Plain Clothes Interpretation—Dramatic Drama Interpreted in Prosaic Garb.

"When Knighthood was in Flower," is a production that to be properly appreciated must be given an interpretation by a cast that is attired in the costumes of period of the play, and the scenic investure must also be appropriate. But what is a company to do when their stage togs and scenery fail to arrive?

At Berlin the other night the cast presenting "When Knighthood was in Flower," appeared on the stage in their ordinary street clothes, and the only means of getting a stage setting was by using the house scenery for that purpose. It was practically an ordinary rehearsal, but was appreciated by the audience, probably by reason of its novelty.

The reason the scenery and costumes didn't arrive at Berlin, was because the train carrying them was snow-bound at Guelph on the way from Woodstock to Berlin. This is probably the first time in Canada that a play was produced without either costumes or scenery.

Deporting Officer Could Not Have the Prisoner He Wanted

Arthur R. Turner's Term in Gaol Has Not Yet Expired—The Sheriff Had no Power to Give Him Up—Officer Will Have to Return for Him Again.

Mr. P. Devlin, Immigration Inspector and Deporting Officer of the Dominion Government was in the city today for the purpose of taking Arthur R. Turner to St. Johns, N.B. from which port he will be returned to England. Turner came to this country about a year ago, but apparently failed to make good and was arrested here on a charge of vagrancy. He was given a month in gaol to await the arrival of the officer.

However his term does not expire until the 28th and Mr. Devlin asked Magistrate Dumble to allow him to take him. The officer explained that the steamship companies were compelled to take undesirable immigrants back to the old country and the railway companies carried them free to the port of sailing.

Mr. Dumble said that he had no power to liberate a prisoner after he had once committed him. However he wrote an order to Sheriff Hall, explaining the circumstances but the Sheriff refused to let Mr. Devlin have him as he had not authority to let him go. He will have to wait until the 28th unless he receives an order from the Minister of Justice.

Mr. Devlin said that as he had also to visit Eldon and Sault Ste. Marie, he would go on and call at Peterborough on his return. Then Turner's sentence would have expired and he would be able to take him back.

South Monaghan People Were Unable to See Dying Relative

Bad Roads on Saturday Made it Impossible to Reach Stations in time to Catch Train—An Unusual Chain of Circumstances.

A most unusual chain of events prevented the members of a South Monaghan family from reaching the bedside of a dying relative in Toronto on Saturday of last week. They received word on Saturday that a brother was dying in Toronto, and that they would have to come at once if they wished to see him alive. The two brothers who reside in South Monaghan started to drive to Fraserville to catch the afternoon train for Peterborough, intending to get to Toronto in that way, but while they were still several miles from the station the roads became so bad that the horse could proceed no further. Knowing that no time was to be lost if the station was to be reached in time one of the brothers decided to get out and endeavor to walk to Fraserville. He travelled as rapidly as possible but the train had gone about ten minutes when he reached the station. The other brother started to return home with the horse and cutter but had not gone far before the horse dropped dead from sheer exhaustion. The roads very soft as a result of the downpour of rain and the animal sank to the knees at every step.

A sister of the gentleman who was dying in Toronto, set out with her husband to get the same train at Carmel, which is several miles south of Fraserville. The roads were so bad that their horse could only make very slow progress and they arrived at Carmel station just as the train was pulling out and they were unable to board it.

The Toronto man passed away on Sunday and relatives in South Monaghan, were unable to see him before death came.

Mr. Harry La Belle Had Hand Seriously Burnt

And Press Agent Now Unable to Write—Injuries Resulted From Trying to Extinguish Fire Caused by Explosion of Electric Lamp—Was Reading in His Room at Cavanah House.

The smooth line of talk employed by the press agent of a show is proverbial, but besides doing conversation boosting he is also required to do a lot of writing. When this is taken into consideration the fate of Mr. Harry LaBelle, the advance representative for Green's Picture Show is a particularly hard one.

On Sunday night he was reading in his room at the Cavanagh House when "suddenly there came a loud explosion." He had wrapped a cloth around the electric lamp so as to mellow the light. The lamp has a tendency to make the objects it comes in contact with expand and it was probably owing to the cloth having the effect of holding the heat in that the explosion occurred.

The cloth on account of its being heated to such an extent was naturally rendered very inflammable and as soon as it touched the live wire it caught on fire.

Mr. LaBelle hastily proceeded to put out the blaze which had spread to the carpet, a portion of which was burned before it was finally extinguished.

In putting out the fire Mr. La Belle had the four fingers of his right hand painfully burned. His thumb was also discolored and badly blistered. His injuries are of such a character that he is unable to write his right hand being practically useless. Mr. La Belle's hand was dressed by a local physician.

First White Child Born in Asphodel Has Passed Away

Death of Perigrine Maitland Cameron Who Was Born Near Rice Lake in 1821—One of the Country's Oldest Settlers.

There passed away on the 13th inst. one of the oldest settlers of the township of Asphodel in the person of Perigrine Maitland Cameron, at the ripe old age of eighty-six years and four months. The late Mr. Cameron was born on the 11th of October 1821, and had the distinction of being the first white male child born in the township. The shanty in which he was born was situated near the shore of Rice Lake, in almost the same spot where the fine brick residence of Captain Birdsall now stands. His father the late John Cameron, having first settled there, but afterwards moved to the place since known as Cameron Point. Later they moved north about four miles, to where most of his descendants have since lived. The late Mr. Cameron had five brothers and four sisters, all but one sister having predeceased him. In politics Mr. Cameron was a strong Liberal. He has witnessed many of the struggles and hardships of the early settlers, and could narrate many interesting events in connection with the early settlement of the township. He was named after the Lieutenant-Governor, Perigrine Maitland.

Three Months in the County Gaol

Geo. Wilding, a Vagrant in Police Court To-day

"Do you want to go up on the hill" asked His Worship, Magistrate Dumble this morning of George Wilding, an old man who is without home or friends or any means of support.

"Yes, give me three months, Your Honor," was the reply.

Wilding is an old man and for some time past had been an inmate of the Protestant Home, but his conduct was so unseemly and he was so irritable that he made things very unpleasant for the ladies in charge. His Worship gave him the desired three months but remarked "If you are as cross up at the gaol as you were at the Home you will be put in the silent cell."

Vocal solo—Miss Grace Todd.
Piano solo—Miss Grady.

The judges gave their decision in favor of the negative.—The Philomathean Scribe.

Criticism—Mr. Harvey.

During the evening five or six promising youths of the Collegiate took advantage of the fact that they were seated among girls and began to "show-off" their abilities to make a noise before the fair sex that surrounded them. In consequence Messrs. Bruce Walton, (good looker), Stewart Anderson (French expert), Charlie Ackerman (Specialist in English Literature), "Hec" Cameron (Hockeyist) Bruce Clegg, (surnamed 'Red') under the able leadership of Max Dobbin had to be forcibly ejected by the presiding constable, Herbert Conroy.—From the Philomathean Scribe.

Captain Owen H. Boone, Engineer and Electrician, Blind River, Ont., writes: "I had a severe burn on my hand from a fuse burning out. I tried several remedies with no effect until I used Zam-Buk. Skating Championships Of Province of Ontario

Two Speed Skating Marvels Meet at Brock Street Rink To-night—Will Clash in Half Mile, Mile and Two Mile Events--Skating Between Races and Band in Attendance—The Other Races.

The management of the Brock St. rink are to be congratulated in securing the championship races between F. J. Robson and C. D. Heffernan. A record crowd should be at the rink tonight to see them as speed skating is one of the most exciting of sports and these contests will be between two of the best men in the business. They are out for the Ontario half mile, one mile and two mile championships and the greatest interest is attached to the races all over the province. It has been a question for some time as to which was the better man of the two and tonight's events will settle it.

There will also be a mile race for boys under eighteen years of age and a mile race open to the county.

The events between Robson and Heffernan will be contested best two out of three.

The band will be in attendance and there will be skating between the races.

The starters are required to be in readiness at 8 o'clock sharp as the races will commence at 8.15.

The judges for the events will be: Messrs. R. M. Glover, W. E. Wasson, A. Gilison and J. B. Hay.

AUBURN WON CLOSE GAME

Defeated the Quakers by Score of 3-2

On Saturday night Auburn defeated the Quakers by 3-2 in a splendidly contested game. The Quakers scored in the first half and Auburns were unable to find the nets until the last period when they scored three times to their opponents once.

W. Rose did good work with the bell.

The teams:

Auburn		Quakers
Kemp	Goal	Sullivan
Flannery	Point	Searight
Shaw	Cover	Heaslip
Kendry	Rover	Sturdee
Hawkins	Centre	Pratt
Delaire	Right Wing	Smeaton

Strathconas to Meet To-night

There will be an important meeting of the Strathcona City League teams at the Examiner office tonight at 7.15 for the purpose of considering the proposed trip to Galt to play the winners of the Galt City League. Every member of the team is expected to be on hand as the matter will be settled one way or another at tonight's meeting.

Ministers Defeat the Business Men

In an interesting basketball match at the Y.M.C.A. last night the ministers defeated a team of business men 3 points to 2. The two quintettes were evenly matched which is indicated by the closeness of the score. Each side scored a basket from the field and the ministers were given a foul on which one of their forwards made a clever shot and scored.

Further games will be played between the two teams.

NOTES OF THE GAME

Somebody has evidently handed a false steer to Lally Josie Greenwood Craig. The night before last he had the Review team doped out in their various positions. He is wrong on the Review line-up, which will not be the one given by the Examiner seer.

Professor Hoganni has his team in shackles and leg irons, but will let the mighty ones loose on the night of the combat. Whether he does or not is immaterial as far as the result goes.

Lady Craig has been conscientiously studying all the latest slang books in order that he may memorize some crisp and "original" sayings to use in commenting on the game. We have much pleasure in recommending as a new one to him "A Slow Train Through Arkansaw."

—— Beef Tea Huston will get the enthusiastic support of the Otonabee hayrack delegation, which will be represented in large numbers.

On Wednesday, February 26th, the annual Examiner-Review hockey match will be played before a crowded audience. As an extra special attraction a marvellous exhibition of handcuff work will be given at half time by Prof. Hohanni Hoganni, this marvellous Knight of the Bracelets, who has appeared before the crowned heads and plugged sovereigns of Europe. General admission 10c.

After the Review has scored the first ten goals Mr. Harry K. Timwohald and his glee club will sing and play that touching melody "Believe me in all those endearing false alarms," illustrated from life by Prof. Hoganni.

Mr. F. Romeo Yockoming, who is a three year medical man will look after the bandaging of the Examiner seven.

Although Prof. Hohanne Hoganni weighs in the vicinity of 100 pounds when it comes to playing hockey, he is about as light as a pin feather on a young duck.

The extremely cold weather of the present winter has helped the Examiner team in their training. They should be well prepared to stand the frost that will envelope them on the night of February 26th.

HOCKEY

A Lakefield team lost to the Y.M.C.A. last night at Brock street rink the score being 6—5 at half-rink, the score being 6—5, the winners led at half-time by 5—3.

When they're picking out the star hockey players, pros or otherwise, they mustn't overlook Bruce Ridpath, the "Chicago canoeist," who is just as much at home on ice as he is on the water. Bruce is one of the most effective players in the game today.—Toronto Star.

SKATING

The admission for tonight's races and skating at the rink, is 25 cents, and ladies 15 cents.

CURLING

The Lindsay, Ontario, Post gives up four columns of space to a report telling how Skips O'Connor and Little supported by Messrs. Flavelle, Reasor, Sisson, McLellan and others won the Ontario tankard finals. The rink of Lindsay curlers attending the Winnipeg bonspiel is composed of the same men who met the Rennie rink in the final draw.—Manitoba Free Press.

Lindsay, Ontario, is the greatest curling town in Canada. Everybody curls there. This year the rinks from that place won the Ontario tankard for the fifth time.—Lethbridge Herald.

WRESTLING

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 17.—William Wittig, who is arranging the championship wrestling match between George Hackenschmidt and Frank Gotch, received a cablegram from Hackenschmidt today, announcing that he will leave London for New York early in March. Mr. Wittig has practically perfected arrangements for the world's championship match to take place in Chicago during the first week in April. He has also arranged handicap matches for Hackenschmidt, to be held in New York, March 16, in Philadelphia, March 19, and Baltimore, March 21.

Lindsay May be Represented

At Skating Meet at Brock St. Rink To-night

Local skaters may be represented in the skating events to be held in Brock street rink, Peterborough, tomorrow night. The contest between F. J. Robson, the Canadian champion, and C. D. Heffernan, of Toronto, the holder of the Canadian two-mile record, will consist of a series of three events, of which the winner must take two. The events are the half-mile, one mile and two mile races for the championship of Ontario. In addition there will be a mile race for boys, open to any boy under 18 years of age, and a mile race for the championship of the county of Peterborough.—Lindsay Post.

Severs Connection With Norwood School

The occasion of the retirement of Mr. John Davidson, M.A., LL.B., the headmaster of the Norwood High school, has been taken advantage of by nearly four hundred of his former pupils to present him with amongst other things a volume of "Letters of Appreciation." Bound in green velvet calf at the Review Bindery, and suitably stamped and ornamented. The books presents a very handsome appearance while its make-up is at once suitable and unique.

The letters which compose the volume come from former pupils most of whom now live far away from Norwood. Many of the writers are in positions of prominence and trust. It is interesting to note the general tone of warm appreciation of the efforts of Mr. Davidson to help his pupils on the road to Parnassum, and it must be a source of considerable pride to him that he has retained their goodwill and regard.

Letters were received from Cambridge, Mass.; Fort William, Ont.; Revelstoke, B.C.; Newark, N.J.; Cleveland, O.; Houston, Texas, etc., and testify to the benefit received under Mr. Davidson's head-mastership.

ONE KILLED; SEVERAL INJURED

On Wreck of Lake Superior Division of the C.P.R.—Broken Wheel the Cause

Special to the Review.

North Bay, Feb. 18.—C.P.R. transcontinental train No. 2, due here at 6.35 a.m., was wrecked last night at 9.30 o'clock, 15 miles west of Chapleau, on the Lake Superior division.

The breaking of a wheel on the mail car threw the entire train off, killing the Japanese porter and injuring the following named persons, none of them, however, fatally;—A. C. Payne and wife, Bristol, Eng.; Margaret Campbell, Carleton Junction; J. B. Richardson, Markham, Ont.; C. D. Humphries, Almonte, Ont.; W. J. Hunter, Gladstone, Man.; John Gaynor, address unknown; Fred Orville, Rocanville, Sask.; W. Hummell, Yorkshire, Eng.; W. Norank, Chelsea, Mass.; J. Morgan, Chapleau; H. O. Rudd, Toronto.

THE STOCK MARKETS

New York, Feb. 18.—Early trading was marked by a good deal of activity and strength except among the copper stocks, Anaconda being quite weak, due to the lower price for metal, which again during the day suffered reduction on the local metal exchange. There was also pressure on the American smelting securities, and later on the Gould stocks. The leading rails did better, especially the Harriman and Hill stocks, Can. Pac., St. Paul, Reading, Penna.; D. & H., B.R.T. was one of the especially strong stocks in the last hour of the Coney Island 5 cent car fare bill at Albany.

Mrs. Jane Bennett, mother of Bennett Bros., the Hamilton millers, is dead, aged 74.

LIFE ON THE OCEAN WAVE.

Veteran Commander Tells Story of Forty-Three Years' Service.

Forty-three years' sea-service in the mercantile marine must be quite exceptional. Yet that is the record of Capt. Simpson, commander of the Aberdeen White Star liner Moravian. During that long period he has but on one occasion spent a Christmas at home, and the sailing of the Moravian the other day disposes of his chance of passing the approaching Yule-tide in these islands. But such a circumstance in no sense represents a grievance. The commanders of regular liners are quite content to take their luck in such a matter, and fixed sailings must naturally be independent of highdays and holidays. One of the most astonishing features of Capt. Simpson's career is that, while he has made no fewer than 75 round voyages to the Antipodes—with only one exception, sailing from London to Sydney — he has never been shipwrecked and has never had a man washed overboard. Further, also with one exception, every voyage has been made under the flag of the Aberdeen-White Star Line.

Sailormen are always shy, and Capt. Simpson, like a true seaman, has a hatred of personal advertisement. Yet it has been possible to obtain some details of a career which, if it may not be wholly unique, is one of peculiar interest. To go back forty years or more is to pass in review the astonishing changes which have come over the means of communication between the Mother Country and the Colonies. Capt. Simpson, of course, began this experience in sailing ship days. He served his time on a well-known clipper ship, the Queen of Nations. In those days the tea clippers, with the first of the new season's teas, raced home from China, carrying those "fancy" sails from which they got an extra knot or two in a favoring breeze.

At that period, or a little earlier, the China seas were by no means clear of the Celestial pirate. The old Queen of Nations, when in the China trade, was armed with half a dozen long brass 12-pounders. It suggests that these eastern pirates were no mean foe, for this was precisely the same armament that Lord Dundonald boasted when he captured a French frigate with his little brig, the Trusty. These half-dozen 12-pounders were, of course, not needed in the Australian trade. To-day Capt Simpson is the senior commander of the Aberdeen-White Star Line steamers. Before he got to that position he served as mate on the Aberdeen, the owners' first boat to possess triple expansion engines.

He had fourteen colonial voyages in command of the steamship Australasian, among his passengers on one of these trips being James Anthony Froude. When the trouble broke out in the Soudan, it was Capt. Simpson's ship which conveyed from Sydney to Suakim the contingent contributed by New South Wales. He was the first master, in fact, to leave an Australian port with colonial troops anxious to fight for the Mother Country. He spent six months in supervising the building of the steamship Thermopylae, at Aberdeen, and afterwards commanded that vessel. He was destined to make no fewer than 15 voyages in her. The Thermopylae, of course, perpetuates the memory of one of the fastest sailing ships which the world has ever seen, and which ran under the flag of the Aberdeen Line. Later, Capt. Simpson superintended the building of the Moravian, his present ship, and in her he has made 22 voyages to Australia and back.

Coolies In South Africa.

Sir Alexander Hosie, Commercial Attache to the British Legation at Pekin, says that many of the provinces of China have a surplus population, and their labor is a valuable export from China, bringing in return into the country the profits derived from foreign lands. Kwangtung and Fuh-kien are the great emigration provinces, but Chihli and Shantung, principally the former, have supplied nearly all the coolies for South Africa, and it may be interesting to give here a summary of the emigration up to Jan. 31, 1907. The total number of coolies shipped from China to South Africa was 63,811, the total number landed at Durban was 63,568, the total distributed to mines was 63,206, and the total employed on Jan. 31, 1907, was 53,828. Up to the same date deaths numbered 2,005, repatriated by purchase 1,433, repatriated as physically unfit, 3,976, repatriated by state aid 768, while 89 were undergoing terms of imprisonment. The percentage of wastage of the number distributed to the mines amounted to 14.29 per cent. Of the total number which sailed from China 62,070 were from the north and 1,741 from the south. The total amount paid by the Chamber of Mines Labor Importation Agency in China to the families and relatives of the emigrants by the allotment system to June 30, 1907, was $1,112,558.05, a sum which of course represents only a part of the miners' savings.

Lions Held Up Station.

Lecturing at Melbourne on East Africa, Mr. V. M. Newland, for several years a resident in Uganda, told an amusing lion story.

Simba, one of the stations on the Uganda railway, is the home of the lion. Last year traffic became disorganized through a troop of lions "holding up" the station. The following telegrams from the stationmaster were the result:

Urgent: Traffic manager. Lion on platform. Please instruct guard and driver to advance cautiously, without signalling; guard advise passengers not get out here.

One man injured six o'clock by lion. Sent to hospital by trolley. Please send ball cartridges; blank cartridges no good.

Extra urgent: Pointsman surrounded by two lions. Has succeeded in climbing to top of telegraph pole near water tank. Immediate succor imperative.

Special of Secretary of Administration is in dead siding, where he just now shot one lion.—London Daily Mail.

WOOD CUTTING AND HAULING AT STANDSTILL

Recent Storms Affect Many Parts of the Country—News From Mount Pleasant

Mount Pleasant, Feb. 17th.—Mr. John J. Sadler, of Toronto, was in town a short time ago. He spent most of the winter on the Pacific Coast, and spoke of the charming climate of California at Los Angeles.

The recent storms have caused irregularity in our church services and in the diurnal trip of our mail carrier. It was a fierce time! The average citizen attempted to keep warm, to eat and to sleep, his usual employment being temporarily paralized.

Mr. Charlie Lough is home again from his business trip to North Dakota.

Mr. John Handley went to Toronto last week via the C.P.R., and experienced some difficulty returning owing to the great snow blockade.

The cutting and hauling of wood has been interfered with; the snow has been very deep and the roads almost unpassable. It is hoped that the recent rain has straightened things out so that these occupations may be resumed with normal activity.

The maker for our cheese factory last year, Mr. Wm. McAdoo, has rented the factory for the ensuing season. His success of last season should ensure increased patronage.

There was a large attendance from our village and surrounding country at the sale of Mr. Robert Howden last Thursday.

There haven't been any fines for neglect to shovel snow from the sidewalks; it was difficult to walk even on the part of the street used by vehicles.

RATE MAY BE STRUCK AT THE NEXT MEETING

Finance Committee of Council is Considering the Estimates

There is a probability that the rate of taxation for the year will be struck at the next meeting of the City Council. The estimates are now being considered by the Finance Committee and if everything is in shape they will be submitted at the first meeting of the council. The Finance Committee held a meeting yesterday afternoon and spent some time discussing the estimates. Another meeting of the committee will be held before the council meets and it is expected that the estimates will be in shape to be laid before the Mayor and Aldermen.

There is considerable speculation as to whether the rate will be lowered or left at the same figure as last year. As there has been a considerable increase in the assessment and on this ground it is felt that the rate may be slightly lowered.

Last of Sells Bros. is Gone

Man Who Organized Famous Circus Dead in New York

New York, Feb.—William Sells, the last of the three brothers who organized the famous Sells Brothers Circus combination, died suddenly in his apartments in West 35th street early today. He had been ill for several weeks, but his condition had been improving steadily, and it was believed he was on the road to recovery. Early this morning he had a sudden change for the worse, and died before a physician reached the house. Gastritis was given as the cause of death. He was 62 years of age.

Funeral Was Held Under Difficulties

The rain Friday night and Saturday morning made the already bad roads still worse, and relatives who set out for Downeyville cemetery on Saturday with the remains of the late Mrs. W. A. Davis, of Bobcaygeon, had a desperate time getting through. The horses attached to the sleighs had to be unharnessed repeatedly and the rigs drawn by hand or shoved by main force over the huge drifts. Several of the horses received bad cuts while plunging through the drifts, owing to being shod behind, and the shoes were removed before the home journey was made.

The R. & O. gross earnings for 1907 were $1,305,900 and the net profits $241,423.

SAVE THE CHILDREN

Insure Them Good Health.

Ninety per cent. of children, under twelve years of age, are being poisoned, and parents don't realize it.

Irregular bowels are the chief cause. You parents know that your bowels should move every day. You know you must be as regular as clock-work, or the blood will become tainted.

Don't you realize that the children must be as orderly in getting rid of the waste matter of their system?

Then, if you find that any of the little ones go two or three days without action of the bowels, don't run to castor oil, senna tea, calomel, cascara or harsh "liver pills." Those simply purge the child—strain the bowels.

"Fruit-a-tives" are the ideal medicine for children. They are fruit juices and tonics in the form of a pleasant tasting tablet. "Fruit-a-tives" stimulate the liver, causing more bile to flow. It is the bile, given up by the liver, which moves the bowels. "Fruit-a-tives" regulate the liver and bowels, and thus completely cure constipation. They sweeten the stomach, and are the finest tonic in the world to build up the system and make children plump and rosy. 50c a box—six for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price if your dealer does not handle them. "Fruit-a-tives" Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

TRADE

The foreign trade of Canada for the year 1907 was 583 million , dollars or 45 million more than , for 1906, an increase of a little over 7 per cent. and the lowest percentage increase in the world excepting New Zealand. There is nothing whatever to be proud of in this. Argentina's trade increased by over 100 per cent. Even drought-stricken Australia's volume of trade exceeds ours. But that is not the worst of it. Our imports exceeded our exports by 90 million dollars or by about 30 per cent. Our sales to Britain fell off by $8,700,000. Our sales to the U.S. fell off by $10,000,000. Imports from France increased by 8 million dollars, from Germany by 1 million. This tariff is not well-balanced. It is good for the steel and cotton men and bad for the farmers and woollen men. It is inconceivable that so young a country with so excellent a start could have slowed up so suddenly and disastrously if it had not been for a misunderstanding of the laws of trade on the part of those who tinker with the tariff. But there is another part of trade besides the foreign part and one very many times greater in volume, more valuable and more important. We refer to home trade, interprovincial trade or the trade of one part of Canada with another. This part has languished to such an extent that distress like a pall covers this whole land which but yesterday was smiling and happy. The failure to finance our share of the GTP. in time, the frightful blunder of the Quebec bridge liability, the astounding trickery of the oriental immigration compact, the shameless gift to favorites of our western lands fortified by a refusal to let the public see the records of the infamous transactions, taken in conjunction with our halting and unequal foreign trade which is proving to impoverish us rather than to add to our resources make up a total that serves to becloud our own institutions with misgiving and to make the outlook grim and uncanny in the extreme.

QUEBEC THE LOVELY

The three hundredth anniversary of the founding of Quebec will be celebrated not only at Quebec, but all over Canada this summer with real rejoicing. For many years the city of Quebec marked the gateway of the western world in the northern hemisphere through which poured into La Nouvelle France, the pride, the piety and otherwise the political intrigues of old France. There is nothing on this continent at least so romantic and historically attractive than the city and province of Quebec. The Red Indians were really a wonderful people, and the meeting of the pomp and splendour of France with these men of the northern wilds produced much that was interesting in politics, commerce and the work of empire. The Recollet and Jesuit missionaries sacrificed themselves to their religious fervour. They journeyed far in quest of other lands and other waters. To the far south the farther west, and the northern wilds the trader and the adventurous tourist voyaged in the search for fortune and fame. The military conquest of America was planned from Quebec as the point d' appui. For a time it appeared as if the plans of Louis had been well laid and well carried out. But the English in New England, the Dutch at New Amsterdam (New York) and the unrelenting Iroquois of the south shore of Lake Ontario ultimately rendered that conquest but a dream and changed the fate of the new world. All this and much more is involved in this 300th celebration, and we hope that the gentle French habitant and the city man, both of French and English origin, will fraternize to their mutual glory and goodwill.

THE THREE-FIFTH'S CLAUSE

The three-fifths clause has got a black eye in Manitoba, where the Government has decided to abolish it. We still think that government by-jerks is not the way to administer law—the great general principle of law evolved from remote ages. There is little doubt that we could prohibit by statute everything improper. But would that make us a moral people? Is that not grasping at the shadow of that which we are seeking for? Primarily and fundamentally a simple majority should carry any law, but there are numbers of laws, notably money by-laws, that do require, and really ought to require, a preponderating majority. The simple principle of of a mere majority is in these cases violated for the sake of protection against a snatched verdict. In time perhaps, a two-thirds or three-fifths majority would be just as easily obtained as any other. When such a time arrives the three-fifths clause will be no longer necessary. The question is, "Has it arrived?" We should be very glad to have short expressions of opinion from our readers on this important topic. It must always remain borne in upon us that the Bible leaves the question of prohibition, moderation or excess to the individual himself. If it is a crime in us not to prohibit, what shall we say of Him who made all law, or made them possible? The more enlightened a State becomes, the fewer and less drastic its laws become. In such such cases laws would be irksome and tyrannical, not protective or formative. Laws against suicide do not prevent it and never will. Religious sentiment and public opinion alone can govern where all other governing agencies fail. In the Yukon laws were made to be disregarded until public sentiment was ready for them, when they were printed, and what is much more important, carried out.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Globe says Obstruction v. Construction is the issue in Parliament. For Construction read Destruction.

Any attack by the Grit press on Hon. G. E. Foster respecting his management of the affairs of the Union Trust Co., is out of court for the very simple reason that Sir Wilfrid Laurier acquitted him on the floor of Parliament of any wrongdoing concerning it.

Hon. Nelson Monteith affirms that he has got the opinion of an expert vet, who says emphatically that the celebrated $1500 mare is not blind. Would that the same could be said of Grit politicians. They have this advantage however that they can be bought for less.

The Globe is now delving into its spring editorial barrel for "casuals" on the wild goose question, the stray fog, the owl (Grit), the mountain hen, the land shark, aerial iceberg, and other things kept to fill in with when it doesn't want to express opinions on parliamentary or other business.

It may or may not interest our readers to hear that there is a "hen on" in the Liberal camp in West Peterborough. We trust that the eggs are sound and that whatever is hatched will be worthy of the great Liberal party. Sometimes there is a deal of cackling about nothing, but not so we hope in this case. The Examiner of late has been very crow phat now it may be "crower."

The quantity of sand spread upon the icy sidewalks is insufficient. Complaints are general. Doubtless the street inspector wishes to hear what people think and he will act accordingly. Much discomfort might be saved by doubling the quantity and by using a little discretion in putting it on. Such things need such prompt and effective treatment in this climate as ice on our roofs and sidewalks. Old people are practically debarred from going out in this slippery season as an old bone broken is not easily mended.

It is becoming more and more the custom for ladies themselves to respond to the toast of "The Ladies" at public and semi-public functions. This strikes us as strange, not to say unwise. How are our beardless youths to shed their feelings and give vent to their amorous regard if the only toast for which they are qualified is to be taken from them. Rather that the toast should be drunk in eloquent silence than that this should happen. The heart-throbs of a thousand years are sometimes centred in a single word. It will be hard for us to become reconciled to it, but when the fashion is once firmly set, let us fix our eyes on the visions of loveliness and lace that will grace our banquet tables.

Mr. Justice Harlan of the Supreme Court of the U.S., one of the ablest men in the Republic has emerged from the quiet of his study to warn western nations against the danger of a yellow peril. What makes this peril real? Numbers and the vital expansion. It was to these that the necessity of conquest, of Europe by Celts, Saxons and Slavs was due. Land hunger and bread hunger with a dash of the roving devil in them prompted the barbarians of the east to look for pastures new. The present signs of the times point our way.

The overcrowding of steam and tramcars is receiving general attention in an effort to remedy it. Women suffer most in overcrowding. We have seen a ten-dollar hat crushed beyond recognition without warning, a beautiful smile vanish like a dream as a toe was stepped on or an elbow planted in a lady's mouth, a heavenly temper disappear in a howl of rage, etc. Simply because one hundred people were trying to get into a space intended for fifty. Corpulent people suffer first and most. People with large noses run serious risks. Those with big feet being forbidden to put their feet on the seats are in a very bad way. Altogether we are not in favor of overcrowding. The Bobcaygeon Independent might deal with this problem.

FROM HANSARD

"Mr. Taylor.—It is under that heading in the Auditor-General's report, uniforms for officers and men, 39 officers at $11 a piece for the men. At page P—60, maintenance of lights, we have uniforms $240.25 and at page P—74, maintenance of lights, P. E.I., $111.22.30. At page P—75 for this same service we have uniforms, $145.75. The Conservative governments maintained lights, but we did not buy uniforms for the lighthouse keepers or for the crew of the boat that supplied the lighthouses. At page P—98 we find $82.25 charged in the general accounts. On the hydrographic survey, P—108, $145.20 was paid for uniforms. At page P—111, $236.15. At page P—129 the ship channel is charged with $745 for this purpose, making a total for the year of $13,178 against $505 spent in our time for this purpose, an increase of $12,673. No wonder the expenditure has swollen as it has.

I promised my hon. friend that I would give him in detail the travelling expenses for 1896 as compared with those of 1906 for the minister and officers of the Marine Department. The travelling expenses for the nine months of last year in connection with the minister, his officers and staff in performing the work of the Marine Department, amounted to $45,998.11. Adding the percentage to make the 12 months we find that this comes to $61,330.81. We did the same work in 1895-6 for all the services except the ship channel for $9,769.53, including travelling expenses of the Hon. John Costigan, Mr William Smith, the deputy and all the officials of the Marine Department. I have the items and pages for every expenditure in each case. There is in this item an increase of $51,661 over 1895-6.

I have given this increase on the nine Dominion steamers; it has cost this Government practically half a million dollars more to maintain the same number of ships. I have taken the "Lady Laurier," and the "Aberdeen" two of our government steamers carrying no passengers. In the nine months the 'Aberdeen' purchased in groceries, simply to feed the men goods to the value of $9,861. I do not know whether these boats run for the nine months continuously from June 30 to March 31, but I am assuming that they did and that they had a full staff there all the time. But then amounts to over $25 a man for the food of the 40 men on this vessel. I am sure there is not a man on the other side of the House who will say that he could not feed 40 men on a steamer, supplying them with a cook, steard and good service for $2.50 a week, or $10 a month. Here is $15 a month of a rake-off on each man.

Mr. Galliher. What would you feed them on?

Mr. Taylor. With the very best provisions. There is not a steamerr on the ocean that does not feed their men at $10 or at the outside $12 a month.

Mr. Johnston. Oh, oh.

Mr. Taylor. My hon. friend has no experience.

Mr. Johnston. I may say that I have had more experience than my hon. friend in that line, and I say without hesitation that no man can do what my hon. friend has said.

Mr. Taylor. My hon. friend can make his speech afterwards. When I come to speak of the prices paid it is no wonder the expense is so heavy. The Lady Laurier for the 9 months cost for provisions to feed the men $9,315 an average of over $25 a month per man. No wonder our expenditure is running into the hundreds of millions when the administration is carried on this way.

At page P—7 you will find that the 'Aberdeen' bought 10 bushels of potatoes at $1.30 a bushel. At page P—9 the 'Aberdeen' bought pots, pans and kettles for the galley costing $116.70; two barrels of apples at $7 a barrel, and they paid for sundry articles, kitchen utensils, $78.80, making $200 for kitchen utensils. To make it easy for the men they got eight cases of Radnor water at $8.35, as will be seen on P—9. To fit out the 'Lady Laurier" and make her comfortable for the sailors they went to a friend in Quebec and got four mahogany cabinet lavatories with desk attachments and tanks complete at $132 a piece, $528 (P—15.) There were nine cases of Radnor water there again and 14 pairs of chickens at $1.40 a pair. We must let some of our country friends know what the government are paying for chickens to feed the sailors. They bought a bag of flour, 50 pounds of brown flour, at 10 cents a pound, $5. To make it comfortable for the men and the officers five large Morris chairs were bought at $18, $90. They also purchased 8 gallons of English body varnish at $7 a gallon, $56 (P—25.) Any one knows that the best body varnish that can be obtained in this country can be laid down for about $3.65. We use any quantity of it every year in our business. I have here a price list from one of the largest varnish and japan manufacturers in England, William Schmidt, varnishes for coach builders and decorators, and their finest body varnish is sold at 12s 6d. and in casks of 50 gallons 1s. per gallon off, that price that makes 11s. 6d. for their best varnish. Adding 12 cents a gallon freight and 50 cents duty we have it laid down here at $3.65. Yet this government pays a friend $7 a gallon for varnish.

To fit out the 'Lady Grey' nicely so that the crew owuld be perfectly comfortable they got brass cuspidors, two at $3.50, and two at $4; silver coffee pot, $9.40; coffee server, $8.50; entree dishes, two at $10 each, ($20); a jardiniere at $8.50, a muffin dish at $9.10, a silver teapot at $8.20, a silver tray to serve the tea at $7.80, a syrup jug at $8, bread trays, three at $2.50, one at $5, two at $6.50, making $25.50; dinner plates, two dozen at $6; tea plates, two dozen at $5; soup plates, two dozen at $5. And so it goes on —sundry cutlery, $150.95; sundry dishes, $117.45. Then to make it handy for the cook to chop up the meat—

Mr. Foster. To make hash.

Mr. Taylor. They bought the end of a saw-log to use for a butcher's block and paid $18 for it.

Mr. Bergeron. What kind of wood —mahogany?"

"Paying the Fare" Was the Address

At S. A. Barracks Last Evening —Capt. Hurd Said Farewell to Local Corps

Another large crowd assembled at the Barracks last evening to hear the excellent illustrated address by Capt. Hurd, the travelling financial secretary. His subject last night was "Paying the Fare," or a true story of a life in London. For nearly an hour the captain kept his hearers interested with the story of a man's life from the time of his dark, sinful days leading up to his conversion. The theme was an instructive one as well as interesting and additional enjoyment was derived from it by the showing of about fifty stereoptican views.

At the conclusion of his address Capt. Hurd took occasion to say farewell to the local corps. Capt Hurd is retiring from his present office and will enjoy a six weeks' furlough in Newfoundland. He has on numerous occasions visited this city and conducted meetings at the barracks. Last evening the local officers, Staff-Capt. Goodwin and Capt. Massie expressed regret at Capt. Hurd's retirement and on behalf of the corps conveyed to him their best wishes for his future prosperity. Mrs. Yeost in charge of G.B.M. work of the local corps, also added a few words of regret.

The full band was in attendance last night and rendered several fine selections.

Young People Had Social Evening

Pleasant Time Last Night at Meeting of St. John's A.Y.P.A.

The regular fortnightly meeting of St. John's A.Y.P.A. last evening took the form of a social and was in every way marked with great success. The attendance was large, including several new members. The society has greatly increased its membership lately, and the interesting and instructive meetings are attracting many of the young people of the city.

Last evening the chair was taken by Mr. Arthur Poe, who, in introducing an excellent programme, made a few brief remarks in which he welcomed those present and referred in words of praise to the good work the society was carrying on among young men and women.

The programme presented was as follows, each number being greeted with hearty applause, and in many cases those taking part were obliged to respond with an encore;—

Piano Solo—Miss Flowers.
Song, "Thora"—Mr. N. Greenhalgh.
Song—Miss Kimberley.
Duet—Messrs. C. and W. Coleman.
Recitation—Miss Prettie.
Song—Mrs. Evans.
Tim-Tam Band—Girls' Auxiliary.

Song—Miss Kimberley.
Song—Miss Kimberley.
Duet—Messrs. Chandler and Greenhalgh.
Recitation—Mr. Geo. Hamon.
Tim-Tam Band—Girls' Auxiliary.

After the programme refreshments were served bythe young ladies and a social time spent. The evening was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

A land company from St. Paul is said to have purchased 10,000 acres of C.N.R. lands at $10 per acre in Manitoba.

THE PASSING OF THE LIMERICK

The following poem appears in the Mail and Empire, the writer being a Peterborough lady.

(Written for the Mail and Empire.)

The melancholy days are come,
When we shall see no more
The gay and sprightly Limericks,
That pleased us well before.

We've wrestled with full many a rhyme,
"The girl beneath the hill,"
I wonder how her collar wore,
And if they dun her still.

"There was a wild and woolly one,
Who came out of the West,"
And he was quite a fine young man,
Who wore a wondrous vest.

And that most brazen maid Marie.
I hope she found her match,
Perhaps the "Pale young man" would suit
He'd not be hard to catch!

"The man who would economize."
Should have her for his wife.
"Who found a few thin bacon rinds,"
Could well support her life.

And if perhaps the "Berlin Maid,"
(No sordid soul had she),
Had chanced to meet the "Man from Bright,"
He'd not been "up a tree."

They "Beck"-oned us to civic things,
We spent a busy hour,
If we could only play at Bridge,
We might have Light and Power.

We struggled with domestic cares,
And hoped to find a way,
Not only helping maids to get,
But how to make them stay!

The undecided weather man,
The night mares wild and grim
They're past and gone, now "Silas" comes,
Our rhyming ends with him.

No more for "Posty" man we'll wait,
With eager heart and eyes,
And quickly scan the paper o'er,
Perchance we have a prize!

At last, alas! the play is done,
The actions pass from view,
We bid them all a fond farewell,
They were a merry crew!

. . . . .

Limerick days are over now,
I am sorry, yet I'm glad,
Morning found me quite perplexed,
Evening, too, no rest I had.
Rhymes ran thro' my weary brain,
I must choose, which shall it be?
Calmly now I rest and hope.
Kind Fate send a prize to me.

AMUSEMENTS

"WHEN KNIGHTHOOD WAS IN FLOWER."

For the third time since its opening the delightful dramatization of that delightful historical novel, "When Knighthood was in Flower" was presented at the Grand last night. The play is the joint work of the author of the book, Chas. Major and that well known dramatist, Paul Kester. By their collaboration a version has resulted that contains all the essentials of an absorbing drama without losing for a moment the spirit the author of the book intended to impart to his various characters. The book has been so generally read and the play produced for such a length of time that it is not necessary to outline the plot. But it would not be just not to give deserving recognition to the capable company that presented the piece.

The star of the production, Miss Grace Merritt is indeed a fortunate choice on the part of Mr. Shipman, the producer of the play. She imparts to a role a vivacity and freshness as well as a tenderness in its more sentimental phases that result in an interpretation that would be difficult to excel. At all times she was natural and graceful and was seen to great advantage on her every appearance. Mr. Joseph Selman, as Charles Brandon, her lover, gave a spirited and manly portrayal of the role. Mr. Leo McGarrity was refined and polished as the courtly but villianous Duke of Buckingham. His delineation of the part was one of the best pieces of acting of the evening. As Henry the Eighth, Mr. F. W. Smith was excellent and Mr. Jerome W. Edwards did splendid work in the role of the Dauphin of France. The others of the cast were uniformly good.

Is a Composer and Writer

Mr. C. W. Vinson of Toronto to Play Popular Pieces at R. Hall & Sons—A Gifted Pianist

Mr. C. W. Vinson, of Toronto, composer and writer, is appearing at Messrs. Richard Halls and Sons' store for a short time, where he will demonstrate the latest popular compositions and song success, his hours being from 10 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock at night.

Mr. Vinson is the author of that pretty composition, "Three Graces Three Step," and his latest work is "I Long for Home Sweet Home," a tuneful waltz song. He has just returned from Brantford, Hamilton and other places west, where he has met with great success selling large numbers of his own compositions and others that he played. He is a very brilliant pianist.

The new scale Williams piano, for which Messrs. R. M. Greene and Co., are local representatives, is used exclusively by Mr. Vinson.

NOTES OF THE DAY

In 1907 Canada's exports to Great Britain decreased $8,713,849, and those to the United States increased $19,149,547.

Temperance Reform. — Governor Burke, of North Dakota, is quoted as saying: "We have had prohibition so long in this State that in some counties there are no jails. There is not much crime in the State." Judge Pollock, of the same State, asserts that after some years' experience of State prohibition the people are still in favor of prohibition in the proportion of three to one.

Liquor and Hotel Accommodation.—In 1889 Fargo, Dakota, had a population of 5,000 and forty saloons. To-day it has 17,000 people and no saloons. Fargo business men do not want the liquor shop to return. Their former fear that prohibition would kill the town has proved to be groundless. The place has excellent hotel accommodation, but a new hostelry is to be erected at a cost of $125,000. This shows that hotel-keeping is a profitable business without the revenue from the bar.

THE GERHARD HEINTZMAN PLAYER-PIANO

Is a regular Gerhard Heintzman Piano [and can be played as such] with an automatic playing device concealed within it, A programme of one's own choosing is always available for entertaining friends or for personal enjoyment. This unique Piano may be seen at 434 Water St. 'Phone W. H. Isaac, Machine 22, for particulars.

The Whitney Government And the License Laws

All the recognized heads of the Temperance party agree that the legislation of the present Government makes for the benefit of those in favor of temperance—with the exception of the three-fifths vote on local option. On that subject they are divided, the majority of course thinking that it is not right. But the consensus of independent thought is that in the long run it will benefit the temperance people—as any municipality won under the three-fifths clause will never be lost by an ordinary adverse vote.

The Government has appointed a special inspector with staff of detectives paid by salary to see that the law is obeyed in those places under local option. Last year they spent $20,000 and more in enforcing the law and in looking after the rights of both the temperance people and those who pay for licenses. In the latter case they have tried to help the hotel keepers by looking after and closing up "blind pigs," and other places where liquor is sold without a license.

Bartenders in cities and towns were put under license with a fee attached, so that they could be controlled by the license inspector, and no one under 21 (and a male) was allowed to procure a license.

Bottle liquors must now be kept in original bottles, and there is to be no refilling under penalty.

No mixtures of drugs or other deleterious substance shall be placed in liquor in bulk—penalty $20 to $50. The inspector has the right to take samples at any time for analysis.

Population of a town to decide number of licenses is now determined by assessors' returns—not by special census cooked up as formerly.

The council of any municipality may now by bylaw reduce number of licenses.

No "Tied" Houses—

Large increase in amount of license fee—municipalities received $175,000 more in 1907 than in 1906.

Inspectors now liable to a fine if they do not prosecute for second and third offences, when previous convictions have been made.

It makes any person in charge of a boat responsible for the sale of liquor thereon.

Prohibits canvassing for orders for liquor in local option districts. Makes it compulsory on municipal councils to submit local option by-law to people on petition of 25 per cent., and makes it compulsory on part of council to give third reading if the people carry it.

Provides that minors shall not be permitted to act behind the bar.

Provides that technicalities shall not prevail against conviction good on merits.

These are the amendments made by the present Government to the License law. That law is now clearly set out on paper and honorably carried out.

Will Petition for Lease Of Upper Healey Falls

Deputation of Representatives of Eighteen Municipalities in Midland, Ontario, Will Interview the Dominion Government on February 21st.

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Feb. 18.—A deputation composed of the municipal officers of eighteen municipalities in Midland Ontario, and leading manufacturers and business men of eight ridings will on February 21st, wait on the Dominion Government in behalf of the Northumberland-Durham Power Co., to petition that body to give the company a lease of Upper Healey Falls which they need in order to properly develop power there. That portion of the falls will be absolutely of no use to anyone else but that company, and there is no reason why the Dominion Government should not grant their request.

Healey Falls is situated about seven miles south-east of Havelock, and about six miles from Trent Bridge by the course of the water. It is a most wonderful fall of water and will undoubtedly in the course of a year or two become known to the whole country for the enormous electric power which will be developed there. It will also bring into prominence all the towns in south Midland Ontario, especially that growing and prosperous place called Havelock, which through its importance, in connection with the Northumberland-Durham Power Co., and Healey Falls, has been appropriately christened "Power Town."

It is a shame to let the water that is flowing over the falls go to waste. Every time the second hand on a man's watch makes one revolution, 100,000 cubic feet of water or enough to make 14,000 horse power flows over Healey Falls to no good, and so it will continue to do until the Northumberland-Durham Power Co., have been given the required lease of Upper Healey Falls which the Dominion Government will likely do when the deputation waits on them.

The deputation will leave Havelock on the mid-night express on Thursday, Feb. 20th, and will interview the Minister of Railways and Canals at ten o'clock a.m., on the following day, Feb. 21st.

Mr. D. W. Dumble is Strongly In Favor of Accepting Gift

Makes Some Interesting Comment on Letter of Mr. W. H. Moore—Cost of Maintenance Would be the Same no Matter Whose Money Was Used.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I have read with interest the letter of Mr. W. H. Moore on the question of the Public Library. Mr. Moore is one of the Town Commissioners, and knows all about our financial position and is generally considered a clear headed man. I am glad to read in his letter these words: "THE CITY SHOULD, OF COURSE, HAVE A GOOD LIBRARY, AND A GOOD AND CONVENIENT BUILDING IN WHICH TO HOUSE IT," but Mr. Moore is in doubt whether it would not be wiser to borrow $30,000 and pay principal and interest on the debentures instead of accepting $30,000 as a free gift from Mr. Carnegie. Now, generally speaking people think a gift is a more pleasant and profitable thing than a mortgage on one's home. Mr. Moore has doubts. If this were a personal matter Mr. Moore would cast his doubts to the wind, and snatch at the $30,000. Mr. Moore's mode of putting his argument is not clear.

Assuming that we had to raise $3,000 a year, representing at 4 1-2 per cent., $66,000, why does he ignore the fact that the

Nicholls Estate gifts ... cover ... $25,000

And the annual Government grant, $180 at 4 1-2 per cent. equals a capital of 4,000

[illegible] $29,000

Leaving to be raised only... ...$37,000

[illegible]

Net... ... ...$66,000

The cost of properly keeping up the library is the same whether the Carnegie money is used or not.

If $3,000 is too big a burden, then, why accept $30,000 from Carnegie, he does not insist on our taking that sum? A building costing $25,000 will be plenty large enough and good enough, and the annual requirement to run the library will be reduced to $2,500, of which we now have an assured income of $1,180 a year, leaving to be raised only $1,320 per annum; We raise to educate our children $46,787 per annum; this is all right for it is the most that people can usually give their children. To fit them to make their own living, is better than to pinch and save to leave them money which too often they dissipate before they have learned how to make and how to save money. If it is wise to do so much for our children, is it unwise to do some thing for the other children—the grown ups. We don't quit studying and reading when we leave school.

A free public library will give to every home all the books they need the year round. There are 3,500 homes in Peterborough, forty cents a year will give every home a new book each week, forty books a year at a cent a piece. Surely we can stand that. Can any home make a better investment? We would like Mr. Moore to put down actual figures, proving mathematically that it is cheaper for Peterborough to raise $25,000 or $30,000 by a mortgage on the Town than accepting $25,000 or $30,000 as a gift.

I am, sir,
Your obedient servant,
D. W. DUMBLE.

Letters to The Editor

The Review Does Not Hold Itself Responsible for Opinions Expressed by Correspondents

A LIBERAL SPEAKS

To the Editor of The Review;

Dear Sir,—By the Review of this evening I noticed that you are making an attack on the Hon. J. R. Stratton for taking $10,000 rake-off out of $90,000 in connection with the Home Life deal. Now, Sir, if you knew this Hon. Gentlemen's career as others know it you would be giving him great credit for taking only the 1-9 because earlier in his career he had more selfish ideas and claimed about 3-4 as a reasonable rake-off of which I will give you an instance. Mr. Bruce Ludgate obtained a Government survey and through good management cleared $840. and this Hon. gentleman sent for Mr. Ludgate and told him that he got the survey for him and demanded $600 out of the $840 claiming that Mr. Ludgate was d— well paid if he got $240 for his summer's work. There was no truth in the Hon. gentleman's claim that the survey was secured through his influence and Mr. Ludgate will prove that the survey was secured through an intimate friend who never asks or accepts a rake-off. Now Mr. Editor, don't you think it is only right when the Hon. ? is showing such signs of repentance and drops from a 3-4 to 1-9 that he should be encouraged and perhaps in a few years more his conscience will check him sufficient to prevent him either demanding or receiving a rake-off.

Yours truly,
EAST CITY LIBERAL
Peterborough, Feb. 17, 1908.

Here's One for Young Moulder

"May Flower" Would Like to Correspond With a View to Matrimony

The Review Matrimonial Bureau is working well. Through its use two young people in the city are likely to be made happy by "agreeing to disagree." The following letter was received last night;

Dear Mr. Editor,—In reading the columns of Saturday's Review I notice a moulder advertising for a wife. If he is a man of moderate habits and does not use liquor, I would not mind being acquainted with him. By his age I think I would be the right one for him. I am not going to describe for myself. I think we can tell better by seeing each other. I never liked moulders for they make so much washing but I think I can overlook that part. You may allow this gentleman to answer this letter through the paper and if I deem it advisable I will give my address and start a private correspondence. There is a young lady ahead of me in her advt. but I don't think it is wise to let her have the whole show as there are so many girls in Peterborough without a man I prefer him to be a Peterborough boy and not a stranger as is often the case. Thanking you for your space, I remain,

MAY FLOWER.
Peterborough, Feb. 17, 1908.

ANOTHER FOR MOULDER

To the Editor of the Review;

Sir,—My attention was called to a notice in the Review of a moulder looking for a wife. Now my first three husbands were moulders, and I feel as if I was getting mouldy without one. I am the very devil to cook so he need have no fear of that if he can provide the meat. References strictly required but confidential.

Yours,
FAIR AND FORTY.

DON'T EXPERIMENT WITH YOUR EYES

It is dangerous. Be sure that you are wearing the right kind of Glasses—those that aid the sight without straining the eyes at all. The wrong kind of glasses is worse than no kind. Suppose you call upon us and let us measure your eye-sight, correctly gauge it, and fit it with properly adjusted Glasses or Spectacles. It will be a treat to your eyes and not hurt your pocket.

If "Rose Bud" Wants to Meet a Prospective

Here's Her Chance—Should be at Post Office To-night at 7.30 O'clock

Last Friday a letter appeared in the Review, signed by a marriageable young lady, using the nom de plume "Rose Bud." The letter was replied to by Mr. Louis Manning, an employee of a local industrial concern.

Today Mr. Manning was seen by the Review and expressed a desire to meet the young lady in question at the post office tonight at 7.30 o'clock.

He came to this city from Oshawa and has been here seven months.

Mr. Manning consented to be interviewed on the matter, and remarked to the reporter that he was not particular whether or not the correspondent was fair or dark, as long as she was a nice girl he would be willing to marry her. He admitted he would like a good looking girl, however. Speaking again concerning complexions, he said a fair one would probably suit him best.

"Rose Bud" is requested to meet Mr. Manning at the time and place specified by him. All matters concerning the marriage may then be arranged to the mutual satisfaction of both parties.

It is suggested that the young lady wear a red rose in order that Mr. Manning may be able to distinguish her.

Third Session of Mock Parliament

The next session of the Mock Parliament of the Y.M.C.A., will be held on Wednesday evening, Feb. 19, with the Speaker in the chair. The chief feature of the session will be the second reading of the Labor Disputes Bill of 1908. It will be introduced by Hon. W. Maclaren, Minister of Labor, after the questions and motion, the regular order of business have been dispensed with. The session will open at 8 p.m. and all the young men of the city are invited.

The clauses of the Disputes Bill are as follows;

His Majesty by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and the House of Commons, enacts as follows;

1. That from and after the 30th day of June, 1908, all disputes between employers and employees shall be settled by a Board of Arbitration composed of three persons. Each party to the dispute shall appoint one arbitrator, the third to be appointed by the Judge of the County by which the disputes occur. That the said Board shall have free access to all papers, books, and documents of the parties concerned in the dispute and may compel the attendance of any person before the board.

2. The finding of the Board shall be final for two years, when it may be re-considered by application of either party.

3. The finding of said Board shall be binding to all parties to the dispute and employers must carry out the terms of the decision of said Board or discontinue business, neither shall the said employer blacklist or do anything to injure the welfare of any of his employees.

Employees shall have the privilege of leaving their positions, but shall in no way do anything to coerce or persuade other employees to a like course. Further that they shall not seek to injure the property or reputation of the said employer.

4. The remuneration of arbitration shall be at the rate of $7 for every full day and $3.50 for every half day actually spent on the arbitration.

5. All expenses of the arbitration board to be paid out of the public moneys of the Dominion, expenses of the witnesses to be borne by the parties bringing them forward.

6. A penalty for violating the provisions of this act shall be a fine not exceeding $500 or imprisonment for a term not to exceed 12 months.

Retired in Good Health, But Passed Away an Hour Later

Retiring in the best of health about 11 o'clock last evening, after having worked all day, Henry Riches died very suddenly shortly after midnight at his late residence, 165 Romaine street. About 11.30 o'clock Mrs. Riches was awakened by the groaning of her husband as if he were suffering terrible pain. She went to his assistance and found him in an unconscious condition. Medical aid was summoned but all efforts to restore him were of no avail and he gradually sank until the end came. Death was due to apoplexy.

The late Mr. Riches was 58 years of age and was born in Quebec. He was employed at the Matthews Co. factory for many years and was held in the highest esteem by all who knew him.

Besides his wife three sons and two daughters are left to mourn his loss. The sons are Harry, Fred, and Amos, of Peterborough and the daughters are Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Ranger, of this city.

The funeral will take place on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

Four Dogs Go Down at One Fell Swoop of the Poisoner

Four dogs took their departure from this world of trouble yesterday afternoon by way of the poison route. The owners of them are naturally indignant and are taking steps to endeavor to apprehend the person guilty of putting out the poison. The bow-wows apparently got the poison around the corner of McDonnel and Downie streets, at any rate they were found dead in that portion of the city. One of them belonged to Mr. A. Blade, another to Mr. Jenkins, the third to Mr. Holly, and one to Mr. Pole, who lives on Donegal street. The dogs were valuable ones and the owners are working hard to locate the poisoner.

One of the dogs had a piece of raw meat in his mouth when found.

Died While Attending the Funeral

George Greer Who Was Buried at Peterboro' To-day, Was Attending Brother's Funeral

Buffalo, Feb. 17.—A special from Dunkirk, N.Y., says;—The funeral of William Tisdale Greer, who died of cancer on Friday, was held here Sunday afternoon. George Greer, who came here on Friday from Chicago to see his brother, though very ill from consumption, also died yesterday, a few hours before his brother's funeral. The body was taken to his former home at Peterborough, Ont., for burial.

Deceased was a brother of Mr. Joseph Greer of Otonabee township.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W., 82, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother, her home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

Good Talent for "Trial by Jury"

Which Will be Presented at Conservatory Music Hall To-morrow and Thursday Night

Tomorrow and Thursday evenings, Sir Arthur Sullivan's dainty operetta, "Trial by Jury," will be given in the Conservatory Music Hall under the direction of Mr. Rupert Gliddon, and under the auspices of the Men's Association of All Saints' church. Some of the best talent in the city is included in the cast which numbers about fifty. The principal roles will be taken by Peterborough's most prominent vocalists, and they will be supported by a splendid chorus, including a bevy of pretty girls. The principal roles are allotted as follows;

Judge—Mr. W. McIlroy, baritone.

Plaintiff—Miss Carrie Reesor, soprano.

Counsel for plaintiff, Mr. Vernon Morphet.

Defendant—Mr. J. Harry Scriver.

Foreman of Jury—Mr. Allan,

Usher—Mr. M. Johnston.

A good musical programme will be given before the operetta, the following artists taking part; Miss Julia Choate, violinist; Miss Pearl Lundy, soloist, and Mr. J. Harry Scriver, tenor soloist.

"Trial by Jury," contains over a dozen catchy musical numbers and as a large number of rehearsals have been held everything will be carried out in the most professional manner.

The programme commences at 8.15 each night.

In the Legislature at Toronto; Colonel Clark Has a Poser

Who Is Responsible For the Minimum Salary of Teachers?

Scores Leader of Opposition In Legislature—Model Schools No Longer Needed—Would Pull Reins on Liquor Traffic—Defends Three-Fifths Clause — Claims Pre-Election Pledges Have Been Fulfilled.

Toronto, Feb. 18.—Col. Hugh Clark resumed the debate on the address yesterday in the Legislature, and was the star of the occasion, sparkling by his wit as well as illuminating by his knowledge.

He made two good points. Much stress had been laid on his speeches by the Opposition leader upon the charge that the Government had introduced legislation which compelled the trustees to pay a minimum salary. Col. Clark drew attention to the fact that when the bill was introduced it contained no reference to the trustees at all, but merely made it a teacher's duty not to accept less than the minimum salary. The suggestion was made on that occasion in the House by Hon. Mr. MacKay, that the trustees should be required to pay a higher salary. He went so far as to say that if they would not pay it the trustees should be penalized. Yet Mr. MacKay had since made the charge that the Government, by its legislation, had forced the hands of the trustees in this respect, when the suggestion had actually come from himself.

T. H. Lennox continued the debate with a spirited defence of the Government's lands and forest policy, and Sam Clarke (West Northumberland) moved the adjournment of the debate.

The House adjourned at 6, and will meet to-day at 3, but will adjourn immediately, as all the members are expected to be at Guelph, attending the excursion to the Ontario Agricultural College.

Becoming a Habit.

Col. Hugh Clark rose at 3.40 to remark that a good deal of water had run beneath the bridges since 1905. It had become almost a time-honored and venerated custom to congratulate the new leader of the Opposition at the opening of each session. (Laughter.) At the first session the war horse had not been firmly seated in the saddle. Number two was disposed of at the Department of Railways and Canals. Last September seventeen members of the Opposition had met at the Rossin House and elected the hon. gentleman whose majestic form now graced the leading seat of the Opposition. He was not surprised if the hon. gentlemen desired a ceremony of ratification, as he could count five or six of his companions who had no intention of following his lead. Col. Clark's references to various members of the Opposition aroused laughter. To Mr. Harcourt he applied a quotation from Browning, describing his "mild, magnificent eye." He had seen his followers sitting spellbound by the classic grandeur of his wit, and he was not surprised for he had felt that way himself.

Of Mr. Smith (Sault Ste. Marie) he declared he was at least consistent, for he was not careful of what he said, either in the House or on the stump. The Soo loan had turned out well, but no amount of success would ever justify it. The precedent was exceedingly dangerous, and any other company in difficulties would have an equal right to demand assistance.

The Model Schools.

Speaking of the school system, he asserted that if the model schools were abolished it would not be the result of merger or anything, but that they were no longer needed, and had died a natural death. He defended the adoption of the new examination system. The leader of the Opposition, who went about the country talking about the Government, taking the school trustees by the throat, was the very man at whose request the clause he now objected to was inserted by the Minister of Education.

"Personally, I am in favor of pulling in the reins on the liquor traffic just as fast as the people will allow us to do it," Col. Clark remarked, in defending the three-fifths clause, which he considered had not yet had a fair trial. He believed, however, that the Roblin Government in Manitoba had a perfect right to repeal the three-fifths vote, which there required 60 per cent. of the total names on the voters' list. Under the Manitoba test local option would only have carried in two places in Ontario—Millbrook and the Township of Bruce. The new law in Manitoba required a majority of the names on the voters' list to establish local option. In only four places in Ontario would local option have carried under this rule.

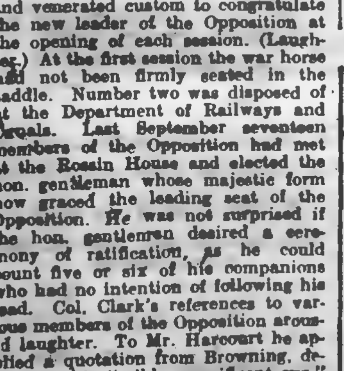
The Government had carried out all its pre-election pledges in its first term of office. In doing so it had made many enemies, by its school legislation, by the three-fifths clause, and strong and influential enemies by demanding for the people a share of their heritage in the water powers of the country, and he was not aware how far these antagonisms would be exerted against the Government at the next election.

An Agricultural Criticism.

R. A. Thompson (North Wentworth) dwelt chiefly on agricultural matters, the vast investment in which of over $1,100,000,000 in Ontario, equal to $550 for every man, woman and child rendered it of the first importance. He criticized the Department of Agriculture for sundry neglects of the farming interest. What excuse, for example, could the Government give, for giving up without any special effort, the sole control of immigration into the province. They had abandoned the choosing and supervising of the help that our farmers were to receive, when the best of the farm hands would be attracted to the west, and Ontario farmers would suffer. An interest three times the value of the manufacturing interests deserved at least as much encouragement.

That Pulpwood Concession.

T. H. Lennox (North York) devoted a good deal of attention to the Montreal River pulp wood concession, and cleared up the obscure details of that transaction. In the Georgian Bay Lumber Co.'s transfer matters the present Government had forced an additional $50,000 from them, notwithstanding the fact that the company did not get one foot more than Hon. Mr. Davis' plan showed. In spite of this the Opposition charged that the Government had given away 27 miles of timber limit. Mr. Lennox was glad that the Opposition had drawn attention to a matter of which the Government had every right to be proud.



Tragic Death In the Woods.

Brockville, Feb. 19.—William Hartwig, a Wilberforce farmer, met a tragic death a few days ago. He was engaged sawing a tree in the woods on his farm, when the huge log suddenly swayed. He was unable to clear it and was felled to the ground. The log struck him on the side of the head, causing instantaneous death. Hartwig's young son was with him and was an eye-witness to his father's end.

All But One Saved.

Pottsville, Pa., Feb. 19.—All but one of the twenty-eight miners who were entombed in the Mid-Valley Colliery were rescued alive early yesterday morning. One had been killed.

Hanged Himself.

Erie, Pa., Feb. 19.—Winfield S. Riblet, one of the oldest business men of the city, hanged himself in a barn near his home yesterday.

George Taylor of Stradsville, died suddenly yesterday.

C.P.R. EXPRESS DITCHED

Japanese Porter Killed and Fifteen Persons Badly Injured.

Serious Acident Near Chapleau—The Wheel of the Mail Car Collapsed—Threw Train Off Rails — Three Cars Turned on Their Sides—Many Pinned Under Wreckage — Lady's Hand Cut Off.

North Bay, Feb. 19.—One man was killed and fifteen persons injured in a wreck Monday night in a locality which has been marked during the last few months with disaster and death on the rail.

On the White River section of the Lake Superior division, C.P.R., No. 2 express from the west was speeding along on time at 9.33, and when near Pardee, 17 miles west of Chapleau, a wheel on the mail car collapsed and the train was ditched. Pardee is 267 miles west of North Bay.

To the usual terrifying accompaniment of smashing timbers and grinding staccato of splintering steel, the shrieks of injured and frightened passengers, the train went off.

When the train went off, the colonist car rolled over, followed by the tourist and first-class cars, and these all landed on their sides, piling the passengers in heaps among the debris of broken seats, grips, and articles of clothing. It is a miracle more passengers were not injured or killed. It was fortunate also that no fire followed the accident, for in the excitement it is probable that some of those pinned under the wreckage would have been left to be slowly cremated alive.

As soon as the crew and passengers recovered from the shock of the impact, the work of rescue began.

A Japanese porter, name unknown, was taken out of the wreckage dead.

Brakeman J. Morgan of White River was found with serious injuries, but the doctors have not pronounced on his chances for recovery as yet.

Elsie Hogg of Schreiber, Ont., received injuries of a very severe nature and her condition is precarious.

Mrs. A. C. Payne of Bristol, Eng., was badly hurt, her injuries including the loss of the left hand, which was completely severed. Her husband, A. C. Payne, escaped with slight injuries.

The complete list of injured is as follows: W. Sutherland, Port Arthur, slightly; H. C. Rudd, Toronto, not seriously; B. Morgan, Chapleau, badly injured; Wolf Noranki, Chelsea, Mass., nose broken.

Infant child of Mrs. Walter Syson, North Bay, slightly; Walter Hummell, Yorkshire, Eng., slightly; William Hunter, Gladstone, Man., slightly; J. D. Richardson, Markham, Ont., cut and bruised; E. C. Humphrey, Arnprior, Ont., slightly bruised; John Rayner, Finland, minor injuries, not serious; F. Orville, Rocanville Sask., not serious; Elsie Hogg, Schreiber, seriously injured; Mrs. A. C. Payne, Bristol, Eng., left hand amputated and other injuries; Margaret Campbell, Carleton Junction, bruises; A. C. Payne, Bristol, Eng., head cut.

AT SEA IN OPEN BOAT.

Frightful Sufferings of Survivors of the Emily Reed.

Seattle Wash., Feb. 19.—A despatch from Neah Bay says:

The crew of the little six-ton sloop Teckla, lying at anchor here, were startled Monday night by a feeble hail from a steel lifeboat drawing up slowly in the light breeze. In the boat were the forms of four men, three living and one dead, survivors of the Emily Reed, wrecked off the mouth of Nehalem River on the coast of Oregon, 200 miles from Neah Bay.

The dead man was the ship's cook. He had drunk sea water, became delirious and succumbed. The three living survivors were in frightful condition. Their tongues were swollen from thirst so that at first they could scarcely articulate. They had had no food since last Sunday night or any water since they left the wreck of the Reed Friday morning.

Tack Through Child's Tongue.

Uhrichsville, Ohio, Feb. 19.—Humane Officer Jackson yesterday swore out a warrant in New Philadelphia for Miss Clara Stirling, 24 years old, a teacher at the County Children's Home. Jackson declares Miss Stirling confessed to him that she drove a tack through the tongue of 8-year-old Simpson Fowler, an inmate of the home.

The affair was made public by R. W. Chapman, the janitor, who declares he saw the occurrence. The humane officer investigated and says the child was punished with the tack for a trivial violation of the rules.

Miss Stirling is a niece of Superintendent Nugent of the home.

Arrest Insurance Broker.

Philadelphia, Feb. 19.—On a warrant charging him with the forgery of a $30,000 check on a Quaker Town National Bank, Lewis S. Cox, aged 63, an insurance broker, was arrested here yesterday after a struggle with two detectives.

According to the authorities it was not until the death of Byron Thomas, president of the Quaker Town National Bank, that the alleged forgery was discovered.

Other arrests are expected.

River Choked With Ice.

Desmoines, Ia., Feb. 19.—On Raccoon River an ice gorge, six miles long, has formed just above the city. City officials are using dynamite to blow up the gorge, but with poor success. Yesterday a blizzard raged throughout this part of the state. Eight inches of snow has fallen.

Prince May Come.

London, Feb. 19.—It is declared here, with some show of authority, that the Prince of Wales will attend in August of this year the three hundredth anniversary of the founding of Quebec by the French.

Mrs. R. Gentleman, 1093 St. James Street, Montreal, Quebec, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I suffered from a severe female weakness, and extreme nervousness, and was blue and utterly discouraged.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended, and after taking several bottles, I am not only cured, but am an entirely different woman, and on the whole a healthier woman than before taking your valuable medicine.

"Every woman who suffers from any form of female ills should not fail to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

AFTER THE RAILWAYS.

Must Live Up to Their Charters and Serve the People.

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—Nearly the whole of yesterday's session was taken up with the discussion of the "reciprocal demurrage" amendment of W. F. Maclean (South York). At 11 o'clock the debate was adjourned after the Minister of Railways and Canals (Mr. Graham) concurred in the opinion freely expressed that substantial grievances against the railways existed, though he inclined to the belief that the bill would not cure the evil.

Mr. Graham said he would in a few days bring down a bill to increase the number of the Railway Commission and to impose new duties on that body with regard to compelling the railways to discharge their obligations to the public.

Mr. Maclean, however, declared that the people did not look for a cure of the evils existing except through direct action of Parliament, but he was willing to wait for the promised Government legislation.

Mr. Maclean's proposal was ably supported by members on both sides of the House.

He said: "If these companies do not perform the duties to the public for which they were created, Parliament must interfere, someone must interfere, and compel them to render to the public the service for which they were franchised."

Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Railways, assured the House that in the bill which will shortly be brought down, provision is made for increasing the membership of the Commission, and new duties will be imposed, with a view to further protecting the interests of the public.

Mr. Hugh Guthrie declared that the present law contains all the legislation necessary to prevent discrimination in demurrage.

"The very statistics disprove Mr. Guthrie's contention. That there exists a great grievance, no one can deny," retorted Mr. E. D. Smith.

Why Anderson Suicided.

Detroit, Feb. 19.—A Grand Rapids despatch says:

"The mystery of the death of R. F. Anderson, the man who shot and killed himself in Cobalt, Ontario, Saturday afternoon, has been cleared up. Anderson was the township treasurer of a Missaukee County township, who absconded twenty months ago, $1,900 short in his accounts. He was also postmaster at Jennings at the time of his flight.

"My husband kissed me good-bye and said he was going to Cadillac to meet a traveling man," says the latter's wife, who lives in this city. "That was the last I heard of him till I got a telegram from Cobalt Saturday night that he was dead."

The widow has a babe born two months after Anderson disappeared. Anderson took with him, or had previously squandered, $900 of township money, and $1,000 he had in trust for a woman living in Jennings. All trace of him was lost after he left for Cadillac. His bondsmen made up the loss to the township.

Ambassador Got Lost.

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—Ambassador Bryce has a habit of losing himself. When in Toronto he had to be piloted out of the mazes of the Union Station. In Ottawa Monday the ambassador became hopelessly lost while looking for the Governor-General's office in the eastern building. He was recognized by a clerk, who piloted him to his destination. A soldier was standing at Earl Grey's door.

"This is Mr. Bryce," said the clerk. "He desires to see His Excellency."

"Who is Mr. Bryce?" asked the soldier.

"The British ambassador to the United States," said the clerk, and the soldier almost collapsed, but managed to rise to the attitude of respectful salute.

Skating Races Last Night Proved Exceedingly Exciting

Robson Won the Half Mile and Two Mile and Heffernan Captured the Mile—Ben Dusty Headed the Field in the Mile for County Championship.

Fred Robson, of Toronto, the amateur skating champion of Canada, defeated C. N. Heffernan, of Toronto, holder of the Canadian two mile record, two out of three events at Brock street rink last night. Robson took the half mile and two mile while Heffernan captured the one mile heat. Ben Dusty won the one mile event for the championship of Peterborough county and Charlie Kingan the race for boys under eighteen years.

About three hundred people were present—a remarkably small crowd when it is considered that an hour's skating was thrown in for the 25 cents admission fee and that the band was in attendance. It was rather discouraging to those who would like to secure first class attractions for the public of Peterborough.

Robson and Heffernan are both finished speed skaters and gave a remarkably fine exhibition of fast work on the steel blades. Robson is short in stature but has all kinds of speed and navigated the corners last night as if he were on a half mile track. Heffernan has an easy swinging stride but would be more at home on a large rink than at the Brock street course where it takes fourteen laps to make the mile. On the form shown last night there is little to choose between the two Toronto cracks. It was neck and neck all the time and the three events were won by inches.

The half mile came first. The two skaters stayed together all the way alternating in leading, and Robson was less than a foot in front when the finish was reached.

Charlie Kingan had an easy thing in the mile for boys under eighteen. There were two other starters, Stephen Holland and Charlie Walsh. The latter dropped out after falling twice in the first three rounds and Kingan beat Holland by two laps. The latter also had a fall.

The mile go between Robson and Heffernan was a dandy. The latter got the lead on the twelfth round and managed to hold it although Robson was right at his side when he finished. The loser fell at the finish but did not injure himself.

Ben Dusty, Clifford Cox, Ab. Allan and W. O'Rourke started in the mile race for the county championship. Dusty pulled away at the start and was never headed although Cox started strong. The Strathcona man won by almost a lap, Cox coming second, Allan third and O'Rourke fourth.

The last event was the two mile race between Robson and Heffernan. It was nip and tuck all the way. The first mile was turned in 3.37 and the two in 7.11. Heffernan was leading on the 28th round but Robson caught him and beat him out by less than a foot. The finish was exciting and aroused the enthusiasm of the spectators. Heffernan was picked to win this event but seemed to have difficulty with the corners.

SUMMARY.

Below is the summary;

Half mile—1. Robson, 2, Heffernan Time 1.38.

One mile—1. Heffernan, 2, Robson, Time, 3.22 1-3.

Two miles—1. Robson, 2. Heffernan. Time 7.11.

Boys' race, one mile—1, Chas. Kingan; 2, S. Holland; 3, C. Walsh Time 3.53.

One mile, open to Peterborough County—1, B. Dusty; 2, Clifford Cox; 3, A. Allan; 4, W. O'Rourke. Time 3.26 1-2.

Judge and starter—J. B. Hay.

Timekeeper—Alex. Gibson.

Scorers—F. D. Craig and D. B. MacRae.

Announcer—G. G. Graham.

Jack Thornbeck had the ice in splendid condition and Robson and Heffernan expressed themselves as greatly pleased with it. The time made was remarkably fast and those present were well satisfied with the programme.

Something to Laugh at; The Examiner Hockey Team

Seven of the lemons that have been presented Prof. Hoganni this year will be used by the Examiner septette at half time for thirst quenching purposes. Talking of lemons, by the way, it is understood that the Professor has sold at a handsome price his entire stock to Ringling Bros.' circus with which he appears the coming season in the dual capacity of press man and handcuff king. The lemons will be used to make lemonade for the various soft drink booths with the circus. This, however, has no more bearing on actual hockey than has the Examiner bunch of puck chasers.

"Laugh when the crowd laughs at you" is the motto being handed the members of the Grit rag team by the Chinese philosopher of the office of Confucious Yockoming. It is good advice, for there is nothing like taking defeat cheerfully. There never was much sense to a team slogan. For years college and athletic yells have been derided as nonsensical. But there is at least some slight intelligence and applicability in the Examiner war cry;—

"No chance, whitewash, sis boom bah;
Handcuffs, lemons, rah, rah rah."

Professor Hobanni (Hoganni—but enough of handcuffs and false noises—the game's the thing, and as far as the Examiner itself is concerned, the game isn't worth the candle.

Craig in goal, couldn't stop a horseshoe. Burridge at point is a hearty laugh, Clarke, at cover, is even a louder outburst of merriment, while the four unmentionables on the forward line make Mark Twain's most scintillating side splitters look like a wide night in a fog.

The girls all vote that Craig is in his proper place in the nets. They catch them at the lemon, too, with gaff hooks.

The cat, or rather the dog, is out of the bag. Peterborough dogs are not being poisoned; they are committing suicide as a result of the disgust they feel on account of the showing of the Examiner hockey team.

Talking about Limerick's how's this!

There was a young player named Clark,
Who a pretty young girl tried to spark
But the father arose and with help from his toes
Kicked the sparker out into the dark.

The Examiner team does not draw the color line. Our friend from the bush, B. T. Huston, does not seem able to shake the coon.

The north country will likely be largely represented. B. T. Huston expects some information on this point with the coming in of the next Apsley mail.

A deputation of the members of the Warsaw branch of the "Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Innocents," will be on hand to keep a fatherly eye on B. T. Huston, the boy wonder from Johnston Pandash's township.

We beg leave to advise Josiah Greengoods Craig, the man who wrote the Limericks that appeared in last night's Examiner, that his [illegible] and that his metre is badly out of gear. We humbly suggest he send the latter to the C.G.R. metre test as there is something radically wrong.

Two convicts were liberated from an American prison because they wrote a poem that had merit. When Josiah Greengoods Craig finds himself in jail, as he surely will some day, and endeavors to get his freedom by writing limericks he will be made happy as a poached egg by finding a couple of years will be added to his sentence.

Some of the sentences in Josiah Craig's Limericks are about as rough as those handed out to the men who throw bombs at the Czar of Russia.

Laugh and the world laughs with you—
Be a Hog—and you root alone.

If there is water on the ice on the night of the game, Long Primer Robinson will likely go on a ong Cruise-O (P.S.—This is a joke.)

John Hogan, who covers the hotels for our evening contemporary, is said to be at loggerheads with the hockey management of the Grit seven and will not be given a place on the team.

If Josiah Greenwood Craig makes a stop in goal during the night his feminine admirers are requested not to flock on the ice and thus cause confusion but to save their congratulations until after the game.

Professor Hoganni will perform his handcuff stunts in a logwood cabinet with drapings of lemon colored silk.

Special to the Review.

Westwood, Feb. 19—The frost is still in our midst. Josiah Greengoods Craig of the Peterborough Weekly Examiner is the guest of friends here.

The Review has oiled up its Crane and expects a big lift from it in the rooting line.

Mr. Roland Maxwell Glover, who is a real hockeyist has instructed the Review not to mention him as being in any way connected with the Examiner's outfit of shinny dishiors.

BOTH TEAMS SCORED ONCE

Close Game Between Form II and Form III of the Collegiate Institute

For the first time this season Form II. and Form III. of the Collegiate Institute met at the Brock street rink yesterday afternoon between 5 and 6 o'clock, the game resulting in a tie. The contest was a particularly hard fought one, neither team having scored at half time.

Ackerman and Conroy played good games for Form III. and Fortye was the pick of the losers' line-up.

Allan Campbell did good work as referee.

Strathconas Held Meeting

To Make Arrangements Regarding Galt and All Star Games

The Strathconas held a meeting at the Examiner office last night for the purpose of considering matters in connection with the games with the Galt and All Star teams. It was decided to leave the Galt trip over until after the All Star game but as that had now been declared off no definite arrangement in connection with either match has been reached. Those present at last night's meeting were Messrs. Marshall, Craig, Weatherstone, McMillan, Curtis, Parnell and Ray.

Canoe Builders Played Hockey

The English Canoe Company played a friendly game at Brock street Rink last night between six and seven o'clock, against the Canadian Canoe Company, defeating them by 3—1. It was a good, clean exhibition of hockey, there being only one ruled off. N. Darling handled the game to the satisfaction of both teams.

The line-up was as follows:

STRATHCONAS AND NORWOOD

Strathconas, winners of the City League and the Norwood team, who ran a close second are likely to come together in the near future. This game would prove a great drawing card as both teams are fast and clever.

STRATHCONAS DIDN'T LEAVE

Received 'Phone Message That Madoc Rink Was Covered With Snow

The Strathconas are having hard luck in the matter of arranging games. They were billed to play in Madoc tonight and were all in readiness to make the trip on the C. P.R. this morning, when they received a telephone message from the secretary of the Madoc seven that it was useless for them to come as the rink which is an open air one, was covered with snow. He said he would communicate with the Strathconas later concerning a date for the match. At any rate it would have been impossible for the locals to make the trip of five miles by stage from Ivanhoe Madoc, as the stage is unable to reach the station owing to the drifted condition of the roads.

Will Not Play Friday Night

Strathconas and All Stars Not to Meet Then

The game which was to have been played Friday evening between the Strathconas and the All Stars, has been postponed indefinitely. The All Stars are unable to secure their men for the above date, but the game may be played later.

Mr. Culverwell Was Honored

We notice by the annual report that our fellow townsman, John Alexander Culverwell, has been honored by re-election as one of the vice-presidents of Upper Canada College Old Boys' Association, the governing body of that great college school.

Mr. Culverwell, who is an unusually energetic young Canadian, is a resident of Port Hope, but formerly of Toronto. He is married to an American lady. He is a full member of the Engineers' Club of Toronto, being an electric and hydraulic expert of wide experience, and well versed in waterpower law, and for two years was connected with the old Edison General Electric Company. His advocacy of the completion of the Trent Valley Canal and its deepening by three feet, before the Ontario Scientific Societies and city and district Boards of Trade, and his literary work secured him personal commendation from leading American canal transportation experts.

He is now heavily interested in the waterpowers of the Trent Valley district. As managing-director of the Northumberland-Durham Power Company, which controls most of the celebrated Healey Rapids, he has secured the official endorsement of eighteen municipal councils in petitioning the Government—a remarkable achievement.—Port Hope Guide.

Kurdish Hordes Advance.

Tiflis, Feb. 19.—Kurdish hordes commanded by Ali Khan have advanced to the village of Miandab, where Prince Firman Firma, the Persian Minister of Justice, recently appointed governor of the province of Azerbxjan, now has made his headquarters, and a clash with the Kurds, it is feared, will prove disastrous to the prince, as the Persian troops are deserting in large numbers.

Recent despatches from Tabriz indicated that the outlook was bad for Prince Firma, who is endeavoring to protect the Persian frontier against Turkish aggressions. His forces consist largely of undisciplined recruits, whose services were of little or no value.

Asks For Death Sentence.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 19.—The trial of Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel reached the last act yesterday, the prosecution waiving the privilege of putting in rebuttal to the defence. The last word was given to the accused general, who uttered only a few sentences in firm voice, and shouldered the entire responsibility for the surrender of Port Arthur.

"If the court decides that the surrender was a crime," he concluded, "I ask for the death sentence."

The court is expected to close the proceedings to-day with its decision.

Terrorists on the Run.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 19.—The appointment of Gen. Von Boeckman to the governor of Finland has produced a great degree of excitement among the revolutionists and terrorists, who, in the past have found Finland a convenient base of operations. They are now fleeing abroad in great numbers, most of them going to Sweden. This exodus will greatly facilitate the work of the Russian police in guarding the lives of prominent personages in St. Petersburg.

Explosion Kills Three.

Wharton, N.J., Feb. 19.—An explosion in the mining department of the General Explosive Co. in this village yesterday, killed three men, broke nearly every window in stores and residences in Wharton, and some windows in Dover, two miles distant.

Three Years and Twenty Lashes.

Toronto, Feb. 19.—Three years and twenty lashes was the portion meted out by the magistrate to Joseph Taakars, a Hungarian, 38 years of age, in the Police Court yesterday morning for criminally assaulting a little girl.

Business Instinct.

The sexton of a swell colored church in Richmond was closing the windows one blustery Sunday morning during service when he was beckoned to the side of a young negress, the widow of a certain Thomas.

"Why is yo' shettin' dose winders, Mr. Jones?" she demanded in a hoarse whisper. "De air in dis church is suffocatin' now!"

"It's de minister's orders," replied the sexton obstinately. "It's a cold day, Mis' Thomas, an' we ain't goin' to take no chance on losin' any o' de lambs of dis fold while dere's a big debt overhangin' dis church."—Harper's Weekly.

Street Car Smashed Into Sleigh And Injured the Driver

Mr. Wm. Lowe, of Ennismore, Hurled From His Sleigh Last Night—Slightly Cut and Severely Shaken Up—Taken to Nicholls Hospital, But Was Able to Leave This Morning—A Narrow Escape.

About 7.15 last night Mr. Wm. Lowe an Emily farmer, was thrown heavily from his sleigh as the result of a collision with a northbound Auburn car and had his ear cut and was badly stunned by the shock. The accident happened at the corner of George and Dublin streets as Mr. Lowe was driving from Aylmer towards Water street. He was taking home with him a quantity of coal, over 1700 pounds which he had purchased from Fitzgerald's coal and wood yard. Mr. J. Cox, who keeps a grocery store at the corner of George and Dublin streets, just saved himself from being injured by jumping when he saw the danger. After the accident he went into his grocery store and telephoned for Dr. Morgan and the ambulance. Dr. Morgan answered the call in a very short time, the ambulance arriving quickly. The injured man was conveyed to Nicholls Hospital.

Mr. Cox, when seen by the Review this morning said he was coming from his house to his store last night when he met Mr. Lowe driving on Dublin street from Aylmer towards Water. When George street was reached the horses became frightened of the headlight and the driver found it impossible to manage them with the result that the collision took place. The coal that was in the sleigh was scattered in all directions, some of it going inside the fence around the Menzies school. The box of the sleigh was badly smashed. The team ran wildly down George street but were stopped at McDonnel.

It was very fortunate for Mr. Lowe that he was not killed outright. However, outside of being seriously shaken up and having his ear cut he suffered no injuries. He did not lose consciousness although he was in a dazed condition for some hours. He was able to leave the hospital at about 10.30 this morning.

Passenger for Port Hope Had Feet Badly Frozen

The Grand Trunk train which passed through Peterborough last night to Port Hope, had on board an old man whose feet were badly frozen. He was on his way from Chatham to Port Hope, where a sister resides, having stopped on the way at Orillia, Beaverton and Lindsay. It was while attempting to walk from Orillia to Lindsay that he had his feet frozen. Hicks had been looking for work at Orillia, but not being successful, was only able to pay his fare to Beaverton, from which point he undertook to walk to Lindsay, on Saturday. He was overtaken by the heavy rainstorm that morning, and went into a section man's shack near Lorneville, on the roadside, where he remained for some time resting. When he resumed his journey he discovered that his feet were frozen. He was found by a kind-hearted farmer, who took him home and looked after him until today, when he brought him to Lindsay and interested several citizens in his behalf. Alderman Eyres, of Lindsay, secured for him a ticket to Port Hope, where a sister lives.

Want to Have Flyer Run From Campbellford to Toronto

Petitions are being circulated in Campbellford, Hastings and Keene, and are being largely signed requesting the G.T.R. to give the above named places better connections with Toronto. It is proposed that the flyer which leaves here at 7 o'clock in the morning for Toronto, and returns at ten o'clock at night, have its starting point and terminus at Campbellford, in the future. This arrangement is carried out during the Toronto exhibition, and works very satisfactorily. The citizens of these towns are very anxious for this change, and are laying their claims before the company in as strong and as forcible way as possible. At the present time persons from Keene, Hastings and Campbellford going up to the Queen City, cannot return the same day. With the new arrangement they can go up in the morning, spend a day in the city, and return at night. If the company desire to carry out the requested change it will be of great convenience to the above towns.

Cellar Was Flooded, the Snow Blocking the Water

Mr. A. J. Warne, the Charlotte Street Grocer, Will Send in Bill to the City for Damages—Thaw on Friday Night Causes Loss.

Action for damages will be entered against the city by Mr. A. J. Warne, who conducts a grocery business at the corner of Charlotte and Downie streets. On Friday last during the thaw the water ran down Downie street and being blocked by the snow piled up at the edge of the walk on Charlotte street, went back into the cellar flooding it to quite an extent and injuring a quantity of the produce stored. A couple of cheese were destroyed by the water, and some potatoes were saturated beyond redemption. Some of the other goods stored there were also injured.

The snow at the front of the store that caused the water to flow back was thrown from the street car tracks by the sweeper, and no drain was made for the outlet of the water until after the damage had been done.

Mr. Warne has placed the matter in the hands of his solicitor. The loss has not yet been stated.

Three Disastrous Fires Swept New Liskeard Within a Week

Local Young Ladies Return After Month's Visit in the Northern Town—Witnessed Dreadful Scenes in Connection With Tragic Death of Mrs. Haacke and Family.

Within a week the town of New Liskeard was visited with three disastrous fires, and the residents of the northern town have been living in a state of terror for fear that whole town would be swept away.

Misses Florence and M. Butcher, Burnham street, East City, returned yesterday from New Liskeard, where they have been visiting their sister, Mrs. John Scott, for the past month. The Misses Butcher were witnesses of the disastrous conflagrations and stated that people were panic stricken over the destruction wrought by the flames.

The first fire was a week ago last Sunday, when the wife and five children of Mr. Lawrence Haacke perished in the blaze that visited their home. Miss F. Butcher saw the burned and charred bodies carried from the burning building and the sight was the most dreadful anyone would care to look at.

The second fire was on the following Wednesday, when the Coombs and Jewell business blocks were wiped out, incurring a loss of upwards of $15,000.

The third blaze was last Saturday, when another residence was razed to the ground. The heroic work of a young Italian in this case deserves great praise. With the flames rushing from every opening, he rushed in and carried out a woman who was seriously ill.

To add to the great loss incurred by these fires, Miss Butcher stated that there were some persons who were mean enough to steal goods from the stores. One man was seen running off with a quarter of beef, while a lady was seen picking up everything she could lay her hands on

Public Can Help in Preventing Accidents on Some Streets

During the past few days several accidents have occurred on George street, and there have been numerous reports of narrow escapes. The majority of the mishaps have resulted from horses being frightened by the street cars are upsetting the vehicles to which they were attached by running up on the snow banks which are unusually high this year.

Conditions on George street are somewhat out of the ordinary this winter owing to the unusual depth of snow. The high banks along the side of the street increase the liability of danger when a horse becomes frightened.

While these conditions exist, the public should follow a course that will reduce the liability towards such accidents. This can be done by teamsters and drivers travelling on Water street, instead of on George street. It is all right to say that the street railway company does not own George street and that the public has a right to go there if it wants to, still at the same time the car tracks are there and are likely to remain, and it is a better plan to make the best of the situation by having the vehicle traffic on the streets where there are no car tracks. This is especially desirable just at the present time.

It may not be out of place in the same connection to caution the motormen to handle the cars with the utmost care on the portions of the streets where there are large of snow.

The exercise of a little common sense by drivers and the public generally will effect a big improvement as regards the danger from street cars.

THE CARNIVAL OF WHITEWEAR

BEGINS

THURSDAY AT 9 IN THE MORNING

Out they will flutter—clouds of dainty Undermuslins, White Fabrics, Laces and Embroideries and Waists—and all marked at Entering Prices. Now comes a long anticipated event—Our Annual White Sale. Ready for a period of underpricing of Lingerie, Waists, Fabrics, in fact everything White is involved in this sale.

Now the bargain winds will blow in departments where white goods are sold. How the snowy clouds of white merchandise will dissappear—melting like the snow (which they outrival in whiteness) under a July sun. We bought widely for this event—and well. Elaborate, Frenchy Undermuslins, whose prices have been almost prohibitive, were offered us by "panic-stricken" manufacturers at half prices. And in other lines of goods—Fabrics, Garments, Laces, etc.—bought at even greater price concessions. Put two and two together and the importance of this sale is evident. Beautiful Undermuslins and other Whitewear, which ordinarily, few can afford, are on sale here at prices to accommodate every purse.

The sale begins Thursday. While our stocks are the largest we ever assembled for a White Sale so unusual are the values that many of the choicest may not last the event through. For that reason—Come early.

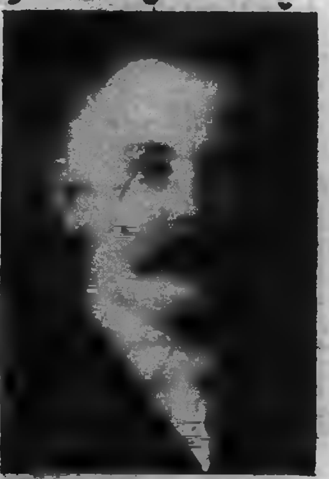
He was thrown out and the team made for home. Mr. Low's farm being located in Emily. The team had attempted to make the trip by the road which is not used at present on account of the drifts, the fields serving instead. Local Poultrymen Organized; Enthusiastic Meeting Was Held

City Council Chamber Was Crowded and a Strong Association Was Formed—Membership Fee Placed at 50c for First Year—Officers Elected and Prospects are the Brightest.

That the interest in the breeding of pure-bred poultry is greater than ever before in Peterborough was abundantly evidenced by the large attendance at the meeting last night in the City Council Chamber called for the purpose of organizing an Association. The room was filled to its capacity and as each individual was overflowing with enthusiasm, the initial gathering in the revival of this Association was a most encouraging one to its promotors.

Ex-Ald. R. H. Leary was elected to the chair, and the first hour was given up to the discussion of the subject of the formation of the Association and its advisability. All the speakers were strongly in favor of a move being made in this direction, and the suggestions of Mr.



EX-ALD. R. H. LEARY
Chairman at Last Night's Meeting.

Baptie that the plan of the large Associations at Toronto, Guelph, London, etc., of holding a small exhibit poulty of one or two varieties at each monthly meeting, where the merits of the birds shown would be discussed, met with general favor.

After a large number of representative men had spoken and it was clearly shown what the feeling of this meeting was, the first move was made by the election of officers for the new Peterborough Poultry and Pet Stock Association. The voting on the numerous candidates resulted as follows:

Pres.—Jas. Baptie, Springville.
1st Vice-Pres.—Geo. Paxman.
2nd Vice-Pres.—H. Lush.
Secretary—R. H. Huston.
Treasurer—J. Kelly.

The newly elected officers were constituted a committee to decide on a room for the holding of the regular meetings of the Association and to call the next meeting, when bylaws will be adopted, and committees and directors appointed.

The matter of the amount of the membership fee was subject of a lively discussion. Mr. Hartley contended that $1.00 was necessary, even if no show was held till next winter. Mr. Leary thought the fee of $1.00 would bar out a lot of the young breeders and suggested that 25 cents be the fee for this year, and that for the next year, when a show would likely be held, the fee be raise to the $1.00, which would only then become necessary. He was supported by a number of others, and a third suggestion, that it be made 50 cents, was finally adopted.

At the close of the meeting the secretary was kept busy enrolling members, and the shower of half dollars was the proof of the popularity of the movement.

With a president who is known all over America as a breeder of high class poultry, assisted by the enthusiastic and capable officers who were elected at last night's meeting, the success of the Peterborough Association is assured, and the city will have an organization that will equal that of the largest poultry centres such as Guelph and London, and not only be a credit to it but help to advertise its fame more than ever.

SOME DISCUSSION.

In opening the meeting, the chairman said it was gratifying to him to see such a large attendance. He had attended many meetings of a similar nature but never had seen such a large turnout. He considered that the time was ripe in Peterborough for the organization of a poultry association. In fact one should have been brought into existence long ago. The organization of an association would result in many benefits to the poultry men of the city and district. One of these would be the holding of annual or semi-annual shows and suggested that the market building would be a good place for holding the same.

Mr. Paxman was then called upon and said he saw no reason why Peterborough should not have a good association and a splendid poultry show.

Mr. Baptie of Springville referred to the benefits that would be derived from the poultrymen getting together, talking over matters relating to their interests and discussing points in connection with poultry. Successful poultry shows were held in other cities and he was confident that Peterborough would rapidly come to the front in this line. Great benefits also resulted from the holding of monthly meetings.

Mr. Wm. Collins was pleased at the large attendance. Poultry shows the past had not been very successful and organizations in Peterborough but he felt that the meeting marked a turn for better things. The shows held previously had had a splendid effect on the poultry industry in Peterborough and district. He referred to the fact that the poultry associations now received assistance from the Ontario Government.

Mr. J. H. Callendar said it was the largest poultry meeting he had ever attended and he had no doubt but that the poultry association in Peterborough would be a great success. He considered the meetings held were a great benefit to the poultrymen. This had been found to be the case at Woodstock and other places where he had lived and where there were poultry associations.

Ald. Gillespie said he couldn't be called a poultryman but was interested in the industry and anxious to see an association formed in this city. He association formed in this city. He promised his hearty support.

Mr. John McClellan, who is an experienced poultryman, referred to the desirability of having an association and gave some good advice to the young poultrymen. They should get away from the idea that their birds were always the best, and to stick to one or two varieties and endeavor to improve them.

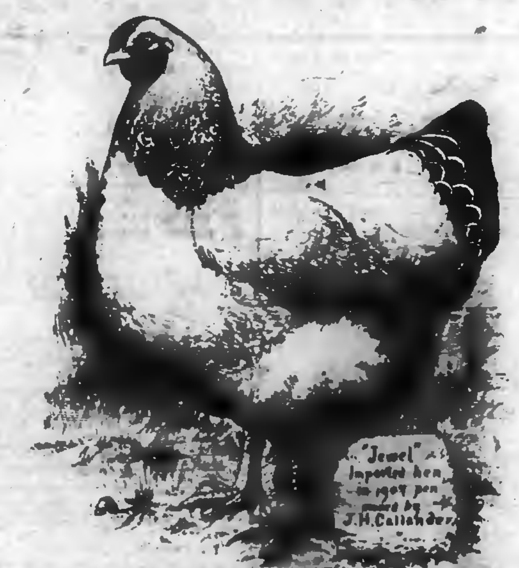
Mr. J. J. Hartley, said he was interested in poultry and wanted to see a good association formed. He believed in keeping purebred fowl instead of the mongrel types. The purebred would be found the most profitable.

Mr. R. J. Kidd said he wanted to know more about poultry. He was sure many others were in the same position. He moved that an association be formed.

Mr. Bennett, of North Monaghan, also spoke along similar lines, strongly favoring the establishment of an association.

Mr. Harry Lush laid stress on the point that if every member of the association would exhibit ten birds at a show, Peterborough would have the best poultry exhibit in Canada.

The organization of the association was then proceeded with.



Grandparents Will be Given Long Lost Child

Were Located by Mr Goodwill, Secretary of Children's Aid Society, After Much Inquiry and Correspondence.

Mr. R. L. Goodwill the secretary of the Children's Aid Society has succeeded in locating the grandparents of a young boy by the name of Shea, who has been a ward at the Society since last summer.

The circumstances in connection with the case will still be well remembered by the citizens of Peterborough. About a year ago the mother of the boy deserted him and his little sister who is about three years his junior, leaving them at the House of Providence.

The children later appeared in court, and were handed over to the care of the Children's Aid Society. The girl was since adopted by a local family. Mr. Goodwill finally succeeded by questioning the boy and by corresponding to a large extent in finding out that he had grandparents by the name of O'Malley, residing near Sault Ste. Marie. He has been conducting the correspondence through Mr. O'Malley's solicitor at Sault Ste. Marie. The boy will be sent to his grandparents' home some time next week.

At Home at the Fire Hall

The enterprise of eleven young ladies of the city in holding an "at-home" yesterday afternoon and evening, in aid of the poor of the city is highly commendable, and they are to be congratulated on the grand success which attended their efforts. The affair was held at the residence of Miss Edna Jobbitt, corner King and Stewart streets, and was attended by large numbers both afternoon and evening. The proceeds amounted to over eighteen dollars.

The house was prettily decorated and presented a very attractive appearance. The young ladies were most courteous and attentive to those who attended and left nothing undone to give everyone a most enjoyable time. Misses Jobbitt, Moore and Hunter received, while a gayly decorated candy booth was in charge of Misses Hazel Buller and Bessie Henderson. The tea room where dainty refreshments were served, was looked after by Misses Blythe Buller and Mabel Gilbert. They were ably assisted by Misses May Laing, T. Maude, Lena Alfred and Molly Blois. During the evening a short musical programme was rendered. Misses Helen Davies and Frances Manning rendered vocal solos in their usual faultless manner, and Mr. James Brown also contributed a much enjoyed vocal number. Instrumental solos were given by Misses Janet Quinn and May Hufdman.

The "at-home" was a great success and the substantial sum will no doubt be gladly welcomed by the city relief officer.

Snowstorm Again Delays Trains

The railroads are having more difficulty today, and if the snow continues to blow, an equally bad tie-up as took place two weeks ago, will be expected. Today the noon G.T.R. train from Toronto was two hours late, and the 11.16 express on the C.P.R., was also a couple of hours behind. The snow is drifting terribly in the country, and the tracks are again becoming blocked. Nearly all the trains are running

"History of India" Subject of Essays

The Fraser Mission Band of St. Paul's church held their regular monthly meeting last evening when a large number of the members were present. Miss K. Drummond occupied the chair and opened the proceedings. Interesting and instructive essays were read on the "History of India," by Misses Elsie Andrews and Helen Hall. This papers showed careful preparation and proved very profitable to those present.

BOMB NOT FOR ALFONSO.

Anarchists Are Again Busy—Woman Killed at Barcelona.

Madrid, Feb. 19.—There is no truth in the report current in Paris Monday night that King Alfonso had been assassinated. The rumor probably was an outgrowth of the bomb explosions at Barcelona Monday, which now appears to have been the work of anarchists. In addition to killing one woman and dangerously wounding another and a child, the explosions caused much damage to neighboring buildings.

The precise object of the outrage has not yet been made clear, but it is interesting to note that the factions of the Parliamentary opposition recently united in a request to the Government to restore the constitutional guarantees in Barcelona, declaring that normal conditions prevailed there.

King Alfonso is at present at Seville.

The Conservative newspapers are of the opinion that the throwing of the bombs at Barcelona will force the Government to adopt stricter measures for the maintenance of order. On the other hand the Republican press points out that the suspension of the constitutional guarantees at Barcelona has failed to put an end to the terrorist agitations there.

New Election For Chatham.

Chatham, Feb. 19.—On an agreement being filed by the parties concerned, Judge Bell yesterday made an order for a new election in Raleigh, the whole township council of that place resigning in a body. The date for the bye-election will be set by Sheriff Gemmill.

This order is the outcome of the action brought against Letson, Andrew Pardo and James Wellwood, recently elected councillors of Raleigh, by Jeremiah Shreve, a colored candidate, who was defeated in the recent elections. Shreve claimed that there were corrupt practices, irregularities, etc., and the only evidence taken at the trial was that of Clerk Robinson of the Township of Raleigh.

His disclosures showed that certificates were indiscriminately issued to agents of the several parties concerned, and that a number of parties voted who had no legal right to do so. Judge Bell ordered that the respondents should pay the full costs of the proceedings. O. L. Lewis, K.C., appeared for the relator, Jeremiah Shreve, and J. G. Kerr appeared for the respondents, Pardo and Wellwood.

Justice Burbidge Dead.

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—Hon. Geo. Wheelock Burbidge of the Exchequer Court died yesterday morning from cancer, at the age of 61. He had been hopelessly ill for a long time. His last judgments were delivered from his death-bed, some two or three weeks ago.

The late Justice Burbidge had been judge of the Exchequer Court of Canada since 1887, and was the third son of Arnold Shaw Burbidge, late of Cornwallis, King's County, N.S. He married, in 1873, Alice, daughter of Henry Maxwell, St. John, N.B., by whom he had four sons and three daughters. He was educated at Acadia Villa Seminary and at Mount Allison University and was called to the New Brunswick Bar in 1872, to Ontario in 1887. He was made Queen's Counsel in 1885. He was a member of a number of public bodies, including the Dominion and provincial boards of arbitration, and was deputy of the Minister of Justice and solicitor of Indian affairs from 1882 to 1887. He was the author of "A Digest of the Criminal Law of Canada."

Indian Is Not Liable.

Toronto, Feb. 19.—In the case of Amos Woodruff, an Indian on the Six Nations Reserve, near Brantford, against whom an order to pay 1$ a month towards the support of his wife was made by the local magistrate, the Divisional Court has given jurisdiction setting aside the order on the ground that an Indian is not amenable to the same law regarding non-support as the white man, being a ward of the nation.

Priests Killed by Car.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 19.—Rev. Father Andrew Salmon was instantly killed and Father Murphy fatally injured at South Bend, Ind., when their cutter was struck by an electric car. They were caught between a snow drift and a sand bank.

War Talk Causes Decline.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 19.—Under the influence of war talk yesterday, the Bourse continued the slight decline which has marked the conditions for some days past.

DOZEN MEN ESCAPE DEATH.

Were Caught In Tunnel—Got Out Just In Time.

Pottsville, Pa., Feb. 19.—An ice jam in the Lehigh River near Nesquahoning, almost resulted in the drowning of a dozen workmen who were driving a tunnel to drain the water from the mines of the Lehigh Coal & Navigation Co.

The jam formed near the mouth of the tunnel and the river overflowing, washed large pieces of ice into the tunnel and filled it to a depth of five feet before the workmen were aware of their danger. They were able to wade out with great difficulty and shortly after their escape the tunnel was completely filled.

Big British Strike.

London, Feb. 19.—The shipbuilding strike along the Tyne, which already has lasted a month, is likely to be greatly extended, first by a lockout, which comes into effect at the end of the present week, and second, by a strike of the allied trade engineers, who have voted by an overwhelming majority against a reduction of wages.

Must Die.

Albany, Feb. 19.—The Court of Appeals decrees that Chester Gillette of Cortland must die in the electric chair for the murder of Grace Brown in July, 1906.

The six-year-old son of T. J. Sted, of Flesherton, fell under a heavily loaded sleigh, and was fatally crushed.

MORE VIEWS ON HIGHER CRITICISM

In an interview with the Review expressed himself as follows upon the Higher Criticism controversy:

"All students are seekers after truth and should welcome any light from whatever source it may come. The man who feels that he has truth will not object to its being submitted to the "white light" of any throne.

It is the utmost folly to charge men with insincerity because their conclusions are different to ours, but it is equal folly to think that the most modern school is necessarily the infallible one. I do not like the term "Higher Criticism," because men who are in every way the peers of those whose conclusions you speak of, are as far from their positions as the equator is from the poles.

The danger of the present hour is not that the critics will rob us of our bible, but that a few who may accept the unfinished and untried goods because they are of new style may by and by find themselves in shrunken and ridiculous raiment long after men of real scholarship have revised their conclusions and are happy in a strong faith. Men of real strength can go into strange altitudes and come back little worse for their experience but if they are followed by puny persons who forget that their guides have confessed that they do not know where they are going, the poor followers may find themselves in a pitiable flight by and by.

If it were not so pathetic it would be interesting and almost humorous to watch a certain class who read nothing but a few magazine articles rushing after the tentative hypothesis of some scholar and saying "This is truth."

There never was an hour in the world's history when the bible was considered, by thinking men, more truly the revelation of God to man than the present and I may add (what is hardly to the point) that men who exercise their rationality are finding their way to active Christian service now as never in the past."

The Daily Review

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 19, 1908.

MR. STRATTON'S RETIREMENT

Had Mr. Stratton announced before that he was no longer in public life as he did through the editorial columns of his paper yesterday, the attitude of the Review would have been just the same with regard to the charge against Mr. Burnham of "bribing and knifing," made and repeated by the Examiner since Mr. Burnham came into the field. The Examiner must know that some people really do value their good name and that its cynical treatment of political morals is wholly out of date along with the man who discovered that treatment. Repeated challenges by Mr. Burnham have brought from the Examiner not one word of proof but they did bring as "lame and impotent a conclusion" to its charges against the Conservative candidate as was ever penned by the hand of man.

We dismiss that part of the political duel with the contempt which it deserves. On the other hand the Review quoted fairly and freely from a Liberal's report of a Liberal commission appointed by a Liberal Government, and if that has served to bring Mr. Stratton and the Examiner to their knees it has done Peterborough a good service. The bedevilment of Peterborough has gone on too long. The Examiner should have read the warning upon the wall long ago. However its cry for mercy does not fall upon unyielding ears for, since the Examiner announces Mr. Stratton's own justification for his request for mercy namely that he is no longer in public life, we will say no more, his political obituary having been already published. A fallen foe has our sympathy especially when we think of what great good he might have done and that it could have been said of him as of others that, "the world was poorer for his taking off."

THE P. O. DEPARTMENT

We are so accustomed to have the virtues of the Postmaster General's Department at Ottawa extolled to the skies notwithstanding its manifest shortcomings that we stand amazed at the disclosure of red tape and stupidity in at least one important branch of that Department of the public service. We refer to the foreign money order branch. Orders made out to Britain, France, Germany, &c., are sent to Ottawa or Montreal for translation into foreign coinage. The advice of course has gone abroad just so far ahead. These delays and incongruities are altogether out of place in these days. Red tape must be relegated to the waste basket at least in private business. If the administration choose to humbug about in the old way with public affairs they must suffer the inconvenience of it even if we suffer the loss, but all that is intolerable in the business affairs of the people. It is a very severe handicap. It means the loss of at least a day and in times of wireless telegraphy when speed is everything it is absurd and effete.

A ONE CENT RATE

Why have cities and towns got to pay 2 cents on drop letters? The pinching policy on the one hand whereby post office employees get half paid and the policy of high rates on the other, provide the postal department at Ottawa with a surplus. The surplus goes into the annual fund of $130,000,000, which the Laurier administration is demanding from Parliament this year, to spend upon a Quebec bridge bungle, a G.T.P. piece of lunacy and "Arctic" outrages. But we have the inestimable privilege of realizing that if we do not know what we are doing the Government knows what we are doing full well. It knows that if it were not for its wholesale and retail inefficiency we would now be enjoying that prosperity which our resources and our energy entitle us to. Can any one of the vast number of men now out of employment explain how it is that he is idle? Not one. Men think it is because it has to be. They read yarns about overproduction and the like, and patiently reconcile themselves to the conditions that arise. Whereas if the truth were known, the widespread distress is due to the withdrawal of the sinews of war—cold, hard cash—from circulation. When the Government demanded 17 millions of money for the G.T.P. from the banks without having previously arranged for a loan, the banks hurried to get it for the Government, and charged accordingly. When the Quebec bridge fell, 4 1-2 million dollars more were at once tied up. There are 21 1-2 million dollars of the cold hard cash which were withdrawn from ordinary circulation. Houses that were being built, factories moving, railways getting under weigh contract work—everything, in fact, that employs the ordinary, everyday workingman, was compelled to draw in its horns or shut up shop. That is why the Government of Ottawa is blamed and ought to be blamed. In violent contrast with this is the foresight of the Whitney Government, which manages the great Temiscaming and North Ontario railway, and its other public enterprises with consummate foresight and without the loss of one dollar.

BONUSING IMMIGRANTS

Mr. Uriah Wilson, a well-known M.P., has introduced into the House of Commons a bill for the abolition of bonuses to immigrants. This measure is vigorously opposed by the Ottawa Free Press and the Liberal Administration. They still retain their affection for the North Atlantic Trading Co. and similar agencies. The system of bonusing immigrants is wrong in principle and indefensible in practice. However, if the people of this country return to power those whose avowed policy is to bonus, then those who uphold this policy are warranted in continuing it. On the same principle the lands of the Dominion should be given away to foreigners. It would be cheaper than paying out money. Why does the Free Press not advocate the homesteading of the entire public domain? There are reason and common sense in most things, but in bonusing immigration there is not one tittle of either.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Times this morning has a reference to saw-mills that do chopping. We don't believe it.

A very well-known humbug said or is reported to have said "You may fool some of the people some of the time but you can't fool all the people all the time!" It is just as true of today as when it was uttered.

Since the first of the year business has been somewhat more settled, although as yet there has been little change in the general situation. Travellers are having a somewhat discouraging time combating not only the usual backwardness of the season, but the feeling of uncertainty and mistrust that is abroad. People seem to be afraid to venture beyond the line of actual vision and buy only for actual requirements. It seems difficult to get them to risk anything on the future. The prevailing open weather has contributed further to retard business. Nevertheless there are a good many people who are hopeful of the future and who are meeting everybody with a smile and a glad hand. Just as soon as the country gets a chance to get down to work and bring out some more of its natural resources there will be a better feeling all around. With the snow on the ground and people nursing their bank accounts it is hard to stir up any interest. The banks are now showing less uneasiness and this is one of the most hopeful features of the business situation. — Furniture Journal.

The quadrennial incubation of the American people is both interesting and instructive. The commerce, the education, in short the development of the U.S. is epitomized and bound up in its political head. If Mr. Roosevelt were as strong we can well fancy what a smash-up the last year would have witnessed, not only in America but in all the countries financially allied to her. As a general-in-chief he has been undoubtedly great if not very great and he shows a sterling integrity and a rectitude of purpose that out of the slum of public and private life rises like a good angel in a time of sore need.

Bryan is a platitudinarian. His failure to realize in time what 16 to 1 meant, demonstrated to the public mind his manifest unfitness. Been qualifying on platitudes and high ideals. Talk is too cheap with him. Taft, however, seems to be the president's choice, and he ought to know. So far everything indicates the popular inclination to support him. Strange to say the American once so gaunt and thin, now is largely stomach which goes to show that the furnace part of our make-up is what we largely depend upon. Horsepower is the watchword of the day in ships and men alike, and without a big boiler there is sure to be small horsepower.

Letters to The Editor

The Review Does Not Hold Itself Responsible for Opinions Expressed by Correspondents

MR. COMMON REPLIES

To the Editor of the Review;

Sir,—In reply to "Observer's" letter in Monday's issue allow me to put him right on a few of his statements. He seems to have it fixed on his mind that a "Mock Parliament" can and must keep strictly to programme and that every bill introduced is a Socialist measure, when in point of fact they are all involved in Canadian politics especially the telephone bill which is a plank in Mr. Borden's platform. I may as well explain that the "Mock Parliament" has run longer than was expected, but that does not say that the programme will not be carried out.

"How kind of 'Observer' to remind me of my absence from the debating club. Perhaps his informant will be good enough to tell him the reason. I may say if I am not always at the meetings, being an active member, I know exactly what transpires. Now, Sir, it is well known that a certain individual has been trying to work up a correspondence on Socialism for some time past. Now, all I can say is, it is a pity that the Y.M.C.A. should be made the medium of the attack. "Observer" says he is not a member of the Institution. Now, Sir, I think it a pity he is not, as possibly he might be of great benefit and help to put right what he evidently thinks a great wrong.

It would have been as well if "Observer" had signed his name seeing that he claims to be a sympathizer of the objects of the Y.M.C.A. All this twaddle about W.G.C. being a Socialist is beside the mark. I may say to "Observer" who assumes to know me and my politics that again he has made a big mistake and I could, if so disposed, give references to very creditable organizations in that tight little "Island" across the seas, where our "Edward" lives.

Trusting this will satisfy "Observer" and thanking you, Mr. Editor,

Yours truly,
W. G. COMMON.

THE Y.M.C.A. DEBATING CLUB

To the Editor of the Review;

Dear Sir,—My attention has been called to certain letters that has appeared in your columns over the nom de plume of "An Observer." After reading the first letter and noting the fact that the writer had not signed his name, I decided to ignore the letter until such time as "An Observer" chose to reveal his identity.

After reading the second letter I feel compelled as President of the Y.M.C.A. Debating Club to reply to the unfair criticism contained in the two letters.

In the first letter "An Observer" asks whether the Y.M.C.A. is a place to discuss and propagate socialistic doctrines, and then quoting from the programme of the Debating Club he states, "These subjects are not fit questions to discuss in this institution."

In the second letter he goes over the same ground and repeats his assertion that the Y.M.C.A. Debating Club is being used to propagate socialistic doctrines, and also states that the Y.M.C.A. Debating Club should be an organization for the development of the moral and spiritual side of a young man's life. The rest of the letter is a personal matter between "An Observer," and Mr. Common, which I do not intend to discuss.

In answer to the question, "Is the Y.M.C.A. a place to discuss and propagate socialist doctrines?". Personally I see no reason why socialism should not be discussed in the Y.M.C.A. Building. It is a question that is rapidly coming to the front and, on the Continent of Europe, in England and in the U.S.A. it has made great progress during the past twenty years, and are we to shut our eyes and refuse to talk about it simply because "An Observer" waves a red flag and shouts danger. No, Sir, "An Observer" may be convinced that socialism is "all that is bad," but he must not deny the right to other men to discuss this question freely and openly, and I repeat I see no reason why socialism should not be discussed in the Y.M.C.A. Building, provided that it is done openly.

With regard to the propagation of socialism that is different, and I absolutely and emphatically deny the suggestion made by "An Observer," that the executive or any member of the executive (who are solely responsible for the programme), are using the club as a means of propagating socialism.

The change in the programme referred to in the second letter, was made by the executive who gave into my hands as Premier of the Mock Council full liberty to introduce whatever Bills I wished to and therefore Sir, the statement made by "An Observer," "These subjects are not fit questions to discuss in an institution where young men go," is a reflection not only against the executive but against myself personally.

Sir, I appeal to the intelligence of your readers to decide between us as to whether the following questions are fit to be brought before a society of young men, who with one or two exceptions are all out of their teens;

1st—"Municipal Ownership of Public Utilities, which are natural monopolies."

This has been and is endorsed by the Conservative party in Canada, and has also been endorsed by the City Council and the Board of Trade.

2.—Labor Disputes Bill. The principle of arbitration in labor disputes was endorsed by the present Government in their "Industrial Disputes Investigation Act," 1907.

These are the only two bills that have been introduced into the Mock Parliament. With reference to the two debates; Dec. 4th,—"That Individual Control of Capital is Opposed to the Best Interests of the People," and March 4th, "That Equality of Opportunity is Impossible under Existing Conditions."

These debates are the only two out of the whole original programme that, "An Observer" can find to prove his contention.

The first debate certainly brought out three or four good speeches and some of the arguments were the same as would be used by a socialist, and the same will I expect be true of the 2nd debate on March 4th. But, Sir, how can the President of the executive prevent a man using any argument he chooses, he goes in to win, and he chooses the strongest arguments he can find. As for the subjects for debate. It is practically impossible to get up a good debate without touching on some question which somebody could not object to if they wished to. "An Observer" also states "The Y.M.C.A. Debating Club should be an organization for the development of the spiritual and moral side of a man's nature." The Debating Club is a part of the educational work of the Y.M.C.A., and organized to develop the intellectual and literary side of a man's nature, and does not claim to appeal to the spiritual side; our meetings are conducted in a similar manner to any other literary society and we debar altogether any religious subjects from debate.

In conclusion, Sir, the Executive Committee of the Debating Club is composed of men who are amongst the more active workers in the Y.M.C.A., and they resent deeply the manner in which "An Observer" has shown his sympathy with the Y.M.C.A.

Yours respectfully,
WILFRID SHINER.

TRY IT, ANYWAY

Prepare it at Home by Shaking Well in a Bottle.

What will appear very interesting to many, people here is the article taken from a prominent health journal, giving a simple prescription, as formulated by a noted authority, who claims that he has found a positive remedy to cure almost any case of backache or kidney or bladder derangement, in the following simple prescription, if taken before the stage of Bright's disease;—

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

A well-known local druggist, when asked regarding this prescription, stated that the ingredients are all harmless, and can be obtained at a small cost from any good prescription pharmacy. He further stated that while this prescription is often prescribed in rheumatic afflictions with splendid results, he could see no reason why it would not be a splendid remedy for kidney and urinary troubles and backache, as it has a peculiar action upon the entire kidney structure, cleansing these most important organs and helping them to sift and filter from the blood the foul acids and waste matter, which cause sickness and suffering. Those who suffer can make no mistake in giving it a trial.

AMUSEMENTS

GREEN'S MOVING PICTURES

Green's moving pictures are to be shown at the Grand for the balance of the week. This is not a very startling announcement, but to the lover of an entertainment that can't be excelled it means a great deal more than the sentence would imply. By saying that the pictures are Green's it is meant he has the right of presenting them, but they are really the masterpieces of the leading French, English and American film producing firms.

It is generally accepted as a hard proposition to work up enthusiasm among a moving picture audience. In fact many meritorious pictures are shown without even causing the faintest ripple of recognition. It is then expressing the highest possible praise to say that every picture without an exception shown at the Grand last night on the first of the five nights' engagement of Prof. Green's show here was most generously applauded. And to anyone in attendance it is easy to understand why the audience was so enthusiastic.

From beginning to end the programme was of the greatest interest. It included the tragic, the pathetic, the melodramatic and the humorous, and was one continuous round of instruction or merriment. There was such a large number of fascinating pictures given that it is almost impossible to discriminate concerning the worth of any particular one. From a dramatic viewpoint the best film of the evening, was probably "The Burning of Moscow," a startling realistic reproduction of some of the devilish work of the Nihilists. "When a Devil Drives," was beautifully colored and an example of dissolving film perfection. "When the Stormy Winds Do Blow," proved a peerless comedy picture, and every view from "Watching a Balloon," was a call for an outburst of merriment.

Prominent among the other pictures shown were, "Training a Steeplechase Jumper," "A Showman's Treasurer," "Bostock's English Menagerie," and "Baby's Peril." There is nothing in Prof. Green's show that could offend the most sensitive.

Two and a half hours are taken in presenting one of the most comprehensive and satisfying offerings of its kind before the public today, and capacity houses should greet all the performances here.

The illustrated songs were beautifully pictured and were the very latest sentimental song hits. Mr. Bert V. Peters, a local boy, is the best picture song singer that has been heard in Peterborough for a long time, and scored quite a triumph, being encored at the conclusion of each of the three songs he rendered. One of the prettiest numbers of the evening both in the matter of melody and illustration, was the Madden-Morse ballad hit, "Two Blue Eyes."

The team was unhitched and with the assistance of another gentleman Mr. Donoghue raised the horse to its feet.

Rural Public Schools

Speech by Hon. W. J. Hanna

The Provincial Secretary, addressing West Middlesex Conservatives at Mt. Brydges in January, 1907, made the following review of Government policy in regard to rural public schools;

"For many years we have had in this province a school system that reminds one of General McLellan, of American Civil War fame, who was once described as 'the very devil on dress parade, but not worth a fig on the charge.' It was put on exhibition at the World's Fair in Chicago, and elsewhere, with the explanation of how the work of the Ontario public school was directed to fitting the public school pupil for the High School and Collegiate Institute; and the work of the High School and Collegiate Institute was, in turn, directed to fitting the student there for the University, a completely organized system whereby the children of this Province went put in as clay at one end of the machine and came out all of the same shape and form at the other, and under high pressure all the time, beginning with the monthly examinations and ending with monthly examinations, beginning with strong physiques and good constitutions and very often ending with nerves shattered and constitutions wrecked; beginning with natural qualifications that if developed by a teacher who had time and opportunity and a system that admitted of it would give the pupil with ordinary application high standing in a particular field, but ending with those high natural qualifications checked and reduced to the level of the student's weakest subject.

THE MANDATE TO MR. WHITNEY

While the Government that we succeeded and particularly your late member, the Hon. G. W. Ross, its head, refused to admit defects, and insisted that the system was all that they claimed for it, Mr. Whitney, in Opposition, long maintained that the system was carried altogether too far, and that the work of the rural Public School, should, as far as possible, be made complete in itself, since 95 per cent. of the children of the Province never got beyond the public school. He advocated this on the platform prior to the last general election; and when the votes were counted found himself with an unmistakeable mandate to proceed to carry out in power what he had advocated in Opposition. It was apparent that to accomplish anything three ent that to accomplish anything three things must be done—the efficiency of the teachers to the rural public schools must be improved, the number of young men and women prepared to devote themselves to the profession of teaching must be increased, as there was a great shortage which had continued to grow. To increase these numbers there must be the financial inducement to warrant the expenditure of time and money necessary to qualify the teachers for their work. The great majority of teachers in the ruralpublic school stoday have received their training as teachers in model school in their own county. They have gone into the profession with the thought of remaining in it, but three years, and using it as a means to something else.

THE MODEL SCHOOLS.

The county model schools have in many instances done good work, but in many other instances the work has not been satisfactory, and in no case can it be up to the work done at the normal schools. The Government decided to do away with the model schools and to provide in their stead four normal schools—one each in Stratford, Peterborough, Hamilton and North Bay—and to do away as well, with the three-year certificate. This means that persons qualifying themselves to teach school hereafter will be entitled to life certificates upon coming up to the requirements of the normal school. This in itself will go far to induce anyone going into the teaching profession to at least consider making that profession his or her life work. The establishing of normal schools will accomplish little unless we get the candidates to tend. To accomplish this better salaries must be paid. The young woman of today who equips herself for office work, and brings to that work the same application and energy and study that is necessary to make a success in the teaching profession will be able to command together more money than she could from teaching school. To meet this condition the Government, with the approval of both sides of the House, and without a dissenting vote, passed the Public School Act of last session with its compulsory minimum salary clauses based on the assessed value of the sections. At that time this was the best solution that presented. However, since then two things have happened. First, experience has convinced us that the inequalities of the assessment of different municipalities make this an unsatisfactory basis for the grading of salaries; second, the increased revenues of the Province enable us to adopt a solution which which we trust will be equally effective and altogether more satisfactory to yo uand to us.

INJUSTICE IN THE ASSESSMENT BASIS.

The Government, in taking the assessed values as the basis for teachers' salaries, expected that the Assessment Act of three years ago would result in actual values being adopted for the purpose of assessment. But as the outcome of a return obtained from the various county judges throughout the Province and of letters received from various quarters, it was found that the municipalities in practice are adopting the same ratio of assessment as before the passage of the new Act. In the same county we find a municipality, assessed, according to this report of the county judge, as low as 30 per cent. of the actual values, while other municipalities in that county were assessed as high as 100 per cent. In that case we would have this condition, on one side of the township line a school section representing an actual value of $200,000, and assessed for that amount and required to pay $500 to their teacher; while on the other side of the townshi plina section of like size and value assessed at but 30 per cent., or $60,000, and required to pay but $300 to its teacher. This presented an obvious injustice, and the Government resolved to remedy it at this first opportunity, and in the new proposition the assessed value of the section is, therefore, abandoned as the basis for fixing the rate of salary.

In addition to this the Government prepared a circular covering generally the school bill of last session, and distributed several thousand copies to the electors throughout the province. The replies from the electors while generally approving of this school bill and particularly endorsing the normal schools and the determination of the Government to improve the efficiency of the teaching profession, were not enthusiastic as to the compulsory clauses, and urged that with the better conditions in prospect the rural school boards would, without the compulsory clauses, go far to comply with the policy of the Government in regard to the improvement of salaries.

COMPULSORY CLAUSEES DISCONTINUED.

The Government with its increased revenue and with this very general assurance of the people finds itself in a position to meet this reasonable view, and you accordingly have before you today the statement of the Premier made last Friday in the House—one of the most important statements made in this province by any Government in recent years. The Government that we succeeded gave to the rural public schools of this province in the last year of its reign $118,000. This, when distributed according to the system that obtained, meant that some schools got as small a sum as $10 or even less, while others got more, based on average attendance. We propose to increase this sum of $118,000 to $380,000 over three times the former amount, and to distribute it as follows; to each of the 5,300 rural schools, public and separate, $15 unconditionally, or $80,000; to encourage equipment, $60,000 (which will mean upwards of $11 per school), to improve teachers' salaries $240,000.

The municipality will be required, as heretofore, to raise $300 for each school section and this $300 is to be applied on the teacher's salray. But we do not say to any school section that they must pay their teacher more than $300. We do say we think you ought to pay more than $300, and if you agree with the Government in this, the Government will contribute 40 cents towards every dollar that you pay your teacher over $300 and up to $600. Now, let us see how this will work out. What do you pay your teacher? Is it $300? Then in that case you get, unconditionally $15, and for average equipment, $11, or a total of $26. If you pay your teacher $400, then, in that case you get as above, unconditionally $15, for the average equipment $11, and 40 per cent. of that last $100, $40, $666 in all. If you pay $450 you get $86 in all; if you pay $500 you get $1066 in all, and you get that this year on account of your present contracts and you get it, in the form of a cheque payable to your school board by the Government, instead of in the form of a tax notice.

GOVERNMNET READY TO ADOPT IMPROVEMENT.

When the school bill of last session was introduced Hon. Dr. Pyne was careful to state that this was not a finality. We recognize that we are your trustees, that it is our business to ascertain and know the views of the people and to meet as far as possible their reasonable requests. Whenever experience suggests improvement in our laws, this Government will, I trust, stand ready to adopt that improvement without hesitation. As one who has attended the public schools, and who has taught in them, and who knows something of the local spirit that is behind them, I believe that the present solution meets all the difficulties presented, and will go far to accomplish what the Government has in view, the advancement of the standard of public school education.

But some one asks, why urge that the salaries be increased now before you are prepared to supply the demand with the normal school graduates? To this there are two answers. In the first place, there are many young men and women who have normal school certificates, who, by the lowness of teachers' salaries, have been led to take up other employments, but who, if salaries were better, might return to the schools. In the second place, without better prospects in school teaching than there have been, young students will not qualify themselves for the work. The normal schools would be without students and the schools without teachers. Last year nearly one-fifth of the teachers in the rural public schools of this Province were teaching on permits on account of the shortage of supply. We cannot afford to have this kind of thing continue. We boast of our timber wealth. we boast of the untold riches of our mines, we talk of the produce of the dairy and the output of the farm. all valuable assets in themselves.

MOST VALUABLE ASSET.

"But I am confident the most valuable asset that this Province has is the boys and girls of today who will be the men and women of tomorrow, and to whom it is our duty to give the best educational advantages that we can supply them with to qualify them for the struggle that is before them in life. Are we going to do it? It is for you to say. It is for the Government to say, and both, I am confident, will answer, "Yes." The Government stands prepared to assist liberally. The people of this Province can perform no higher service than to see that this duty to their children is discharged. The Government in distributing back to the people the money that is theirs can in no way do better service than by seeing that substantial aid is given to this work. We recognize this fully, and have, therefore, increased that $118,000, which was contributed to the schools by the late Government; to $380,000. We have gone into the matter carefully. We believe that we have found a complete and satisfactory solution of the problem as affecting salaries, and we trust that in the application of this method we shall have your complete co-operation.

"Another matter in connection with the rural public schools to which I may refer is the regulations have in many cases been read altogether too liberally, and what was intended for consideration only where circumstances would warrant has been read as an imperative order. These regulation, one and all, must be regarded as elastic. The Government in all it will do seeks only to co-operate with the people themselves in doing in the public schools the work that everyone recognizes should and must be done.

"School books, too, we shall have, better in quality, fewer in number, and greatly reduced in price."

Indian River Agriculturists Expect a Busy Season—Other Notes of Current Interest

Special to the Review.

Indian River, Feb. 18.—Messrs. R. A. Scarriot shipped one car of No. 1 wheat to New Brunswick and one car to Toronto.

Miss M. A. O'Grady, of Norwood, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Torpy, here.

Miss Allen, who spent a few days visiting friends here, has returned to Peterborough.

Miss A. Walken, who has been visiting her parents here, has returned to Toronto.

Mr. Robert Harrison, of Peterborough, spent as few days here with his brother, Mr. John Harrison.

Mr. R. Londerville spent a few days in Peterborough on business last week.

Mrs. Sullivan, of Peterborough, was the guest of Mrs. A. Whibbs last week.

Rev. Father O'Leary has returned to Peterborough after visiting his relatives here.

Mr. A. Carveth is engaged with Messrs. Staples & Londerville.

Some indications prove that the farmers here are looking far ahead for a big season's work next summer, as there are a large number of farm implements arriving at our station; one machine was a new model double binder, purchased by Paterson Bros. It is noted for its quick action and if run by three horses, will cut and bind grain and sow clover for next season's crop.

CAUGHT BY THE GRIP--RELEASED BY PE-RU-NA.

La Grippe Is Epidemic Catarrh.

THE disease now known as 'grip' used to be called 'influenza.'

It very closely resembles a cold, but is more tenacious in its hold upon the system and produces more profound disturbances.

Grip is in reality epidemic catarrh. When it once begins it spreads over the country very rapidly.

People do not catch the grip from each other, but each one catches it from the atmosphere.

"Most Effective Medicine Ever Tried for La Grippe."

Robt. L. Madison, A. M., Principal of Cullowhee High School, Painter, N. C., is chairman of the Jackson County Board of Education.

He is a writer of occasional verse and has contributed to a number of leading papers and magazines,—religious, educational and secular.

In speaking of Peruna, Mr. Madison says:

"I am hardly ever without Peruna in my home. It is the most effective medicine that I have ever tried for la grippe.

"It also cured my wife of nasal catarrh. Her condition at one time was such that she could not at night breathe through her nostrils.

"In consequence, an inflamed condition of the throat was brought about, getting worse and worse and yielding to no remedy until Peruna was tried."

Healthy Mucous Membranes.

Those who are fortunate enough to have perfectly healthy mucous membranes ordinarily do not catch the grip.

The mucous membranes lining the nose, throat and lungs, when in a normal state, are an effectual barrier against the invasion of grip.

But, if there happens to be the slightest catarrhal derangement of the mucous membranes, then the victim becomes an easier prey to the grip.

This in part explains why some people get the grip, while others do not.

The rational thing to do is to keep the system free from catarrh. In attempting to do this most people have found Peruna to be invaluable.

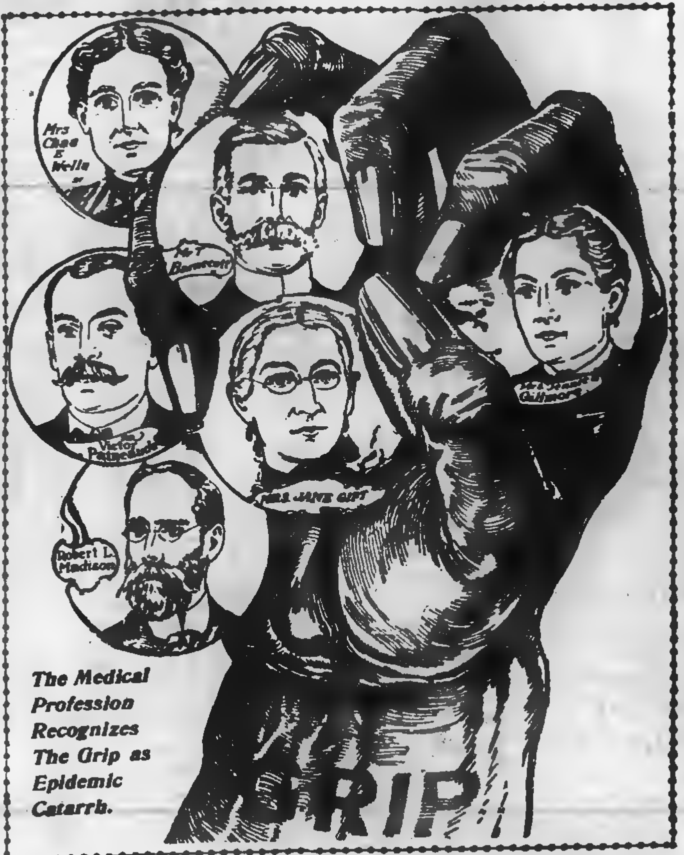
Systemic Catarrh, the Result of La Grippe. Pe-ru-na Receives Credit for Present Good Health.

Mrs. Jennie W. Gilmore, Box 44, White Oak, Ind. Ter., formerly Housekeeper for Indian Reform School for Boys, writes:

"Six years ago I had la grippe, which was followed by systemic catarrh.

"The only thing I used was Peruna and Manalin, and I have been in better health the last three years than for years before.

"I give Peruna all the credit for my good health."



During an epidemic of grip Peruna should be used. The doses recommended on the bottle are sufficient.

After the grip has once been acquired, Dr. Hartman recommends the use of Peruna in teaspoonful doses every hour during the acute stage, after which the directions on the bottle should be followed.

Experience has shown that the people who use Peruna as a remedy for grip generally recover sooner and are less liable to the distressing and long-continued after-effects of the grip.

When Peruna has not been used during the course of the grip and the patient finds himself suffering from the after-effects of this disease, a course of Peruna should be resorted to.

Suffered Twelve Years From After-Effects of La Grippe.

Mr. Victor Patneande, 228 Madison St., Topeka, Kan., member of Knights and Ladies of Security, writes:

"Twelve years ago I had a severe attack of la grippe and I never really recovered my health and strength—but grew weaker every year, until I was unable to work.

"Two years ago I began using Peruna and it built up my strength so that in a couple of months I was able to go to work again.

"This winter I had another attack of la grippe, but Peruna soon drove it out of my system. My wife and I consider Peruna a household remedy."

Pneumonia Followed La Grippe.

Mr. T. Barnecott, West Aylmer, Ontario, Can., writes:

"Last winter I was ill with pneumonia after having la grippe. I took Peruna for two months, when I became quite well, and I can say that any one can be cured by it in a reasonable time at little expense."

Pe-ru-na—A Tonic After La Grippe.

Mrs. Chas. E. Wells, Sr., Delaware, Ohio, writes: "After a severe attack of la grippe, I took Peruna and found it a very good tonic."

Mrs. Jane Gift, Athens, Ohio, writes: "Six years ago I had la grippe very bad. I read a testimonial of a woman who had been cured of grip by Peruna. My husband bought me a bottle of Peruna. I was soon able to do my work. I continued using it until I was cured."

Norwood Council Sticks to its Action Regarding Appointment

Refuses to Rescind Motion in Connection With Appointment of Constable and Road Commissioner—Mr. Harold Howson Starts Furniture and Undertaking Business—Other News.

Special to the Review.

Norwood, Feb. 17.—An interesting and rather exciting meeting of the Village Council was held last Thursday evening in the Council bCamber of the Town Hall, when the room was crowded with interested ratepayers, the matter under consideration being the apointment of a constable and street commissioner. At the last regular meeting of the council it was moved, seconded and carried that Mr. Jas. L. Johnson be constable, Sanitary Inspector, caretaker of the town hall and street commissioner, at $400 per year. The Council adjourned to allow a bylaw to be drawn up, and in the meantime the action of the Council was criticized by some of the temperance people, onthe grounds that the newly appointed officer was opposed to local option and, therefore, not suitable for the position.

Interested parties attended the Council meeting and some hot shots were exchanged. The Council, however, confirmed their action, and Mr. Johnson has received the appointment, he having signified his intention of rigidly enforcing all laws and bylaws during his term of office.

Mr. Harold Howson, who has been in Toronto for some time past attending the Undertaking and Embalming School, has purchased Messrs. Buck & Busk's stock of furniture, and is opening up a furniture and undertaking establishment.

Miss Spencer, of Napanee, is visiting her friend, Miss Grace Reynolds, Peterborough street.

Mr. George Holmes, of North Dakota, has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Laing.

Mr. Henry Beavis and daughter, Miss Maud Beavis, of Lakefield, were in town on Saturday last.

Mr. George Laing, of Peterborough, spent a few days in Norwood last week, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Laing.

A number of young people from Hastings drove up to the carnival on Wednesday evening, which was a great success.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Weir spent a few days in Warkworth last week.

We are glad to say that Mr. W. Duffield, who has been ailing for some time with inflammatory rheumatism, is able to be around again.

Mr. John L. Buck, of Asphodel, an old and highly respected resident, passed away at his home on Sunday morning, Feb. 16th, after a brief illness.

The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon to the Norwood cemetery, at 2 o'clock. A large number of sorrowing and sympathetic friends followed the remains to their last resting place.

Deceased was 65 years of age, and leaves a wife and two sons to mourn his loss.

A very sad death occurred on Thursday last at the house of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parker, Hastings road. Miss Allie Stent, aged 18 years, who has lived with Mr. and Mrs. Parker since her infancy, passed away after an illness of only seven days. The news of her death spread a gloom over the entire village, particularly as Miss Stent was an exceptionallyhealthy and robust girl. But the dread pneumonia took her in its relentless grasp, and after a few days her apparently strong frame succumbed to its insidious ravages.

The funeral on Saturday was largely attgended. The remains were interred in the Norwood cemetery.

The winter of 1907 and 8 (up to about Feb. 1st was in this vicinity, exceptionally free from serious illness. But since that time a good deal of sickness has developed, mostly caused by colds and la grippe. Some have narrowly escaped pneumonia, while a few have contracted that disease, with a few fatalities.

What Is Happening at Ottawa; Leach May Lose His Position

Mr. Roche Will Move to Cancel Recent Appointment.

Conviction of Fred Blunden—Alberta Cattle-Stealing Case Before House of Commons—Mr. Monk Brings Up Montreal Turnpike Trust—Suburban Postal Deliveries—Lemieux to Submit New Policy.

Ottawa, Feb. 20.—Most of the afternoon yesterday in the House of Commons was taken up with the resolution of F. D. Monk (Jacques Cartier) suggesting entering into negotiations with the Province of Quebec for the abolition of toll roads on the Island of Montreal, but Sir Wilfrid Laurier skillfully amended it by declaring the duty lay in "receiving overtures," and the House divided on straight party lines. Nearly all the speakers addressed the House in French.

Mr. Ames was told that the Government, by order-in-council passed Jan. 6 last, had increased the bonus to continental booking agents of immigrants from Europe. The bonus is £1 per adult and 10s. per child. The rate has been 10s. per adult and 5s. per child.

Mr. Monk offered a resolution "that it is the duty of the Government to enter into negotiations with the Government of the Province of Quebec with a view to removing all obstacles to the abolition of tollgates on the roads of the Island of Montreal."

The discussion then went on in French, Messrs. Monk, Brodeur, Ethier, Boyer and Rivet taking up time till the division, which resulted in the adoption of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's amendment by 108 to 53.

Sir Wilfrid accepted the second resolution calling for an enquiry.

Col. H. A. Ward (Durham) moved for copies of papers in relation to the conviction of Frederick Blunden for cattle-stealing at Macleod, Alberta, in 1904. This, said Col. Ward, was a gross miscarriage of justice, evidence having come to the Northwest Mounted Police that Blunden was innocent. What was asked was not a pardon, but, in view of new evidence, a new trial, which the people of the district were confident would result in his acquittal.

Mr. Aylesworth said the case of Blunden was one of many in which interference with the action of the courts was asked. He reviewed the circumstances of the trial and renewed his objections to the proposal to bring down papers which ought to be held to be confidential. The Minister added that if the motion was so amended as not to include documents of the confidential character, he would have no objection to its adoption.

R. L. Borden asked if reports of judges were considered confidential to the extent that they couldn't be brought down to the House, because he recalled the case in which the judge's report was made public. The case was that of a boy in Colchester County, N. S., who shot a pedlar, was given a fair trial and convicted. On an affidavit prepared for him by his counsel, setting forth that the shooting had been accidental, the lad was released without further enquiry.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier explained that in capital cases the judge was obliged by law to make a report, while in minor cases, such as that under discussion, the judge made his report by request. The Prime Minister pointed out that in the Shelburne case the utter absence of motive gave irresistible force to his affidavit.

Mr. Herron of Alberta put in a strong plea for a new trial, and the motion for the papers carried as amended.

"Thin Red Line" Leach.

Mr. Roche, on adjournment, gave notice that at the first opportunity in the House he will offer a resolution condemning the appointment of "Thin Red Line" Leach as distributor of seed grain.

In the House of Commons last evening Mr. F. D. Monk moved the following, supporting it with a speech dealing with suburban postal delivery about Montreal:

That in the case of cities where a free mail delivery is established, such free mail delivery should be extended to all contiguous districts, which though situate outside the municipal limits proper, are immediately adjacent thereto, so as to render such delivery easy of execution; and that it is particularly desirable to apply such a system in the vicinity of Montreal, where a dense population and large industrial interests, situate outside the municipal limits, but in reality forming part of the city for all practical purposes, are entitled to such free delivery.

Mr. W. F. Maclean (South York) hoped with the hon. member for Jacques Cartier (Mr. Monk) that the Postmaster-General would take up this matter of extending the rural mail delivery around the cities of Toronto and Montreal at least, and if there are any other cities similarly situated, that they will be treated in the same way, because municipal bounds do not necessarily limit the business that is concentrated at our cities. The city is always larger than its municipal bounds, especially now that factories requiring large areas for their works, and that large bodies of workingmen are gathered around these factories. These districts ought to be provided with the same postal facilities that are enjoyed by the people of the city proper.

Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier: Mr. Speaker, I have to express my regret that my hon. friend the Postmaster-General (Mr. Lemieux) is not in his seat to give my hon. friend (Mr. Monk) the answer to which he is entitled. I know that the question of improvements in the distribution of mail matter is in the hands of the Postmaster-General and that he has contemplated some changes in that direction. If he were here I do not know how far he would take exception to or agree with the resolution of my hon. friend, but I think that he would not be disposed to take any very serious objection to it because, I think, the resolution of my friend from Jacques Cartier expresses what is already the practice of the Postoffice Department. However, before the session is over, the Postmaster-General will, I think, submit a new policy to the attention of Parliament, and by means of which he intends to improve the postal facilities which now exist.

Motion agreed to and debate adjourned.

Seed Situation In the West.

Ottawa, Feb. 20.—G. H. Clarke, Dominion seed commissioner, told the agricultural committee yesterday ing that the losses in the west through the bad season last year were practically confined to 12 per cent. of the farmers between Port Arthur and the Rocky Mountains. The majority of that per cent. had put all their eggs into one basket; in other words, had followed the idea of grain-raising, to the exclusion of everything else. There was enough seed wheat in the west to enable the purchasing there of all that was required for the sections in need of it. Seed oats would have to be imported in considerable quantities, and he mentioned Britain and Prince Edward Island as the places whence the most of it would come. He predicted that it would be found to be of excellent quality. Mr. Clarke, however, suggested the advisability of every farmer in the west testing barley and oat seed before planting.

An interesting result of the investigation into the needs of sections of the west respecting grain was an educative propaganda through the press and the Department, which had tried to reach every farmer in this way, and which could not fail to have a beneficial effect on future farming.

British Troops In Thibet.

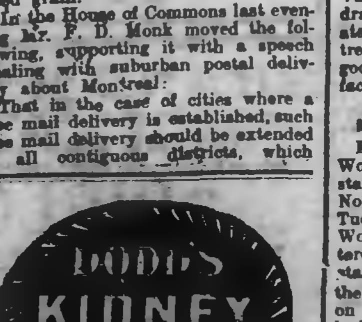
Pekin, Feb. 20.—The final signing of the Anglo-Chinese treaty concerning Thibetan trade has been delayed by differences which had arisen over several minor points. The British Legation here, however, has informed China that the British troops who have been stationed in the Chumbi Valley, in Thibet, are being withdrawn, and this movement to evacuate Thibet before the signing of the treaty, is interpreted as an act of good-will, the purpose of which is to facilitate an agreement.

Missing Woman Found Hanged.

Foxcroft, Me., Feb. 20.—Herbert Woodbury, a wealthy hotel and livery-stable keeper, whose wife disappeared Nov. 4 and whose body was found Tuesday night hanging in a room of Woodbury's hotel, was arrested yesterday. The most suspicious circumstance is the finding of the door of the room containing the body, locked on the outside, with the key in the lock.

A Fire at Wallaceburg.

Wallaceburg, Feb. 20.—Fire entirely destroyed Frank Lewis' dye works; J. Collinge's confectionery store, and A. Guenberg's second-hand store, all situated in the College Block, Tuesday night about midnight. The block was owned by S. Collinge, is insured, and the contents of the dye works and confectionery store are also covered.



PLANS OIL MONOPOLY

German Government May Acquire Standard Oil Business.

Imperial Treasury Has Big Scheme on Hand—May Also Control Alcohol—State Monopoly of the Trade Now Under Consideration—Yearly Profits of Twelve Millions Expected—Experts Report.

Berlin, Feb. 20.—The Imperial Treasury Department is considering the possibility of a Government petroleum monopoly. No decision has yet been reached, but experts continue to study plans for the taking over of the Standard Oil Co.'s business in Germany as well as that of its Russian and Roumanian competitors.

Baron Von Zedlitz, leader of the Free Conservatives in the Prussian Diet, who has made a special study of the subject, says the empire would have to make an initial outlay of $18,000,000 for oil plants, tanks, tank steamers and cars, but that yearly profits of from $10,000,000 to $12,500,000 could be expected. The baron is of the opinion that the Government could deal successfully with the probable refusal of the Standard Oil Co. to supply crude petroleum at a reasonable rate, and he thinks the requirements of the Government in American oil would be supplied by the Texas rivals of the Standard Co.

Experts have found that the oils of Roumania, Galicia and Russia cannot be used successfully with the burners generally employed in Germany without a considerable mixture of American petroleum; consequently the projected monopoly must include the buying of over 200,000 tons of American oil a year.

A state monopoly in alcohol is also under consideration.

Scalded to Death.

Soo, Ont., Feb. 20.—William Goddard, an employe of the Veneer Mill of the Lake Superior Corporation, was so severely scalded that he died from his injuries in the hospital.

Goddard worked at the mill but ten days, and, according to officials there, was running a machine within the mill. For some reason he went out into the yard where vats containing scalding steam and wood alcohol vapor heated to great intensity are located. In some manner unknown he slipped into the entrance to one of the vats, through a hole 24 by 36 inches. He was in the vat 30 seconds, his screams bringing assistance from the mill, and he was taken out at once. It was found that he had been fearfully scalded to the waist, and the seriousness of the accident was at once realized. He was removed to the hospital with all speed.

Deciding Stoessel's Fate.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 20.—The court which has been trying Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel for the surrender of Port Arthur to the Japanese, retired for deliberation at noon yesterday, ordering Gen. Stoessel and the defendants in the court-martial proceedings to appear Feb. 20 at 11 a. m., when sentence is expected to be pronounced.

Sentries have been stationed at the doors leading to the judges' room, which has been provided with beds, etc., indicating that the judges anticipate a considerable struggle in reaching a verdict.

Determined to Break Law.

Winnipeg, Feb. 20.—A new phase has developed in connection with those charged with the breaking of the Lord's Day Act, which, it appears, may cause even greater trouble than before.

The declaration of the defendants is that every case convicted will be appealed to a higher court, and if nothing can be done there, the defendants will go on as before and satisfy themselves by paying a fine weekly.

Another Drowning Mystery.

Patchogue, L.I., Feb. 20.—A mystery which may never be solved was disclosed yesterday, when the body of a young woman was found floating on Long Island Sound at Mattituck. From the fact that the body was clad in garments of light texture, it is believed that it had been in the water for several months. It is believed that the woman committed suicide by jumping from the pier steamers which ply the sound.

Deakin on the Empire.

Melbourne, Feb. 20.—(C.A.P.)—Premier Deakin, presiding at the Imperial Federation League, said a closer yet freer relationship of the Empire was desired. It was necessary to be ready for any great emergency. An analysis of the respective tariffs showed the Australian preference to Britain equaled the Canadian. Moreover, other countries shared the advantages of Canadian intermediate tariff.

Postal Savings Banks.

Washington, Feb. 20.—Senator Knox introduced a bill in the Senate yesterday to establish a system of postal savings banks.

The bill embodies the plan outlined by the Postmaster-General in his annual report and authorizes the Postmaster-General to establish a system of postal savings banks composed of such money order offices as he may designate for that purpose.

After one of the strongest of the 'quakes, which took place at night, some of the inhabitants of Norte left their dwellings and repaired to the open. The weather is fine.

Lindsay Lost to Midland; Northerners Win by 7 to 2

Midland, Feb. 19—The Lindsay Midgets came up tonight with two hundred rooters and were played off their feet in a whirlwind game from the tap of the bell to full time. Every man of the Midland septette was going all the time. The first goal took seven and a half minutes, when Gould did the trick, and notched another in three and a half. Lindsay scored in two and a half and the next took twelve minutes for Midland to score. The next two were scored in two and a half minutes, the half ending 5-1 in favor of Midland. The last half was much like the first, hard, close checking with Midland shooting ten shots to Lindsay's one, and the Midgets' goaltender putting up the game of his life. He certainly kept the score from going into two figures. The half ended 2 to 1 for Midland. Final score, 7-2 for Midland. Green Caldwell is without doubt the most efficient referee seen in Midland this winter.

The line-up;

Midland—Goal, McDonald; point, Hanley, cover, McLennan; rover, Gould; centre, Switzer; left wing, Hastings; right wing, Beatty.

Lindsay—Goal, Newton; point, Kayle, cover, Sullivan; rover, Stoddard centre, Taylor; left wing, Randall; right wing, Cotey.

Lindsay Has Lead of Seventeen Points in First of the Series

The four rinks of Peterborough curlers who went to Lindsay to play for the Peterborough-Lindsay Cup were defeated by seventeen shots. The Lindsay Post has the following account of the competition;

According to announcement, four rinks of Peterborough curlers arrived last evening to play the opening game of the series enjoyed every season to decide the year's ownership of the Peterborough-Lindsay Cup. Three rinks made the Simpson house their stopping place, the other quartette registering at the Benson.

Play commenced at the rink at 7.45 quite a number of spectators being on hand for the opening. The ice was in superb condition and some grand shots were made on both sides. In the early part of the contest the visitors looked like winners but the Lindsay men, true to their reputation as grand finishers pulled ahead gradually and finished 17 up, thanks to the clever work of Skips Cuthbert and W. McLennan the former finishing 14 up and the latter 8 up. Skip Cuthbert had the rare satisfaction of pulling but an 8 end as the finishing touch to a well played game but received the congratulations showered upon him with the modesty becoming an old curler who realizes that the element of chance is of great aid to a skip—occasionally.

On Ice No. 6 Skips J. C. Harstone and C. Frost had a stiff battle for the big end of the score. Mr. Harstone was playing a pair of strange stones and this constituted a serious drawback at times, while his opponent was in fine fettle. Mr. Frost finished 4 shots up.

The game between Skips D. Davidson and Dr. Walters on Ice No. 8, was a well fought struggle from start to finish. The visitors stormed the tee at every end and in the early stages they ran up a good lead. To the reduction of this the Dr. and his men applied themselves with zeal. When the 20th and last end came to be played the Dr. was 4 shots down, and managed to pick up 3. Score 19-20.

QUAKERS AND BELL CO. TIED

2-2 Was Score in Interesting Game Last Night

The Quakers and the Bell Telephone Company team played a drawn game at Brock street rink last night the score being 2—2. The telephone men led at half time by 2—1, but the Quakers had the better of the second half and scored one to their opponents' nil. The oatmeal septette charge the Bell team with playing "ringers." The teams were as follows;

Quakers.		Bell Telephone
Callaghan	Goal.	Bruce
Smeaton	Point.	Leitch
Heaslip	Cover-point.	Burridge
Rightmeyer	Rover.	Wade
Pratt	Centre	Wilson
Sturdee	Right Wing	Johnston
Hayes	Left Wing	Fitzgerald

Cressmans Got Three Straight

And Canoe Builders Failed to Find the Nets in Last Night's Game—A Good Contest

The Canoe Builders and Cressman's came together at the Brock street rink last night between six and seven o'clock, the latter winning the game by 3—0. At half-time they had it on the canoemen by 2—0.

The match was a good one all through. Darling played an excellent game for Cressman's, and O'Dette was probably the best man of the Canoe Builders.

H. Staunton refereed satisfactorily.

How They Play in New York

Drs "Dick" Mills and George Dalton of Kingston, are doing most of the work for the New York Athletic Club hockey team. They have only now attained real good form and are certainly making the Yankees sit up and take notice. Their team stands second in the league and may win out. According to the New York papers, Mills when ruled off, is not sent to the fence for rough work but for dropping his stick and catching the puck. The New York Hockey League has adopted a rule whereby a goalkeeper who drops his stick may be ruled off. This was a hard slap at the ex-Queen's goalkeeper for the rule was made wholly on his account. Richard always had a liking for dropping his stick and catching the puck like a baseball. He saved many goals thereby. Catching the puck is allowed, in Canadian hockey but it must be immediately dropped, not thrown.—Toronto News.

Sporting Comment

Artie Edmunds is at it again. Tonight he meets all 126 pounders in boxing, wrestling, or physical culture exhibitions. Edmunds is one of the cleverest and gamest little athletes ever produced in Canada, and has made good in many tests of pluck and endurance on the mat and in the ring. As a handicap wrestler there is no better for his weight on the continent. He has been at the game for a long time and seems good for quite a while still.

Lindsay must have played good hockey in the second half of their game with Midland, the speedy northerners only scoring two goals while the Scugog outfit landed one.

The Long Looked for Assured; Norwood to Play Straths

Game Will Take Place on Wednesday, February 26th Manager Metheral of the Strathconas Received Word From Norwood To-day—The Lineup of the Teams.

Manager Bill Metheral, of the Strathconas, received a letter from Captain Doherty, of Norwood, that Norwood would be here to play the Strathconas on Wednesday next, February 26th. This will be good news to the fans and it would have been an unsatisfactory ending to the hockey season if Norwood and the Straths had not come together. They have never had an opportunity to meet except at the first of the winter, when the boys in green and white lost to the locals by 9—5. However, they were in poor condition then, and did not play by any means the sterling game they have been putting up ever since. Their loss to the Strathconas was the only one they sustained this year, and Wednesday's game will give them a chance to prove their calibre.

For a while it looked as though the two teams could not make mutually satisfactory arrangements and the enthusiasts were disappointed when the game for Friday night was declared off. However, Wednesday's battle is a sure thing and on account of the fact that the game can't help but be a splendid one, the crowd will need no coaxing to attend the match. As Norwood is out for blood, they will bring with them their best available line-up.

The teams for the match are;—

Strathconas.		Norwood
Wilson	Goal	Huycke
Meagher	Point	C. Pearce
Dusty	Cover	Nichol
Ray	Rover	Doherty
Long	Centre	Kempt
McMillan	Right wing	Scott

Mr. George Lynch, the popular referee, will probably handle the bell for the game.

EDMUND'S BIG UNDERTAKING

Will Meet All Comers at Miner's Theatre, New York—A Triple Task

Tonight at Miner's Bowery Theatre, New York, Art Edmunds, the Toronto boy, who was seen here two or three winters ago in a handicap bout with Dave Simons, the Montreal middleweight, will be put through a novel test. He is billed by the theatre to meet all-comers at 126 pounds in boxing, wrestling and exhibitions of strength and physical culture. If he fails to outpoint any one of his three rivals at that weight he must forfeit $25. If he makes good he gets a burlesque circuit engagement. The theatre bills announce the card as "The star event of the athletic festival," and styles Edmunds "The Modern Adonis of the Ring and Mat, the most perfect of 126-pound athletes."

Some Notes About the Game

A prize is offered for the best clown at the Westwood carnival on Saturday night. We will stack a dollar against a doughnut that Josiah Craig will win in a walk if he attends.

Josiah Craig still persists in writing bad rhymes. Some day he will have worked himself up into the class of Charles Brandon of Douro and other literary lights.

(With apologies to Marks Bros.' soubrette.)

"What's the Examiner team made out of?"
"What is the Examiner team made out of?"
"Lemons and junk and has been who'll funk,
"That's what the Examiner team is made out of."

Speaking about Josiah Craig in the nets, it may be noted that this is not the first time that suckers have found themselves in a similar position.

If this is the close season for suckers, the game inspector should prosecute the management of the Examiner team for having Josiah Craig in the nets.

A lady friend of the Examiner goal tender suggests that he be given a broom instead of a hockey stick to brush out the shot [illegible].

The date of the Review-Examiner game has been changed from Feb. 26th until the following day, Thursday, Feb. 27th. The public will no doubt wonder why the change has been made, and the reason it must be conceded, is a somewhat remarkable one. Josiah Craig, as most people know, has a pet corn on one of his toes, which, incidentally, is the place where all well behaved corns should be. Historians state that Lord Cave, the great British general, always took a short sleep before commencing a great battle, but Josiah has Clive beaten to a standstill and two to carry, as regards preparing for a great struggle. The manager of the Examiner team always pares his favorite corn on the eve of an important hockey match, and as the bunion of the first part hereinbefore referred to will not be ripe for the knife until the afternoon of February 27th, the Review has kindly consented to have the game played a day later than originally intended.

We trust this explanation will be satisfactory to our readers and the great [illegible] public generally.

For Collegiate Championship

Picked Team From Lower Forms to Meet Form II Seven on Monday Afternoon

On Monday afternoon from five to six at the Brock street rink a picked team from lower forms B and C will play form II for the Collegiate Institute championship.

The Collegiate forms are playing excellent hockey this winter and this game should be a fast and interesting one. A big crowd of spectators from the school is expected to be present.

Endeavors are being made to have Mr. R. N. Merritt, the mathematical master of the Collegiate Institute to referee this game. Mr. Merritt is an experienced official and would make a splendid man to handle the bell for the contest.

GAMES WITH OUTSIDE PLAYERS

Arrangements Being Made for Straths to Play Galt and Toronto Champion Sevens

Arrangements are being made for the game between the Strathconas and Galt city league champions, and the latter are expected to play here early in March. The Straths anticipate a trip at an early date to Toronto and Galt to play the Kew Beach seven, the winners of the city league in Toronto, and also the Galt city league winners.

HOCKEY

A CHALLENGE.

The Peterborough Lock Works challenge the English Canoe Company for a friendly game, to be played next week.

The game between the Strathconas and Norwood on Wednesday night will be one that everybody should see. There is a keen rivalry between the two sevens and much doubt as to which is the better team.

Ban on Mixed Marriages Does Not Prevent Them

Montreal, Feb. 14.—Since Archbishop Bruchesi placed the ban on mixed marriages, eighteen applications have been made to him for dispensations. Miss De Lery Macdonald, unable to secure a dispensation, to be married to A. Shepherd, by a Catholic priest, will be married by a Protestant minister, and the ceremony will take place during the Lenten season, a time prescribed by the Catholic Church. Miss Macdonald is a relative of Sir W. C. Macdonald, the tobacco king.

Dr. Donald Hingston, of Montreal, son of the late Sir William Hingston, is alo to be married to Miss Peterson, of Goderich, Ont. The marriage will take place at Goderich on March 3rd.

The Jeweller's Shell Game

A Cloret Jug Made From a Lydite Shell—A Handsome Piece of Work

A unique and interesting relic of the Egyptian war is on exhibition in the window of Clarke & Son's jewellery store. An ordinary lyditte shell has been transformed into a beautiful stone jug and in the process the originality and artistic cunning of the jeweller has been used to the highest degree. It contains in outstanding gold designs the coats of arms of five British regiments, and the British coat of arms. The handle is made of a portion of an elephant's tusk, and some Egyptian war medals are used in decorating the jug which is beautifully lined with solid silver. The jug is offered for sale.

Mr. W. H. Moore Writes Again On Carnegie Library Question

Comments on Some of Mr. Dumble's Arguments—Will Mr. Carnegie's Donation be a Free Gift?

To the Editor of the Review;

Dear Sir,—My letter in relation to the public library was intended to bring about discussion of the wisdom, or otherwise, of accepting the standing offer of Mr. Carnegie, the philanthropist of library buildings; and I am well pleased to note that it attracted the attention of one so gifted in ready debate as Mr. Dumble. I do not insist I am wholly right in my views, and he wholly wrong in his. Perhaps some one may find a middle course more reasonable than either of ours, but until that happens I am unable to recant from my already expressed opinions.

In more than one place in his letter Mr. Dumble asserts that the $30,000 will be a "free gift" from Mr. Carnegie, and adds that "people generally think a gift is a more pleasant and profitable thing than a mortgage on one's house." Granted, in the terms of his proposition; granted also that benevolence is a highly commendable quality to possess; it is admirable, but it must be just what it pretends to be and not a delusion or a snare, or it will quickly gall on the palate of our thankfulness. But let us see how the matter works out by way of illustration. If the would-be giver of ten dollars, horses or jack knives as the case may be which he offers to me, adds a condition that I am to return to him or to some one whom he may name, one of the kind, in each year forever, and secured on my whole estate, is that in a true or in any sense a free gift, or a gift at all? In my judgment this is the very head and front of Mr. Carnegie's tender, but if nevertheless it can be shown that his offer in without conshown that his offer is a "gift" without condition then I admit being bowled out in the argument. I have frequently read in the press, and been directly advised from cities which have Carnegie library buildings, that these cities must agree to raise by taxation yearly for all time, at least ten per cent. of his giving, and unless some one can show that these are not the facts I am going to accept the statement.
